NEGRO HELD ON THEFT CHARGE

BROKE INTO L. & N. RAILROAD CAR STEALING TWO RADIOS CIGARETTES AND SILVERWARE.

Two Negros, registered as Robert Wilson and Ray Louis, were arraigned before Judge N. E. Riddell Monday, charged with breaking into an L. & N. Railroad car at Walton.

Wilson, according to officials, had broken into the car, stealing two radios, 20,000 cigarettes and a small amount of silverware. He had cached the loot and proceeded to Covington seeking a means of returning for the articles. He tried to employ several taxi drivers to return with him to Walton, and one of the taxi drivers reported to Covington police that Wilson had tried to employ him to drive him to Walton. Officials in Covington notified Town Marshals Brugh and Bowlington at Walton, who arrested Wilson and Louis when they appeared for their spoils.

They were brought to Burlington and tried before Judge N. E. Riddell Monday. Wilson plead guilty and was held for grand jury action while Louis was released on his own recognizance.

Patrolmen Are Busy on Roads In Boone Co.

Several were arrested in this county during the past few days for being on the public highways while intoxicated.

Shelby Murphy, of Menefee county was arrested Monday by State Patrolman Campbell and other and was tried before Judge N. E. Riddell. He was charged with being on the public highways while intoxicated and fined $14.50.

Hobert Bowen and Marie Finley were also arrested for being on the highways while under the influence of liquor. Bowen was fined $14.50 and Marie Finley was released.

Cecil Clay, of Kenton County was arrested last week while operating a car on the public highway while intoxicated. He was brought to Burlington and placed in jail. He was later released on bond and a hearing set for Saturday of this week.

HEBRON HOMEMAKERS TO MEET JANUARY 12

The Hebron Homemakers will meet with Mrs. Barrott Grant at her home in Hebron Wednesday, January 12th at 10:30 (Eastern Standard Time). Accessories for the home will be discussed.

J. E. Rogers, of the Belleview neighborhood was a brief caller at this office Monday. While here Mr. Rogers had his subscription renewed for another year. He stated he delivered 3700 pounds of tobacco to the market and received an average of $28.40 per hundred. He sold his tobacco on Christmas Eve.

WEED PRICES HOLD STEADY

ON COVINGTON MARKET—BASKETS RANGED FROM $4 TO $40—OTHER MARKETS ARE HOLDING STEADY.

The Kenton Looseleaf Tobacco warehouse, sold 175,978 pounds of tobacco Monday for $43,855.11, an average of $24.92. There were few rejections and baskets ranged from $4 to $40.

In other portions of the state markets opened unstead, but stiffened late in the day and paid good prices on the average.

Lexington averaged $26.49; Maysville 25.62; Bloomfield 22.50; Richmond, $24.14; Harrodsburg, $24.37; Mt. Sterling 24.42; Cynthiana 27.09 Shelbyville 26.30 and Louisville $23.52.

A new rule went into effect Monday, limiting sales on any one floor to 360 baskets an hour. It was designed to keep auctioneers and buyers from setting such a fast pace that ticket writers on the floor and calculators and check writers in the warehouse offices could not keep up, a situation that prevailed at times before the holiday.

MRS. FLORENCE BROTHERS IS NAMED ON COMMITTEE

Florence Brothers

Mrs. Florence Brothers, president of the Simon Kenton Unit No. 20, American Legion Auxiliary, was appointed chairman of the education of World War orphans of the department of Kentucky at the mid-winter conference of the auxilliary, held at the Kentucky Hotel in Louisville. The appointment was made by Mrs. Alvin Lisanby, State department president. The Sixth District committeewoman, Mrs. Edna Grueter is also a member of this unit and a past president.

Among the northern Kentuckians who attended the conference was Mrs. Mae Russ, also of the Simon Kenton Unit, Erlanger.

Mrs. Brothers was also named as delegate to Washington to the National Defense Conference which will be held on Jan. 25, 26, 27.

OATH TAKEN BY COUNTY OFFICERS

ONLY THREE OFFICES FILLED BY NEW FACES, SHERIFF, SURVEYOR AND MAGISTRATE—N. E. RIDDELL OFFICIATES.

The oath of offices was administered last week to all county officials by Judge N. E. Riddell, who qualified and was sworn in by Circuit Judge Vallandingham at the December term of court.

Only three new faces are to be seen in the county offices this year namely, F. M. Walton, sheriff; Noel Gaines Walton, surveyor; and Everett Jones, magistrate. All other offices will be filled for the next four years by the same members which has served you during the past four years.

Chevrolet Trucks To Be Shown By Collins Chevrolet

The first local public display of Chevrolet's new and improved 1938 Chevrolet trucks will be held at the Bill Collins Chevrolet, Inc., show rooms the week of Jan. 10, it was announced today. The display is part of National Truck Week, designed to exhibit the latest developments in delivery and haulage equipment, it was explained by Wm. M. Collins, president.

National Truck Week, Mr. Collins explained, is the direct result of the unusual volume of favorable comment received by Chevrolet officials concerning the display of the new trucks at the National Automobile Shows at New York and Chicago and at the National Truck Show at Newark, N. J., last November.

"Chevrolet dealers throughout the country are joining in National Truck Week because of the favorable reaction at these shows," Mr. Collins declared. "Comment, and subsequent orders revealed that businessmen are anxious to find a means of improving their delivery and haulage equipment and at the same time curtail costs."

The new Chevrolet truck line includes six series of commercial cars and trucks, comprising a wide range of different body styles designed to meet the specialized requirements of various lines of business and industry. There are two models for light delivery, built on the Master passenger car chassis, and a wide selection on the heavier ½-ton, ¾-ton, 1-ton and 1½-ton chassis. The 1½-ton models are available on both a 131-½-in. wheelbase and a 157-inch wheelbase chassis.

COMMUNITY MEETINGS SET

TO DISCUSS WAYS AND MEANS AND LINES OF LOCAL AGRICULTURAL IMPROVEMENT IN BOONE COUNTY.

Boone County farmers will hold a series of community meetings during the next two weeks to discuss ways and means and lines of local agricultural improvement work to be conducted in their communities during 1938, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent.

A county meeting of local community program chairmen will be held immediately following these meetings. The committeemen, at the county meeting, will summarize the community programs and help plan a constructive county agricultural improvement program designed to help advance the work planned with local committeemen, the county agent and cooperating agencies.

The past year, many accomplishments worthy of note were brought about through this cooperative agricultural improvement program. A few that may be briefly mentioned include:

New varieties of hybrid seed corn which gave marked increase in corn yields were grown.

An increase in use of winter cover crops and better seeding mixtures were used.

Increased use of lime and phosphate was conducted in an organized way.

Five new wilt resistant varieties of watermelons were grown.

New Fusarium and root rot resistant varieties of tobacco were grown and new methods of curing tobacco were followed.

Fruit and truck crop growers held meeting to discuss with College of Agriculture field workers methods of controlling apple scab, diseases and pests.

Poultry meetings were held and poultry production demonstrations were conducted.

Milk, livestock, truck crops and wool marketing problems were worked upon.

Dairy, sheep, swine and other livestock work was organized and advanced during the year.

Farmers were assisted in keeping complete farm account records and analyzing these records in comparison with successful farm practices.

Agricultural outlook information prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture was brought to farmers in the local communities.

Plans were made and carried out for 4-H club work and older boys' and girls' club work.

The dates for the local community meetings are being arranged this week. Farmers and farm leaders are urged to give their full support toward planning for 1938 to have the most constructive farm improvement program to date.

Building Ass'n. Hold 47th Annual Meeting Monday

The 47th annual meeting of the Hebron Building and Loan Association was held on last Monday, and the following were elected to serve for the ensuing year: W. W. Goodridge, president; Henry Gatje, vice president; Hubert Conner, secretary-treasurer; B. F. Hossman, asst. secretary; directors, Emmett Kilgore, L. C. Beemon, Lee Nora Acra, Chas. W. Riley, Chester Goodridge, John Conner and Smith Goodridge.

PROGRAM IS OUTLINED

CHANDLER URGES LEGISLATORS TO PASS BUDGET BILL AS PRESENTED TO BODY—WILL CALL SPECIAL SESSION.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 4—The Kentucky General Assembly which convened today at noon, with its top-heavy Democratic majorities, had a large portion of its work cut out for it, thanks to the creation by the last General Assembly of a Legislative Council.

Highlights of the day was the biennial message of Governor A. B. Chandler, which was delivered shortly after the Assembly met in the newly decorated chambers of the capital.

The governor followed closely the recommendation of the Legislative Council in his requests of the Senate and House in joint session.

After reviewing the conditions in the several departments of the state government when he came into office two years ago, Governor Chandler made specific recommendation concerning the budget and then summarized definite requests for the session.

He said:

"The budget total for the year 1938-39 is $24,500,000; for the year 1939-40, $24,742,132.10.

"I urge immediate approval of this budget by the Legislature without alteration, and I want to say that if the budget is approved without change, the state can continue to live within its income for the next two years; can meet its obligations promptly; can continue to reduce the outstanding indebtedness, and can free the state from debt by the first day of November, 1939. This is not only a goal worth working for, but is a goal worth fighting for if necessary.

"I make the following specific recommendations to the Legislature:

"1: That the budget bill be passed as presented as speedily as possible.

"2: That [illegible] or additional taxes be [illegible] the people of this state [illegible] 1938 session of the [illegible]mbly.

"3: [illegible]egislature refuse to pe[illegible] the present tax laws [illegible]ed or altered, insasmu[illegible] absolutely essential in [illegible]eet the state's financial [illegible]ons that the income [illegible] the cigarette tax law and [illegible]key tax law and all other [illegible]e sources now relied upon [illegible] commonwealth be retained.

"4: That you pass as speedily as possible [illegible] liquor control bill for the whole state. That the administration of such a law be placed under the Commissioner of Revenue so that he can protect our tax sources.

"5: That you approve of the merger of the two colored colleges.

"6: That you continue by adequate appropriation the rehibilitation of the state institutions.

"7: That you keep the appropriation for public schools at $12 per capita.

"8: That you keep the old age pension laws substantially as they are at present.

"9: That you keep the present highway laws intact.

"10: That you pass an act outlawing company-paid deputy sheriffs.

"Do your work in the general session, which should be completed not later than March 1. It is my desire that you arrange to adjourn this sesson on that date. If you will grant this request, it is my plan to call you into extraordinary session immediately to consider the bonded indebtedness of the counties.

"The Legislative Council, with the help of the state officials, is considering this problem. More than $27,000,000 is owed by the counties at this time. This represents an obligation of more than $10.42 per capita or a tax of $1.56 for each $100 worth of taxable property in Kentucky.

LLOYD MEMORIAL SOCIETY TO MEET

The Lloyd Memorial Society will meet at the Lloyd Home, in Florence, Saturday, Jan. 8, for an all-day meeting. All members having birthdays during the months of January, February and March are invited to attend.

HEBRON GOSPEL TABERNACLE TO BE DEDICATED

MR. AND MRS. CARPENTER OBSERVE GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Theo Carpenter, Richwood, observed their golden wedding anniversary December 28th. Both are life-long residents of Boone ty.

Three Grand Stars Share Film Honors

One of the year's really exceptional motion pictures, "Wife, Doctor and Nurse," sparkling Twentieth Century-Fox romantic drama starring Loretta Young, Warner Baxter and Virginia Brue, which will be shown at the Gayety Theater, Erlanger, Sunday and Monday, January 9th and 10th, required stars in the important leading roles whose performances would aid the unusual story in reflecting the mood of today.

Such an assignment necessitated careful consideration in choosing capable stars to portray the important characters.

Because of her past successes, Loretta Young was chosen for the role of the wife, a woman with modern ideas, but not modern [illegible] to share her husband. Her selection was a tribute to her acting ability and her tremendous popularity.

Warner Baxter, whose record of achievement in several past hits is unparalleled, was the logical choice for the part of the doctor who loves his wife but also needs his nurse. A favorite of theatregoers everywhere because of his versatile talents, Baxter deserved the important assignment.

To share starring honors with Miss Young and Baxter, blonde, beautiful and gifted Virginia Bruce was cast in the role of the nurse whose valuable asistance is so intimately a part of the doctor's life.

Featured in the strong supporting cast are Jane Darwell, Sidney Blackmer, Maurice Cass, Minna Gombell and Margaret Irving.

Covie D. Carpenter

Mr. Covie D. Carpenter, age 68 years, passed away in his home, Ricedale, Kenton County Wednesday, December 29th at midnight, following an illness from carcimona of the stomach.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Carrie Rector Carpenter, one daughter, Mrs. Idella Easton, two grandchildren, one sister, Mrs. Carpenter and a number of relatives and friends to mourn his going.

Funeral services were conducted from the Independence Baptist Church Saturday, January 1, 1938 at 11:00 a. m. by Rev. D. E. Bedinger, in the presence of his relatives and friends, after which the remains were laid to rest in the Independence cemetery.

Chambers and Grubbs were in charge of the funeral arrangements.

Mrs. Lova Wells

Mrs. Lova Wells, aged 79 years, passed away early Wednesday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. O. T. Edwards, near Limaburg, Ky., after a short illness with pneumonia. The remains were removed to the Taliaferro Funeral Home for preparation.

She is survived by her husband A. J. Wells, 2 daughters and 2 sons, all of Marengo, Ind., in addition to her daughter at Limaburg, Ky.

Thursday afternoon the remains were taken to her old home in Marengo, Ind., by Funeral Director Philip Taliaferro. Services and interment were held at that city Friday afternoon.

March 1st Set As Deadline For Auto Licenses

According to C. D. Benson, County Court Clerk of Boone, automobile and truck owners have until March 1st in which to purchase their license tags.

This rule will no doubt help many farmers in the county who have not delivered their tobacco to market, and are depending upon their own farm truck for transporting the weed.

POULTRY SCHOOL PLANNED JAN.12

J. E. HUMPHREY, POULTRY SPEC[illegible]

WILL BE SPECIAL SPEAKERS ON PROGRAM.

The Boone County Annual Winter Poultry School will be held at Burlington on Wednesday, January 12th, according to H. R. Forkner, county agent. J. E. Humphrey, poultry specialist and Dr. T. P. Polk, field veterinarian from the College, are special speakers on the program.

The poultry meeting this year will be discussed from a new angle. Poultrymen at the beginning of the meeting will be submitted with a questionnaire to list what they consider their own farm flock poultry problems. The meeting will then be developed from the replies given to the unsigned questionnaire.

The winter poultry meetings of the past have been of general interest to all. Many interesting discussions are brought out by poultrymen. Mr. Humphrey spent the past year on leave with work for the United States Department of Agriculture. During his leave he visited poultry work in many states and should be able to bring a number of new and profitable ideas. Everyone interested in poultry work is invited and urged to attend. The meeting will start at 10:00 a. m. central time and close at 3:00 p. m.

James K. Tanner

This community was grived to hear of the passing of James Kenneth Tanner at St. Elizabeth Hospital Dec. 18, 1937, after an operation for appendicitis, followed by pneumonia. He was patient and fought hard to regain his health, but to no avail.

The decased was the son of the late J. A. and Mary Tanner and was born March 17, 1897, aged 39 years, 9 months and 1 day.

He was married to Miss Belle Long and to this union four sons and one daughter were born.

Funeral services were conducted Dec. 21 at Hopeful Lutheran Church, where he was a member, by Rev. Noble Lucas, pastor of the Bullittsville Christian Church.

He is survived by his wife and children, mother, five sisters and many other relatives and friends.

Funeral director Philip Taliaferro had charge of funeral arrangements.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Weaver and son and Dorothy Ryle took dinner with W. P. Beemon and family on Christmas Day.

CANNED FRUIT IS LOOT OF THIEVES

HOME OF MRS. MARY KELLY IS ROBBED OF LARGE AMOUNT OF CANNED FRUIT, VEGETABLES AND OTHER ITEMS.

Thieves entered the home of Mrs. Mary Kelly, Petersburg, one night last week and escaped with quite a large amount of canned fruit, vegetables, apples and potatoes.

The thieves entered the cellar through the outside entrance, near the rear kitchen door. Mrs. Kelly was aroused by the noise, but did not go to the cellar to investigate.

The thieves first entered a small building in the rear of the house, and obtained empty sacks in which to carry their loot. They then entered the cellar and obtained over one hundred cans of fruit and vegetables, almost two bushel of apples, and a bushel of potatoes. The loss was not discovered until the following morning.

It was said that Mrs. Kelly had a sufficient supply to last her for two years, and the only thing left after the robbery was a few onions which had been spilled on the floor.

No clue as to the identity of the thieves has been found at this writing.

Record Topped By 30 Pounds

In a recent issue of this paper, we carried an article on a record hog that had been butchered by local persons this season. The record up until this week was held by Pope and Bachelor, of the Burlington-Florence pike, having killed a hog weighing 800 pounds.

This week, however, this record is topped by a report that Jesse Delahunty and Ed Black of the Union neighborhood, killed a large hog for domestic use that weighed 830 pounds, made 32 gallons [illegible] lard and 115 pounds [illegible] allowed to escape.

The record stands now at [illegible] pounds, with 32 gallons of lard, and if anyone can beat this record, we would appreciate hearing from you, but no tall stories, please.

Edwards Heads Erlanger Board

The Erlanger City Council, composed of five newcomers to the official affairs of the city, met at the City Building Monday night for an organization session.

Frank D. Edwards, 73 Forest avenue, was chosen by unanimous vote to succeed E. H. Pohlman as mayor. Mr. Edwards also is active in American Legion and Masonic affairs in Erlanger.

Other new officials who took office Monday night include Carl D. Weaver, chosen clerk pro tem; John P. Steffen, Ralph B. Cook and Fred J. Voth, councilmen.

Ervin L. Bramlage was named city attorney.

COUNTY WITHOUT ROAD ENGINEER

THIS POSITION TO BE FILLED JULY 1ST WHICH IS END OF OF FISCAL YEAR—COUNTY AGENT REEMPLOYED.

The Boone County Fiscal Court was in session Tuesday and transacted the regular business, paying claims filed against the county.

On account of the condition of the road fund a road engineer was not employed at this time, and this position will not be filled until July. Irvin Rouse was employed to operate the power grader until July.

According to officials no road construction can be done until the next fiscal year, beginning July 1st.

H. R. Forkner, who has been employed by the County for a number of years as County Agent, was reemployed for the ensuing year.

Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Biddle, of Battle Creek, Mich., Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Biddle and son of Florence spent Christmas Day with Mr. and Mrs. Lum Colcord and family and Mrs. Albert Biddle, who is very ill, at Williamstown.

GOOD RESOLUTIONS

Following a custom which dates back far beyond the memory of oldest citizens the making of "New Year resolutions" are now in order and the usual large number are indulging in this innocent pastime. We say "innocent" pastime, because as a general rule such resolutions are not of a nature to do much harm even if they're broken. But as lightly as such resolutions are usually kept there is always one that can be carried out to the letter, and that will benefit not only the one making the resolve but the entire community as well. That is a resolve to take some part during the year in adding to the welfare and attractiveness of your home-town and by deed and action helping to make it a still happier place in which to live.

No better resolution can be made by anyone as the new year gets under way than one to take a more interest in the various [illegible] in and help out [illegible] public movements, instead of assuming a disinterested position and letting the other fellow do the work and the boosting is as fine a resolution as it is possible to make. A resolution to enlist in the ranks of the boosters and to in every way ignore and discourage the chronic knockers in a contribution to the community you need not be ashamed to make.

If you make but one resolution, let that be it. Your home-town needs your cooperation, your suggestions for community betterment and every good example you can possibly set during 1938. Making that kind of resolution, and then living up to it, is bound to bring you a lot of satisfaction and it will likewise help to make your neighbors still more glad that you are a part of the community.

OWNING A HOME

The desire to have and to own the necessities of life is as old as the human race. It is a natural instinct that is common to animal life, high and low. It expresses a truth that is undisputed, and yet a recent survey shows that but one out of every five actually own a home. The largest majority, by far, are renters. Their chief argument for remaining in that class is that they can rent home as cheaply as they can build one. In that they may be correct, but there is something about owning a home that far more than offsets any advantage in being a renter.

Those citizens who own their own homes enjoy a feeling of independence the renter cannot know. Home ownership makes for good citizenship and patriotism. A man's home is his castle, and the ability to say "This roof above my head is mine" makes him a better citizen.

With the approach of spring there is going to be launched a nationwide home-building campaign, and this community is certain to hear a lot about the subject before 1938 has progressed very far. Since it is considered today the most important campaign that could possibly be launched looking toward a complete restoration of prosperity, and as it comes when the nation has a shortage of millions of houses and must take some definite action at once, it is a subject that everyone ought to become interested in. Home-building will be the biggest movement in America this year, and this year should be the logical time for every man who has been postponing the building of a home to set about it without further delay.

MORE BIKES

Reports by the bicycle makers of the country show that they turned out 1,250,000 of them during 1937 —an even greater number than in the boom year of 1929. The auto was supposed to have driven first the horse and then the bicycle into oblivion, but this doesn't look like it. And both bicycles and horses are as numerous as ever before. The auto is not affecting the bike to any extent, but the bike is setting up a new problem for the auto. It is making it still more dangerous to drive, and while most motorists recognize the added danger the cyclers, most of whom are of the teen age, fails to realize it. As a result riding a bicycle has become a pretty dangerous proposition both on the streets and on the neighboring highways. Motorists will do their utmost, of course, to avoid collision with a cyclist. But the motorist must not be expected to assume all the responsibility. It is up to the parents of boys and girls who ride bicycles to make that fact plain to them, otherwise the increasing popularity of the bike will be a source of tragedy instead of a healthful and enjoyable form of outdoor recreation.

TEACHING THRIFT

On more than one occasion space has been devoted in these columns to suggesting that teachers make use of every opportunity they have to teach thrift in the schools. The wisdom of it becomes more apparent than ever now a survey covering school havings throughout the country has just been finished. It reveals that during the school year of 1936-37 pupils in this country's schools practiced the savings habit to the extent of more than $16,000,000—a staggering total. And most of it, practically all of it, saved in pennies and nickels. It is something that should set older heads to thinking, too. If saving pennies will pile up such a sum, what will saving a few dollars each week mean? Thrift is in the air in this country now and the school child who isn't being taught it is going to lag behind the procession when he gets out into the world.

PROFITABLE READING

No matter what newspaper you may pick up—read the ads along with the news and usual features. You'll not only find the ads carry much information of interest, but they also point the way to real economy. Men of wisdom no longer argue that advertising no longer pays. If it didn't pay, for instance, Henry Ford would not be spending over six million dollars a year to advertise a car that is so well known already it is a household word. Campbell wouldn't be spending around two million dollars a year to sell soups, and so on down the line with 50 or 100 other concerns spending as much as $1,000,000 each to advertise their products for a single year. And the best part of it is it pays those who buy the same as it pays those who sell. So always read the ads—and always remember that you can profit most by buying from the men or the firms that advertise all the time.

IF WAR COMES

Everyone able to think back to 40 years ago will recall a battle-cry that sprung up as a result of a tragedy whose anniversary is now near at hand. We refer to the battle-cry, "Remember the Maine!" with which the nation went to war.

These older residents have doubtless by this time made a few comparisons of that historic occasion with events recently recorded in Chinese waters in which this country was, as it was in Havana harbor 40 years ago, an innocent victim. It recalls that only a spark was need to touch off the guns of war almost a half-century ago, and the battleship Maine furnished that spark. Knowing the horror of war through experience, and not hearsay, these older citizens cannot help but wonder if history is now about to repeat itself, with the Orient instead of Cuba the scene of a flash which will set the whole world on fire.

Every sane man dreads war. every good American abhors it. For that reason, and remembering as most people do the terrible price this nation paid as its price in the last one, the average American insists that if we must again be dragged into conflict that it be through far more violent and far more destructive sparks than those which touched off the last two in which were engaged. American life must, of course, be protected at all cost. But today, 40 years after there is still a doubt if the Maine was actualy destroyed by enemies of this republic, and today, over 20 years after the sinking of the Luistania, there is disagreement over whether or not it was actually engaged in transporting arms to the allied nations.

America enters the new year hoping and praying for peace. And if war outweighs her prayers, then this time she wants no shadow of doubt to exist as to war's justification.

BE ON YOUR GUARD

Quite a few weeks remain before old King Winter packs up his kit and begins his return to Polar regions, and quite a few things can happen in the interval. One thing especially that can happen, and a thing everyone must still guard against is death through that greatest menace to winter motoring—carbon monoxide gas. Warnings against it have already been sounded in these columns earlier in the winter season, but it is still so great a hazard to human life that space can well be afforded to it now. Pick up a daily paper and you will realize from the frequency of deaths recorded the danger in starting a car in a closed agarage on a cold day. This year the toll of death from this cause will run into thousands, and yet there is no occasion for it. Just keep constantly in mind that you are safe so long as doors and windows of garage are open when you start the motor in cold weather. Otherwise your name, too, may yet be added to this year's casualty list.

Lesson for January 9

PREPARING FOR A LIFE OF SERVICE

LESSON TEXT—Mark 1:1-13.

GOLDEN TEXT—Prepare ye the way of the Lord.—Mark 1:3.

PRIMARY TOPIC—When Jesus Was Baptized.

JUNIOR TOPIC—When Jesus Was Baptized.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Getting Ready to Serve.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Dedicating Our Lives to Service.

"The beginning of the Gospel of Jesus Christ"—what an interesting expression! Did it not begin back before the foundation of the world? Yes, for the death of Christ was no mere afterthought in God's plan. But now we have the coming into the world of the One who was the Lamb slain from before the world's founding. Jesus Christ is about to appear to begin his ministry which was to culminate at Calvary's cross.

Before Jesus, comes the one sent to proclaim his appearing, to herald the coming of the Servant of God. Mark begins his account with the ministry of John the Baptist and makes no reference to the birth and genealogy of Jesus. How appropriate that is, for after all the important thing about a servant is not that he came from a certain family, or was born in a particular place. The point is that he is here now and able and ready to do his work.

I. The Herald of Christ (vv. 1-8).

The prophets had pointed forward to the coming of Christ. John the Baptist, of whom our Lord said that there was not a greater among the prophets, now appears to proclaim his presence and prepare the way for him. Of him Joseph Parker beautifully says that he "was all but a transparent veil: they could almost see the coming God through him . . . If he stood aside for a moment there was the One who was to come."

John was a unique personality, admirably fitted to proclaim a stern message of repentance to a decadent age. Let us not put aside or ridicule strangely clad and unusual folk who have a word for us from God.

"Repent"—that was his message from the Lord. America needs that message today. The Christian doctrine of repentance has been set aside by some because they dislike its convicting power, and by others through theological readjustment. It needs re-affirmation.

John's greatest message, however, was the coming of the One who was to baptize not with water but with the Holy Ghost. Like every true witness he humbles himself and points to the Saviour. We need the message, "repent," but we need even more to recall to our preaching and our churches the Holy Ghost power of the Son of God.

II. The Baptism of Christ (vv. 9-11).

The account in Mark is brief but it brings before us the fact that the sinless Son of God thus identified his holy self with sinful humanity which he had come to save.

Let us learn the lesson that obedience to the divine will, a willingness to humble ourselves to do the work whereunto God has sent us, are prerequisites to the filling of the Holy Spirit with power and grace for life and service.

III. The Temptation of Christ (vv. 12, 13).

We recall as we consider the temptation of Jesus, that he was without sin, that there was no fallen nature in him to which Satan could appeal. The temptation or testing of Jesus was therefore along Messianic lines, but the principles both of temptation and victory are similar to those of our own experience. Consider the parallel passages in Matthew 4 and Luke 4.

The Devil has only three real temptations to present, "the lust of the flesh, the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life" (I John 2:16). These he used with Jesus as he tempted him to make food for his hungry body, to look at the kingdoms of this earth and attain them by a wrong method, and to presume on God's grace by throwing himself from the pinnacle of the temple.

Victory came through the use of God's Word. We need to learn that lesson and not attempt to defeat Satan with any man-made weapons of will-power, logic, or culture. Jesus was certain of victory. He is our victory. Learn to know him as Saviour and Lord. Study God's Word and learn how to use it in spiritual conflict. Yield to the Holy Spirit. Victory lies that way, and nowhere else.

The Countenance

The countenance may be defined as the title-page which heralds the contents of the human volume, but like other title-pages, it sometimes puzzles, often misleads, and often says nothing to the purpose.—W. Matthews.

Men of Faith

The ablest men in all walks of modern life are men of faith. Most of them have much more faith than they themselves realize. — Bruce Barton.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

Resolutions adopted by the Board of directors of Florence Building and Loan Association, Florence, Ky., at the regular meeting December 20, 1937.

There was a vacant seat by the death of our beloved associate, Attorney D. E. Castleman, who has represented this organization since 1925 and has given his ability and time to the welfare of our institution.

Desiring to show our appreciation of his many years of fellowship and service and our respect to his memory.

The following resolutions are respectfully submitted:

Resolve, in the death of D. E. Castleman, the association has lost one of its most true and faithful servants, a true and devoted attorney and the community one of its worthy citizens.

Be it further resolved, in his past friendship we will treasure his memory and to his friends and relatives, we desire to express our sympathy and sorrow with them in the loss of one whose many good qualities will long be remembered.

Be it further resolved that these resolutions be spread on the minutes of the Florence Building and Loan Association and a copy be forwarded to the family of D. E. Castleman. 1t-ch

YOUR WASHINGTON and MINE

By James E. Pope

CONGRESS WEARS NO MAN'S COLLAR

"Mother, is that where they Congress?" asks Junior, as they pass a manufactory of stencils and rubber stamps. The lad is excusable, for since his earliest cognitive days the educable Junior has inhaled the symposiac propaganda of dynamic and exlamatory publicism and punditry of facetiously dubbing Congress a rubber stamp—the insinuation is, of course that Congress is President Roosevelt's Charlie McCarthy.

As if to belie the idomatic label, or to ring the changes on, Congress administered laughing gas to one White House baby with probable fatal effect. I refer to the maximum wage bill. If stoogemalia has been epidemic on Capitol Hill, as alleged, the patient is showing recuperative symptoms—or if Congress has been under the thumb of Presidential authority it is showing pertinacious resistance to that authority.

The late Sidney Smith had Andy Gump spellbinding for the Presidency, and old Andy sloganized to the world that he wore no man's collar. Will Congress follow the precedent set by Andy?

BIRTH CONTROL MADE RETROCATIVE (?)

When Republicans are in power—or threatened with power—Democratic office seekers quail and decry the times as cataclysmic and the sooner over with the better—like a violent catharsis. On the other hand, the ascendency of Democratic suspicious characters to the control levers is to Republicans the imminence of all evil. As our arteries grow hard and opinions grow harder we are more than ever convinced that the victory song of the other side is but the charivari of political charlatans, while the opposing party is leading, or would lead us to perdition faster than Paul Revere rode at midnight through Middlesex hamlet and town. I a Republican or a Democrat favors birth control each would make it applicable to the other—and retrocative.

Depending on which side of the partisan fence we are encamped, the hombres across the line are gazers of political loco weed—their administrations are but hurricanes of melodramatic misrule and dress rehearsals for revolution . . . and the country cannot long survive their doctrinal maraschine and marijuana.

* * *

SAUSAGE MILLS ARE IMPARTIAL

But, fortunately, we the people are not hunters after office—and I am speaking for about 123,000,000 good, solid fat-backs who must furnish livings for that mendacious minority. We can be sensible and view the show calmly, and dispassionately swallow both fish and kettle with about as much show of intelligent favoritism as a sausage mill. Even if we occasionally covet public office we could never get elected anyhow, so why worry? We don't! Just forget worry and be prompt with our tax payments—that's us!

However, we have our sense of humor—and that is compensation. We are not supposed to see this, but from our neutral corner we know that New Dealers, before riding on cockhorse to lay the 1929 debacle at Hoover's door, would do well to cautiously peek out and make certain that the hobgoblins are not smearing their party cake with castor oil and decurrent industry—and a 1937-38 recession. The Hooverites, along with vindictive losers of patronage and other anti-New Dealers, while pointing fleefully to recession's shadow or wailing at the wall of an unbalanced budget should remember that the craziest and most cockeyed panic in all history hit Hoover and the Republican party when the budget was right in the middle of a perfect balance.

AMERICA AND 1938 MARCH ON!

Soap box statesmen, wild and torried of eye and zeal, will continue to peddle perversive propaganda in 1938, and because we like bamboozlement we listen with the rapt exaltation of the devotee—up to a certain point, then we start throwing pop bottles. Or just let a Fourth of July parade strike up patriotic music along Main Street, or a ball game get hot, and the soap box orator loses ever prospective customer forthwith.

The average American has made a down payment on the home, and has only five more installments to go on the family car; his radio and household furniture are clear, and a new refrigerator has just been installed; clear-eyed daughter has entered high school, and befreckled Sonny is enthusiastically jamboreeing with the Boy Scouts; Mother is "expecting" again, and that means another mouth to feed—but hospitalization has been arranged, and until she must give over to a substitute, Mother will continue teaching her Sunday School class. Times are hard, some partial extensions may have to be negotiated, but Father figures he will get by!

This man represents us and the great heart of the country. He has known heavy sledding and has taken it on the chin more than once; he now senses rough weather ahead, perhaps, but the old chin is still tough and can stand a whole lot more. He has confidence in his neighbor, faith in himself and his country, and knows he will pull through somehow. By the time he becomes a father-in-law other administrations may hold the headlines—but whether a Republican or a Democrat is elected he knows it will remain America, and America is safe. Such as he are immune from the contagion of foreign isms and cussedness. This is our county in 1938!

LANDON AND ROOSEVELT AGREE AS CONGRESS FIZZLES OUT

Although he hunted Roosevelt's scalp in 1936, former Governor Alf M. Landon, last Republican nominee for the Presidency, makes a fine show of loyalty to cause and country—not to be confounded with jingoistic hooey and hosannas, nor with selfish ambitions. Governor Landon sent a telegram to President Roosevelt in which he touched upon our involvement in a seriously dangerous foreign situation, in which he said, in the true American way, that "politics cease at the water's edge" and "there must be no demagogic playing of politics at the expense of the country's unity such as now confronts us." Mr. Landon also criticized Congressmen of both parties who seek to hamstring President Roosevelt's handling of the extremely delicate foreign situation.

Politics and jingoism are two things, yet are of blood kinship, but both are strangers to true patriotism and statesmanship. Gov. Landon is a patriot and a statesman, and the fine spirit exemplified by the President in his reply to Landon proves still further that Roosevelt is also a patriot and a statesman.

What a pity the boys in Congress do not emulate Landon and Roosevelt and forget politics long enough to do something. The special session passed two farm bills, but they are in hopeless conflict; it passed, but left unfinished in the hands of conferees, the housing bill, then fizzled out in ignominy. So what?

It was Senator Bailey of North Carolina speaking, and whether or not we can agree with everything that is said, we do most emphastically agree in this. "What the country needs is a united Congress—not a group of Republicans seeking advantage, not a group of New Dealers defending and apologizing, not a group of socialists scheming to gain power, not a group of Democrats trying to see how they will win the next election; but a group of American Senators and Members of the House of Representatives who have a sense of gesponsibility to their circumstances and who are willing to unite in the common task of putting employment and business and industry in this country upon a firm foundation."

Editor's Note—Dr. Pope's opinions are his own, and his articles do not necessarily always reflect the editorial policies of this paper.

ANOTHER YEAR OF ACTIVE HOME-BUILDING PREDICTED BY C. F. APPEL

C. F. Appel, Louisville manager of the Home Owners' Catalogs division of F. W. Dodge Corporation, looks to the new year for a construction volume of more than 475 million dollars in homes to be occupied by the owners.

"The housing needs of about 65,000 families will be accomodated during 1938 in the homes they will build for themselves," Mr. Appel comments. "The continuation of this year's interest in home owning clearly shows the healthy trend of The Great American Family toward better homes for better living."

In a grouping of all types of family dwelling units, the Dodge corporation estimates that approximately 210,000 will be built during 1938. This includes apartments, two-family houses, developments, houses for owners' occupancy and those built for sale or rent. All of this work will cost more than a billion dollars.

Families planning to build their own homes, in this vicinity, may obtain personal copies of Home Owners' Catalogs, a guide to the selection of home building materials, equipment and furnishings, without cost or any other obligation. This book is not offered for sale and the publishers restrict the distribution to the families who need it most, at this time. It is available to all those who will build homes within twelve months, for their own occupancy, east of the Rockies ,at costs of more than $4,000 exclusive of land. Readers of The Recorder who qualify can secure their copies by writing to the publishers, F. W. Dodge Corporation, Louisville, giving such information about their new homes as location, cost, short description and architect's name. The books will be sent postage-paid.

PROMINENT SPEAKER WILL BE AT JACKSON DAY DINNER SATURDAY

Frankfort — Assistant United States Attorney General Brien McMahon, of Washington, D. C., will be the speaker at the Kentucky Jackson Day Dinner which will be held at the Kentucky Hotel, Louisville the night of January 8. Notification of assignment of General McMahon to Kentucky was received recently from Postmaster General James A. Farley, chairman of the Democratic National Committee.

The dinner will conclude a campaign being made in Kentucky in which Democrats are being asked to contribute $25.00 to the fund being raised to pay off the deficit of the National Democratic Committee. All contributors will receive a ticket to the Jackson Day dinner.

Only one dinner is to be held in each State and the $25.00 donation is standard throughout the nation with exception of the fact that those who attend the "Master Dinner" in Washington will pay $100.00. President Roosevelt will speak at the Washington dinner and his address will be carried to dinners in the various states by radio.

Keen Johnson, secretary of the Kentucky Democratic State Central Executive Committee, has been designated as director of the event. Honorary chairman are Governor A. B. Chandler, Kentucky member of the National Democratic Committee, Mrs. Sam Conner, National Committeewoman and Robert Humphreys, Chairman of the Kentucky Democratic State Central Executive Committee. S. R. Glenn, collector of internal revenue, Louisville, is serving with Johnson on the committee which is sponsoring the dinner.

Tickets for the dinner may be obtained at Democratic State Headquarters, Capital Hotel, at Frankfort, Ky.

A "crisis" is a very sensitive thing. It soon dies of neglect when people quit talking about it.

KENTUCKY FARMERS AMONG SPEAKERS AT ANNUAL CONVENTION

Kentucky farmers on the programs of the 26th annual Farm and Home Convention at Lexington January 25-28 include Charles M. Meacham, Union county; Henry Besuden, Clark county, and Headley Shouse, Fayette county.

A feature of the convention will be the announcement of the selection of six Master Farmers, men who have done well at farming.

Kentucky women to speak at the homemakers' sessions include Mrs. Willie Snow Ethridge, Louisville; Mrs. T. M. Johnson and Mrs. Will Sloss, Warren county; Miss Vivian Hardesty, Boyle county; Mrs. T. F. Lynch and Mrs. H. C. Robinson, Fayette county; Miss Ruth Coons, Daviess county; Mrs. R. L. Maddox, Bell county; Miss Mildred Lewis, University of Kentucky; Miss Lucy Furnam, Lexington, and Mrs. F. N. Tripplet, Henderson county.

Other speakers to be heard by the women are Mrs. Raymond Sayre of Iowa, a past president of the National Master Farm Homemakers' Guild; Judge Camille Kelley, Memphis, Tenn.; Mrs. Caroline B. King, women's editor of "The Country Gentleman;" Dr. Viva Boothe of Ohio State University; Miss Fannie Brooks of the University of Illinois; Miss Lenore Sater of the Tennessee Valley Authority, and Dr. Lucile Reynolds, Washington, D. C.

MILLION POUNDS AT 4-H TOBACCO SHOWS

Shows for 4-H club members in Kentucky in December attracted more than a million pounds of high-quality tobacco which sold for more than a quarter of a million dollars. Twelve hundred club members in 27 counties contributed 603,000 pounds to the Lexington show, where the price averaged $28 a hundred. The high basket, owned by Stanley Hedges, Jr., Fayette county, brought $46 and the high crop, owned by Porter Gilbert, Greenup county, averaged $41.25. William Thomas Prather, Woodford county, was the grand champion grower, and Eugene Tackett, Owsley county, the reserve champion.

At Horse Cave, club members from eight counties showed about 200,000 pounds, while a Bowling Green show attracted more than 100,000 pounds. Other shows were held at Danville, Harrodsburg, Shelbyville, Covington and Carrollton.

While the younger generation may not be going to the dogs it is nevertheless, a bone of contention.

THE HOME STORE

THANKS

We wish to thank personally each and every person who contributed to our 1937 business year. This ends our twentieth year to serve you with general daily needs of high class merchandise.

We all have many things to be thankful for in the business world and one of the foremost is you. Our customers have stayed with us through good crop years and poor ones, the war crash, and years of prosperity through depression and bank failures and now, this 1938 bids fair for better than an average of the past twenty years.

Again thanking each one of you for the past twenty years of friendship and business. We hope, with your liberal support, the next twenty years to even serve you better than in the past. So good health and good luck for the year 1938.

NOTED BEE AUTHORITY COMING TO KENTUCKY

Kentucky beekeepers, meeting during the Farm and Home Convention at Lexington will hear two addresses by Dr. E. F. Phillips of Cornell University, one of the world's best authorities on bees. He was formerly with the United States Department of Agriculture. Called to Soviet Russia, he acted as an advisor of the Russion government in developing the production of honey in that country.

Another speaker on the program is Lawrence King, Letcher county, who produced 2,500 pounds of honey last year, and who is one of the largest beekeepers in Kentucky.

TOMATO CROP SOLD TO COOP CANNERY

Ohio county farmers found tomatoes profitable this year, according to County Agent R. H. Gilbert. A cooperative canning association was organized, a cannery built at Beaver Dam, and 88 farmers grew 314 tons of tomatoes in 90 acres. The crop sold, through the cooperative cannery, for $11 a ton, which is said to have left a fair profit.

While the average yield was 3½ tons or 116 bushels to the acre, some farmers grew as much as 10 tons to the acre. Gilbert Hoskins of Beaver Dam and W. L. James of McHenry each reported more than 10 tons to the acre. Nineteen of the 88 farmers averaged more than five tons to the acre.

In Carlisle county, the Bardwell Canning Company paid out $32,000 for tomatoes and for labor, and tomatoes were one of the best cash crops, according to County Agent A. M. Harris.

LIMESTONE USE UP IN HARDIN COUNTY

Hardin county farmers set a new limestone record of 42,094 tons in 1937, according to the annual report of County Agent A. J. Thaxton. Ten commercial pulverizers, three incorporated quarries and a state-owned pulverizer helped put the big job over. The application of limestone was featured by Mr. Thaxton in group and community meetings, and results obtained over the state from the use of limestone were placed before farmers. Consideration also was given to the need of phosphate, nitrogen and potash in order to obtain maximum results from limestone.

YIELDS INCREASE IN TRIGG COUNTY

Trigg county farmers using limestone and superphosphate on their land last year harvested increased yields, according to County Agent Thomas W. Morgan.

Fifty-six farmers applying limestone and phosphate in growing red clover obtained increases averaging 4,850 pounds to the acre. Yields of alfalfa hay jumped an average of 2,700 pounds to the acre on 25 farms where the effects of limestone and phosphate were tested.

Approximately 1,000 farmers in the county sowed a total of 200,000 pounds of korean lespedeza seed in 1937. Thirty-one men who cooperated with the county agent in demonstrating the value of limestone and superphosphate in growing lespedeza obtained average increases of 2,800 pounds of hay to the acre.

Large increases were made in cover crops, the acreage of crimson clover being 70 percent more than in 1936.

A woman seldom wants to do better than her neighbors. All she wants is to be better looking and to have better clothes.

TO REPORT ON WORLD CHURCH CONFERENCES

A report on church conferences at Oxford and Edinburgh will be made by Dr. Kenneth Bowen, Covington, Ky., at the special session on the rural church during the annual Farm and Home Convention at the University of Kentucky Jan. 25. Another Kentucky pastor who attended the conferences is Dr. John R. Sampey, president of the Southern Theological Seminary at Louisville.

Another prominent speaker on the pastors' program is Dr. Walter C. Lowdermilk, assistant chief of the Soil Conservation Service, who spent several years in China and who will discuss rural life in that country. The Kentucky Rural Church Council will hold its annual meeting during the convention.

DRAINED LAND YIELDS WELL

A Powell county farmer who tile drained land and then applied limestone and superphosphate harvested 65 bushels of corn to the acre in 1937. Ten farmers in the county tile drained 56 acres last year, and several are planning to install drainage systems this year. The county has several thousand acres of good land that will yield well when drained and treated with limestone and superphosphate according to County Agent W. L. Browning.

Unexpected Visitors Must Take a Chance

DEAR Mrs. Post: My husband and I were planning to go with another couple to a big dance in town when the day before out of town relatives just arrived without any notice at all. We tried to persuade them to go to the dance with us but they said they did not care for dancing and also they had not come prepared with evening clothes. We even tried to supply the clothes, but no, they would not go. We felt that we should go since we had promised our friends. We explained the situation and they seemed very sincere in wanting us to go without them. They stayed home with the radio and the dog. Next day they acted hurt and before leaving remarked that they were glad their visit had not interfered with our pleasure. I certainly feel that they have branded me as a discourteous hostess and can't help wondering whether I was wrong.

Answer: A question like this is so hard to answer because if I say you were perfectly right in going out, the chances are that some of my readers would feel about it as your guests apparently did. And yet the real fault was that of your guests who came without asking you if it would be convenient to have them. And this is a thing which in my opinion no one should take for granted—not even a nearest relative, unless she knows there is plenty of room and also that her hostess will feel free to do just as you did.

Women in Night Clubs

DEAR Mrs. Post: I was much interested in your article in which you said that women should not go to a night club unaccompanied by a man. Won't you please tell me whether this also applies to the early dinner hour? I sometimes go to New York accompanied by my mother, or other older woman relative, and instead of having dinner in a quiet restaurant we like to go to one that has Broadway atmosphere with music and show.

Answer: A young woman dining no matter where and staying for awhile with her mother or other older woman relative is quite a different situation from that of two young women going late to a night club without a man!

CAPITOL COMMENTS

This session of Kentucky's General Assembly will be far more strenous than was first suspected. When the Administration took stock after the last general election in November and found that 77 elected members of the House of Representatives and 28 Senators some newly elected and some hold-overs, were sympathetic with the feeling of the Governor, it was generally believed that this session would be a matter of mere routine. They forgot however that many of the new members ran on platforms which made promises to the folks back home that, when and if they were elected, they would do certain things and make certain moves when they took their seats at Frankfort . . . Those boys are going to keep those promises in some instances it puts both them and the Administration in an awkward predicament . . . For instance there were some that told the home folk, back in July when they were campaigning in the primaries and again in the general election, that if elected they would come here and introduce a bill to increase Old Age Assistance from a $15 to a $30 a month maximum . . . Some promised certain road legislation and some made other promises and those promises must be kept or the legislator is put in a bad light with his constituents. . . . What I am driving at is that the Governor's Legislative Council has worked hard and long preparing a program for this session and if it could be carried out the session would move along without a hitch, but it can't go along so smoothly because some of these legislators' promises to the folk back home are not included in the Council's program and these legislators are going to have their say and nobody can stop them. . . . At least they are going to do something in the line of keeping their promises to the voters that elected them.

• • •

The farmers and those who live in rural communities will hearken this with pleasure . . . There is a movement to expand the activities of the Rural Highway Department. . . . This Department will have more money to spend next year . . . That money will have to come from the State Highway Department. . . . Cutting down on the State Highway Division and adding to the Rural Highways was another piece of legislation promised by candidates in certain sections and before this session is over that legislation is certain to come to pass.

• • •

The conductor of this pillar has been attending the sessions of the legislative council during the last days before the convening of the General Assembly . . . He has watched the proceedings with interest and has made an effort to find just which would be the most important and the most talked of legislation that is to come . . . In a talk with Dr. B. F. Shields, Taylorsville, a member of the Council and Senator Leo King of Henderson, it was found that the Liquor control question would, as predicted here some weeks ago, be the high light of the meeting . . . The Council has written, revised, reread, and generally smoothed out a 48 page bill which it believes will settle the liquor situation . . . One thing is certain, the activities of the roadhouses will be greatly curtailed . . . In the bill there is included a section doing with the operation of roadhouses where police supervision is conspicuous by its absence . . . These places must go. However, before that bill is passed the legislators are going to run into such things as this . . . The owner of one of these roadside spots will want the right to pay the salary of a regularly deputized deputy sheriff to stay around his place to promote law and order . . . This already is being done in some counties which have a certain amount of liquor control . . . This would be O. K. but for the fact that in this session there is certain to be some legislation about privately paid deputy sheriffs . . . this growing out of the activities of the deputies in Harlan County coal wars in recent years . . .

Members of the County and Commonwealth's Attorney's Association, seeking to help the liquor situation here in the State, have asked that the Legislature enact a bill to give the county courts authority to hear liquor cases . . . That authority now is held by circuit courts which convene quarterly . . . This same body urged, through James Hanrahan, Frankfort, its chairman, that the General Assembly repeal the present law requiring county attorneys to resist divorces . . . This bit of legislation, in this pillar's opinion, means nothing. Few, if any, of the county attorneys make any concentrated effort to resist divorces. . . .

A new marriage law, one that would insure safer if not happier matrimonial ventures, has been drafted for approval by the General Assembly. The proposed bill would require applicants for marriage to furnish a certificate that they are free from veneral disease. The bill provides for the examination of both parties within 15 days before their marriage. Laboratory tests would be made by the State Department of Health or any laboratory approved by the Department.

• • •

RANDOM NOTES—The Council turned down a proposal to separate the Division of Old Age Assistance from the Welfare Department . . . It was suggested that the Division come under some other head, possibly that of Bill Burrow, Commissioner of Industrial Relations . . . Lloyds of Lond, the largest insurance company in the world, a concern of history and romance, will operate in Kentucky. It has been approved by the Insurance Commissioner, Sherman Goodpaster. The Kentucky branch will be in charge of Charles I. Brown, who recently resigned his State job as Deputy Insurance Commissioner . . . The only way that the Democrats can place a circuit judge in the McCreary-Knox District is by appointment. Governor Chandler appointed J. J. Tye of Barbourville to fill the term of Judge P. L. Senters who died last week. . . The last Democratic judge in that district was Hiram H. Tye who was appointed by Former Governor A. O. Stanley back in 1916 . . . The reason that nothing more is being heard about Congressman Fred Vinson taking the Federal judgeship in District of Columbia is that he plans to stay in Congress until tax legislation is completed . . . He is the House's most important figure in such legislation.

RABBIT HASH

Christmas passed quietly here. Several dinners were served.

THE FAMILY DOCTOR

Too many women and girls have the idea that milk is a food for children only and that it may be admitted from the adult diet. Such an idea is a mistake. In the interest of health, each adult should get milk each day equal to a pint. The child should have from a pint and a half to a quart. It makes no difference whether you drink milk or eat it, so long as you get it in some form—but get it every day without fail.

KENTUCKY FARM NEWS

O. H. Miller, a Wolfe county farmer, planted 500 pounds of certified Irish Cobbler seed potatoes on eight-tenths of an acre and harvested 8,800 pounds of No. 1 potatoes. Sold for $1.45 per 100 pounds, the patch returned a profit of $100.30.

Two hundred and sixty-four Whitley county farmers sowed a total of 19,030 pounds of korean lespedeza seed last year. Pasture lands in the county are being sown with a mixture of lespedeza, redtop and orchard grass seed.

Spencer county's tobacco acreage last year was 60 percent larger than in 1936. Many barns were built during the year, eight of them with modern ventilating systems. Ten farmers reported favorable results from growing Kentucky No. 16 burley, developed at the Agricultural Experiment Station.

Five laying houses and 10 brooder houses were built in Robertson county last year from plans furnished by the Experiment Station. Other improvements suggested by the county planning committee include certification of flocks and better feeding.

The growing of Kentucky No. 16 and No. 5 burley tobacco, plus use of fertilizers, have increased yields and improved quality in Russell county to the value of $15,000 a year, it is estimated.

QUICK CLEANER

Try using snow as a quick cleaner for heavy garments, for felt hats and even rugs. It is best to choose a day when it is not too cold. Take the garments, one at a time, outside and give them a good rubbing in a bank of clean snow; brush off bits of lint or snow that remain, then press and you will be surprised at the results.

EAST BEND W. M. U. NOTES

The W. M. U. met with Mrs. Christena Kirtley December 30th. There were several members and visitors present. A wonderful dinner was served which was enjoyed by all present. The new business was discussed and it was decided to sponsor a chicken soup at Mrs. Kirtley's Friday night, January 7th for the W. M. U. members and their families.

The meeting adjourned until the next meeting at the church.

Ethel Black, Pub. Chm'n.

WORDS OF WISDOM

Nobody knows, and probably never will, just who originated what we know in the business world today as "credit." It seems to be as old as barter and trade itself, and there has been barter and trade since the human race first came upon the earth.

Credit, as old as the business world itself, has in its more modernized usage become the largest part of business. Money we have, of course, as a medium of exchange, yet in actual comparison with credit money is really secondary. Today credit is money. Every business and profession, every individual, today computes and values credit on a basis of actual dollars and cents. A man is worth not what he may possess in dollars and cents but what he is "good for" from a credit standpoint. If his credit is good, he need not have a dollar in actual cash to make a desired purchase, but if his credit is gone, so is his reputation and his future is measured by how long his cash holds out.

Here at the turn of the year, when the average man is endeavoring to balance his accounts and start with a clean slate—an old custom but a good one—is a fine time to keep this thing we call "credit" in mind and a good time to renew your determination to protect it and keep it good. After all, in rain or shine, in bad times or good, in sickness or health, credit is your greatest asset and your best protection. A wise man keeps his credit good because he knows that in an emergency his credit will keep him.

THEN AND NOW

In a paper published in an Illinois city we note a comparative market report that ought to be of interest to every citizen of this county and especially those who are capable to thinking back to what they now refer to as "the good old days." In one column the paper prints the current market quotations, in an opposite column the prices that prevailed in 1878—sixty years ago. The report shows that in '78 corn was quoted at 18c a bushel; potatoes, 15c a bushel; cornmeal, 75c a hundred. But flour was $3.25 a sack. Eggs were bringing 15c a dozen and "frying" chickens $1.50 a dozen. And country school teachers were getting $25 a month. Sixty years is a brief span as measured by old Father Time's yardstick, but when we compare these prices of sixty years ago with the price of the same commodities today it shows that we have come a long way in the matter of increasing the cost of living in a short space of time. And at the present rate it would be interesting to see another comparison, one made sixty years from now.

WHAT CAUSES 'EM

Motorists who wonder what causes the greatest number of accidents might try listening to Chief Flynn, for 30 years a traffic officer on the Chicago police department. He lists the causes in this order: First, speed; second, booze; third, horns and fourth, carelessness. It probably will not surprise the average motorist to learn that most mishaps are the result of speed, though many had come to believe that booze had edged into first place within the past year or so. But few can realize that the horn—held by many experts to be an almost unnecessary part of the car—is responsible for so many deaths. Flynn explains that horns confuse both the very young and the very old, and they rush in front of a car instead of away from it. His entire list is interesting and worthy of study, and that part referring to the horn especially. Every motorist should think that over.

ESTILL COUNTY MAN RESTORES FERTILITY

By growing legumes and by using manure and limestone, O. B. Garrett, an Estill county farmer restored fertility in a seven-acre field to where 85 bushels of corn to the acre were grown last year, according to C. C. Shade, county farm agent. Three hundred lbs. of complete fertilizer per acre were used last spring, and alfalfa sowed following the last cultivation of the corn.

In another field of five acres, Mr. Garrett doubled alfalfa yields by applying two tons of limestone and 233 pounds of 43 percent superphosphate to the acre. Mr. Garrett also is a good tobacco grower, producing 2,100 pounds of high-quality leaf on an acre and a quarter.

Boys now find that one of their greatest problems is what kind of a birthday present to buy for a girl who doesn't smoke.

PARAGRAPHS

Some women are creatures of habit. Look at the Chicago beauty show winner who is now asking for her eighth divorce.

Most women always feel a lot better after a good cry. It not only gets things out of their systems, but out of their husbands, too.

Maybe reckless drivers could be cured by being sentenced to lead the life of a pedestrian for a few months at a stretch.

A Chicago physician says the way to save civilization is to make men over. Well, a lot of wives are trying to do that very thing.

Most women seem to be content when they reach 40. By that time they've either got a husband or quit worrying about it.

A census report says "the average family pays $75 a year to the doctor." That's probably news to the doctor.

Maybe more fathers would send their children to college if they knew the kids wouldn't come home and criticize their grammar.

Possibly the nations of the world would get better results if they would hold a conference for the limitation of dictators.

The best cure for most any pain the medicine you take just before the darned thing ceases of its own accord.

Everything may not come to the man who waits, but it does to the man who hustles out and meets it half way.

What has become of the old-fashioned man who used to argue that giving the women the right to vote would purify politics?

When a man gets home from work and finds his wife reading the auto ads—he'd better go back to work.

AMONG THE COUNTY AGENTS

Taylor county farmers used more than 16,000 tons of limestone in 1937, the largest tonnage ever used.

Mrs. Gypsie Miller, Lawrence county, had 70 percent egg production from her high-grade hens last month.

A total of 1,040 quarts of fruits and vegetables were canned by six Barren county Utopia club members.

Rogers Bros., Spencer county, are draining 200 acres of land with approximately 15 miles of terrace.

J. S. Stewart, Knox county, has enough lespedeza and clover for work stock and cattle, with 3,000 bales left over to sell.

Approximately 25 acres of land have been terraced in Henderson county on the farm of Dr. Silas Griffin.

Two-day dairy cattle feeding schools were well attended in Grant county, where more than 300 farmers sell dairy products.

Contour furrows proved valuable in checking water flow and helping ditches to fill on the farm of Joe D. Rose in Clark county.

Thirteen poultry houses were built or remodeled in Harlan county in 1937.

Pulverizers, trucks, spreaders and limekilns are beings used in a lime program in Powell county.

Sixteen hundred steers are being fed distillery slop, hominy and molasses in Harrison county.

More than 7,000 acres of clovers and grasses were seeded in Campbell county last year.

Demonstrations in grading dark and burley tobaccos attracted more than 100 farmers to Daviess county.

Pullet flocks well fed and housed are returning profits for Rowan county farmers.

Henry county farmers last year applied 2,170,500 pounds of marl, in the agricultural conservation program.

Application of eight times as much superphosphate in 1937 as in 1936, is reported by Green county farmers.

Vaccination successfully checked outbreaks of hog cholera in Owsley county.

KENTUCKY FARM NEWS

Cooperating in the live-at-home program, colored women in Kentucky canned and stored fruits and vegetables conservatively valued at $18,582. Four-H club members had produced farm products worth an additional $13,800.

Breckinridge county 4-H and Utopia club members have discovered that so far, native calves feed out better than shipped-in calves. The calves sold well and every boy made a profit on the project.

Four lespedeza seed saving pans have been built in Laurel county, to be common property. W. D. Bales, a farmer and blacksmith, made them free of charge. Iron was obtained through the CCC.

Walter Benson, a Kenton county farmer, obtained two tons of hay and a good seed crop in 1937 from clover sowed in March, 1936. Two tons of limestone per acre were applied in 1932 and alfalfa sown. In 1935 more limestone was applied and corn and tobacco grown.

Keep Normal Amount of Fat

By DR. JAMES W. BARTON

© Bell Syndicate.—WNU Service.

AN OVERWEIGHT woman in her early thirties said nothing to her friends but quietly "dieted"; she practically starved herself for about six weeks. She refused invitations out on the plea that she had a "cold that was hanging on."

After her weight had decreased from 170 pounds to 130 pounds she purchased a couple of new "outfits" and accepted the next invitation for an afternoon bridge party.

Dr. Barton

Naturally she created the sensation she expected to create. The conversation at each table at which she played was about the "return" of her youthful figure and numerous were the inquiries as to how she did it.

"I just didn't eat," was her reply. "I drank a little water, ate an egg once in a while, and remained in bed most of the time because I felt weak after the first few days. But I was bound I'd lose that 40 pounds if it killed me."

And, as a matter of fact, it nearly did kill her. Everything seemed to go wrong; the stomach, intestines, uterus and kidneys dropped downwards and forwards. She spent the next three months in bed and in undergoing two operations. Her fat all came back and she is now "unwieldy" in appearance.

It was just one brief moment of triumph—showing her friends her youthful figure—but she will pay for it always.

Now why did all this occur? Wasn't she better physically to be rid of all this fat which would raise her blood pressure and be a tax on her heart?

Normal Fat Is Needed.

Every overweight would be better physically if they were to rid themselves of their excess or "surplus" fat, but every individual—fat, thin or average—needs a certain amount, or a "normal" amount of fat in and on the body.

The normal amount of fatty tissue is very useful in the body not only as a "reserve" food or fuel but as padding about the nerve endings and to buoy up the abdominal organs and keep them in place. Accordingly the very thin person is almost sure to be high strung and nervous, and unless special care is taken to prevent it, the organs are apt to sag out of normal position.

In addition the poorly nourished muscle tissues become flabby and relaxed, including the muscles of the walls of the abdomen and the muscle coats of the intestine.

There is no disease in any particular organ, but the organs are not in their right positions and there is a lack of tone or elasticity in the muscle tissues of the organs; they just do not do their work properly and cause these symptoms of indigestion, constipation and general weakness.

Daily Range of Temperature.

One of the mistakes often made by intelligent individuals is to take their temperature from time to time during the day, and count the rate at which the heart is beating. In fact, instruments are now seen showing the blood pressure of any one who wants to spend a dime or twenty-five cents in this manner.

Your temperature, the rate at which your heart beats, and your blood pressure all vary throughout the day, all three being at their lowest or slowest on awaking in the morning. Any little excitement, eating food, taking exercise, will all increase the temperature, pulse rate, and blood pressure. Even the hour of the day and night has its effect upon these measurements, the temperature particularly being at its highest point at 4 o'clock in the afternoon and at 8 o'clock at night.

We should all remember also that the daily range of temperature in the average individual is about two degrees; thus the temperature may be 97 degrees in the early morning and 99 at 4 p. m. or 8 p. m. and be considered normal. Changes in the pulse rate and blood pressure also are found according to the time of day or the habits of the individual.

Thus variations in temperature during the day is a normal condition and each individual seems to have a temperature range of his own. Dr. H. A. Reiman, Minneapolis, Minn., in Clinical Medicine and Surgery, says:

"Every normal person has a temperature range of his own which, for him, is 'normal,' even though it may be higher than the average or usual range. When a patient like this consults a physician, he should be given a thorough and searching examination and, if no underlying organic disease is found, this 'normal' variation in temperature should be explained to him, thus relieving his mind."

The honeymoon is about over when the groom begins to envy his acquaintances who are deaf.

The only reason some men work is they're too dignified to beg and too nervous to steal.

Germ Causes Tuberculosis

By DR. JAMES W. BARTON

© Bell Syndicate.—WNU Service.

IT IS hard to convince the average man or woman that tuberculosis is not inherited. They look about them on every side and know that a parent, an uncle, a brother, or a sister of a patient with tuberculosis has died of tuberculosis.

Yet physicians, particularly those working close to tuberculosis, tell us that while tuberculosis may appear to "run in families," it is only "because children catch the disease from an older member of the household who has it."

Dr. Barton

Shortly after I graduated in medicine the superintendent of a large sanatorium told me that he believed that in at least half the adult populations evidences of past or healed tuberculosis could be found. Today it is believed that if every part of the body could be examined some evidence of tuberculosis would be found in everybody, which, for the time being at least, was in a "quiet" state.

Caused by an Organism.

Why then, if tuberculosis can be found in practically everybody, do we not all suffer with the symptoms or at least show some signs of it?

"The specific or definite cause of tuberculosis is a germ or organism. If a few tuberculosis germs get into a healthy body no harm is done because the body fights back. But if one lives daily with a careless person who has the disease the danger is great. Kissing, coughing and spitting may be the means of spreading tuberculosis germs. Anything which has touched the sick person's lips may have germs on it."

It would be well for all of us to remember also the first signs—the danger signals—pointing to tuberculosis. These signals may not mean tuberculosis in every case but should cause one to suspect tuberculosis. These signals are: (1) too easily tired; (2) loss of weight; (3) indigestion; (4) cough that hangs on.

Overweight and the Failing Heart.

One of the hard tasks for physician and patient is when there is a great amount of fat in and on the body and the patient has a weak or damaged heart.

The most effective method of reducing weight is cutting down on the food intake and increasing the exercise. Unfortunately the overweight patient with a heart condition needs food to maintain his strength and can take little or no exercise owing to the strain exercise puts upon the heart.

In addition to getting out of breath easily many of these patients begin to get a little swelling in the feet which means they must get off the feet more, and keep the feet on another chair when sitting. While this may mean less work for the heart it of course means less work or exercise for the body and more fat accumulates.

Therefore when the physician undertakes the treatment of the overweight heart patient he does so, not with fear and trembling as to what must be done, but with fear and trembling that his patient will not follow his suggestions faithfully; that he will continue to eat more than his body needs.

One of the laws that applies to all the organs or functioning processes of the body is briefly: "An organ performing its work with difficulty undergoes a gradual deteriorating, if increased activity is persisted in." This doesn't mean that the organs or tissues will not or are not able to do many times the necessary work, but it does mean that if an overload is placed on it, and it has to work with this overload for a long time, the fibers or tissues of the organ lose their strength and elasticity, just as a piece of elastic kept greatly stretched too long will lose some of its power to contract.

It is, therefore, getting these overweights to lessen the amount of their food intake and thus take the overload off the heart (due to its having to nourish this extra fat and weight of the body) that the physician so persistently aims at.

The converse or opposite of this rule is: "If the work demanded of a diseased or failing organ be a little less than it is really able to do, a certain degree of power will be restored." In the case of the heart this is known as "heart reserve."

You can see then how important it is to the overweight heart patient that he get rid of his fat and lessen the work on the heart. "When the heart muscle is suffering from any abnormal mechanical handicap (such, for instance, as having to pump blood to a large qantity of inactive fat tissue) and shows signs of failing, it should be given as nearly as possible absolute rest to regain some of its lost power."

Prayer and people are a good deal alike. If the latter don't work neither will the former.

Be on your guard, for a talkative friend can often do you more harm than a silent enemy.

DEMOCRAT CLUB SELECTS PRES.

J. P. BROTHERS NAMED TO SUCCEED TED HEILE—TOM OWENS ELECTED VICE PRESIDENT.

At a meeting of the Young Men's Democratic Club of Boone County, held in Burlington Monday night, J. P. Brothers was named president; Tom Owens, vice president; Clinton Cleek, Secretary and Wm. Rogers, Jr., Treasurer.

The meeting was called to order by Ted Heile, and the minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary, after which the election of officers was held.

At the beginning of the meeting all indications pointed to a heated contest in the selection of a president, with J. P. Brothers and Ted Heile as the candidates. A count was made for each candidate, and each had a total of 56 votes. A recess of five minutes was requested by one of the members, which was granted by the president. When the meeting was called to order Ted Heile announced that he wished to withdraw from the contest in favor of J. P. Brothers.

The Boone County Club has been one of the most active in the state, and has always been in harmony. This meeting closed with the organization very closely united, and another year of active club work is assured for 1938.

Approximately one hundred and fifty club members were present at this meeting, with all taking active part in the election of officers.

CARL SEARS TO BE SPEAKER AT BULLITTSBURG SUNDAY

The Rev. Carl Sears, of Ludlow will fill the pulpit of the Bullittsburg Baptist Church Sunday, Jan. 16th at 11 a. m. and 7 p. m. Everyone is cordially invited to attend these services.

Margaret Laing

Mrs. Margaret, aged 42 years, passed away Thursday night at her home, 36 Clover Ave., Erlanger, after a long illness. The remains were removed to the Tallaferro Funeral Home for preparation.

She is survived by her husband A. A. Laing, one daughter Ruth Laing, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. B. Wadsworth, one sister, Mrs. Ruth Webb, two brothers Robert and Earl Wadsworth.

Funeral was from the late residence Monday at 8:30 a. m., with requiem high mass at St. Henry's Church at 9 a. m. by the Rev. Edm. Corby, pastor, interment following in St. Mary's cemetery.

The pallbearers were George Webb, William Laing, Albert Harmon, Albert Herrlinger, Claire Klein and Wm. Mackenstedt.

Funeral Director Philip Tallaferro had charge of the funeral arrangements.

W. F. BRADFORD DIES SUDDENLY

WAS VICTIM OF HEART ATTACK —HAD BEEN LIFE LONG RESIDENT OF BOONE COUNTY—SERVICES HELD SUNDAY.

William F. Bradford, 69, Florence, died suddenly at his home in Florence early Friday, after a very short illness of heart attack.

Mr. Bradford was well known throughout Boone county, having spent his entire life here. He was held in high esteem by all who had the pleasure of knowing this fine man. His passing will be deeply felt in the community in which he lived.

He was prominent in Florence and Boone county. He served as secretary of the Building and Loan Association, of Florence; was a member of the city council, and for many years was a representative of the Lyon Tailoring Company, of Cincinnati.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Minnie Bradford and a brother, Robert Bradford, of Hebron.

Funeral services were conducted from the Florence Christian Church Sunday with interment in the Florence cemetery.

Tharp & Stith, Florence Funeral Directors were in charge of the arrangements.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Cotton and daughter Lucille and Wilton Stephens were dinner guests of Dr. M. A. Yelton and family Wednesday.

Local Bank Holds Annual Meeting

The Peoples Deposit Bank of Burlington held its annual meeting Tuesday of this week, reelecting the same board of directors, composed of N. E. Riddell, A. W. Corn, R. S. Cowen, S. B. Nunnelley C. F. Blankenbeker, F. L. McGlasson, W. P. Beemon, Henry Clore and Al Rogers.

Only three of the above members were original directors when the bank was organized 32 years ago, these being A. W. Corn, Henry Clore and W. P. Beemon.

It is unusual to note that two members of the board are above 90 and one above 80 years of ago. R. S. Cowen was 93 last November 15th, A. W. Corn 91 last June 19th and Henry Clore will be 81 January 17th. Notwithstanding the advanced ages of these men, they seldom miss the monthly meeting of the board the first Monday in each month and take an active interest in the business affairs of the bank.

The officers of the bank are N. E. Riddell, President; A. W. Corn, Vice President; A. B. Renaker, Cashier; Miss Nell H. Martin, L. C. Beemon, G. S. Kelly and C. L. Cropper, assistant cashiers.

L. C. Beemon, who has been confined to his home since last June on account of illness, was given a leave of absence of six months January 1st by the board in the hopes that he may be able to regain his health and return to his position with the bank.

A 4% semi-annual dividend was paid to the stockholders December 31st and a substantial sum carried to undivided profits from the year's operations.

Specialist Assists Local Farmers In Keeping Records

Mr. R. E. Proctor, Farm Account Specialist from the College, will be at the County Agent's office in Burlington on Friday and Saturday, January 21st and 22nd, to assist farmers in keeping complete farm account records.

Farmers who kept records last year will be assisted in completing their books and those who are starting new records will receive assistance in taking their inventories. Farmers who keep records for one year receive a complete business analysis on their last year's business with recommendations for improvement.

The keeping of complete farm account records is probably one of the most profitable jobs on the farm. Farmers who cooperate in the College Farm Account project receive a complete service with account books, assistance and business analysis supplied by the College.

Farmers interested in keeping complete farm account records in 1938 are advised to contact the county agent's office in Burlington immediately. Books are available at a cost of 15 cents each for the first year. Cooperators who keep a complete record are supplied books free of charge after that date.

REPORT CHRISTMAS SEAL SALE

Some schools and individuals have not as yet reported the sale of Tuberculosis Christmas Seals. If you received some seals and have not reported or sent your dollar, do so at once. Report to R. V. Lents, Ludlow, Ky., R. 2.

The committee in charge of the sale of the seals in Boone County thanks all who helped in any way to make the sale a success.

Office Moved To Burlington

The Department of Public Assistance is establishing an Old Age Assistance Office at the Burlington Court House. All persons who desire to make application for assistance or who may have any business with this department will find Mrs. Elizabeth Mills, Boone County Field Worker at the office on Monday and Wednesday of each week between the hours of nine and twelve, Eastern Standard Time. Mr. Walter Ferguson, District Supervisor will be at the office every Wednesday.

In the past the Boone County office has been established at the home of the County Field Worker. By moving it to the County Seat it will make the office more accessible for our old people.

MEETING SET FOR JAN. 19TH

TWO HUNDRED AND FIFTEEN FARMERS EXPECTED TO ATTEND ANNUAL BOONE FARM LOAN ASSOCIATION MEETING.

Two hundred and fifteen farmers of Boone County are expected to respond to the call which has been issued to members of the Boone County National Farm Loan Association to assemble in annual stockholders' meeting in Burlington at 1 p. m. slow time next Wednesday, January 19th, according to announcement of A. B. Renaker, Secretary-Treasurer of the organization.

Business to come before the meeting includes election of directors. Under the new farm credit law two members of the board will be chosen for 3-year terms, two for 2-year terms and one for 1 year. Previously all directors were elected for 1-year terms.

Reports covering the financial condition of the association and the business transacted during the year will be presented by the Secretary-Treasurer and by members of the Board of Directors. A representative of the Federal Land Bank of Louisville will be a guest of the association at the annual meeting and will discuss features of the Farm Credit Act of 1937 affecting the national farm loan association, federal land bank system and other subjects of interest to stockholders.

Directors of the association urge all members to be present at this important meeting, according to Mr. Renaker. Members have substantial cash investments in the capital stock of their farm loan association and should discharge their obligations as members by taking part in the annual meeting.

According to reports, keen rivalry exists among the several farm [illegible] for the year's record of highest percentage of attendance. The Fourth Farm Credit District, comprising Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and Tennessee, led the twelve districts of the United States in the attendance percentage for a number of years, but lost out by a fraction last year when widespread floods kept members at home. All members are urged to help boost the district back into first place this year.

Present directors of the association are E. A. Martin, John H. Grimes, B. E. Aylor, Karl Rouse and Thomas Hensley. The Boone County National Farm Loan Association was chartered in 1922.

It has outstanding 168 first mortgage farm loans totaling $648,400.00. In addition it has extended and now administers for the Land Bank Commissioner 129 first and second mortgage loans totaling $261,200.00.

All Land Bank Commissioner borrowers have been extended an invitation to attend the meeting January 19th.

June Brown Is Quite Ill

Miss June Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Brown, Burlington, was treated at Booth Memorial Hospital Tuesday for ear trouble.

She was taken to the hospital Tuesday at noon, and it was necessary for both ear drums to be punctured. She was brought home by her parents Tuesday night, and her condition is much improved.

Chas. Maxwell In Hospital

Mr. Charlie Maxwell, of near Burlington, was rushed to St. Elizabeth hospital, Covington, Tuesday night, for an appendicitis operation.

The operation was performed at 11:00 P. M. Tuesday night, but no further word has been received of his condition at this writing.

Fredrick Leo Poole

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Poole, Burlington, a seven pound boy, named Fredrick Leo Poole.

The youngster arrived Sunday morning, Jan. 9th, making a total of four boys and two girls in this happy home.

Mrs. Lillie pressor is caring for Mrs. Poole, whose condition is reported as doing fine at this time.

Financial Report Appears In This Week's Issue

In this issue of the Recorder will be the financial report of the treasurer of Boone County. The report is complete, showing receipts and disbursements for the fiscal year July 1, 1936 to July 1, 1937.

Many citizens of Boone County will be interested to know that this county ranks among the best in the state as to financial condition.

Officials of Boone County deserve much praise for the efficient manner in which they have conducted the county's business.

Due to the settlement we are unable to print all of our letters from various correspondents. However, they will appear in next week's issue.

New Haven Boy Receives Award On Record Book

Every year at the Covington District Tobacco Show and Sale prizes are awarded on project record books. These records are [illegible] judged for neatness, accuracy and story. On this basis the record book turned in by Rogers Knox of New Haven Boosters club was awarded first place in the county, according to David Colville assistant county agent. Roger's story is as follows:

"My crop of tobacco in 1936 was very good but when 1937 came around I thought I would raise a bigger and better crop.

"In early March, while it was still snowing, I broke my land and started making my plant bed. May 14th, when the sun began to pour down, I disked my ground so as to get it well pulverized for the dry summer we had. I set my tobacco the latter part of May so that it would mature early and not be green.

"I cultivated the tobacco after every rain so the ground would not bake and cause the plants to die. I began hoeing the tobacco when the plans had about five or six leaves to the plant.

"There were quite a few worms on my tobacco this year and it hept me busy spraying poison so they couldn't take my crop.

"When the tobacco became chest high and bloomed out, I topped it, so it wouldn't burn up near the bottom. After topping I didn't wait for any suckers. I cut it and hauled it to the barn August 27. Because of the hot weather, I didn't want it to burn. My tobacco cured up very fast because of the warm dry weather we were having.

"In the middle of October, I had the tobacco put in a bulk. A few days later, I had it stripped, bulked down and pressed out.

"On Friday, December 17th, I have to take my tobacco to Covington and on Saturday, I hope tobacco is bringing a good price because mine goes on sale then and I am hoping for a good price."

Four-H Leaders' Training Class January 19th

A training class for 4-H clothing leaders will be held January 19th at the courthouse, according to Mary Hood Gillaspie, home demonstration agent. Miss Edith Lacy, 4-H clothing specialist from the University of Kentucky, will meet with the clothing leaders from each of the ten clubs in the county to make plans for the 1938 program. Special instruction will be given in clothing construction Miss Lacy had scheduled at the meeting for December 16th, but was postponed due to the sleet.

Four-H clubs are holding organization meetings for Home Economics projects the next two weeks. Leaders will be selected by club leaders.

FARMERS PLAN 1938 PROGRAM

TEN COMMUNITY MEETINGS TO BE HELD WITHIN NEXT THREE WEEKS—ALL FARMERS INVITED.

Boone County farmers during the next three weeks will hold ten community meetings to plan their 1938 Community Improvement programs, according to H. R. Forkner, county agent. These plans will be combined with county-wide projects by the chairman of the community groups in a 1938 County Agricultural Program of work.

The schedule of the Community Agricultural Improvement program meetings is as follows:

Hamilton at Hamilton school—Thursday, Jan. 13, at 7:00 p. m.

Verona at Verona Bank—Saturday, Jan. 15, at 1:00 p. m.

Florence at Chester Tanner's Feed Store, Saturday, Jan. 15, at 8:00 p. m. (E. S. T.)

New Haxen at New Haven school—Friday, Jan. 21 at 7:00 p. m.

Walton at Walton school—Friday, Jan. 21, 7:00 p. m.

Everyone interested in Community Agricultural Improvement work is invited to attend.

Burlington and Grant Farmers Plan 138 Programs

Farmers of Burlington and Grant communities met last Saturday and outlined that plan of local Agricultural Improvement they would like to see carried out in 1938. Leaders or committeemen were appointed to assist in each line of work planned.

The Burlington program planned is as follows: Korean, alfalfa and other legumes, hold a county meeting this winter with Prof. George Roberts and Prof. E. J. Committee

Mrs. W. F. Bradford and Mrs. Annie Clore of Florence called at the Recorder office Wednesday afternoon of this week while here Mrs. Clore renewed her subscription for another year.

Clinton Blankenbeker, of Florence, Mrs. Blankenbeker is county chairman of the project "Furnish the Liveable Home."

Miss Ida C. Hagman, specialist from the University of Kentucky, gave a lesson on "Accessories for the Liveable Home." She had an exhibit of handicraft work that may be copied by the homemakers. Miss Hagman, assisted by Mary Hood Gillaspie, Boone County Home Demonstration Agent, showed an exhibit of India, Persian and Egyptian prints. After the lesson, the leaders were divided into groups to arrange the furniture in living room, dining room and bedroom, according to suggestions made in the class instruction.

This is the last training class in the fall series according to Miss Gillaspie. A spring meeting, open to all homemakers, will be held at Taft Museum in Cincinnati to study famous paintings. Miss Hagman will assist at the spring meeting.

The following were present at the training class: Mrs. R. C. Garrison, Mrs. Harold Gaines, Mrs. Lou Pope, Burlington; Mrs. Geo. Kottmyer and Mrs. James Dye, Constance; Mrs. Nelle Blankenbeker, Mrs. Clarence Fossett and Mrs. J. L. Morgan, Florence; Mrs. William Wilson, Hamilton; Mrs. George Casper and Mrs. Bertha Conrad, Hebron; Mrs. Jake Cleek, and Mrs. J. S. Taylor, New Haven; Miss Edna Berkshire and Mrs. Mary Berkshire, Petersburg; Mrs. Oscar Fugate and Mrs. Elizabeth Morehead, Taylorsport; Mrs. W. T. Renaker and Mrs. Marie Wilson, Verona; Mrs. John L. Vest and Mrs. J. C. Bedinger, Walton; and Miss Ida Hagman and Mary Hood Gillaspie.

Indians Defeat Independents

The local Independent basketball team suffered defeat at the hands of the Indian team Monday night by a score of 41 to 32.

The local team was composed of W. Bradburn, S. Bradburn, Woody Woods, and Roy James, all of Petersburg and were formerly with the Student Prince All-Stars, Albert Sebree, Donald Kirkpatrick, James Ogden, William Greenup, Dudley Rouse and A. W. Weaver, of Burlington.

A nice crowd attended the game and reported that the contest was very entertaining.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hall and family, of Covington, spent Sunday with Mrs. Susie Stephens and family.

FIRE CAUSES SLIGHT DAMAGE

TO ROUSE SISTER'S HOME AT LIMABURG—FLOOR IS IGNITED BY COALS FROM OPEN FIREPLACE.

Boone County's first fire loss in 1938 was marked up Sunday morning with but very little damage to the home of Misses Ina and Isabelle Rouse, Limaburg, Ky. The estimated damage to the property was set at approximately $30.00.

The fire was started in a side bed room, in which a fire had been built in an open fireplace. The family did not ordinarily use this room, and after the fire was built in the fireplace, they went to the rear of the house to finish their chores, and did not return for some time. The fire was first discovered when they noticed smoke coming from under the foundation.

The alarm was sounded by telephone, and in a very short time help had arrived and the flames were extinguished. Apparently a large lump of burning coal had fell from the fire place and rolled out on the floor. Quite a lot of smoke had accumulated under the house, giving the appearance that that the fire was larger than it it actually was.

The only damage was a large hole in the floor and part of one sleeper badly damaged.

Walton Defeated By Hebron High

Hebron High's basketball team returned to school Monday quite pleased with the way the world was running.

Saturday night the Hebron Cardinals trimmed the Walton Bearcats to become a factor in the race for the Boone County Conference title. The score was [illegible]

The Hebron boys led most of the game and at the half had the surprised Bearcats reeling, 29 to 19.

While Hebron gathered game honors, two players divided individual scoring honors. Hitzfield of the winners and Osborne of the losers counted 16 each.

On Friday night of this week the Hebron boys will meet the strong Alexandria five on the Hebron floor. This will undoubtedly be one of the season's best, as the Alexandria boys have wont 29 out of 30 games played this season, and the Hebron boys are considered the strongest in the Boone County Conference League.

KITTLE-MALLICOAT

Miss Grace Boyd Kittle, the charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Kittle and Mr. Virgil Mallicoat were quietly married Wednesday, Jan. 6, by Rev. Raymond Smith, of Belleview.

FACULTY MEET P.-T. A. MEMBERS

AT NEW HAVEN GYM ON SATURDAY, JANUARY 22—BOTH WOMEN AND MEN WILL BE SEEN ON HARDWOOD.

Plans have just been rounded out for the basketball game of the season, Saturday, January 22, when the New Haven Panters meet the New Haven Rockets on their floor. The Panters are composed of the women members of the P.-T. A. and the Rockets, the women faculty members.

A search of the country side for suits is on as some of the members found that they have added more than age. At the first practice, five of the players revealed that in their youth they had not taken up the gentle are of playing basketball so Coach Brock is giving hurried lessons so that these players will not be ruled out by the first quarter.

Another game which promises to be a highlight on this night is the game between the men faculty and the men members of the P.-T. A. Each side has claimed victory already, notwithstanding the fact the elapse of years since they felt the boards during a scrimmage.

The Independent boys of New Haven community and the Independent boys of Hamilton will meet also, this game promising some excellent playing.

A complete line-up of all three games will be in next weeks' issue, so watch for it.

E. J. MEINHARDI, WELL KNOWN EXPERT OF CHICAGO, IS COMING HERE AGAIN.
He will personally be in Cincinnati, Ohio, at the Gibson Hotel, on Wednesday and Thursday, Jan. 19th and 20th, from 1:00 P. M. to 5:00 P. M. and 7:00 P. M. to 9:00 P. M. daily. Please note dates and hours.
Mr. Meinhardi says "I have been coming here for fifteen years during which time thousands of Ruptured Men have come to me. You are invited to come and talk with men privately during the above stated hours and I will give you valuable information without charge. (Only men are invited) This visit is for white people only.
"My Rupture Shield contracts the opening and produces immediate results on the average-regardless of size or location and no matter how hard you work or strain. (No leg straps or cumbersome arrangements.)
My Rupture Shield is waterproof and may be worn while bathing. It may be removed at night or worn continuously until no longer desired."
Caution: Beware of imitators. I have no Representatives. Remember the name MEINHARDI.

FLORENCE

We wish to correct one of our items of last week. It was Mrs. Minnie Carpenter instead of Miss Amelia Corbin who was ill at the home of C. L. Gaines. She was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital Saturday evening for a major operation. We are glad to hear she is recovering.

Mrs. Mable Easton and children, of near Burlington spent Thursday with Mrs. Ambrose Easton, of Price Pike.

The many of Mrs. Oma Dixon regret to learn that she is quite ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. James Bristow, of near Devon.

Miss Mabel Morris spent a pleasant day Wednesday with Mrs. Ambrose Easton.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wolf (nee Louise Buckner) and daughter, Mary Louise, of Covington spent Wednesday evening with J. S. Butler and wife.

The W. M. U. of the Florence Baptist Church will have an all-day meeting at the home of Mrs. Lloyd Rouse on Thursday, Jan. 13. All members are invited.

The many friends here regret to learn that Mrs. Nellie Norman has been quite ill with the flu.

Mrs. Clinton Cleek, of Walton, spent one day last week with her mother-in-law, Mrs. Roxie Cleek, of this place.

Mrs. Addi eButler, of Union spent one day last week with Mrs. Viva Butler.

Misses Lucille and Margaret Tanner are enjoying a few weeks' visit with their father, Dr. Wallace Tanner, of St. Petersburg, Fla.

Cecil Martin and wife spent Friday evening with Joe Myers and wife.

The many friends of Miss Janet Keim regret to hear that she has been ill the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Fulton entertained with a lovely turkey dinner on Sunday, Jan. 2 in honor of Mr. Frank Rouse, of Burlington. Mrs. Christine Kirtley, of Belleview, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Houchen, of Falmouth, Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Jones, of Florence. A most enjoyable day was spent together.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Leeds, of Park Hills spent Sunday with her parents, Thomas Owens and wife.

Mrs. A. M. Yealey had as her guest one day last week, Mrs. Hattie Owens.

The many friends of Mrs. Thos. Nead regret to learn that she is quite ill, suffering from heart trouble.

Mrs. Mary Bradford and family, of Hebron were called here on account of the death of their uncle, Wm. Bradford.

Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Jones and son Homer entertained with a turkey dinner Sunday evening in honor of their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Howard (nee Jessie Jones), of Norwood, O., and Robert Howard and Ralph Howard, Jr. Other guests were his nephew, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Jones and son, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hill, all of Bullittsville, Mr. and Mrs. Fritzhugh Tanner, of Covington, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Stephens, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Fulton, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Knox. A most enjoyable evening was spent by all.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Keim have as their guest, Mrs. Edward Keim, of Petersburg.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Butler and James Carpenter spent Sunday with G. A. Butler and wife, of near Union.

The Lloyd Memorial Society met Saturday at the Lloyd Home on Shelby St. The following ladies answered the birthday roll call: Mrs. Mabel Sayre, Mrs. Sally Thompson, Mrs. Nell Blankenbeker, Mrs. Beatrice McWilliams and Mrs. Kitty McHenry. Several other members were present and enjoyed the day.

Friends of Elbert Rice, who travels for the Cincinnati Hay and Grain Co., regret to hear is quite ill at his home in Covington.

Mrs. E. O. Rouse is seriously ill at her home.

Robert Rouse and Dr. Gladys Rouse left for St. Petersburg, Fla., Monday morning. They will spend a few weeks with her brother Dr. Wallace Tanner and family.

Mrs. Walter Coby, of Crescent Springs, is enjoying a few days' visit with Mrs. Thomas Owens.

Richard Rasch and son Bobbie and Edward Lee Senour, of Blue Ash, O., called on Mrs. Stella Tryling Saturday afternoon. Their grandfather, J. T. Baxter accompanied them home to spend the winter months with his daughter, Mrs. Roy Senour, who is in very poor health.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerome B. Respess entertained at their country home on the Dixie Highway with a dinner at which Mr. and Mrs. Charles Osborne Herring, Mrs. Alfred McDonald and Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Meyerathew, of Ft. Mitchell were guests.

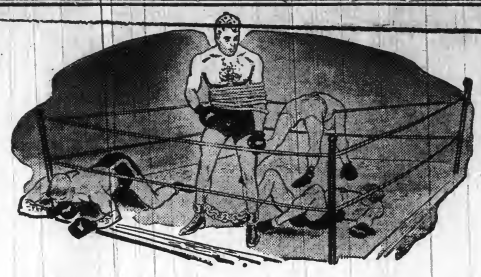
We extend our deepest sympathy to Mrs. Minnie Bradford, in the sudden death of her husband.

As a general thing, the rumor that has to be denied as many as four times usually turns out to be true.

STOP IT WITH
Alka-Seltzer

Does Headache "slow you down?" You are a rare exception it it does not.

One or two tablets of ALKA-SELTZER in a glass of water makes a pleasant alkalizing solution that usually brings relief in just a few minutes.



ALKA-SELTZER is also recommended for Gas on Stomach, "Morning After", Acid Indigestion, Colds, and Muscular Pains.

You will like the tangy flavor and the results when you take Alka-Seltzer. Alka-Seltzer, when dissolved in water, contains an analgesic, (Sodium Acetyl-Salicylate). In addition, the alkalizing agents in Alka-Seltzer help to relieve those everyday disorders associated with hyperacidity.

This fellow has to be plenty good
---just to keep alive!

Throw a man into a ring with one arm strapped to his side and set of hobbles on his feet. Then turn loose half a dozen huskies to do their worst with him. If he survives at all, he's got to be PLENTY GOOD. And if he comes out ON TOP, it's a miracle!

That miracle has been happening for the last two decades with this railroad, and with a lot of others over the country. Restrictive laws and regulations, rising wages and mounting taxes, subsidized competitive forms of transport, descending rate scales —all these and more have been met in the course of business combat—but withal the railroads have made their service more dependable, more efficient, faster, safer, and more friendly.

Those of America's railroads still operating out of receiverships have had to be PLENTY GOOD to survive. They have given a service so essential that nothing else could replace them. That many of them have not only survived but also have made notable progress, can be credited to that American spirit which fights on in the face of almost overwhelming odds.

America today enjoys the BEST railroad sevice in all the world .... at the world's LOWEST railroad rates. You can ride safely, swiftly and luxuriously for two to three cents per mile. Your freight—sand to silk—moves at an average rate per ton per mile of less than a penny—much of it from door to door.

There is comfort in the hope that railroads may yet be treated according to their accomplishments and contribution to national progress, rather than be bedeviled by political and uneconomic handicaps which no business ought to be called upon to face.

This railroad would prefer to spend its energies in helpful, constructive effort for its communities and thus deserve their good will and patronage.

Local Five Defeated By Hebron

The local basket ball boys journeyed to Hebron Friday night of last week. The first team was defeated but the second string was victorious.

The volley ball girls also were defeated by the Hebron team.

Mr. Moore stated that he was very proud of the good form shown by the local boys against Hebron, as they are rated among the best as their team is one of the best in the county.

SHOE MERCHANT VISITS NATIONAL SHOE FAIR

Max Rose, buyer for the Quality Sample Shoe Shop, 627 Madison Ave., Covington, has just returned from the National Shoe Fair held at Chicago.

This store so far as Feminine footwear is concerned lets nothing pass them when it comes to new creations and styles that may be forthcoming from time to time.

Mr. Rose reports that the manufacturers attending this show are very optomistic, as to future prospects of all lines of business.

The Quality Sample Shoe Shop reports the closing of their books on a very successful year, with thanks to their many customers.

THE BEAUTY DOCTOR:

This is the season when hands suffer most, so here is a lotion you can prepare yourself that has no equal for rough or chapped hands: Soak 60 grains of gum tragacanth in 144 ounces of strong rosewater for three days. Add one ounce of alcohol, one ounce of glycerine and a few drops of your favorite perfume. Oil of rose geranium added to the rosewater will make the preparation pleasantly fragrant. Keep in jars into which you can dip your fingertips.

Shirley Temple Is Better Than Ever In "Heidi"

Shirley Temple as "Heidi!"

Millians the world over have been enthralled by the warmth, the tenderness and the charming beauty of Johanna Spyri's beloved story of Heidi and all the colorful folk who lived and daughed and loved high up in the Swiss Alps, just beneath the stars. Translated into all languages and read everywhere, it is a story that had to wait for its star before it could be brought to the screen. The Twentieth Century-Fox production of "Heidi" starring Shirley Temple will be shown at the Gayety Theatre, Erlanger, Wednesday and Thursday, January 19 and 20.

"Heidi" brings a Shirley Temple more glorious than have ever been known, in the picture she was asked to make by thousands of fans who wrote to the Twentieth Century-Fox studios. Bringing love to hearts filled with tears, "Heidi" tells of an embittered mountaintop exile, brilliantly portrayed by Jean Hersholt, reclaimed from his fierce hatred of the world, of a young girl who finds the strength and courage to walk again, and of the little heroine who brings everyone new zest for life.

Arthur Treacher and Helen Westley play prominent roles in the story, and Pauline Moore, Thomas Beck, Mary Nash, Sidney Blackmer, Mady Christians and Sig Rumann are also featured in the cast.

HOMEMAKERS TO MEET AT HOME OF MRS. JAKE CLEEK

Notification cards are being sent to the membership of the New Haven Homemakers that their monthly meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Jake Cleek on Friday, January 21 at 10:30.

Mrs. John Taylor and Mrs. Cleek attended the leaders' training class the past week and will bring an important lesson on the "Accessories of the Home" to be given at the afternoon session. The business meeting will precede the luncheon which is scheduled for 12 o'clock.

NEW HAVEN P.-T. A. MEETING

Still stressing the importance of student participation in the programs of Parent-Teacher Association meetings, Mrs. George Kerns presented Master Roy Butler in a group of songs, both modern and classical. He was accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Roy Butler.

The Ways and Means Committee headed by Mrs. Cecil Presser reported that an amateur contest will be held at the school. This contest is open to all amateurs, either in this county or other districts and will be worth the whole of anyone with even a small amount of talent, as cash prizes will be given for first, second and third winners. Judges have at this time not been chosen, but Mrs. Lillian Caldwell, general chairman of the contest will announce the names at a later date.

Mrs. Harry Moore, president of the association presided at the meeting.

COUNTY PLANS 1938 IMPROVEMENT WORK

An agricultural improvement program for 1938, as outlined by a committee of farmers and County Agent Raymond D. Ridley in Webster county, includes the following activities:

Drainage of Deer Creek and Crab Orchard sections.

Electricity for every farm.

A permanent farm program.

A farm Bureau of 250 members.

Continuation of the lime, legume phosphate and cover crop program.

Elimination of scrub sires and other improvement of livestock.

More and better pastures and hay crops.

Eight 4-H clubs with adult leaders.

WEEK'S BEST RECIPE:

CHERRY PUDDDING—½ cup quick-cooking tapioca; 1 cup brown sugar, firmly packed; 1 teaspoon salt; ¼ teaspoon nutmeg; ½ teaspoon cinnamon; 2 cups canned sour cherries, drained; 3 cups water and cherry juice; 1 tablespoon lemon juice; 2 tablespoons melted butter. Combine ingredients in greased baking dish. Mix thoroughly. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F) 30 minutes, or until done, stirring well every 10 minutes and again when removing from oven. Serve in deep dishes. This receipe serves eight.

The rising generation seems to know everything but one thing and that is that it pays to be good.

Why is it that the average young man never tries to find out what the upkeep of a wife amounts to until after he has gotten married?

COLLEGE PLANS TO EXTEND ASSISTANCE TO SHEEP FARMERS

Further assistance to farmers in problems connected with sheep raising, especially in the control and prevention of diseases and internal parasites, is planned by the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture this year.

Internal parasites and improper feeding cause most of the losses among sheep in Kentucky. Numerous examinations of dead sheep taken to the Agricultural Experiment Station last year revealed that stomach worms and other internal parasities had caused the death of more than a third of the animals. A fourth of them had died as the result of starvation or improper feeding, and about 15 percent had died from pneumonia, due to exposure to the weather, lack of proper housing and lack of sanitation.

Increased numbers of sheep on relatively small permanent pastures, without proper rotation, have resulted in heavy infestation of pastures, yards and barns with the eggs and larvae of stomach worms and other parasites, says a statement from the department of animal pathology at the Experiment Station.

In some instances farmers drench their flocks every 30 days in an effort to control stomach worms but the fact that this treatment must be repeated every month indicates that the worms are not controlled. Pasture rotation as now practiced by most farmers consists of a change of pasture every three to eight weeks This system is considered good for the pasture, but is wholly ineffective from the standpoint of parasite prevention.

In addition to better pasture management, there is need for improved sanitation of barns and yards and in housing and feeding, says the statement.

The college is planning to hold meetings for sheep raisers where problems can be discussed and methods to control and prevent diseases and parasites be considered. Then, in cooperation with farmers, demonstration flocks will be established in several counties to put into effect a system of management based on parasite control.

An effort also will be made to show that through barn and yard sanitation many intestinal disturbances may be prevented, and that through the use of pasture free of parasitic infestation lambs may be raised to market age without becoming seriously infested with internal parasites.

June, July and August are the months when parasitic infestation is the heaviest. Losses among late lambs, when purchased for feeding purposes, is often high and is largely due to parasitic infestation and lack of proper feed during the summer months. Thus prevention of parasites for late lambs is considered more important than for early lambs that go to market not later than June.

Late ewe lambs, and early ewe lambs not in marketable condition often become heavily infested with parasites during the summer months, and when retained for breeding they are a source of supply of worm eggs. They are usually under-developed and on the whole are below average as breeding stock.

AGED MAN DIES FROM INJURIES

WAS STRUCK BY AUTOMOBILE WHILE CROSSING HIGHWAY NEAR GOODRIDGE DRIVE, FLORENCE.

Jno. W. Tucker, 72, Goodridge Drive, Florence passed away early Tuesday morning at St. Elizabeth Hospital, after having been struck by a car Sunday night at 6:45 on the Dixie Highway.

Mr. Tucker said he looked in one direction before he started across the highway but failed to look the other way. Jas. Irby, of Price Hill was driver of the car which struck Mr. Tucker. Mr. Irby stated that he did not see the man until after the car had struck him, as other cars traveling in the opposite direction were blinding him.

At the time of the accident Mr. Tucker's injuries appeared to be slight. However, on Monday morning he was taken to St. Elizabeth hospital, where upon examination it was discovered that he was injured internally, and lived only a short time.

He had been a resident of Boone County for the past forty years, having moved to this country from Georgetown, Ky. He was a member of the Florence Methodist church.

He is survived by Lon Tucker, a brother, of Miami, Fla., and one brother and sister, address unknown, besides a number of nieces and nephews.

Philip Taliaferro, Erlanger Funeral Director was in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Belle Tracy Tanner Passes

Services for Mrs. Belle T. Tanner, widow of James H. Tanner were held at the Hebron Lutheran Church, Hebron, at 2 p. m. Sunday with Bullock and Catherman, Ludlow funeral directors, in charge of arrangements. Burial was in the Hebron cemetery.

Mrs. Tanner, 78, died Thursday at St. Elizabeth Hospital, Covington. She had been confined to the hospital for five weeks with a broken hip, suffered when she fell at her home, Taylorsport, Ky.

She leaves three sons, Clifford Tanner, of Hebron, Lowell and Claude Tanner, of Taylorsport; three grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

EXPERT WILL HOLD SCHOOL

IN BURLINGTON FEBRUARY 25 —WILL DISCUSS EXPERIMENTAL RESULTS OF LIME, PHOSPHATE AND FERTILIZER.

Farmers in Burlington 1938 Community Program of Work have planned for a county soils and crops school to be held at Burlington on Friday, February 25th, according to H. E. White, chairman of the community program and Mark Cook, chairman of the soils and crop improvement planning project. The services of Prof. George Roberts, head of the Agronomy Department and Prof. E. J. Kinney, Chief of Crops Department and manager of the Experiment Station farm at the College of Agriculture of the University at Lexington, have been secured for the meeting.

Prof. Roberts is rated as one of the outstanding soils research men of the country. He will discuss the experimental results of lime, phosphate, manure and commercial fertilizer in the production of pasture, hay, corn and tobacco crops. Prof. Kinney is also rated as an outstanding research worker and teacher and is in charge of the hybrid corn breeding work in Kentucky. He will discuss the experimental work with the various clover grass, tobacco and corn crops.

This meeting will be of interest to all farmers in the county. All are invited to attend and are urged to set down the date of February 25th and make plans to be present.

Farmers in the nine other 1938 Community Agricultural Programs of work have planned important Agricultural Improvement projects to be carried out this year.

Orville Kelly Injured While Feeding Shredder

Orville Kelly, of the Rabbit Hash neighborhood suffered a very painful accident Wednesday of last week when his hand slipped into a corn shredder at the farm of Lloyd Ross. One finger was amputated and the other four on the same hand were badly mangled. He was taken to St. Elizabeth hospital where he was treated and dismissed. He is reported to be improving rapidly.

NO CHANGE IN CONTRIBUTIONS

FOR OLD AGE INSURANCE DURING 1938 SAYS FRANK B. DECKER, JR., KENTUCKY FIELD MAN.

There is no change in the 1938 rate of contributions for old-age insurance, it was announced today by Mr. Frank B. Decker, Jr., acting manager of the Covington, Kentucky field office of the Social Security Board.

"This year and next the employee and employer continue to contribute one percent each for old-age insurance," Mr. Decker said.

"One percent is deducted from the wages of all persons who are employed in occupations covered by the Social Security Act. A like amount is added by the employer, the combined contributions being sent to the United States collector of internal revenue each quarter, instead of monthly as heretofore.

"Contributions for the first three months of 1938 are due not later than April 30 under this arrangement," Mr. Decker added.

He said the Social Security Act provides for an increase in employer-employee contributions to 1½ percent starting January 1, 1940.

Contribution rates under the various unemployment compensation laws reach their maximum this year, Mr. Decker reported.

In Region V, which is the Social Security unit under which the Covington, Kentucky office is operated, are three states, Ohio, Michigan and Kentucky. The unemployment compensation laws of those states provide the following state contribution rates for 1938: Michigan, employers 3 per cent; Ohio, employers 2.7 per cent; Kentucky, employers 2.7 percent, employees 1 percent. In all three states a contribution of three-tenths of one percent of the payroll is payable to the United States collector of Internal Revenue.

Chandler Visits Leaf Markets

Accompanied by a delegation of state senators and representatives, Gov. A. B. Chandler visited the Lexington looseleaf burley market Tuesday and followed the auction sales row by row from warehouse to warehouse.

No material change was observed in the prices, the leaf selling, grade for grade, at about the trend established earlier in the week. Good tobacco brought good prices as high as 40 cents a pound, and poor leaf sold as low as 75 cents.

Questioned as to whether he planned to order a sales holiday, Gov. Chandler said he was undetermined now. "I am interested in finding out what is wrong with the situation and why the prices are declining. I asked Lieutenant Governor Johnson, Speaker Kirtley and these members of the House and Senate to join me to see the sales, get all the direct, personal information we can firsthand in the hope we may determine proper steps to take to improve marketing conditions and higher prices, if action is necessary."

Aubrey Finn of the Woolper neighborhood was a brief caller at the Recorder office Monday and stated that he had been very busy hauling tobacco to the various markets.

HARDWOOD NEWS-NOTES

HEBRON SCORES VICTORY OVER ALEXANDRIA—NEW HAVEN TAKEN FLORENCE — LLOYD TRIMS WALTON.

Alexandria's 10-game winning streak was broken Friday night when it invaded Boone county to take on the Hebron High Cardinals.

The score was 24 to 21, Hebron overcoming a one-point lead held by the visitors at half time.

The battle, played by two well-coached teams, attracted one of the largest crowds of the season. Hebron, defeated earlier in the year by the Alexandria boys, is one of the leading teams in the Boone County Conference and the entire neighborhood was out for a taste of victory.

Shinkle, Hebron's ace guard, was tops for the winners. He turned in eight points. Deadeye Hitzfield, his pal at forward, dipped in five. Huey another Cardinal also contributed five.

C. G. Lamb, member of the Northern Kentucky Officials' Association, handled the whistle.

Coach Lyman Penn's Juggernaut crew from Erlanger Lloyd had little trouble defeating Walton's Bearcats at the Erlanger gym Friday night, scoring a 36 to 19 victory.

Walton started with a rush, leading 4-0, 6-2 and 8-4, before Lloyd started finding the range. The first quarter ended at 8 to 8. From that point the game was easy as Lloyd scored 12 points in the second quarter while holding the Bearcats from Boone county scoreless.

The Juggernauts increased their lead in the second half to run their margin to 17 points. The big gun in the Juggernaut offense was Captain Bob Miles, who hit the hoop for 12 points. Clint Henry, guarded at every turn, was held to nine points.

Red Sanders, forward, also scored nine for the Erlanger team, and Chapman and Osborne divided 14 points between them for the Bearcats.

New Haven High School Friday night won its fourth game in the Boone County Conference when it lambasted the hapless Florence team 29 to 12, at the New Haven gym.

Leading 12 to 4 at the half. New Haven's defense let up a trifle in the last half, but the opposition was well in hand nevertheless.

Knox took down scoring laurels when he hit the rim for 10. Shotwell did just that for Florence and he scored five.

In the reserve game New Haven also won, 29 to 7.

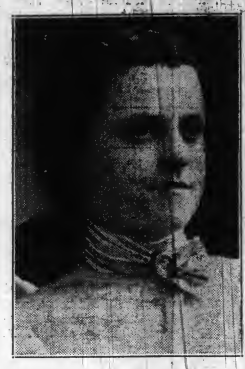
Former Boone Citizen Dies at Crescent Springs

Mrs. Jennie Coyle Dochterman passed away Saturday, January 8, in her home at Crescent Springs, Ky., following a long illness from carcimonia. She was 53 years of age.

She was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Coyle, formally of Boone County, and the wife of Sam B. Dochterman.

She leaves her husband, 1 daughter, Ida Belle Clifton; three brothers, Geo., Carroll, and Harry Coyle; 1 sister, Mrs. Julia Shields, to mourn her passing.

Funeral services were conducted from the home Tuesday at 2 p. m. by Bro. Roy Johnson in the presence of a number of relatives and friends. Burial was in Beaver Lick cemetery.



Chambers & Grubbs, Walton Funeral directors were in charge of arrangements.

Hebron Man Injured While Moving Logs

Chas. Moore, Sr., Hebron, was injured last Friday while moving logs. His leg was badly mangled and the bone broken when a log he was moving rolled over, pining him between the log and a stump.

He was removed to St. Elizabeth Hospital for observation, and at this writing is reported to be improving.

Celebrates 81st Birthday

On Sunday, Jan. 16th, a group of relatives and friends numbering fifty met at the home of Henry Clore at Belleview to celebrate his 81st birthday, which was January 17th.

The occasion was planned as a surprise. The daughter and granddaughter, Mrs. Alline Brady and Mary Jane were informed of the plans a few days previous. The spacious and comfortable home, under the capable management of Mrs. Brady and her winsome daughter was well arranged to receive and entertain the guests.

Mr. Clore was a genial host and was really surprised when the guests arrived and was indeed happy to have the relatives and friends to meet with him on his birthday.

At the noon hour all were invited into the dining room, where the table was fairly groaning under the weight of the delicious food that had been prepared by the ladies present. The decorations of birthday cake, candles and fruit was beautiful.

After an impressive prayer by Rev. Raymond Smith, pastor of the Belleview Baptist Church of which Mr. Clore is a member, the group joined in singing "Happy Birthday." Then all were invited to partake of the sumptuous dinner.

The afternoon was spent in pleasant conversation and renewing friendships.

Those present at this enjoyable occasion were: Geo. Buckner, Miss Julia Buckner, of Newport; Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Stephens, Mrs. Tennie Beemon, Miss Ada Aylor, Florence; Mr. and Mrs. Luther Smith and son, Raymond Wayne, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Rice, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Clore, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. G. Smith, Mrs. Josie Maurer, Mrs. Florence Smith, Misses Olive Louise Poston, Ida Pearl Gulley, and Ruby Cotton, of Burlington; Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Cook, Russell Cook, John H. Cook, Miss Emma Frances Cook, of Petersburg; Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Clore, Lloyd K. Jones, E. E. Clore, of East Bend; Mrs. Belle Clore, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Clore, K. K. Berkshire, Miss Margie Berkshire, Mrs. Leslie Voshell and son Michael Dean, Mrs. Lizzie Smith, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Burcham, Allen S. Burcham, Misses Mary E. and Lucinda Burcham, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Maurer, Alvin and Clayton Clore, Miss Hilda Mae Ryle, Rev. and Mrs. Ray Smith, Howell Riley Hensley, of Belleview.

When the day was ended the guests departed, reluctantly, all wishing "uncle Pete" many more happy returns of the day, and hoping to meet with him again on another like occasion. He was the recipient of many nice gifts and was as thrilled as any young lad after Santa had made his Christmas visit.

Radio Stars To Be At Petersburg

The famous Callahan brothers, noted radio stars will appear in person at the Petersburg graded school, Thursday night, January 27th.

The Callahan brothers and their group will give an evening of entertainment. The show is sponsored by the Petersburg P.-T. A. Admission will be 15 and 25 cents. Everyone is invited to attend this performance.

UNIQUE GAME AT NEW HAVEN GYM

EXPECTED TO BRING OUT LARGE CROWD — THREE GAMES SCHEDULED FOR SATURDAY NIGHT.

Just what Cecil Presser is going to wear when he plays in the men's basketball game at New Haven School Saturday remains a mystery. It is seldom that we find such a collection of last year's rose buds as were found strewn over the gym floor when the Fathers team scrimmaged at their last practice. Butch Gschwind and Ivy Clements were much in evidence as they flitted here and yon, at all times keeping their attention to Ben Pretty Tanner and Uncle George Coe.

Shades of the big apple have cast their spell over the entire women's team. Alva Dickerson shines, Beck Sleet praises Allah and what Jesse Rivard does is between truckin' and swingin.' Martha Huey, who will be remembered as the star player for dear Old Union is putting the finishing touches on some fancy rah, rah's; Ruth Green and Adell Laibly are doing their bit by calling the hogs day and night, so their cheers will ring out above those of Marthey's.

The water girls, stretcher-bearers and nose-powderers are composed of those modest sisters who have rheumatics and weak sides.

The only legitimate game of the evening is to be played between the New Haven Alumni and the Alumni from Hamilton. These boys it seems haven't forgotten the rivalry that existed during their school days and this promises to be a game full of excitement.

The line-up follows:

New Haven Alumni—Coppage, Gatewood, Ryan, Slayback, Houston, and Wolff.

Hamilton Alumni—Aylor, Hubbard, Doolin, Moore, Jones, and Williamson.

New Haven Women P.-T. A.—Jesse Rivard, Alma Dickerson, Louise Newman, Maxie Gschwind, Doretta Rouse, Sue Weaver, Nell Jo Hutchinson, Elsie Jack, Marie Pennington, Bess Cox, Shirley Ferguson.

New Haven Faculty—Etta Collins, Corine McCormack, Lillian Caldwell, Mattie Utz, Rebecca Sleet Helen Fibbs, Ora Presser, Alva Dickerson, Mary B. Noe and Patsy Slayback.

New Haven Men P.-T. A.—Ben P. Tanner, Dr. George Coe, Harry Dickerson, Austin Gschwind, Leslie Barlow, Arch Dickerson, Cecil Presser, Emerson Smith, and A. T. Knox.

Farm Account Records Start Friday, Jan. 21

Boone County farmers who are interested in keeping complete farm account records are urged to report at the county agent's office at Burlington, Friday, January 21st for the 1938 farm account record books, according to H. R. Forkner, county agent.

Mr. R. E. Proctor, Farm Account Specialist, will be present at this time to assist farmers in taking their inventories and getting their records started.

Books are available free of charge to all farmers who kept complete records the past year. A charge of 15 cents for the book will be made to those farmers starting records for the first time. Books will then be supplied free of charge after the first year.

FARM AND HOME CONVENTION TO BE HELD JANUARY 25 TO 28

The 26th Annual Farm and Home Convention will be held at the Livestock Pavillion of the University of Kentucky at Lexington January 25th, 26th, 27th, 28th. A good program has been planned on soils, crops, livestock, insect control, farm credits, marketing, home economics and other items of agricultural improvement.

Each year a number of Boone County farmers attend this meeting. It is hoped that a large number will attend this year. Copies of the program may be secured at the county agent's office in Burlington.

GROUPS TO BE AIDED BY FSA

COUNTY FSA SUPERVISOR EXPLAINS MASTER LOANS TO ENABLE FARMERS TO SECURE SERVICES JOINTLY.

The Farm Security Administration now has money on hand to enable small groups of farmers to buy or secure the use of heavy farm equipment, purebred sires and other such services which will help them to do better farming but which a farmer cannot afford to buy solely for his own use. A statement to this effect was issued by W. O. Blackburn, County Supervisor of the FSA from his office in Independence at the court house, Mr. Blackburn has charge of the Farm Security work in Boone, Campbell, Gallatin and Kenton Counties.

Work of County Supervisors include help in adjusting farmer's debts, making of supervised rehabilitation loans to individual farmers for purchase of seed, fertilizer, livestock and needed farm tools, and the making of these group loans referred to above. In addition, they handle the tenant land purchase program in counties selected to receive tenant purchase loans.

Mr. Blackburn said that while made for the use of a group of farmers, these group or service loans usually are made to one individual farmer in the group. He is known as the "Master Borrower." He agrees to provide the service when needed and the others, his neighbors who decide to join, agree to use the service and pay the charges specified for the service.

When the loan is paid the equipment belongs to the Master Borrower. The only rules are that he agrees to provide the service at a reasonable service charge during the life of the equipment. This is only good business and the Master Borrower would naturally want to do this even though such an agreement were not made.

The rate of interest for the group loan is three per cent and the length of the loan depends on the probable useful life of the animals or machines used to provide the service.

In working out a community group to secure one of the group loans, more than half of the group taking part must be rural rehabilitation borrowers, low income families, or both, and the remaining families may be anyone in the community. They, like the others, pay for the services to be had. These service charges are the basis of paying the loan. The loans can be used for the purchase of purebred sires for breeding horses, mules, beef and dairy cattle, swine and sheep; for purchase of farm machinery, such as grain drills, mowers and rakes, stalk cutters, grain binders, combines, discs; and for purchase of items for the home such as washing and laundry machines and pressure cooker for canning.

"It is the purpose of the Farm Security Administration to work in close cooperation with all agricultural agencies and it welcomes suggestions as to the placing and use of these services. The aim to develop better agricultural practices and all agencies working toward this end can doubtless effect great improvement over present conditions," Mr. Blackburn said.

Further information can be had concerning these group loans by consulting Mr. Blackburn at his office in Independence or by writing to W. A. Campbell, State Supervisor of Community Service Loans, Farm Security Administration, U. S. Department of Agriculture, 119 Washington Ave., Lexington, Ky.

MAN KILLED IN AUTO WRECK

SOUTH OF WALTON MONDAY—CHEST IS CRUSHED WHEN CAR OVERTURNS—THREE ESCAPE INJURY.

Earl F. Culbertson, 49, of Fiskburg, Ky., suffered a crushed chest early Monday, when a car he was driving left the highway south of Walton. Three other passengers Clay Menefiee, Demossville; Leo Cross and Carl Fisk, both of Morning View, were uninjured.

According to reports, Culbertson was thrown clear of the car and it overturned on him.

Police said the man had left Cottage Inn, just south of Walton shortly before the accident. The auto swerved to the right of the road and struck a pole. Mr. Culbertson was pinned beneath the wreckage. His body was removed to Chambers and Grubbs funeral home, Walton.

No Charges Made For News Items

Many of our subscribers and residents of this community are under the impression that all articles submitted to this, or any newspaper must be paid for before they wil lbe published, and for that reason many articles that would be of general interest are not brought to our attention.

There is no charge for anything but advertising in a newspaper. News items such as birthday celebrations, wedding anniversaries, marriages, deaths, etc., that are of general interest to our readers are always very much appreciated, and never is there any charge made for any such articles.

It has always been our policy to promote every worthwhile cause that we think would be of benefit to the people of Boone County, but it is impossible for us to contact everyone each week, and consequently many interesting and valuable articles are omitted.

If you have a news item that you would like to have published, you may send it to us by mail, or give to us by telephone. We can accept articles for publication up until 10:00 a. m. Wednesday of each week.

ACP SIGN-UP UNDERWAY

BOONE COUNTY FARMERS WILL RECEIVE $86,000.00 IN CASH FOR COOPERATION IN LAST YEAR'S PROGRAM.

The signing of the 1937 application for payment formers began at Burlington Tuesday of this week, according to H. R. Forkner, county agent. Applications for 1937 payment on more than 1000 farms now completed for final signature will bring Boone County farmers approximately $86,000.00 in cash for their cooperation in the last year's program. Payment is expected in from thirty to sixty days after forms are signed.

Community sign-up days will be held for the convenience of farmers in various sections of the county. These sign-up days in the county will begin on this coming Monday. Farmers will be notified by card when the sign-up day is set for their community. Farmers who cannot attend their local sign-up days may sign on any other day at the county agent's office in Burlington. All forms for the particular community will be in the community on the day for that sign-up and will not be at the county office on that day. John E. Crigler, secretary of the association and community committeemen, will be in charge of the community sign-ups. The sooner the forms are signed the sooner the farmer should get his payment.

PAYING THE PASTOR

We do not believe there is a community in the state boasting more conscientious ministers than will be found occupying the pulpits of Boone county, and we feel sure church-goers who are expected to support these pastors too often overlook the fact that they are among the poorest paid men in America.

This statement is made after having read that a recent survey shows that 60 percent of the ministers of the gospel are receiving less than is earned by the average day-laborer or farm hand. Of the other 40 percent it would probably be safe to presume that one-half of them break even with common laborers as to wages. That would leave 20 percent of them earning more than we pay men who do not have to spend years in study and preparation for their lifework.

Every resident of this community is invited to give this subject some serious study. Isn't something wrong with a country that pays more for having its ditches dug than for having the souls of its people saved? Or that rewards a man who knows only enough to guide a plow as liberally as it rewards those who guide the nation in the straight and narrow path, and who point the way to higher, better and nobler living? Think it over and then ask yourself this one question: "Am I doing all that I might do and should do to put the preachers of this county on a little higher financial footing?"

ONE WAY TO BOOST

Don't get the impression that because our towns are not as big as New York or Chicago that they are not worth boosting to a stranger. It often happens that you have occasion to converse with a stranger here, but it probably does not always occur to you to speak a few words for your town. He may not think any more of the town when you have finished, but he will have a better opinion of you for boosting it. Nothing gives a neighborhood greater favor in the eyes of a stranger than the knowledge that the residents of it are satisfied and are not just "another set of knockers." Speak of the schools and churches and good living conditions of your own community at every opportunity you have to do so—and keep on doing it. You'll be surprised how often the stranger will be interested in what you have to say, and you'll never be able to measure the value of the good things he may also have to say of it as he goes on his way into other communities.

JUST "CHARITY"

Nothing annoys the average business or professional man more than to be approached by someone soliciting ads for a church, school or lodge program. He knows to begin with that it isn't good advertising and he also knows that in 99 cases out of 100 it won't do him a penny's worth of good. But he also knows that back of the solicitation is a sort of threat that "if you don't come across our organization will forget you when it comes to buy what you have to sell." The merchant knows this type of publicity is not advertising, but a form of charity, and while there is now law or local ordinance to prevent such solicitation there should be for the protection of the business and professional men upon whom such expenditures prove a constant and a heavy drain. Simply because their hands are tied and they dare not say "No" is no reason why such a procedure should be tolerated, and the sooner the organizations engaged in it realize that the better it will be for the legitimate forms of advertising—and also for legitimate forms of charity.

PICKED UP HERE AND THERE

As we see it, the trouble with a lot of men is they work too hard trying to get something they don't need and shouldn't have wanted in the first place.

It generally takes the average man a lifetime to learn that he is his own best friend and his own worst enemy.

Lesson for January 23

MINISTERING TO PHYSICAL NEEDS

LESSON TEXT—Mark 1:29-45.

GOLDEN TEXT—And he healed many that were sick—Mark 1:34.

PRIMARY TOPIC—When Jesus Went to Peter's House.

JUNIOR TOPIC—When Jesus Went to Peter's House.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Helping the Sick.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Christianity's Concern for Physical Health.

"The Mystery of Painlessness" is the title of a book published some years ago, in which the author pointed out that instead of bemoaning the physical ailments of man we should thankfully recognize that much of life is without pain. There is point to the suggestion, but one who has reached the years of maturity and who has stood shoulder to shoulder with suffering mankind is very conscious of the never-silent cry of those whose bodies are in need.

Our Lord was tender and solicitous of man. It was to him that the great host of impotent folk—the lame, the halt, the sick, and the blind—came for healing, and they came not in vain. Note, however, that in the midst of his works of mercy he did not forget his real objective, which was to deal with man's sin.

I. Healing (v. 29).

First, we find our Lord tenderly sharing the sorrow of the home of a friend. One can picture the anxious hush that hovered over the home as distressed relatives and friends sought to alleviate the suffering of the one with a fever. They knew the possibility of a serious outcome of the illness. Many of us have gone through that dark valley. All at once there was new hope, and soon there was joy. Jesus had come and had brought healing. Many of us have also had that blessed experience.

Note that the healing was instantaneous and the restoration complete. She arose to serve. This typifies God's healing of the sickness of the soul. If you are saved you are ready to stand up and serve.

Christianity is not a selfish faith; if it follows its Lord. We see in verses 32 to 34 that all the city came to his door with the diseased and demon-possessed, and he healed them all. The account of the kindly and intelligent care of the sick is written large on the pages of the history of the Christian church.

II. Praying (v. 35).

The Son of God sought out a place and a time for prayer communion with his Father. How often we who profess to follow him fail to pray at all. Certainly we need the grace and power that prayer can bring far more than Jesus did. But, we say, we are so busy. So was he. We are tired. So was he.

III. Preaching (vv. 36-39).

Jesus said, "Let us go . . . that I may preach . . . for therefore came I forth." It bears repetition in this age when men magnify the doing of mighty deeds, that while Jesus did many miracles (and not for a moment would we detract from their worth and glory) yet he repeatedly, by word and act, emphasized the importance of preaching.

Foolish though it may seem to the natural man (read I Cor. 1:18-25), preaching the gospel in the power of the Holy Spirit is now, as it has been through the centuries, God's chosen means of turning the world upside down (Acts 17:6). What a pity that churches and pastors are forsaking it for book reviews, dramas, social hours, forums, community centers, and what not! God give us a revival of great, humble, and fearless preaching of the Word!

IV. Cleansing (vv. 40-45).

There is a sense in which the cleansing of the leper was another act of healing, but leprosy is such a striking type of sin that the incident calls for special consideration.

Leprosy is like sin in that it is a destructive malady that pursues its insidious way without revealing its true nature until it is far advanced. It renders a man unclean, loathsome to himself and dangerous to others. At least such it was in the days of our Lord.

Is there no hope for the leper? Yes; Jesus has come. The smitten man cries out, "If thou wilt thou canst make me clean."

So, also, may the sinner be cleansed, for "whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved" (Rom. 10:13). He will not turn the vilest of sinners away.

The Feeling of Power

He knows that power is unborn, and, so perceiving throws himself unhesitatingly upon his thought, instantly rights himself, stands in the erect position, commands his limbs, works miracles; just as a man who stands on his feet is stronger than a man who stands on his head.

Beauty

This is what we want—we want the vision of a calmer and simpler beauty to tranquilize us in the midst of artificial tastes.

PETERSBURG HOMEMAKERS

Seventeen members of the Petersburg Homemakers Club met at the school house last Thursday for their regular monthly meeting. The morning was taken up with selection of the new leaders and other business. Miss Gladys Klopp and Mrs. Louis Hitzfield were elected new leaders.

Miss Elizabeth Walton and Mrs. Perry Mahan were selected in Dec. to be the hostesses and Miss Walton acted alone in the absence of Mrs. Mahan.

After enjoying a delicious covered dish luncheon the meeting was turned over to the leaders, Mrs. Mary and Miss Edna Berkshire. Miss Edna gave the lesson on accessories for the home and Miss Gillaspie showed us handiwork from Egypt, Morocco and Persia, which was very interesting.

Next meeting will be at the school house the second Thursday in February. The special lesson will be Italian Hemstitching and other finishings.

BIG BONE W. M. U.

The regular monthly meeting of the Big Bone W. M. U. met at the church. There were twelve members present and six Y. W. A. members. A fine days was spent in worship.

A missionary program was rendered at the morning session, and a missionary program by the Y. W. A. in the afternoon.

The business meeting was held and new officers for the year were elected. The personal service report was made. A special prayer for our shut-in members was offered.

As this is our golden jubilee year let each member try to make this year the greatest year in W. M. U. work.

Edith Jones, Pub. Chmn.

Thirty Attend Poultry School

Thirty poultrymen attended the annual one-day poultry school held at Burlington last Wednesday. The outlook for improved poultry conditions this year is bright, according to reports of the speakers and poultrymen attending the meeting.

J. E. Humphrey, poultry specialist and Dr. T. P. Polk, veterinarian from the college, were the principal speakers on the program. Mr. Humphrey pointed out that the outlook for poultry production this year was in a healthy condition. He stated that the number of chickens on the farm was way below normal, that the production per hen during the winter months was much higher than usual and with cheap feed and prospects for much larger hatch of baby chicks this year will likely bring greater profits to poultrymen. The importance of using B. W. D. and disease free chicks, of good breeding and the careful following of a clean chick brooding program will determine to a large extent the relative profits to individual poultrymen.

Dr. T. P. Polk warned poultrymen that disease in poultry as well as other classes of livestock are increasing at an alarming rate. The control of these diseases is not thru medicine but through a clean chick program involving the best in sanitation practices. Clean chicks, clean ground and equipment and control of flies and insects are the basis for disease control.

Grant Maddox gave a thirty minute discussion before the group on the results of fourteen years experience in the keeping of complete cost of production records on his flock. His flock during this period had increased from forty birds to the past year when more than 3000 chicks were raised.

Hubert Conner and Grant Maddox, local hatcherymen, reported they had large capacity for hatching baby chicks both for sale and their own use.

Mrs. Bert Loomis and Mrs. Thomas Hensley reported favorable experiences in raising young turkeys in poultry brooder houses. Mrs. Cad Sullivan and Mrs. Hensley reported much success in using the home-made brick brooders in supplying heat for baby chicks.

The poultryment present made plans for the holding of a late spring tour to study brooding practices being followed by leading poultrymen. A fall tour was also planned to study methods of handling pullets previous to putting them in the laying house.

LARGE NUMBER LIVESTOCK HANDLED BY PRODUCERS

The Producers Co-operative Commission Association, a livestock selling agency at the Union Stock Yards in Cincinnati, handled for the year 1937, 396,911 head of livestock. This comprised 28,442 head of cattle, 35,375 calves, 264,804 hogs, and 67,290 head of sheep and lambs. Of the total, this farmers' cooperative handled 34.7 per cent of the total receipts at the market. The livestock had a gross sales value of $8,337,097.37.

Members of the association will receive their portion of the savings in operation. The Board of Directors of the Producers organization, at their recent meeting, voted to refund 25 per cent of the sales commissions paid by members. This refund, which will be paid about the middle of February, amounts to $40,652.34. Thus, the amount received as a patronage refund by the members of the co-operative, represents one-fourth of the commissions paid for the selling of their livestock.

The annual meeting of the Cincinnati Producers Association will be held at the Netherland Plaza Hotel in Cincinnati, on Thursday, February 24th. An exceptionally strong program has been arranged for this thirteenth annual meeting.

Edith Whitaker

Mrs. Edith Whitaker, aged 81 years, passed away last Wednesday afternoon at Booth Hospital, after a long illness. The remains were removed to the Taliaferro Funeral Home for preparation.

She was a resident of Crescent Springs, Ky., for the past 25 years. She had no close relatives in this locality and the services were delayed while search was made for a step-son who was thought to be living in Spokane, Washington.

Services were held at the grave in Linden Grove cemetery Tuesday morning at 10:30 a. m.

Funeral Director Philip Taliaferro had charge of the funeral arrangements.

The manufacture of a fine pair of glasses is an art as well as a science. It goes beyond appearance, materials, instrumental inspection. There must also be incorporated the unseen quality due to practiced skill and judgment on long experience.

It is in this that Motch's glasses are far superior. Back of every pair of glasses stand the 80 years of experience and integrity of Covington's Oldest Jewelery Store.

SENATOR BARKLEY TO BE HONORED WITH DINNER

Senator Alben W. Barkley, Kentucky's highest ranking public official, will be honored with a dinner in Louisville at 7 p. m. January 22, in the Brown Hotel in appreciation of his services to the State and Nation.

While the dinner is sponsored by a non-partisan group of Louisville citizens, many notable Kentuckians from all sections of the State plan to attend, Col. P. H. Callahan, chairman of the committee in charge, said.

Many prominent speakers will pay tribute to Senator Barkley, who has been awarded more National honors than any other Kentuckian in recent times.

The principal address will be delivered by C. C. Grassam Paducah, life-long friend of Senator Barkley. Mr. Grassham will sketch the Senator's life from boyhood, telling of his rise from a poor farm boy to country lawyer, county judge to one of the most outstanding statesmen in the Nation's history.

A native of Paducah, Senator Barkley began his public services as county attorney of McCracken County and progressed in turn to county judge of the same county, Representative in Congress from the First Congressional District, and served there until he was elevated to the Senate in 1926 by grateful Kentuckians.

His leadership for better government in the Senate has been such that his colleagues chose him to be their leader. On two occasions ranking officials of the Democratic Party have selected him to keynote the party's National Convention.

During his terms in the National Congress Senator Barkley has sponsored and championed numerous legislative measures that have directly benefitted Kentucky. He always has been alert to legislation that will benefit the under privileged, the working man, the farmer and aged.

He has been responsible for numerous grants of federal funds for Kentucky highways, educational programs, public buildings, and farm unemployment and flood relief.

His services have been distinctive because he doesn't have to depend on hearsay to act. He knows life and actualities as they exist because he secured his broad knowledge the "hard way."

Starting as a poor farm boy, the leader of the United States Senate has come in intimate contact with life on his way up. He has farmed. He has sold kitchenware from door to door. He has ridden mule back because "it beat walking."

CAPITOL COMMENTS

News that Governor Chandler has just about made up his mind to run for the Senate against the incumbent, Alben W. Barkley, Democratic Floor Leader and Kentucky's senior Senator in Washington, has set tongues wagging here in Frankfort. Everybody in and around the Capitol accepts it as a foregone conclusion that the Governor will run against Barkley despite the fact that neither the Governor nor any of his political advisors have said that he would run. Not one word has been issued officially that the voters could expect to have Chandler as one of the entries in the August primary. So far as that is concerned, neither has Barkley officially indicated that he would seek the nomination. However, in both cases it is not necessary to stage a flood to let one know that it has been raining. The nearest thing to an official word that the Governor might run came from Lt. Governor Keen Johnson when he declined to accept an invitation to a dinner in Louisville in honor of Senator Barkley. Lieut. Gov. Johnson told Judge Elwood Hamilton that he would decline the bid because it appeared to him that Governor Chandler and Senator Barkley would engage in a vigorous contest in August and that, as President of the Senate and a part of the present Administration, he thought it best not to attend a function where praise was to be heaped on Barkley. The Kentucky General Assembly last week petitioned President Roosevelt to name M. M. Logan, Junior Senator from Kentucky, to the Supreme Court bench to replace Justice George Sutherland who retired January 15th. However, the President apponited Stanley Reed, a native Kentuckian, to the post. If the Governor decides to enter the Senate race there is little doubt but he will enter into a long and strenuous campaign. Chandler is a wheel horse in such political endeavors and his state-wide popularity cannot be denied. He would enter the race an ardent New Dealer who has backed the President in all of his policies. It might be noted here that the Governor has run three previous races for political office and has batted 1,000 in the political league.

BURGLAR ALARM ROUTS THIEVES

Residents of Verona were very much alarmed Sunday morning at 3:00 a. m. when the burglar alarm on the Verona bank was sounded. Residents dressed hurriedly and rushed to the bank, but found no one there upon their arrival.

The front glass of the bank had been smashed with a rock through which the thieves made their entrance. The culprits had no doubt searched through all cabinets and other places in which money is kept, and their search being fruitless, they decided to try the vault. When the combination was turned, it immediately set off the burglar alarm.

Lieut. Johns, of the Newport police force was called for expert fingerprint service. Lieut. Johns stated that the fingerprints found on the marble desk in the Verona bank correspond with the ones which were found in the Verona post office severals weeks ago.

Sheriff, F. M. Walton and Deputy Sheriff Jake Williams were called about 6:00 a. m., but were unable to find any clues, or any trace of the thieves.

Since the first of November last year, Hamilton's store has been broken into three times, the postoffice once and the bank once.

Local Student Goes To Walton

Charles Benson, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Benson, Burlington, returned to Walton last week to make his home with his grandmother Nicholson, and to complete his second semester in the Walton school.

Charles was one of the outstanding basketball players on the Burlington team this year and is a very good all around athlete. He has made a large number of friends in the short time he has been here and will be greatly missed by them now.

This addition to the Walton basketball team this year will put them still farther toward the top, and of course, weaken the Burlington boys considerably.

Matilda Hudson

Mrs. Matilda Hudson, aged 58 years passed away Saturday morning at the home of her sister, Mrs. Pat Day, Bartlett Ave., Erlanger, after a week's illness with pneumonia. Her home was in Peru, Ind., and she was here on a visit. The remains were removed to the Taliaferro Funeral Home for preparation.

In addition to Mrs. Day she is survived by her husband, Robert A. Hudson, of Peru, Ind., and several brothers and sisters.

The remains were taken to Lancaster, Ky., by Funeral Director Philip Taliaferro where services were held Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock, interment following in that city.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED

BY SENATOR S. H. BLAKE ASKING CONGRESS TO INVESTIGATE TOBACCO COMPANIES DOING BUSINESS IN STATE.

Senator S. H. Blake, of Carlisle, introduced in the Senate Monday a resolution asking Congress to investigate tobacco companies doing business in the state as to why they sharply reduced prices recently.

The same resolution asked Congress to reenact legislation similar to the old Agricultural Adjustment Act, which he said was "very beneficial to farmers because it controlled production, helped farmers to receive a fair and reasonable price for their tobacco."

Senator Blake also would have Congress and the Secretary of Agriculture of the United States to take such action as is needed to relieve the distress of farmers of Kentucky and adjoining states caused by the recent sharp decline in prices.

Clothing Specialist Is Speaker

Twenty-four members of Boone County's Utopia club attended the regular monthly meeting last Wednesday night, January 19th at the courthouse.

Miss Edith Lacy, clothing specialist from the University of Kentucky, was the guest speaker. A fine discussion was given on Home Improvement.

A brief report was made by Lloyd Siekman concerning the selling and germination tests of hybrid seed corn.

Refreshments and entertainment was furnished by the Burlington group.

Grace B. Wehner

Mrs. Grace B. Wehner, aged 70 years passed away Friday afternoon at her home Erlanger Road, Erlanger, Ky., after an illness of a few days. The remains were removed to the Taliaferro Funeral Home, Erlanger, for preparation.

Mrs. Wehner was born in White Oak, Ohio, but had lived in Erlanger, for 30 years.

She is survived by her husband Louis H. Wehner, one son Henry Wehner and two grandchildren, one sister and three brothers.

The pallbearers were Robert and Henry Wehner, Oscar Day, Peter Reable, Lloyd and Marine Coates.

Services were conducted Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock by the Rev. L. M. Sparks at the Taliaferro Funeral Home, interment following in Spring Grove cemetery.

GOV. TALKS WITH PRESIDENT'S SON

SAYS HE WILL WIN IF HE MAKES RACES AGAINST SENATOR ALBEN W. BARKLEY—NO TRADE DISCUSSED.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 25—"If I decide to oppose Senator Barkley for the Democratic senatorial nomination, I'll win," Governor A. B. Chandler told James Roosevelt, son of the President, last night in a long-distance telephone conversation.

The call was placed by Governor Chandler, who did not explain his reason.

"All I have ever asked of President Roosevelt or the administration is that they help me reconstruct and rehabilitate our penal and charitable institutions," the governor said.

He refused to discuss whether he was a candidate for senator. Mr. Barkley, Kentucky's senior senator and Senate majority leader, already has announced his candidacy.

The governor revealed that he declined to discuss Kentucky politics with Marvin McIntyre, one of the secretaries to the president.

"Mr. McIntyre was in the state the other day and showed no interest in talking to me, so I asked to talk to the President's son," Mr. Chandler declared.

Mr. McIntyre accompanied Senator Barkley to Louisville last Saturday at a Barkley testimonial dinner and read a letter from President Roosevelt praising the Kentuckian's "equipment as a legislator and leader."

The statement from the governor was taken to mean that no "trade" had been discussed. Rumors of a transfer of Senator M. M. Logan to a federal bench to make room for Chandler fell flat when Senator Logan denied he had been consulted in the matter.

Persons close to the governor said his formal announcement to oppose Barkley would come after he had completed some quiet "fence building."

CHICKENS STOLEN FROM HEBRON FARM

Lloyd Siekman, of Hebron reported that he lost five of his seven chickens last Friday night. Wm. Buckler of the same neighborhood also reported the loss of two hams and two shoulders Saturday night.

ENTERTAINS KNITTING CLUB

Mrs. L. C. McGlasson, of Hebron entertained her knitting club last Thursday, January 20th. Those present were, Mrs. Carl Richards, Mrs. George Ficke, Mrs. Harvey Beall, Mrs. Stanley Hillman, Mrs. Robert Hafer and Mrs. Richard Eubanks.

At the noon hour a dilicious luncheon was served by the hostess.

BOONE PROJECT IS INDORSED

BY NORTHERN KENTUCKIANS —40 ACRES AT BIG BONE MAY BE MADE INTO STATE PARK, IF BILL GOES THROUGH.

Frankfort, Ky., January 25—The 200th anniversary of the founding of Big Bone Lick in Boone County, Kentucky, will be celebrated next year, according to a joint statement issued today by Senator Paul L. Sidebottom and Representative Grover C. Ransom.

A delegation of citizens from Boone County conferred with Senator Sidebottom and Representative Ransom relative to introduction of a bill to make the area in the vicinity of Big Bone a state park.

Senator Sidebottom and Representative Ransom have arranged a conference with Bailey P. Wootton Director of State Parks of the Department of Conservation, relative to the preparation and introduction of such a bill.

The area to be taken over consists of approximately 40 acres.

Other Senators and Representatives from Northern Kentucky counties indorsed the proposed bill and pledged their support to the Grant County legislators, who also represent Boone County in the General Assembly.

In a joint statement issued by Senator Sidebottom and Representative Ransom, they said: "In 1739, M. Longueil, a French-Canadian explorer descending the Ohio River from Canada discovered Big Bone Lick in Boone County.

"This was long before Dr. Thomas Walker, Daniel Boone or Simon Kenton had come to Kentucky.

"A most remarkable locality was found at the lick, for there a large number of bones, perfectly sound and well preserved were found. Many of them have been dug up, and while perhaps no complete skeleton has been found, yet it has been computed by geologians they represent more than 150 animals.

"Some of these animals, especially the mastodon, were of extraordinary size, and while they are extinct today, there can be no doubt, geologically speaking, they were recent tenants of the earth.

"A number of these skeletons, more or less perfect, of this immense animal have been exhumed and their bones examined by geologists from the Universities of Kentucky and Cincinnati, as well as the Smithsonian Institution in Washington. Similar institutions in London and other cities of the world also have on display the bones of these immense animals.

"Big Bone Lick is indeed a scenic and historic place and while hundreds of tourists visit the place every year still, if it was made a state shrine or park, as a monument to the founder of this historic spot, many thousands of tourists would visit this place."

Among those from Boone Counwho conferred with Senator Sidebottom and Representative Ransom relative to the anniversary celebration and the making of a state park out of the lick were Walter Ferguson, Thomas Black, Forrest Black, Robert Woods, Omer Atha, Ross Atha, Harry Moore, and David Miller.

Hybrid Seed Germinates 100 Percent On Test

Strain 69 hybrid seed corn produced by members of Boone County Utopia club members germinated 100 percent on tests according to David Colville, assistant county agent.

Eighty-four grain of corn were gathered at random from eight different sacks of corn. All of the eighty-four grains had sprouted at the finish of the six-day test.

Germination tests are being carried on at the present time to determine the vitality of other samples.

Alabama Man Injured Fatally In Auto Crash

Raymond Tucker, 22, Montgomery, Ala., was injured fatally Tuesday of last week when the car in which he and a companion were riding failed to make a turn.

Everett Jones, magistrate of the third district investigated the accident.

ANNOUNCES ENGAGEMENT

Eva Lillian Eggleston

The engagement of Miss Eva Lillian Eggleston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Eggleston, Hebron and Mr. Raymond Boh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Boh, of Florence, Ky., has been announced. The wedding has been set for January 29th.

Hebron Man Is Sentenced

Charge with failure to provide for his two children, John Stephens, Hebron., was sentenced to 30 days in jail when arraigned Thursday before Judge John B. Read in Kenton County Court, Covington. The charge was contained in a warrant sworn to by his wife, Mrs. Myrtle Stephens, 40 Ringold Street, Ludlow. Judge Read said the defendant has been before the court on the same charge on a number of occasions.

850 BOONE CO. HERDS TESTED

FOR BANGS' DISEASE SINCE STARTING OF FEDERAL TESTING WORK—SPLENDID PROGRESS SHOWN.

Eight hundred and fifty Boone County herds including 8803 cattle have been tested for Bangs' disease since the starting of Federal testing work July 1, 1934, according to reports of W. F. Biles, Inspector in charge of Bangs' disease elimination work in the state.

The above figures represent splendid progress of this work in Boone County. The 1935 census gives 1240 farms with 11,812 cattle in the county. This would approximately give 70 percent of the herds and 75 percent of the cattle that have been tested and reactors eliminated from the herds. When it is considered that there are a number of beef cattle and heifers under six months of age that would not likely be included in this test, it might conservatively be estimated according to H. R. Forkner, county agent, that 90 percent of the dairy cattle have been tested.

It is only a matter of time until the Bangs' disease test will be required the same as the T. B. test. This has already happened in many areas. Health departments are more and more frequently tracing undulent fever and other intestinal troubles to Bangs' disease organisms.

The above report represents the splendid work that has been done by Dr. Kenneth W. Ryle, veterinarian in Burlington who is in charge of the testing work in the county. Several communities in the county hope to have 100 percent of their herds tested free from this disease this year. All research work shows that cows free from the disease return a greater profit. Farmers are urged to take advantage of the testing work while the Federal government bears all expenses and pays for reactors in the herds.

Burlington Lady Fractures Ankle

Mrs. Hubert Rouse, of Burlington, suffered a very painful accident last Sunday morning when she fell on her back porch, fracturing her ankle very severely. She was taken to Christ Hospital by Dr. M. A. Yelton, and returned to her home Monday. She is reported to be convalescing nicely.

Liston Hempfling, of Constance was a courthouse visitor here Monday.

LARGE CROWD IN ATTENDANCE

AT BOONE COUNTY NATIONAL FARM LOAN ASSOCIATION MEETING HELD IN BURLINGTON JANUARY 19TH.

The annual meeting of the Boone County National Farm Loan Association was held at Burlington January 19th with 44 Federal Land Bank borrowers, 8 Land Bank Commissioner borrowers and 14 non-borrower visitors present.

S. Beverly Davis from the Federal Land Bank was present and delivered a most interesting address. Other talks were made by H. R. Forkner, County Farm Agent, C. Liston Hempfling, member of the executive committee of the Northern Kentucky Production Credit Association, H. G. Hightower, attorney, and Rev. O. M. Huey, both members of the association. Rev. Huey had the record of distance traveled to the meeting, having traveled 105 miles from his home in Louisville to be present. Rev. Huey always attends the annual meetings of the Association. H. L. Crigler also made a short talk in the interest of the association.

An unusual feature of the meeting was the presende of R. S. Cowen, a non-borrower visitor who is past 93 years of age and who is also a director of the local bank and takes an active interest in the business affairs of this community.

All the present officers and directors were re-elected, they being, E. A. Martin, John H. Grimes, B. E. Aylor, Karl Rouse and Thomas Hensley. A. B. Renaker was re-elected Secretary-Treasurer.

The report of the Secretary Treasurer revealed that out of 169 Federal Land Bank borrowers with loans amounting to $648,400.00 only 5 were delinquent in the amount of $663.78 and with 129 Commissioner borrowers having $265,700.00 in loans, only 5 were delinquent in the amount of $965.99.

The Association has no farms on its hands and no foreclosures pending. The report showed the association to be in class 1 with a surplus of $7,280.82, including the legal reserve.

A reporter from the Cincinnati Times-Star was present and took a picture of the officers of the Association to appear in that paper.

Several charter members were present including E. A. Martin, who has served as a director since organization in 1922 and is now President of the organization.

A. B. Renaker organized the Boone County National Farm Loan Association and has served as its Secretary-Treasurer from the beginning.

During the past year 10 Federal Land Bank borrowers have paid their loans in full in the total amount of $42,500.00 and 6 Commissioner borrowers have liquidated their loans in full in the amount of $11,700.00.

Federal Land Bank borrowers of this association own $32,420.00 worth of stock in the Association which amount would be refunded to them should their loans be paid off at this time.

Very few applications are being made for loans now which shows that the financial condition of this county is excellent.

Joseph N. Hughes

Joseph N. Hughes, aged 82 years passed away Wednesday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Atmore Wainscott, 642 Erlanger Road, Erlanger, Ky., after a short illness. The remains were removed to the Taliaferro Funeral Home for preparation.

Mr. Hughes' home was in Georgetown but he was spending the winter with his daughter in Erlanger. He is survived by several other sons and daughters in Georgetown.

Funeral services and interment took place in Georgetown Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Funeral Director Philip Taliaferro had charge of the funeral arrangements.

Constance and Taylorsport To Hold Meeting

Farmers of Constance and Taylorsport communities will meet at Constance school this Thursday evening, January 27 at 7:00 (slow time) to discuss the type of cooperative agricultural community improvement program that should be conducted locally during 1938. All farmers and others interested in community agricultural improvement are invited to attend, according to John P. Dolwick, chairman of the program.

The Constance-Taylorsport farmers last year planned a good program of work, according to H. R. Forkner, county agent. The program involved various angles of truck crop production and marketing problems.

Pasture and hay crops, hybrid corn, sheep, marketing and 4-H club work were included in the 1938 program planned by leading farmers of Walton community at a meeting held at that place last Friday evening. Local committeemen appointed in charge of various projects included B. W. Franks, J. L. Vest, William Ryle, Albert Parker, Jim Pennington, John C. Bedinger, Evan Hance and John Noel. The committee will be assisted by leading farmers of the entire community. Special plans were made to hold a sheep meeting the near future and to hold a tour to outstanding tobacco curing demonstration in Central Kentucky during the late summer.

Farmers of New Haven community held their program planning meeting January 19th. They planned for an increased acreage of alfalfa, eight demonstrations with hybrid corn, 15 lime and phosphate demonstrations, parasite control work with sheep, four farm account records and 75 4-H club members. Special committees appointed to assist in these plans are J. F. Cleek, George Kearns, John Conley, S. B. Sleet, Mrs. Walter Ferguson, A. B. Moore, W. B. Gatewood and O. E. Senour.

REV. DRAKE TO BE SPEAKER AT BULLITTSBURG

Rev. Leo. Drake will fill the pulpit at the Bullittsburg Baptist church at 11 a. m. Sunday, January 30th. All are invited to attend this service.

MOTHERS TRIM TEACHERS SAT.

LARGE CROWD CHEER AS PARENTS AND TEACHERS CLASH ON HARDWOOD AT NEW HAVEN.

The last whistle has been blown, bloomers are in the state of collapse and instead of gym shoes being hung on a rusty nail in the cellar room to await the arrival of a progressive sparrow, the male and female teachers of New Haven can be found hanging there, objects of dejection, their sails winded, forever subdued.

While up in the kitchens, through the haze of soap suds and steam, can be heard the victory song of the Mothers, as they wash the egg off of last week's dishes (poor pa has been eating out of the dog pan) and Junior has the promise of a clean shirt for school. The Moms beat the teachers.

The primness and piety of a certain local doctor has been laid away in the attic trunk; the advent of a cold winter was anticipated by one of the members of the Father's team but realizing the necessity of the assistance of the neighbors to remove this long leg and long sleeve protection, he also packed away this object of affection. Another member of the Father's team, who has been an advocate of mashed potatoes and gravy, gave this desire away Saturday night to a member of the Teacher's team, whose shirt lost its purpose in life, only to serve as a one-piece dress. If the Dads as children ever had the desire to even up a score with the teachers, they certainly took advantage of it in the game.

The game between the Alumni of Hamilton and New Haven was very spirited—with a score a minute for each team, the outcome depending on who would have the ball the last second of play. New Haven was the victor.

SLIPPERY ROADS CHECKS TRAFFIC

NORTHERN KENTUCKY ROADS SOLID SHEET OF ICE—SEVERAL MINOR ACCIDENTS ARE REPORTED.

Icy roads throughout Boone county and northern Kentucky, resulting from the downward plunge of the temperature slowed traffic on all main arteries as well as the countries roads.

Snow started falling early Tuesday morning and continued thruout the day. At intervals the snow would be blown until it increased to blizzard proportions, making driving very dangerous.

On some of the country roads, snow drifted to several feet deep in many places, causing motorists, in many instances to shovel their way through.

Several minor accidents have been reported to this office. A truck load of tobacco was reported to have turned over on highway No. 42 just west of Florence. No one was injured in the accident, but considerable damage was done to the tobacco.

Motorists throughout this sections were warned not to travel the highways unless absolutely necessary.

A GOOD EXAMPLE

When one town sets other towns a good example, then the town which does so is entitled to a little free publicity and the other towns are entitled to profit by following that example. The latest instance is offered by the town of Fulton, Mo., and its people are to be congratulated upon the development of a sound idea, one that the residents of this county might do well to take advantage of through working out a similar program.

As a nation we are lacking in the common courtesies that prevailed among the older generations. We have either forgotten how to be polite or we do not take the time to do so. Nowhere is this growing lack of courtesy more evident than behind the steering wheel of an automobile. A large percentage of the highway accidents are due to this lack of consideration for other people, and all the propaganda turned out does not seem to make us any more polite on the road. Since they can't change the oldsters, Fulton citizens believe it will pay in the years to come to concentrate on the youngsters, so each year four cash prizes are awarded the four children adjudged by a committee of local citizens to have been the most polite and courteous to win the coveted honor, as well as the cash prize, the result on the general politeness and courtesy of the town can easily be imagined.

The example is passed on for what it is worth, but it is of interest to note in passing that the children who win the prizes each year are those who are taught courtesy and politeness by their parents in their own homes. That is the place for such lessons, and parents are the best teachers. But in more recent years both the homes and the parents have been somewhat lax. Maybe the example set by the Missouri town will go far toward remedying this.

VANISHING HIRED HANDS

It has not been so very many years ago that practically every farm home of any consequence had its hired man. He was not regarded as a paid laborer; he was a fixture and could be taken into confidence as readily as any other member of the family. He seldom proved to be a "floater." He came out of the nowhere, and no one cared about his past. He was content with board and lodging and a little money now and then for chewing tobacco and a change of shirt and socks. He was a jack-of-all-trades, could fix anything that went wrong about the farm, and was an indispensable member of the family.

Times have changed. The hired man as he was once known and cherished has been melting into oblivion, and there is a vast difference between him and the farm laborer of today. Today's farm hand generally migrates with the season; he isn't content to spend his life in the employ of one family. Today he is nothing more than a man working for wages—and always as high wages as he can get.

The old-time hired man has succumbed to the lure of the city. He couldn't resist the dream of big salaries and wages and the fascinating life of the city. If he has found happiness there, all right. But when he left he took away from the farm a lot of sentiment and happiness that can't be put back by the hired man of the present day.

PLAYING WITH MATCHES

Now and then we read of a tragedy in which lives were lost, or persons seriously burned and property destroyed, through children playing with matches. The first thought that arises is that the parents have failed to teach that child the meaning of "safety first." But the real censure belongs on the shoulders of the person who leaves matches where children can get hold of them. And yet, children are not alone in "playing with matches." Many grown people list them, use them and then carelessly toss them aside as though all danger from had passed. Recently a smoker in one of the larger cities of this state dropped a match he thought was extinguished into a waste basket and two hours later he had burned down the plant in which he worked, and thrown himself and several hundred other out of employment. We want no serious fire loss this year, so let's be extremely careful where we toss our matches when they have served their purpose.

"SMALL TOWN STUFF"

Put out the lights in the farm houses and the small towns of this country and Broadway, New York, would soon be as dark as pitch. That is because the money which makes Broadway's lights possible comes from outside of New York. The big city resident does a lot of talking about "small town stuff," and yet is always eager to head his auto toward the small town where he knows he will find hospitality, good wholesome food, clean air and noiseless sleep. He knows he will find the one thing the city lacks to make it worth living in—friendliness and a regard for one's fellowman. So more and more each year toward the small towns the big city autos are headed, carrying the sons and daughters of men who originally came from such places. For after all it was small-town men who made the big city possible, and small-town men who still are largely responsible for their prosperity.

Lesson for January 30

MINISTERING TO SPIRITUAL NEEDS

LESSON TEXT—Mark 2:1-12.

GOLDEN TEXT—Son, thy sins are forgiven—Mark 2:5.

PRIMARY TOPIC—When the House Was Crowded.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Who Can Forgive Sin?

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Bringing People to Christ.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Christianity's Concern for Spiritual Health.

Man is so constantly concerned with his physical nature, the needs and interests of his body, that he is prone to forget that there is within him a spiritual nature which is in fact his real self. The body which is the temporary dwelling place of the soul is most important—but relatively it is of but slight significance when considered alongside of the spiritual life of man.

Our lesson presents the Lord Jesus as being rightly concerned with the needs of the palsied man's body, but his act of healing was incidental to the infinitely more important act of forgiving his sins. Consider him, for his was indeed

I. A Hopeless Case (v. 3).

Incurably afflicted and helpless physically, but far more deeply afflicted spiritually was this poor man, for he was still in his sins. No man was able to heal his body, only God could heal his soul. He was indeed hopeless until he met Jesus. He knows no hopeless case. With God all things are possible, and Jesus Christ is God.

We are even as was this man, for without God we too are without hope (Eph. 2:12). Let us face the facts and admit that unless we are saved through Christ we are eternally and completely lost.

II. Impossible Conditions (vv. 1, 2, 4).

We say that the circumstances surrounding this man were such as to make it impossible for him to reach the Lord, for so they would have been apart from the spirit of divine urgency which impelled his helpers to cut through every excuse and brush aside every hindrance.

"Where there's a will there's a way." Had these men been controlled by convention they would never have put their friend at the feet of Jesus. But note that before taking up the roof they tried the door. They tried to use the proper entry, but it was blocked. It often is—sometimes by religious ceremony, sometimes by vain philosophy.

III. Immediate Conversion (v. 5).

At once Jesus sees their faith and forgives the man his sins. God always welcomes and honors faith. Note that Jesus—who as God had the power to forgive sins—immediately cleansed him from all unrighteousness.

This man's affliction proved to be his greatest blessing. If he had not had the palsy he might never have met the Lord. Suffering properly borne may be a means of grace.

IV. Secret Criticism (vv. 6, 7).

What a serious thought it is that the unspoken word which we think we have hidden away in the heart or mind is known to God. "All things are naked and opened unto the eyes of him with whom we have to do" (Heb. 4:13). "There is nothing hid that shall not be known" (Luke 12:2). What does the Lord see when he looks into your heart and mine?

Their theology was faultless—their reasoning was logical, but their premise was wrong. They were right in saying that only God could forgive sin. But they were wrong in assuming that Jesus was not God, and therefore a blasphemer.

V. Miraculous Confirmation (vv. 8-12).

Forgiving sins was harder than healing the body, but these enemies of Jesus lived so much in the realm of the physical that they missed that important truth. He meets the challenge of their unbelief by going into their own limited field of observation. They were not able to test the effectiveness of His forgiveness of sins. They did not believe in Him, hence they would not receive it by faith.

Let us remember that the incident took place in the early days of our Lord's ministry. While we do not condone their hostility to the tender and loving service of our Lord to humanity, we can understand their slowness to accept his claims to divine power. In our day we have no such excuse, for all gospel history is available to us. God help us that we may not sit in the seat of the scornful and "demand a sign" before we will believe.

Harmonies of Nature

There are but few souls who perceive how far the harmonies of Nature resound in accordance with ours, and how much the great whole is but one Aeolian harp with longer or shorter strings, slower and quicker movements, breathed upon by the Divine Being before Whom it rests.—Richter.

PROPOSE "PAY-AS-YOU-FIGHT" PLAN TO DISCOURAGE CLAMOR FOR WARS

Kansas City, Mo., January—Legislation that will automatically draft all of the nation's resources in time of war, simultaneously with man-power, is the chief recommendation in a series of peace insurance proposals presented to Congress by the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States and designed to put teeth in the campaign currently being waged by the Veterans to keep the United States out of war.

"If the owners of industry could be told today their profits will cease the minute war is declared by the United States," declares Commander-in-Cheif Scott P. Squyres, "you can be sure they will do everything in their power to keep us out of war. If Uncle Sam will tell the farmers they will make no profits on their wheat, nor their livestock, during the duration of the war, you can be confident every farmer, will demand a vote against war by his Congressman. If Uncle Sam will tell organized labor there will be no boom-time wages, and that labor must make equal sacrifices with the soldier, we will then have the added force of organized labor calling upon Congress to keep America at peace. When we have the courage, and the good sense, in this country to de-profitize war then the forces which clamor for war will be properly muzzled. In the midst of hysterical patriotism there is nothing that will induce sober reflection more effectively than a reminder of the personal profits losses involved."

"Legislation on our statute books which will make each and every citizen assume his rightful share in the costs and burdens of conducting a war, will make us stop and think carefully before we let hysteria sweep us into another war."

The "pre-paid wars" plan supplements a campaign now being waged by the V. F. W. to secure 25,000,000 signatures to a petition calling upon Congress to adopt and apply policies designed to keep America out of war.

Commander-in-Cheif Squyres makes a careful distinction between this campaign and various proposals of different Congressmen to require a referendum of the people, by Constitutional amendment, before the United States could declare war.

"We, as overseas veterans, are not convinced this amendment would serve to keep America at peace," the order states. "We know how easy it is to stampede public sentiment into a clamor for war. We are familiar with the insidious influence of propaganda, and how it can be used by any powerful agency to convert a group of peace-loving people into an army of bloodthirsty fighters Let us picture what would happen today if the powers-that-be in Washington should decide among themselves that this country must go to war. If confronted with the necessity of leaping the hurdle of a referendum, they would simply map out a preliminary campaign of propaganda to make certain that every American would be mad enough to rush to the polls to vote 'yes' without hesitation.

"In this modern era of the radio the trick could be accomplished in nearly one broadcast, with all the major networks mobilized for the purpose. In responce to a flag-waving, breast-thumping oration broadcast from the nation's captial the vote for war would be so one-sided in a referendum no one would even take the trouble to count the negatives."

The V. F. W. leader declared that the present petition campaign of the V. F. W. is a survey of public sentiment at a time when people are in full possession of their thinking faculties.

"On occasions in the past," he said, "most members of Congress have voted for war because they were convenced the people wanted war. Members of Congress have been taught to understand they are being sent to Washington as representatives of their constituents . . . They are anxious to carry out the wishes of the voters back home."

The V. F. W. spokemen called upon the United States to steer clear of foreign entanglements and any alliance with world powers that pretend to pray for peace but in reality represent a group organized exclusively for the mutual protection of their economic gains.

The other war-preventive measures being stressed by the V. F. W. are controlled sale of munitions and an adequate national defense.

"We recognize no logic in a system which permits armament makers to manufacture bombs, shells and machine guns that may subsequently be used to destroy American troops, "Squyres explained. "We do not believe the federal government should compete with private industry. But we are convinced the manufacture of armaments and munitions should be removed from the field of private industry because it is so closely identified with our national defense.

"We have no desire to compete in a race for armaments with other countries, but America deserves all the military protection we can maintain without creating an unnecessary burden upon our people, "Squyres" statement continued. "We must possess the potential military strength that will command respect and recognition for our rights as a free and independent nation. We must be strong enough at all times to discourage the covetous ambitions of dictators who dream of world conquests."

GOOD SOIL PRACTICES BRING BETTER YIELDS

The crop yields on the Kentucky soil experiment fields at Berea, Fariston, Campbellsville, Greenville, Princeton and Mayfield for 1937 show the great value of good soil management practices. The fields have been in operation for the following periods: nine years at Princeton, 19 years at Campbellsville, 22 years at Fariston, and 25 years at the other places. The soils of all of them were in a badly depleted condition when the work was begun on them, all being deficient in lime, phosphorus and nitrogen.

The yields given below are for check plots that received no lime or phosphate and for plots that were treated with both materials. On each set of plots manure was returned for several years equal to the weight of the crops removed (except wheat grain). A three-year rotation of corn, wheat and mixed legumes was used as Campbellsville and Princeton. On the other fields a four-year rotation of corn, wheat (rye at Berea), and two years of mixed legumes and grass was used.

The average total amount of limestone used per acre since the experiments were begun was approximately 4 to 5 tons, except at Princeton where it was 2 tons. The average annual application of 20 percent superphosphate was approximately 130 pounds per acre.

The average yields per acre for the check plots and for the limephosphate plots were as follows:

Corn, 27 bushels and 49 bushels.

Wheat, 14 bushels and 30 bushels.

First-year hay, 1438 pounds and 4284 pounds.

Second-year hay (on three fields) 1627 pounds and 4209 pounds.

The higher yields on the treated land are not only much more cheaply produced, but they make it possible to greatly increase soil conservation because less land is needed for corn, and more of the land can be kept well covered with grass which prevents erosion and the leaching of soluble plant food. More good pasture and hay also further reduce the amount of corn needed for livestock, thus further reducing the land needed for corn.

The increases throughout the time the experiments have been running were worth an average of eight to twelve dollars per acre annually, depending on the prices of crops. Thus, one year's increase in crop yields would pay for the lime used in twenty to twenty-five years, or the average amount of phosphate used in six to seven years. Furthermore, reserves of phosphorus have been built up in the soil that will affect yields for several years if no more were applied. In periods of good prices for crops, reserves of phosphorus may be built up by liberal fertilization that will be very helpful to the farmer in periods of low crop prices. These yields would not have been nearly so great without the return of manure, a highly important requirement for maintaining productiveness.

Bulletins which give the yields of crops on these fields from the beginning of these experiments and Extension Circular No. 272—a practical discussion of methods in soil management—will be sent on request.

COUNTRY LIFE GROUP TO MEET IN KENTUCKY

The American Country Life Association will hold its 21st annual meeting at Lexington next fall, it is announced through Dean Thos. P. Cooper of the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture. An invitation to meet in Kentucky was extended by President Frank L. McVey of the University, and formally accepted by Benson Y. Landis, New York, executive secretary of the association.

Leaders in many phases of rural life, both men and women, yearly participate in the work of the association. Medical facilities, population movements, trends in balancing production, distribution of foods products, farm income, research in home economics, and farm management are among the subjects given year-around study by members of the organization. "Rural America," a monthly magazine dealing with farm life and edited by Benson Y. Landis, is published by the association.

Home demonstration groups will again participate directly in the work of the association, holding the 2nd annual meeting of the National Home Demonstration Council at the University of Kentucky prior to the association's meeting. This Council is composed of officials and others representing women in home demonstration work, and is one of the largest groups in the American Country Life Association.

The fourth national conference on the rural home is to be held with the association meeting. This conference is composed of many groups, including the Farm Bureau library organizations, etc.

TOBACCO TO RECEIVE MAJOR ATTENTION AT FARM, HOME MEETING

Steps in the production of tobacco, from the soil in which it grows to its curing, will be given prominent consideration by speakers at the annual Farm and Home Convention at the University of Kentucky Jan. 25-28.

A special session the first day will be devoted wholly to tobacco and other crops, including soil in relation to tobacco growing, leaf diseases, control of flea beetles and other pests, and root-rot resistant strains. Hybrid corn, which outyields common kinds by 15 to 20 percent; lespedeza, barley and other crops also will be discussed.

At the general session the afternoon of the first day, tobacco housing and curing will be discussed, and on Friday, tobacco grading will be considered.

AN INSPIRATION

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hill were calling on Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hill Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Engle and daughter had as Sunday dinner guests, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Patrick and Mr. and Mrs. Burnam Roberts.

WINTER FLOWERS

Germination of seeds planted in the house is hastened by spreading burlap or cheese cloth over the boxes and leaving it until seedlings appear. Water applied on the cloth will seep through and provide moisture without danger of washing the seed out of the soil.

THE SEWING ROOM

Triangular tears in garments may be neatly mended if the edges are first worked with a buttonhole stitch, then caught together thru the stitches instead of the material. To clean grease spots from silk, rub cake magnesia into the spot. Let stand a day and brush off with clean brush. It is advisable to keep cake of magnesia on hand as it is very effective as a cleaner.

FARMERS ANNOUNCE PLANNING PROGRAM

A program for this year announced by a planning committee in Lee county, includes putting 11,000 acres back into useful forest trees, a reduced tobacco acreage, but improvement in the quality of leaf through use of good land, fertilizers and better curing; reduced corn acreage, but higher yields; ordinary steep land, sometimes used for corn, to go into grass, with steepest land into trees. An effort will be made to put at least 5,000 acres in hay and pasture crops, and 2,000 acres in cover crops next fall.

Good gardens are grown in Lee county, but the planning committee wants better ones, with more several new kinds. Effort also will be made to improve the poultry production, already a profitable enterprise in the county.

County Agent T. H. Jones is planning to have 18 community 4-H clubs. Club boys and girls last year produced food, feed, vegetables and livestock worth $4,000.

In Harlan county, the program planning committee also stressed the need of more hay and grass, including clovers. Gardens, both home and commercial, and potatoes should be improved, the committee said. It also would develop and improve poultry production and dairying.

There is a big market in Harlan county for fruit, vegetables, eggs and poultry and dairy products, and an effort is to be made to meet more of this demand with home-grown products, according to County Agent Gary H. Williams.

COOPERATIVE HELPS RAISERS OF TURKEYS

A turkey raisers cooperative association in McQuady community in Breckinridge county recently completed 15 years of successful operation. Two thousand birds were sold last year for an average of 19½ cents a pound, which was 3 to 5 cents more than local offers. In some years, carloads of birds were sent to eastern cities, following receipt of bids from several markets.

The association not only takes care of selling the big birds but also does much work, in cooperation with County Agent Will B. Ray, in promoting good production practices. Improved breeding has helped to eliminate crooked breasts and other troubles. For the most part, Bourbon Red, White Holland and Narragansetts are raised, with a few Bronze. Tours of turkey farms and frequent meetings are held during the year.

KENTUCKY 4-H CLUB NEWS

Money made by Lincoln county 4-H club members last year has been invested in calves, sheep, poultry and other livestock. Many boys and girls will carry livestock projects this year, in addition to growing tobacco.

One hundred and ten dollars in cash prizes were distributed among club champions in Taylor county. One prize went to a girl for advertising club work with her picture and a sign in her home yard and for explaining club work to a large number of people.

Champion tobacco grower, Lionel King of Bourbon county grew 1,030 pounds an acre and sold it for an average of $39.88 a hundred. It was grown on land that had been plowed but once before. The crop attracted much attention and was pronounced one of the best ever seen in the county.

Berea Kiwanians give an annual banquet to Southern Madison county club champions and leaders. Thirty-five men, women and boys and girls were entertained in December. Twenty-one clubs conducted Christmas programs attended by nearly 1,000 people.

The Louisville Gas and Electric Company entertained 1,014 Jefferson county boys and girls and club leaders, providing the place of meeting and lunch, and conducting the visitors through the company's hydro-electric plant.

Corn and small fruit projects will be stressed in club work in Bell county this year. Two banks which gave seed corn to 80 club members last year again will furnish seed. Members receiving seed last year returned 20 seed ears each to the banks in the fall.

AMONG THE COUNTY AGENTS

Magoffin county's tobacco crop has brought in approximately $125,000.

Forty-five Fayette county farmers attended a beef-cutting demonstration.

Charles Lucky, Harrison county, is feeding four baby beeves this year.

While egg production in Powell county is low, a well-culled flock of 70 is averaging 30 eggs per day.

Mrs. J. P. Williams, Livingston county, sold $35 worth of eggs last month from a flock of 135 hens.

In Gallatin county, hybrid corn yielded 24 percent higher than local varieties.

A survey shows that approximately 200 acres of strawberries will be grown in Crittenden county.

The number of Meade county farmers selling cream cooperatively has increased by 22.

Robertson county farmers are insuring sheep in a cooperative association.

KENTUCKY FARM NEWS

Several of the leaf diseases of of tobacco can be controlled by applications of a bluestone-lime spray, according to a new leaflet of the Kentucky College of Agriculture. It gives directions for making and applying the mixture.

Ohio county farmers are receiving a double benefit from timber stand improvement. Dead and undesirable trees, brush and other debris are being removed and used to burn lime, which is used to improve soil fertility.

By running a ditch around a hill and therby diverting the water, J. D. Sory of Hopkins county obtained 28 bushels of wheat to the acre on land that had been unproductive. A good stand of grass was left to hold the soil.

Ballard county farmers are reporting good results from the use of trench silos this winter. Most of them were filled with corn, with a few using sorghum cane in addition. There are about 75 trench silos in the county.

Marshall county women enrolled in a landscape project were impressed by lectures and demonstrations on the evils of pruning shade trees. Selection of native trees and shrubs also was stressed at the meetings.

Hart county Utopia club boys obtained increased corn yields by growing hybrid corn last year. Five who kept records obtained increases averaging 9 bushels to the acre over common varieties. In one instance hybrid corn outproduced local kinds by 17 bushels.

KENTUCKY 4-H CLUB NEWS

COMPLETING 10 YEARS service as club leaders, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Holloway of Simpson county were awarded leader's recognition pins. Seven other men and women in the county have served five years or longer as leaders.

A 4-H BASEBALL league in Estill county contained teams in nine clubs. Two teams, tied for top honors, were to play off the tie at the achievement celebration, but entertained out. Recreattion is a feature of Estill county club work.

MORGANTOWN CLUB members will complete their school yard landscaping in accordance with plans furnished by the State College of Agriculture. Each boy and girl has been assigned definite work in furnishing shrubs, trees, etc.

TWENTY-SIX members of the Garrard county calf club last year fattened 48 calves and made an average profit of $40.71 per calf and $75.17 per club member Calves and prizes won on them totaled $6,730.68. Cash prizes totaled $534. CHRISTIAN COUNTY colored club boys fed 50 pigs for home consumption, furnishing 15,842 lbs. of meat, and sold 121 head for $1,987. Eleven club boys also produced 3,980 pounds of tobacco which sold for $1,460.

BOURBON COUNTY club girls took active parts in fairs last year, exhibiting hundreds of cans of fruits and vegetables; also clothing and baked foods. Prizes won by them totaled more than $100.

THE FARM AND HOME

To fertilize the garden, plow under a covering manure and then disk and broadcast 20 percent superphosphate at ther rate of about 100 pounds for a space of 100 feet square. Soil so treated should grow good tomatoes, peas, beans, squash and sweet corn.

Rolling the lawn once or twice each spring helps smooth the surface. This can be done as soon as it is possible to walk on the lawn without sinking in over the shoe soles. An ordinary farm roller will be satisfactory for use on the lawn.

A leg of lamb weighing 5 pounds probably will require from two to two and a half hours to roast, including searing, and a 7 pound leg from three to three and a half hours, to cook to the well-done stage in a medium-hot oven.

The first requirement for the production of a good bed of tobacco plants is a rich well-drained plot of land well supplied with organic matter. Old fence rows, and pasture lands that have been in grass for several years, are very desirable.

Stepping stones make an unusually attractive walk. The best stones often are found in beds of streams. The stones should be placed about 20 inches apart from the center of one stone to the center of the next.

Silage is ideal roughage but not a complete feed. It should be supplemented with a feed containing considerable protein, such as cottonseed meal, linseed oil meal, soybean meal, peanut meal or a legume hay.

EXPENSIVE RATS

Estimates of government agents place the rate population of the U. S. at close to a billion, with an annual food bill from $250,000,000 to $1,000,000,000. Since each individual supports from two to four rats and that number of rats eats as much as an ordinary cat, the actual expense of maintaining the rat population is realized.

It is estimated that a good dead rat is worth at least $2 to any community. In addition to the vast quantities of food consumed, rats destroy annually millions of dollars worth of fabrics and furnishings, books and records, to say nothing of buildings rendered uninhabitable by their unwelcome presence. The rat has a gnawing mechanism that rivals the best carpenter's bit, and in some instances has been known to master even soft brick-work and lead pipes. Steel, iron, cement and glass, however, are immune to its destructive habits. The mysterious disappearance of valuable papers, and the actual maceration of paper money traced to rats will reach into the millions annually.

While in many communities "rat campaigns" are frequently conducted, with a whole neighborhood joining in the slaughter and prizes being offered those killing the most rats, organizing such drives is not always an easy matter. There is nothing to prevent each individual conducting a constant and never-ceasing warfare of his own against them, however, nor is there anything more profitable. Rid your premises of rats and help your neighborhood do the same thing and you not only save money but help to advance the health of the community as well.

WHY NOT TRY THIS

Wonder why most people wait until spring to do a lot of odd jobs around the house when they could be done just as well now while there is more time ot devote to such things? If there is a little inside painting or varnishing job to do there is no reason why it cannot be attended to, in a lot of instances, during the winter months. Opening the windows at top and bottom an inch or so for a short time in chilly weather won't freeze anybody, and the paint job will dry quickly. And locks and other hardware patching on the inside of the house can be looked after now just as well as in the spring, when there are so many other things demanding attention. The citizen who accomplishes something along this line now that ordinarily would be put over until spring will find themselves ahead of their neighbors when the regular spring season arrives, and they will also find they have saved up a lot of energy by doing many of these inside jobs during the winter months.

USE 800,000 TONS OF LIME MATERIALS

Eight hundred thousand tons of lime materials were used on land in Kentucky last year, according to a summary which the College of Agriculture at Lexington made of reports of county farm agents. To be exact, 819,432 tons were used by 34,296 farmers. This included, in round numbers, 734,000 tons of ground limestone, 76,000 tons of marl and 9,000 tons of burned lime.

By counties, Hardin led the list, with 2,475 farmers using 42,000 tons of limestone, marl and burned lime. Thirty-seven thousand tons were used in Christian county, 31,000 tons in Bourbon county, and 25,000 tons in Logan county. A large number of counties used 10,000 tons.

In Lincoln county farmers used 8,000 tons of marl. Henderson county farmers applied 7,000 tons of marl. Montgomery county farmers 6,000 tons.

This was the second consecutive year that Kentucky farmers used more than 800,000 tons of lime materials in preparing their land for larger crop yields or for the growing of hay and pasture crops.

ROWAN TOBACCO GOOD

David Epperhart, a Rowan county farmer, grew 2,100 pounds of tobacco on an acre and a half, 1,900 pounds of which averaged $37 a hundred. Five hundred pounds to the acre of 20 percent superphosphate was broadcast and 400 pounds of 3-10-6 fertilizer drilled in the row.

BURLINGTON SCHOOL NEWS

Tuesday afternoon after school, the Simon Kenton debate team came to the Burlington school for non-decision debate. This is giving good pratice to our team so they will be better prepared for decision debates.

Mrs. Eddins reports quite a few absent from her room. We hope that her attendance record will begin increasing.

The Hi-Y boys had a chili supper at the school auditorium Monday night, which everyone reported was a success. The cooks were Juby Huey, Thomas Hensley, William Presser and Alton Sullivan. Their supper consisted of chili, Cocoa Colas, sandwiches and cakes. After supper the boys played basketball and ping pong.

The Girl Reserves gave an amateur program Tuesday morning which was also a big success. Virginia Sullivan played the part of Major Bowes and other Girl Reserve members were the amateurs. Everyone enjoyed themselves.

We are very proud to have two new table tennis outfits. The school has been wanting some for quite a while and have donated and worked until we now have them.

Last Friday night New Haven met our boys here on the auditorium floor. The also brought their volley ball team. Our girls won the volley ball game, but the boys were defeated. Friday night January 28th our boys journey to Hamilton to meet the Hamilton team. We hope they are victorious there.

Wednesday morning, Jan. 26th Miss Faber had a recital at our chapel program. All her students took part in this program.

The basketball boys are very happy over the fact that they are to get new basket ball suits next week.

RED FLANNEL DAYS

"Women of the red flannel days were more sensibly dressed than the women of today," declared a merchant a few days ago. But, he doesn't want his name mentioned, for obvious reasons. "In those days," he goes on to say, "we used to sell 20 yards of silk for one dress. Now a woman buys three yards and considers that more than enough. Then there were only three or four shades of silk; now there are hundreds. The men of fifty years ago were superstitious in the matter of what they wore. In winter it had to be red flannel underwear and only a few people of the richer class could be induced to wear white merino. Today, manufacturers tell us, there are 4800 different articles of women's underclothing and 1800 different kinds and shades of stocking. Today it is as hard to find a red flannel garment as it is a needle in a haystack. And yet some of the old-timers often wonder if in the matter of comfort the old red flannel days did not, after all, have it all over these more modern times."

There is a fortune awaiting the man who will invent a device for making both ends meet.

"Artists and Models" Will Be At Gayety

The six most famous artists in the world—united in clamorous applause for the beauty of Sandra Storme—unanimously naming her "Miss Perfection"—declaring her to be their ultimate ideal of beauty—and yet every one of them "sees" her differently!

That's the unique storm which revolves around the gorgeous blonde head of lovely Sandra Storme, England's most famous model, who makes her motion picture debut in Paramount's song-and-girl-studded "Artists and Models," which will be shown at the Gayety Theater Sunday and Monday, January 30 and 31st.

Featured in the cast are Jack Benny, Ida Lupino, Gail Patrick, Richard Arlen, Louis Armstrong's Swing Orchestra, Martha Raye, Andre Kostelanetz and his Orchestra, and the six famous artists—Peter Arno, McClelland Barclay, Arthur William Brown, Rube Goldberg, John LaGatta and Russell Patterson.

Don't fail to see this big picture. You'll enjoy every minute of it.

PICKED UP HERE AND THERE

It has been our observation that a man seldom has his heart in his work unless he has his back in it too.

Heredity is something the average father believes in until his son gets to acting the darned fool.

Maybe the reason the bill of fare in the big city hotel is printed in French is because what you don't know won't hurt you.

Husbands do not object to their wives using a little powder on their face, but any husband dislikes going out with a wife who is so powdered up she looks like a marshmallow.

Feed the birds. They deserve it because they don't get up amateur concerts and insist on selling tickets to it.

Why is it that when you do a man a favor without being asked he will spend an hour trying to figure out where the catch comes in?

The average man has a hard time of it. Outside the home the bandits hold him up and inside it the in-laws hold him down.

The pies mother used to make seem even more wonderful when we consider how little dough father used to make.

We've never been able to figure out, how old Adam vented his temper when there wasn't a single door around the house to slam.

WEEK'S BEST RECIPE

Steamed Apple Pudding—Two cups flour; 4 teaspoons baking powder; ½ teaspoon salt; 2 tablespoons butter; ¾ cup milk; 4 apples cut in eighths. Mix and sift dry ingredients, working in butter with tips of fingers, add milk gradually, mixing with a knife, toss on floured board, pat and roll out. Place apples on middle of dought and sprinkle with 1 tablespoon sugar, mixed with ¼ teaspoon each of salt and nutmeg. Bring dough around apples and carefully lift into butter mould of five-pound lard pail, or apples may be sprinkled over dough rolled like a jelly roll; cover closely and steam 1 hour and 11 minutes. Serve with lemon sauce.

THE FAMILY DOCTOR

A patient can be given much better attention on a single bed than on a wide double one. Place the bed so patient will be shut off from all drafts. Do not allow lights to glare in patient's eyes. A bare floor with a few small rugs is more sanitary than carpeting. Remove all heavy drapes and upholstered chairs. A large pail of water placed in a sickroom will absorb gases.

Being a husband is like any other job—it makes it a lot easier if you learn to like your boss.

KITCHEN KINKS

To freshen salt meat, put it into cold water, quickly bring to a boil, then simmer . . . Save all lamb fat, for it makes an excellent shortening for ginger bread and cookies. . . . If a small piece of butter is added to cocoa it may be substituted for chocolate in cake recipes. . . . To vary your usual waffle recipe add one teaspoon of cinnamon and a quarter of a teaspoon of cloves to the batter.

"APPLE STRUDEL" IS DELICIOUS DESSERT

Recipe for Apple Strudel, approved by the Kentucky College of Agriculture:

3 cups flour
1 tablespoon shortening
2 pounds apples
1 cup raisins
3 teaspoons sweet butter
1½ cups bread crumbs
2 cups sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1½ cups lukewarm water.

Mix flour, shortening and one teaspoon of butter and salt together. Add lukewarm water. Work thoroughly for about 10 minutes, roll into a ball, cover and set in a cool place for one hour. Then roll the dough to a paper thinness. Pull it with the fingers if necessary but do not stretch it. Spread over it the bread crumbs which have been browned in one teaspoon of sweet butter. Put the apples, prade, cored and thinly sliced, on top of the bread crumbs. Dot with butter and sprinkle very lightly with nutmeg. Add the raisins on top of the apples, and sprinkle the sugar over it. Make into a roll pinching the ends of the dough together. Pour over it the rest of the butter (melted). Place in an oven preheated to 400 degrees. After five minutes reduce the heat to 300 and bake 45 minutes. Before serving, dust with powdered sugar. Serve with whipped cream.

President Birthday Balls Subject to Tax

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 22—James W. Martin, Commissioner of Revenue, announced today that the President's birthday balls, which are held on January 29, would be subject to the Kentucky amusement tax.

He pointed out that the Kentucky law exempts admissions to such entertainments only if 75 per cent of the gross proceeds are used for charitable, religious, or educational purposes in Kentucky. The percentage of proceeds from the President's birthday balls benefitting the Warm Springs Foundation in Georgia prevents exemption of these parties, he said.

The Amusement Tax Law provides that admission from to 18 cents shall be subject to a 1 cent tax; 19 to 28 cents— a 2 cent tax; 29 to 38 cents—a 3 cent tax; and that admissions in excess of 38 cents shall be subject to a 3 cent tax plus 1 cent for each 5 cents in excess of 38 cents.

Old-Timer Tells Interesting Story Of Old County Seat Buildings

To Readers of The Recorder:

Some weeks ago, I promised to tell you something about the appearance of the old jail and courthouse as they appeared during the Pete Blimm trial. But I will first tell you of what took place the first night he was landed in jail.

A crowd of quiet men gathered in Burlington and no doubt Blimm would have been hung that night, but Hoffman refused to go with them, and of course that ended the procedure.

Now a boy like myself sees a lot that escapes others in a case like that. So Frank Kirkpatrick and myself saw the rope all ready for the job. As I told you before, the old jail stood just in front of Cy Cowen's house and about middle way between the house and the Belleview road, which was then a dirt road. It was about the size of the one torn down, to give way to the one now in use by the county. It was a brick building, two rooms, one upstairs and one down. This had an outside stairway on the south side, starting at the southeast corner and leading to a door that gave entrance to the upstairs. At the top of the stairway was a little frame room used by the jailer. The door to the lower room was under the stairway. and I remember one had to step up one step to get in. There were two windows, not over two feet long and about 8 inches wide on the east, and the same on the west side of each room.

This jail was not a nice looking building, but I think it was much more secure than some jails of today. The building was lined with heavy boards or timbers about two inches thick and about ten or twelve inches wide, and there were old time iron spikes driven in the boards not over two inches apart, on top, bottom and ceiling.

I don't think there were any cells in the jail, only an iron rod in the northeast corner of the upstairs room, and they had what is called anklets, which were put on a desperate prison and locken around the rod.

Now you can see there were only two ways to get out, either run over the jailer or set it on fire, and that is just what happen in 1874, and it burned to the ground, taking almost the entire night to burn.

There were one or two prisoners in jail at the time, and they nearly smothered to death before they were rescued, and it was hours before you could see fire, as it was down in between the brickwork and those heavy boards, where no air could reach it. Of course, there were double doors to the jail, and the inside one was of iron bars. There were also iron bars at the windows.

Old Courthouse After It Was Remodeled in 1878

Now, one thing more. The weather was very cold and a man by the name of Coon Butts died in one of the old brick rooms of the Boone Hotel. He was an old Union Soldier and badly crippled.

The old courthouse stood just about where the new one now stands, but not so large. It was two stories and the courtroom was on the lower floor.. There were four large brick pillars or columns in front, reaching to the roof and were two and a half to three feet in diameter, standing flush with the walls which were straight across from the corners of the iron fence in front of the courthouse steps. There was a porch upstairs and one down, the one below having a brick floor which extended across, full width of the front with no railing. The upper porch was of wood and had railing around it.

There was only one entrance, and that was in front, and you had to pass between the two middle pillars or climb the fence to get in. When you passed inside the door you stepped down onto another brick floor that ran across the building, and I would say fifteen feet across to a raised wooden floor with railing across the front and a small gate which gave entrance to the bar, with the judge's stand in the north end.

The grand jury and other jury rooms were upstairs, with a box stairway in each corner leading to them. The circuit clerk's office was in a small building in the southeast corner of the courthouse yard and the county office was across the street in the old building which was moved and is now used as the postoffice. It was the only house on that lot at that time.

The yard of the courthouse was enclosed with a plank fence which extended from one of the pillars and joined the one on the other side, with more yard room than we now have, and there was room for a croquet ground on the north side. And don't forget, there was a hitchrack on the east, west and north side and also around the county clerk's on the other side of the street.

Except for an opening wide enough to get in or out, and until after the addition was completed in 1878, which left the courtroom still on the lower floor, but eliminated the box stairways and had a stairway at right of front entrance and also lower outside entrance on west side about center. This gave a larger court room as it took in the space that were porches. The jury room remained on the upper floor.

When the pillars were torn down it was found they were constructed of brick shaped something like a wedge. I have two of them, and had one with the date cut in it before it was burned in 1823. I can't say when the pillars were erected, for I was not here. The bricks were eight inches long, four inches wide at one end, two and an eighth at the other and two inches thick. Now, don't dispute this for I measured one three minutes ago.

I might mention that Mr. Samuel Cowan was jailer, I think after the old jail burned, for a good many years. He used to let me go up and ring the bell and then I would not have traded places with any of the officers..

The jail which was torn down to be replaced by the new one, was built during the year 1875 and Ben Quick had the contract and Elbert Rouse helped rivet the steel together. I can't say who done the other work.

I expect I had better quit, for I know some of you are tired, but remember some are interest, and give the poor nuts a chance, for I class myself among them. and believe it or not, there is a good bunch of us.

Now one more line or two and I will give you a rest. Some of the people will still remember the clerk's office across the street in the northwest corner and in each of the other corners was a wild crabapple tree, and when they were in bloom, you will know that old Burlington smelled better than it does today when they oil or tar the streets.

Now if you want to kick, kick the editor for I am following instructions.

INTERESTING LETTER

The following is a letter received by Mrs. J. H. Walton from her sister, of Nutley, N. J.:

Nutley, N. J.
January 8, 1938

Dear Sister and All:

Thanks for the lovely letter and Christmas cards. Billy got his from Ange and we are certainly glad to see that he did not leave you all this Christmas for California.

I had a very nice Christmas, got several very nice presents, among which was 12 sterling silver coffee spoons from my husband, a little sewing box which I am going to try to learn to use, two very nice pair of gloves, one fur-lined. Billy gave me a bix box of beautiful stationery, two packs of playing cards and a lovely fruit cake in a tin box. Santa Claus gave us the book "Orchids on Your Budget" with the request that it be read aloud. I will let you know if it is as good as it was represented.

The weather here is not as Christmasy as it was in Chicago. In fact, we notice quite a difference in temperature, and people who have lived in both places have told us that this is a much warmer climate than Chicago.

Well, sister this old New York City is a lovely city. It is picturesque (and stupendeous. (I sound like Billy trying to describe it.) By the way, he wrote a letter to one of his friends in Chicago and told them about going thru the Holland Tunnels. He said "I was plainly amazed" and that does just about describe it.

Wednesday before Christmas I drove down to Jersey City to get Mrs. Harrison and Edgar, and we drove the car on to the 23d street ferry on the Jersey side. It was after dark and those big buildings looming up across the bay certainly did present a sight which I have never seen before. We went up to Wanamaker's big store and it just happened they were having their Christmas Carols in the big rotunda. People sat on the steps all the way up to the second floor, and the big organ pealed out and everybody joined in singing Christmas Carols. It was a beautiful sight and very entertaining. Then, as that was the day that Lincoln Tunnel opened we drove home through it. That never fails to awe me, driving under a big river, it seems impossible and yet it is so easy done after the tunnels have been made.

Then the other night we did the same thing when we went over on the Liberty Street Ferry. Instead of crossing the bay straight across, we cut diagonally up the Bay which took us up the river about five miles, landing more up town. Then we drove up to Rockefeller Center, which Edgar calls the Westinghouse Laboratories, and which I think is the most wonderful group of building in the world. It is said to be be. And we saw the skaters in the Plaza which was a pretty sight. Edgar does love to ride on these ferries. I wouldn't be surprise if we didn't have a trip to Europe someday, partly on business and partly because he so does love to ride on boats. He left this morning for Chicago and I just got a telegram a few minutes ago saying that he was with George and would later go to aunt Sallie's. I know that George is ticked to death because it is the first he has seen of any of us since the first of September. I hope to be able to go back to see him graduate in June.

We had our usual New Year's party, and they all had a good time, I think. I served a buffet supper at midnight with roast turkey, dressing, candied sweet potatoes, cranberry jelly, perfection salad, jellies, olives, pickles, hot rolls, cake and coffee.

Elbert sent me a box of holly and some green stuff, and a box of home-made fudge. Wasn't that nice of them? I decorated the table with the holly and green leaves he sent and had a crystal candle stick at each end of the tables with two red candles in each one, and it looked pretty, "if I do say so as I shouldn't."

You asked where Billy was in the picture. Well, I can tell you that we never went to go any place, or have a picture taken, or all try to be together in our lives that Billy could be found. I did catch him one day, and here is the picture I caught. I suppose you will recognize Margaret in the picture. By the way, her name is Mrs. Margaret Turner and she would be tickled to death to get a card from you as she thought you were lovely.

I am glad to hear that Bud is married again. I think that is the best thing for him, and he is probably happier than he has been for the past 25 years. Write me whenever you can. Give my love to all. I hope that the New Year will be prosperous and happy for us all. With love,

ANNA BELLE.

Wedding Announcement Need Not Name Town

DEAR Mrs. Post: On wedding announcements may I omit the name of the town in which we were married? Or if there must be some town mentioned may I use the name of my home town instead? We were married out of the state and I don't care especially to use the name of the town if it is possible to omit it.

Answer: The best way to overcome this is to leave a space between the line giving the year of the marriage and the name of the town. In other words, actually the announcement ends with the date. Adding the name of the town merely gives the peoole to whom the announcements are sent your parents' address.

How to Accept.

DEAR Mrs. Post: How in the world can so much be written by hand when answering a third person invitation sent out by a committee of a certain organization, both names appearing on the form as well as the names of two guests of honor?

Answer: You need write no more than the following:

Miss Mary Smith
accepts with pleasure the kind invitation of The Women's Committee of (whatever Organization)

KENTUCKY APPLES WIN IN MISSOURI

Kentucky apples exhibited at the recent Ozark regional fruit show at Springfield, Mo., took several first prizes. The exhibit was made cooperatively by the Kentucky State Horticultural Society and the Horticultural Club, a student organization at the Kentucky College of Agriculture. Apples were selected from the exhibit made at a show held in connection with the annual meeting of the state society in Lexington. Kentucky apples of the Winesap, Stayman, Black Ben and Champion varieties won prizes at the Missouri show.

LOVE AND LIVE AND LIKE IT

You should pay attention to the wrong things and conditions in your environment long enough to discover whether or not you can change the conditions. If it cannot be changed simply stop thinking about it completely and put it out of your mind.

There are many things that man can get along well without, except for love.

When riches come to us gradually, there usually grows up within us the ability to handle ourselves well in the presence of all conditions and circumstances.

We wonder sometimes why we are unable to think quickly and pointedly during the day, when we lay down at night to sleep only to have hundreds of things come racing through our minds, about the one we love.

There isn't anything wrong with a broken heart, except that it is overcome with grief and disappointment and filled with silent sorrow to overflowing.

Sometimes it does not make any difference which way we turn to go in life, we meet with resistance. It's like being at the North Pole. Any direction you choose to go, you will be going South.

There has never been a king in Judea, since the crucifixion of Jesus and there never will be until he returns.

When a man buys an expensive corsage, pays the taxi fare, the theatre tickets, the dinner after and the taxicab home and the girl tops off the evening by flirting with another man. Is this love?

Boys, pick your girl. She is the masculine type, walks and talks alone, with a long, sharp face and sharp chin. Always right. Will argue until the cows come home on the merits. Stockily built, takes a lot of punishment and comes back for more. She is the head bookkeeper in every house on the street, if someone is sick. Her skin is dry and hard. She is flat on the chest. Doesn't take the time to put her hat on before the mirror, always in a hurry and always busy. With quick competent, square hands she attends to every thing near. Very resentful, emotionally quick. She is a good sport. Lots of company if you like company and a good protection against all men. When she is around men just do not care to tread.

You can say what you want, but there isn't any thing any better than a good fishing trip to clear the cobwebs from any man's mind and set him right in thought again.

Isn't it strange? The one you want to make love to you won't, but the one that you don't want will, in the same manner the one that would be clever at the love making won't, but the one that is clumsy and the most outspoken will.

Love is but the hour of triumph of the emotions over the material matter of men and the actions of the mind from within.

Mary; The secret of popularity is in the meeting of people, many of them, and making these same people, that interest you, like you. You can do that easily by showing an interest in the things they like and talk about, accept their opinions and criticisms and be kind and gracious about it.

Eve; Would suggest that if he loves you he would make a greater effort to stand on his own feet against that of his mother and brother even though they did not approve of you as his choice. Better drag out another from the heap of cast offs. Every man is at some time a cast off from some other girl of his choice. Don't be discouraged with all of them..

Grace; We understand that it is hard to give up your first boy friend when it will be two years before you can marry, but it seems to me it would be quite proper to have other friends as long as you are not engaged and still remain friendly to the first.

Jenny; After five years a man certainly ought to know whether or not he wants to marry you. Better that you forget about him. Permitting a matter like this to drag along without hope for the future is rather useless.

Janice; You should let your back hair down and become more discursive about things with your husband. Some one from the outside will call his attention to your business antics sooner or later and then. Won't your face be red.

Funny, but it is not the thought of being in the arms of some handsome man, but the thought of the husband holding some beautiful woman in his, that most often causes the wives to hang on to their husbands the longest.

TELLS HOW TO CONTROL LAMBING TIME TROUBLES

The care, feeding, management and housing of ewes and lambs at lambing time should be planned with the idea of controlling udder trouble in the ewes and navel infection, scours and pneumonia in the lambs, points out a statement from the animal pathology department of the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station.

Ewes that have been fed well since they were bred should have the feed reduced in quantity and made more laxative by the addition of bran for a week before lambing. If the ewes are in poor condition and are not receiving much feed it may not be advisable to reduce the quantity.

The sheep barn should be cleaned once each week and bed with plenty of straw or other bedding material. The individual lambing pens should be cleaned and freshly bedded for each ewe. The use of lime at this time frequently results in burns on the ewes udder or on the lambs. Ewes that are expected to lamb in a short time should have the wool clipped from around the udder and tail. The udder should be washed with soap and water and thoroughly dried before the ewe is placed in the clean lambing pen. Ewes that are in the lambing pens should receive feed, water and salt and the remainder of the flock should not be neglected in this respect.

The barn should be kept clean, well ventilated, but free from drafts. Tobacco barns are often used for sheep. The barn that is to be used should be prepared in plenty of time. Tobacco barns are usually drafty. This can be remedied by placing bundles of corn stover around the outside of the barn or by placing woven wire along the side of the barn and putting hay or straw between the wire and the barn.

Tincture of iodine is frequently applied to the navel of the lamb soon after birth. It is better to have the ewe and lamb in a clean pen and use no iodine than to have them in a dirty pen and use iodine.

4-H ACRES PRODUCE 100 BUSHELS CORN

The production of more than 100 bushels of corn to the acre is reported by two 4-H club boys who have entered the contest for state champion corn grower. Robert Fuson of Bell county grew 135 bushels on an acre. The corn followed clover and the yield was boosted through the aid manure, commercial fertilizer and lime. Johnson County White was grown. The profit on an acre was $84.

Brownie Bolton grew 101 bushels on a measured acre in Grayson county. He planted yellow corn on rich land, which had received applications of fertilizer and lime. Cost of production, including rent, lime, seed and labor, was $26.

CIRCULAR DISCUSSES COST OF ELECTRICITY

Farmers planing to have electricity will be interested in a new circular of the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture dealing with the wiring of buildings, the cost of current, the cost of equipment and apparatus, and other factors having to do with electricity on the farm. Estimates are given of the amount of electricity used for lights, irons, radios, vacuum cleaners, pumps, refrigerators, ranges and other equipment. The circular, No. 305, written by Prof. James B. Kelley and Earl G. Welch of the agricultural engineering section, may be had from county and home agents or by writing to the college.

PRINTING PRESS BLAZED OUR TRAILS

President Roosevelt, discussing the deficit in the Post Office Department, decried the Department's time-honored custom of carrying newspapers at less than cost and making free deliveries of county papers within their respective trade areas, as being partly responsible for this shortage in postal cash. While he did not outrightly declare that as one stopgap for heavy leakage in postal revenues he would seek to force farmers to pay more for their Hometown weekly or daily newspapers, his allusion to the matter clicked with ominous bodement. Whether or not Mr. Roosevelt is truly cognizant of the full measure of deviltry concealed in a proposition to force the payment of postage at regular rates upon small newspapers, it remains the indisputable fact that these hard-working publishers are already sorely beset with having to pay piratical and predatory prices for newsprint, and the imposition of this additional unjust burden would render most impossible the profitable existence of many worthy publications.

We are told that commerce follows the flag. We also know that civilized society and the fundamentals of decency, honor and wholesomeness in home life followed the one-horse printing press across America. This commentator has pursued a critical study of newspapers in their relation to communities, and has always found the community without a live local paper to be one wherein community life fails to function up to the normal or accepted level in ideals and intelligence—and it is never as prosperous proportionately as other communities in which good, sound home newspapers are firmly established.

KENTUCKY DAIRY SIRES RATED THE BEST IN AMERICA

A report on dairy development, issued by the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture, reveals that two of the best living dairy cattle sires in America last year were owned in Kentucky. Both were in the herd at Berea College.

A Guernsey and a Holstein sire in the Berea herd had the highest transmitting index for bulls of their respective breeds, measured in terms of the production of their daughters as compared with the production of the dams of the daughters. The Guernsey sire stood at the top of 294 bulls on test, and the Holstein sire made the best record among 869 bulls of that breed. Another Guernsey bull, which had been sold before the testing of his daughters was finished, stood second in the nation. He was in the herd at Walnut Hall farm in Fayette county.

The annual report of the Blue Grass Dairy Herd Improvement Association shows an average production of 383 pounds of butterfat for 676 cows in 19 herds, which is one of the highest records ever made for so large a number of cows. Three cows produced over 600 pounds of butterfat each; 29 more than 500 pounds and 130 more than 400 pounds.

The highest producing herd, owned by Howard Oots in Fayette county, averaged 468.9 pounds of butterfat per cow. Six herds averaged more than 450 pounds per cow, and 17 of the 19 herds averaged more than 300 pounds.

In their ignorance, many people wonder how their parents managed to live without so many of the things that they can't possibly get along without.

CAPITOL COMMENTS

The General Assembly, star of the current legislative production which is making a two month stand here in Frankfort, moved into the wings momentarily last week to allow an old start to step into the political spotlight. The news finally broke that Governor Chandler had just about made up his mind to seek a seat in the United States Senate . . . That he wanted such a seat was not news. That has been generally suspected right along, but that he might let down his hair and run against the President's Senate Floor Leader, Alben W. Barkley, was mildly startling. It would be a daring move and if the Governor ran a successful race (he's batting 1,000 in political races) it would be of National significance. It would put the Governor in a bigger light than he now occupies . . . However, an effort is being made to put Governor Chandler in the Senate without going through the formality of going through a campaign. . . . Such would necessitate the elevation of Mills Logan, Kentucky's Junior Senator, to the Supreme Court bench to replace Justice George Sutherland who will retire this month . . . The President has not indicated any particular preference in his choice for a new Supreme Court Justice, other than that he must be a New Dealer . . . The Kentucky General Assembly last week petitioned President Roosevelt to name Logan to the bench . . . Whether this petition will carry enough weight remains to be seen. It would require a Supreme Court Justiceship to remove Logan from the Senate . . . . He has had an opportunity for a Federal Judgeship but refused . . . If this political maneuver does not click then Governor Chandler will have to go after his seat the hard way which means a long campaign against a man already firmly imbedded . . . Chandler is a wheelhorse in a campaign and his Statewide popularity cannot be denied. . . . When the present session of Legislature is over Chandler will have completed his job or at least as much of it as he can do. . . . He will have charted the course and sailed more than half the way and pointed definitely to the destination of the administration. Sailing the remainder of the distance would be more or less mechanical. . . . Whether the President would actually back Chandler is not known . . . He backed Barkley for Senate Leadership. If the President should take a hand in the race and aid Barkley it would materially injure the Governor's opportunity of beating the Senator from the Purchase. However, if the President, knowing that Chandler is one of the hottest New Dealers in the Nation and knowing that he has guided Kentucky's ship of State off the shoal of bankruptcy and has arranged for the payment of all debts and not only has balanced the budget but has underspent the budget in the first two years of his administration, takes a hand off policy, the race would look sparkling for Chandler . . . However, there is one thing certain, the Governor does want a seat in the higher house in Washington, that much he told this writer.

An effort is being made here to do something about quenching the thirst of those who like their beer and skittles and are inconvenienced by residing in an arid county. A bill has been presented by Carl Scheben, blind solon from Campbell County, to increase from 1 percent to 3.2 percent, the amount of alcohol by volume to be contained in no-intoxicating beverages. This bill would give the thirsty a better chance of laying the dust on their windpipes with something with a slight kick in it. There might be some conflict in this bill and the Liquor Control Bill; however, that remains to be seen, for the Liquor Control Bill, which was a masterpiece prepared by the Legislative Council, after weeks of hard work and study. That bill, which is being watched closely by every brewer, distiller, operator of highway cafes, found its way back into committee. After the bill had been hauled out and discussed in the Senate Chamber with both wets and drys participating in the discussion of the merits and demerits of the piece. The action to recommit the bill was taken after the Senators heard Revenue Commissioner J. W. Martin declare that the measure would bring between $400,000 and $700,000 new revenue into the State's coffers each year. This Liquor Control Bill will, as predicted in this column six weeks before the opening of the General Assembly, furnish the major portion of the excitement in this session. There are many features to be considered, but before it is finally passed the bill will be so changed that it will not be recognizable as the one presented on the Senate floor last week.

The Administration forces were ready and waiting for the cigarette tax repealer which they knew was coming and which did not meet with the administration policies at the present time. The measure was presented by Representative W. K. King of Lexington. The bill died in swift parliamentary procedure, noted as one of the neatest moves in the House in many a session. By pre-arrangement administration forces tabled a motion to take the bill away from the committee and give it a first reading, the effect of the move being to kill the bill. Representative Ferd Gnau of Louisville made the motion to take the bill from the Committee and Floor Leader John Hunnicutt, Ludlow, promptly moved to table Gnau's motion. The motion to table was carried by a voice vote. And so its demise. . . . This move was a life saver for some of the representatives who had pledged the folk back home that they would come to the State's legislative halls and fight for the repeal of the cigarette tax bill . . . They were running loose like a lame duck in a shooting gallery until this move was made. . . . When the voice vote to table the motion was made no one knows who voted "aye" and few know who voted "no."

Garth Ferguson, Commissioner of Agriculture, has been stripped of most of his patronage since he was elected to the office . . . There is now a measure before the House which would remove what little he has left . . . Commissioner Ferguson has the policing of the State Fairgrounds under his command. . . . A bill to take this away is before both House and Senate.

RANDOM SHOTS—The State Department of Education is girded for a scrap against the proposed measure that County School Superintendents be elected instead of appointed . . . This bill is being sponsored by Tyler Munford, of Union County . . . Representative Munford says that the Education Department is lobbying against the measure. . . The slump in the tobacco market late last week brought a bit of action from the Farm Bureau. This group, which has been considering the move for some time, took first action toward the formation of a burley tobacco cooperative association. In some parts of the burley belt that average dropped to almost 18 cents which was a low average for the year.

ENJOYABLE MEETING HELD AT HOME OF MRS. JAKE CLEEK

One of the most enjoyable meetings of the winter was held at the home of Mrs. Jake Cleek when the members and guests of the New Haven Homemakers met last Friday. Each person brought a designated part of the luncheon while Mrs. Cleek had prepared many delicacies making the noon hour a welcome recess. In the morning Miss Mary Hood Gillaspie Home Demonstration Agent conducted the business session with Mrs. Kitty Taylor and Mrs. Cleek giving instructions on "The Accessories of the Home." In the afternoon Miss Gillaspie displayed interesting appointments for the home. Among the guests who assembled at Mrs. Cleek's was Mrs. Jesse Delahunty of Union.

HOMEMAKERS MEET

The Constance Homemakers met at the home of Mrs. Kennedy for their January meeting. There were twelve members and one visitor and Miss Gillaspie present. The subject discussed was accessories of the home by our leaders, Mrs. Geo. Kottmyer and Mrs. James Dye.

Our same leaders were selected for the next several months to present the subject of foods. After our business, Miss Mary Hood Gillaspie, home demonstration agent, showed many beautiful pieces of handiwork, including scarfs, spreads and leather goods from India, Egypt, Persia, Morocco which was very interesting.

On Feb. 2, an all-day meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Adam Reeves.

THE FARM AND HOME

Since the purchase of a stove represents a long-time investment, it pays to buy with care, select the best material, best design and best construction that one can afford, in order to get dividends in the form of long service and efficient performance.

Young hogs weighing approximately 200 pounds are considered best for home slaughter. Allow clean water but withhold feed 18 hours before killing. Do not run or otherwise excite the animal in the slaughtering process.

Spots and stains in clothing should be removed as soon as possible, since drying, exposure to air, washing or ironing tend to make their removal more difficult. The kind of stain and the material in the garment determine the method of removal.

Whole milk is the natural feed for calves and should be fed until they are old enough to eat feed. Care is required in changing calves to skimmilk, and also in getting them to eat other feeds.

If a lamb gets chilled, take it to a warm room and wrap it in a blanket. Do not permit it to lie on the floor or be in a draft. Some farmers put chilled lambs in water as warm as the elbow can bear. If this is done it must be thoroughly dried.

January is the month to build or repair brooder houses. See a county agent for plans. It also is the month in which to place orders for chicks. Buy chicks from a hatchery or breeder who tests all birds for pullorum disease and culls closely.

Three market outlets tend to encourage dairy farming in Todd county. There is a whole milk route in the county, and cream stations are scattered through the county. Last summer a cooperative cream route was organized.

BETTER CATTLE FOR KNOTT COUNTY FARMS

Nine purebred Herford bulls were taken into Knott county in 1937, making a total of 58 purebred bulls of this breed in that county. The use of this number of good sires will increase the value of the annual calf crop by $10,000, declares County Agent William J. Michael.

The county agent gives R. T. Bolen, chairman of the county's better livestock committee, credit for creating interest among farmers in raising improved stock. Mr. Bolen himself purchased several good bulls which he placed in communities, thereby eliminating scrub sires.

WEEK'S BEST RECIPE

Split Pea Puree—One cup yellow split peas, one onion, one bay leaf, 1½ tablespoons butter, a ham bone two cloves, 1 tablespoon parsley, 1½ tablespoons flour, salt, pepper. Soak peas over night in cold water. Drain, turn into a soup kettle and add all the ingredients except flour and butter. Cook slowly for 2 hours. Remove ham bone, press the rest through a puree sieve, and return to soup kettle. Blend butter and flour, moisten with some of the soup and add to the soup kettle. Stir until smooth. Serve in cream soup dishes with a sprinkling of parsley on top.

THREE INJURED IN WALTON BLAZE

TWO-STORY FRAME BUILDING DESTROYED BY FIRE SATURDAY—FOUR FIRE DEPARTMENTS ANSWER CALL.

A spectacular explosion and fire, in which three persons were burned severely, destroyed a two-story frame building housing a Kroger grocery and an apartment in Walton Saturday afternoon. Damage was estimated at between $10,000 and $12,000.

Origin of the blast was not determined.

The injured were Harold Conrad, 21 years old, Walton, clerk in the store, Bryan Richter, Nicholson, a customer, and Simpson Rayburn 16 of Walton. Burns on their faces and hands were treated by Dr. R. E. Ryle and Dr. F. E. Bedinger.

The explosion, audible to residents almost all over town, hurled Conrad through the front door of the store, smashing the two front windows. The plate glass in the front of the building which was approximately ¼ inch thick was blown across the highway, knocking a small girl down on the opposite side of the street.

Flames and smoke poured out, threatening buildings on the other side of Walton main street. Rayburn was standing outside in front of one of the store windows when the explosion occurred.

John Bailey, Covington, manager of the store, and Carl Smith, Cynthiana, butcher, were felled by the force of the explosion but their injuries were less serious than those of Conrad and Richter because they were standing farther from the blast scene.

The apartment, which was on the second floor of the building which was occupied by W. K. Williams, engineer of the Walton Conservation Camp, and his family. Mr. Williams and family had been absent from their home for over two weeks, having been assigned to a special detail engineering job at Camp No. 4, Brooksville, Ind. His family was visiting at Elizabethtown, Ky.

Fearing the fire would spred to other buildings, Walton officials called upon fire departments of Elsmere, South Fort Mitchell, Florence to assist the Walton Volunteer Fire Department. The Erlanger Fire Department "moved up' 'to protect the three towns whose firemen were giving assistance.

The flames ranged for several hours.

Approximately 500 spectators gathered at the scene. Traffic on the Dixie Highway was blocked for more than an hour, there being no way to reroute the machines.

Poultry Record Is Outstanding

The 1188 hen poultry flock of Grant Maddox, of Florence, laid 12,445 eggs during the month of December. The flock returned a profit of $477.92 above feed costs for the month. Close culling was one outstanding feature. Three hundred and eighteen birds were culled for egg production and sold for meat.

Mr. Maddox this year is running a hatchery in connection with his poultry flock. He is planning for a record hatch this year.

WALTON-HEBRON LEAD IN LEAGUE

WALTON AND HEBRON TRIM FOES IN FRIDAY GAMES—BURLINGTON DEFEATED BY HAMILTON.

Walton and Hebron were still running neck and neck following battles Friday night in the Boone County conference.

Walton took Florence in a game that was unexpectedly tight. The score was 32 to 21. New Haven fell before Hebron, 29 to 19, in the other fray.

The first half of the Walton-Florence game was close, with the Bearcats the defending conference champs, holding but a five-point margin at the half way point, 14 to 9. In the last two quarters Walton piled up a margin of six additional points.

Brooks of Florence and Walt Osborne, of Walton tied for high point honors. Both garnered 12. Chapman, another Walton star, got eight.

In the preliminary game Walton snowed under the Florence Reserves, 55 to 5.

* * *

Hitzfield again led Hebron to victory. He scored nine points to share with New Haven's Griffith the scoring laurels of the evening.

Both teams played defensive ball in the first half, and intermission found Hebron holding but an 8-to-5 lead.

* * *

The Burlington school team suffered defeat Friday night at the hands of the Hamilton boys, on the Hamilton Hardwood, by a score of to .

The local independent team also journeyed to Hamilton Friday night, where they met the Hamilton Independents. The Burlington boys trounced the Hamiltonians by a score of 25 to 20.

The Burlington boys showed very good form even though they were very much handicapped on account of lack of practice. The Hamilton boys showed a fighting spirit, and at no time were the local boys sure of victory.

Lillard Scott of the Belleview neighborhood is convalescing nicely at Christ Hospital, after an operation for double inguil hernia, Saturday. According to Dr. M. A. Yelton, he will be able to return to his home within the next two weeks. His many friends here wish for him a speedy recovery.

Rabbit Hash Man Passes Away In Cincinnati Tues.

J. W. Palmer, 72, passed away Tuesday of last week in a Cincinnati Hospital.

Mr. Palmer was well known throughout Boone county and was one of the county's most prosperous citizens. He had spent most of his life in Boone county.

Funeral services were conducted Friday at the Rabbit Hash M. E. church with Rev. Kidwell and Rev. Johnson officiating. Interment was in the Belleview cemetery.

He is survived by his wife and two sons, both of Ohio.

750 Farmers Sign ACP Application Payment Forms

Seven hundred and fifty Boone County farmers have signed their 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program application for payment forms, according to H. R. Forkner, county agent. Farmers unable to attend the community sign-up days are rapidly signing their forms at the county office in Burlington.

Nine hundred and fifty-six application for payment forms involving approximately 1200 farmers will have been completed at the close of the 1937 application for payment sign-up. These applications will bring Boone County farmers approximately $85,000 in benefits.

1938 ACP SURVEY IS BEING MADE

MUST BE COMPLETED BEFORE 1938 GOALS ARE SET UP FOR INDIVIDUAL FARMS—FARMERS URGED TO COOPERATE.

The Boone County Agricultural Conservation Association is completing a survey of all farms that have not been listed in the 1936 or 1937 program, according to H. R. Forkner, county agent. The survey must be completed before the 1938 goals can be set up for individual farms.

The Boone County ACP Board of Directors met at Burlington last Friday to complete plans for the survey which will be conducted by local committeemen. H. E. White, president of the County Association, spent Monday and Tuesday of this week assisting the county office in completing a list of all farms in the county for committeemen's use.

Farmers who were not in the 1936 or 1937 program are urged to render their full support in completing the survey. The survey asks for the listing of the principal crops grown the past two years and involves in no way a sign-up on the part of the farmer. Figures are available on the various crops for the entire county. The survey must be completed in order that there may be a more equitable distribution of bases. Full cooperation in the survey will not only assist local committeemen but will reduce the costs which must be borne by the local association.

Road House Is Raided By Eight State Patrolmen

Eight state patrolmen under Lieut. Roy Osborne, raided a road house at Big Bone, operated by Russell Miller, Saturday, Jan. 22. Three men were arrested including the proprietor, and were brought to Burlington and released after giving bond.

According to Lieut. Osborne, Miller was charged with running a disorderly house, having concealed weapons and resisting an officer.

The trial is being held as we go to press, and therefore are unable to give the results. O. M. Rogers, Covington attorney, is the lawyer for the defendant.

Lieut. Osborne stated that all road houses in his district are being visited frequently and that any place of business which is not operated properly and in accordance with the state laws will be cited to court.

BOONE LADIES HEAR ADDRESS

OF MRS. FRANKLIN ROOSEVELT AT FARM AND HOME WEEK IN LEXINGTON LAST WEEK.

Eight homemakers from Boone County heard the address given by Mrs. Franklin Delano Roosevelt at Farm and Home Week in Lexington last week. Mrs. Roosevelt was the headline attraction for the Wednesday program. She spoke to 1,500 Homemakers, who packed Memorial Hall on the University of Kentucky campus, on "My Day" when in Washington. Mrs. Roosevelt and Mrs. Henry Morgenthau, wife of the secretary of the treasury, were guests of honor at the annual reception given by Dr. and Mrs. Frank L. McVey Wednesday afternoon at Maxwell Place for all Homemakers attending Farm and Home Week. Homemakers saw Mrs. Roosevelt for the third time Wednesday night when she delivered an address at the University gymnasium on the "Federal Housing Projects."

Judge Camille Kelly, judge of the juvenile court of Memphis, Tenn., delivered two talks on Tuesday. She stressed the importance of living a "Streamlined life if we keep up with the thoughts of the youth of today." She stated that a child should be taught "obedience to authority." The principle of authority should be taught to all children, according to Judge Kelly.

"Take a Tip from Man O'War" was the subject of Miss Fannie Brooks' talk, health education specialist of the University of Illinois. She stated "health is that quality of life which renders us fit for an abundant life."

Mrs. Caroline B. King, woman's editor of "The Country Gentleman" magazine, spoke on the subject "Interesting People I Have Met" Thursday morning.

Dr. C. M. Newman of Blacksburg, Va., was the guest speaker at the 19th annual banquet Thursday night. He spoke on "Some Elements of American Humor." Three hundred and seventy-five attended the banquet.

Mrs. Raymond Sayre, Ackworth, Iowa, was the principal speaker at the annual luncheon of the Kentucky Federation of Homemakers Friday. Mrs. Sayre, a farm homemaker, stated that "the spirit of neighborliness is almost gone from the cities of America and unless we are careful it will be also soon gone from the country." Mrs. T. M. Johnson, Warren county, was re-elected President of the Kentucky Federation of Homemakers.

The following attended the convention: Mrs. Sam Sleet, Boone County President of Homemakers; Mrs. Jake Cleek, Mrs. Raymond Snow, Mrs. Lloyd Ross, Mrs. Baldwin of New Haven; Mrs. J. C. Bedinger, Walton; Mrs. Nelle Blankenbeker, Florence; Mrs. George Kottmyer, Mrs. Thomas Kenyon, of Constance; Mrs. J. C. Aylor, Hebron and Mary Hood Gillaspie, Boone County home demonstration agent.

Fire Destroys Clore Home

A large farm house belonging to Albert Clore of the Rabbit Hash community, was totally destroyed by fire Monday morning about 10:30 a. m.

Mr. Clore had left the house to go to a nearby grocery store, and upon his return the fire had gained such headway that it was beyond control. Only a very few small items were saved from the front of the house. All clothing and bed clothing of any value were upstairs, and could not be reached.

An adjoining coal shed, containing 125 bushels of coal, was also lost. The total loss was estimated at approximately $2,500.

Wilford Rector Injured In Crash

William Martin, of Florence removed Rector to the hospital.

Past Master Of Union Lodge Passes Away

George H. Stevenson, aged 82 years, passed away Friday night at his home near Union, Ky., after a few hours' illness. Magistrate H. E. White of Boone County was called and pronounced death due to a heart attack. The remains were removed to the Taliaferro Funeral Home for preparation.

He is survived by one son, A. M. Stevenson, 6 daughters, Mrs. Chas. E. Smith, Mrs. A. G. Betz, Mrs. Russell Garrison, Mrs. Dorothy Tanner, Mrs. Libby Tanner and Miss Nina Stevenson, several grandchildren and one great grandson, besides many other relatives and friends.

Mr. Stevenson was a Past Master of Boone Union Lodge of Masons and they held their impressive services at the grave.

The pallbearers were Sandford Bristow, James A. Huey, Harry Riley, Joseph Huey, Volney Dickerson and Leslie Sullivan.

Funeral services were conducted at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Tanner Monday afternoon at 2:30 by the Rev. Roy Johnson, pastor of the Big Bone Baptist Church, interment following in Union cemetery.

Funeral Director Philip Taliaferro had charge of the funeral arrangements.

Former Boone Countian Passes Away In Indiana

Dr. L. C. Cowen, of Rising Sun, Ind., passed away at his home Thursday morning, January 27th, after several weeks' illness.

He was the son of the late Samuel and Marie Cowen, of Burlington. He was born on the 12th day of November 1848, and at the time of his death was a little over 89 years of age.

He spent his early life in Burlington and after he graduated from the Ohio Medical College located in Rabbit Hash, where he practiced his chosen profession a number of years, after which he moved to Rising Sun, Ind., where he continued to practice until ill health caused his retirement.

Dr. Cowen was twice married. His first wife was Miss Jennie Hastings who died in Dec. 1928. To this union no children were born. In Dec. 1930 he was united in marriage at Miami, Fla., to Mrs. Mittie Griffin, who survives him and so tenderly ministered to his every comfort in his last year.

Besides his widow, Dr. Cowen leaves one brother, R. S. Cowen, and two half sisters, Mrs. Laura Martin and Miss Pink Cowen, of Burlington and one-half brother Thomas Cowen, of Memphis, Tenn. Dr. Cowen will not only be missed by his relatives but a host of friends.

Funeral services were conducted from the Presbyterian church Sunday afternoon at Rising Sun, following services at the home by the Masonic Order, with burial in the cemetery at Rising Sun, Ind.

Chambers & Grubbs, Walton Funeral Directors were in charge of the arrangements.

NEW STATE HIGHWAY PROJECT IS PLANNED FOR BOONE COUNTY

New Highway Will Give Outlet For Hundreds of River Bottom Farmers in Event of High Water—Work To Begin In Near Future

A large group of farmers and landowners of the East Bend community met at the courthouse in Burlington Tuesday morning for the purpose of examining the blueprint of the proposed new state highway that, when completed, will give the residents of that section an outlet at all times.

The group was well pleased with the plans and survey made by the Kentucky State Highway Department, and a majority of the landowners have already signed agreements as stipulated in the survey.

According to the blueprint, the new road will begin at the crossroads at Orville Kelly's farm and intersect the East Bend road at the East Bend Baptist Church, making a total of about 2¼ miles.

During the great flood in January 1937,, all the citizens living in this section of the county were isolated as the present river road, (their only outlet) was completely under water. The new highway will provide a new outlet over the hills in event of another flood, as well as giving one of the best farming sections of Boone County a state highway.

The reason this project is under the state supervision is due to the fact that Boone County has a State Highway Bond fund, allowing the precincts specified therein a certain amount of money for state highways. Unless this had been a state road, no money would have been available for this project thru this fund. Only precincts designated can use this money, and it must be used for construction of state highways only.

Several new state roads alon the Ohio river have either bee completed or are under construc tion, and in the course of a few years there will be a state high way down the river to U. S. Highway 42.

Every state project now underway in the county, is just another link in the chain that will someday develop into a state highway from Covington to U. S. Highway via Petersburg, Grant, and Rabbit Hash. This, of course, would open up a large area of Boone county, giving the landowners access to markets, schools and churches.

Truck Growers Will Hear John S. Gardner Feb. 9th

Boone County truck crop growers will have the opportunity to hear John S. Gardner, field agent in truck crops, of the College of Agriculture on Wednesday evening, February 9th at 8:00 p. m. (eastern time) at the Constance school.

The meeting has been planned by leading farmers in Constance community program of work. John P. Dolwick is chairman of the local program. Everyone interested in growing truck crops is invited to attend.

Magill Will Hold Series Of Meetings

W. W. Magill, field agent in orcharding work of the College of Agriculture, will discuss the 1938 fruit situation with Boone County fruit growers in a series of meetings to be held next Thursday and Friday, February 10th and 11th, according to H. R. Forkner, county agent. Methods of producing and marketing higher quality fruits will also be discussed at this time.

The dates and places of the meetings are as follows:

Thursday, February 10th at 10 a. m.—J. W. Goodridge orchard, Burlington.

Thursday, February 10th at 1:00 p. m.—Emmett Riddell's orchard, 2 miles from Hebron on State road No. 20.

Friday, February 11th at 9:45 a. m.—F. H. Sebree's orchard, adjoining Hamilton school.

These meetings are of a strictly educational nature and are of interest to all growers. They were planned by leading fruit growers in Burlington, Hamilton and Hebron community programs of work. Mr. Magill always bring a message full of timely and helpful suggestions to growers. Everyone interested in fruit work is invited to attend. The meeting will be held inside if the weather is bad.

Dena Vahlsing

Mrs. Dena Vahlsing, wife of Fred Vahlsing, Constance, Ky., died last Thursday at Bethesda Hospital, Cincinnati, after a lingering illness. She was 54 years old.

Besides her husband, five sons, Richard, Howard, Fred, Selwyn, and Robert Vahlsing, three daughters, Misses Dorothea, Althea, and Virginia Vahlsing, a sister, Mrs. Edith Coe, Erlanger, and a brother John Goins, Fort Thomas, survive her.

Mrs. C. D. Benson and children have gone to Walton to spend several months with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George P. Nicholson. Mr. Benson spent the week-end with them.

Bobby Gene Clifton

The one year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Guilford Clifton passed away at his home Wednesday, January 26 following a three-day illness.

Services were held Friday, January 28th at 2 p. m., at the Burlington Baptist Church with Rev. R. Lee James officiating. Interment was in the I. O. O. F. cemetery.

He is survived by his parents, two brothers and one sister. Tharp & Stith were in charge of the funeral arrangements.

Covington Weed Market Will Close February 11th

The Kenton Loose Leaf Tobacco Warehouse, Inc., announced that their house would close with the last Sale February 11th.

All tobacco growers are urged to place their crops on the market at once. Buyers will remain on the market until closed.

The management announces that there is plenty or room, sales held every day and no waiting.

The remains were interred in the Belleview cemetery.

DEMOCRATS TO SPONSOR DANCE

ELABORATE PLANS MADE FOR VALENTINE HOP AT KOENIG'S CLUB HOUSE, END FT. MITCHELL CAR LINE.

The Young Men's Democratic Club of Boone County have made elaborate plans for a dance which will be held at Koenig's Club House, end of Ft. Mitchell car line, Saturday, February 12th.

The club has arranged to have Justin Gibson and his orchestra, who are widely known as a first rate swing orchestra. A ten-act floor show will also be on the program. Jane Rowan will be an added attraction at the dance and will no doubt keep those in attendance well entertained with her singing.

When dances have been given in the past by the club, they have been well attended by both members and non-members. Their entertainments have always been highly praised, and no doubt this Valentine dance will be even better than those in the past.

CANNON FODDER OR PROGRESS!

With billions promised by President Roosevelt for national defense and army and navy expansion, America finds herself matching the rest of the world stride for stride in the armament race of 1938. Sparked by the pace setting desire of the "have not" nations for land, resources and markets, America awakes to a new year to discover herself caught in the swiftly increasing momentum of a drive towards bigger guns and faster planes.

The warrior nations, side by side with their development of tanks, bombs, and cannon, are rushing the production of human ammunition. Stalin's duty to the fatherland, Mussolini's boast to his champion mothers, "I'll see that your husbands treat you right!"—All these point to a speeding up of the growth of population in preparation for war.

Here in the United States, we still think of our children, not as fodder for the cannon of the enemy, but as recruits in the battle for progress. Youth in America means football and cap-and-gown parades, not gun-drill and military goose-step.

Yet even we are coming to consider the human equation in war. In a recent statement, Louis Johnson, Assistant Secretary of War, said: "Due to our scientific agricultural methods, we can spare a greater human reserve for military effort than any other nation."

Human reserve for war! Let America take care that her growing military attitude affects the lives of her children as little as possible.

Soldiers in the army of Mars and destruction, or soldiers in the army of Peace and Progress—that is the contrast today between the youth of America and the youth of the warrior nations.

Progress or cannon fodder! America must make the choice for her children!

AN EVEN BREAK

We've talked to a good many rural residents and we've reached the conclusion that the main reason why a man or woman buys from a mailorder catalogue is because somebody was enterprising enough to send them the catalogue. In running through it they discovered something they would like to have, and since the price suits them, they sit down and order it, without ever thinking that the same thing can be secured right here at home, at just as fair a price, and with a saving in time. So we have also come to believe that the old idea of fighting fire with fire is a good one—that the only way home merchants can hope to hold home trade is to meet the catalogue man half way—to put his message into the same homes the catalogue is going into. There is on way it can be done—one way you can get your message into the home and keep it there. That is through your home-town paper. You are entitled to an even break with the catalogue man—the columns of your home-town paper will provide you with it.

COST OF STRIKES

If the average citizens realized what strikes cost him in actual dollars and cents he'd probably want every "sit-downer" taken out and hung. Ernest Weir, chairman of the National Steel Corp., says the cost of strikes has risen in this country from $375,000,000 in 1936 to $5,000,000,000 in 1937. Those figures are probably far too high, but if they were cut in half it still would leave a sad picture. The cost of strikes affect everybody in the country, though the price paid by the working people is the heaviest. And any system which permits such waste and such losses is not a good system. Need of greater cooperation between capital and labor was never before as great as now. If our present system won't permit of such co-operation, then let's get busy and devise one that will. This is the challenge to industry, labor and government alike, and a challenge that the American people would like to have answered during the year now well started on its way.

—o—

THE "PERFECT" AUTO

Prophecy is always risky, especially when its prophesies perfection. Many auto makers thought their cars were perfect 25 years ago. Away back in 1912 John N. Willys said: "Never will the auto be better made than it is today. Motor cars are as near perfect as mechanical genius, human brains and automatic machinery can make them. They will never be made any better because better wood will not grow, because the earth will never yield up better ores, because cattle will not produce better hide for upholstering, and because human brains and energy will never be at a higher development than now." Now if you want the answer to Mr. Willys' prophecy of 1912, just run a car of that model up alongside one of the 1938 models and compare them point by point. And yet any motorist who thinks these beautiful new 1938 models are "perfect" will be wise to remain from boasting. Someone might preserve his words and make another comparison 25 years from now.

IT'S ALL WRONG

There may have been times when American business completely dominate the policies of the American government. And that, of course, was wrong. But when things are reversed, and we find business and government at loggerheads and lined up in battle array, it is not only just as wrong but a bad thing for the whole country. Every fairminded citizen will have to subscribe to that, regardless of his political beliefs or affiliations.

Neither our economic society nor our political society should dominate the other. Such a situation is not fair in the first place, and it cannot make for success and prosperity. It is only when these two powerful forces co-operate in harmony that we progress. Business and government should become reconciled and keep that way. There is nothing inherientl wrong with our capitalistic system. It is the foundation on which we have built the might of America. Where in the world today is there a better system? Where are there people better off, or as well off, as we are here in America?

There is nothing better in the world than the American system of government, no people who even approach the American standard under which we have grown great, and under which we live so well. Let us correct its errors, iron out its injustices and its inequalities, and add to it any improvements that are absolutely sound and good for the whole people. The best way to do this is by the whole-hearted co-operation of everybody concerned, regardless of political beliefs. Continued quarrelling isn't going to get us anywhere — except into deeper trouble.

THE GROUNDHOG

Despite his natural modesty and dislike for publicity, the groundhog always manages to come in for his share of it along about this time of every year. Once more he is again furnishing the topic for a good many conversations among citizens around this community. No one openly admits with any degree of seriousness that he has any faith in His Hogship as a weather forecaster. And yet they always manage to call him to mind along about the second of every February.

This year the groundhog is not alone in coming forth with a prediction for the remainder of winter, and the fact that he has an expert competitor adds interest to the event. Now comes Prof. Selby Maxwell, noted Chicago weather shark, with a prediction covering the balance of the year—and an offer to bet that he hits it 80 percent correctly. In view of the fact that Maxwell, who bases all his forecasts on the moon, has made some startling long-distance forecasts in recent years what he has to say now is worth listening to. So try to forget your old friend the groundhog for a moment and listen to these words from the Chicago expert:

"There will be no serious floods in the Ohio and Mississippi valleys in 1938. June rains will relieve unfavorable growing conditions in southern Canada. The dust-bowl and middle-western states also receive beneficial rains, but farmers all over the nation must be careful to conserve as much of the moisture as possible. The balance of February will be sold, with heaviest precipitation in Texas and the dust-bowl, and snow over the Atlantic states."

PICKED UP AROUND TOWN

The difference between Rip Van Winkle and the merchant who doesn't advertise is that Rip did finally wake up.

After rubbering around this world for a while a fellow gets the impression that most of the single women are trying to get married and most of the married ones are trying to get single.

The Chinese invented printing, gunpowder and civilization, so it may be they deserve what they're getting now.

People no longer leave footprints on the sands of time, they now leave motor grease on the cement highways.

The reason some people don't like to listen to anything is because it interferes with the talking they want to do themselves.

Bear in mind that your task for this new year is not to live and make the best of it, but to live and make the most of it.

Silence may be golden, but it sure takes a lot of money to keep some men's mouths shut.

We have never been able to understand why the fellow who can't carry a tune always wants to lead the singing.

This is the time of year when drivers should either tighten up their brakes or loosen up and buy more life insurance.

Lesson for February 6

CHALLENGING THE SOCIAL ORDER

LESSON TEXT—Mark 2:13-22.
GOLDEN TEXT—I came not to call the righteous, but sinners—Mark 2:17.
PRIMARY TOPIC—When Jesus Had Dinner With Matthew.
JUNIOR TOPIC—When Jesus Passed By.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Helping by Being Friendly.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Crusading for a Christian Society.

"Crusading for a Christian Society," is one of the topics assigned for consideration today. Everyone who is right thinking would be glad if the social order of which we are all a part might be made Christian, for it is far from it now. But foredoomed to failure are the attempts to Christianize society by some great program of "social regeneration." God's way is to save the individual who makes up the social order. When a man is right with God he will be right with his fellow man.

The Scripture lesson for today is full of outstanding spiritual principles of the greatest practical import to both Christians and the unconverted. It should be studied by the guidance of the Holy Spirit and taught in his power.

I. One Sinner Becomes a Servant (vv. 13, 14).

Capernaum was so situated that it provided an excellent location for the collection of the Roman taxes which the Jews so hated. There at the "receipt of custom" sat a Jew named Levi, who was no doubt despised by his neighbors because he had joined in this distasteful business. To him came the gracious Lord with the invitation, "Follow me." How different would be the history of the cause of Christ on earth if every other man who thus was called had done likewise. To follow the Master means sacrifice and breaking with the old life, but it also means peace and glory.

II. Many Sinners Meet the Lord (v. 15).

Levi, who now becomes Matthew, showed his love for the Lord by desiring that his friends might also meet him. So he prepared a dinner for them in his own house, to which he also invited Jesus.

It is always dangerous for a Christian to maintain social contact with his former companions in sin, if he does so for his own enjoyment or advantage. But to be their friends that one may win them to Christ, that is most desirable.

III. Some Righteous Folk Miss the Lord (vv. 16, 17).

Sin is an unspeakably horrible thing that separates men from God, but it is not an insuperable barrier, for the moment a man confesses his sin and calls on the Saviour he is saved. But self-righteousness—that is the impassable barrier. God can do nothing for the man who rests his hope of salvation on his own good character, high morality, and respectable position in society.

IV. Fasting and Feasting—When and Why (vv. 18-20).

God established one fast day for Israel. They established many, especially the Pharisees. Religion that loses its spiritual life and power clings with tenacity to outward observances and symbols.

Should one never fast? Yes, to the true follower of Jesus there come times when the urgency of soul concerning the problems of one's own life, the lives of others, the needs of the world, shuts the door of interest to anything as ordinary as food for the body.

Feasting and rejoicing—are these spiritual and uplifting? Christianity is a joyful faith. It is not to be hidden in damp, dark cloisters; it thrives in the sunshine, in the happy laughter of a child, in the cheerful shout of the saint. The Church is the Bride of Christ. If the friends of the bridegroom were to rejoice (v. 19), should not the Bride shout for joy?

V. New Things versus Old Things (vv. 21, 22).

The Pharisees wanted the gospel of grace to conform to the narrow channels of their interpretation of the law. Was not the law good? Yes. Jesus said he came not to destroy it, but to fulfill it (Matt. 5:17). He bore the curse of the law that we might be free (Gal. 3:13, 14). But he also brought in the new covenant of assurance and grace.

The mixing of grace and law, or the effort to do so, has continued even to our day. Let us be clear on that point—we are saved by grace, not by the works of the law (Eph. 2:8, 9). We work because we are saved, not in order to be saved.

Prayer

If the eye is fixed on God, thought may roam where it will without irreverence, for every thought is then converted into a prayer.

Need Exercising

The only way to restore a weakened will is by exercising itself in details of duty.

Constant Joy

"Rejoice evermore," says the apostle; let your joy be constant and durable.

NEEDS SOME CASH

Mr. Everbroke—Yes, we're pretty hard up now but I'm not discouraged. I confidently expect to die a rich man.

His Wife—Oh, dear! I wish you'd do it soon.

UNWELCOME VOICE

"Mr. De Bore? Oh, dear! I'll have Vera tell him I'm out."

"Won't the still, small voice reproach you?"

"Maybe; but I'd much rather hear the still small voice than Mr. De Bore's."

A GOOD GUESS

"Percy's been calling on me every evening lately. What do you suppose he means?'

"Can't say positively, dear. Either he loves you or his landlady has run out of coal."

SURE ENOUGH

"I guess Catherine is determined to keep that secret."

"Why?"

"I notice she has rounded up four or five girls to help her."

HIPPETY-HOP

Miss Lady Bug—Do you dance, Mr. Grasshopper?

Grasshopper—Sure. I'm goin' to a hop tonight.

WISE INVESTMENT

"I see Smith married Brown's widow."

"I thought he didn't like her."

"He didn't. But she had a lease on his apartment."

SLIP AND SLIDE

"The revolving door is a great invention."

"Think so?"

"Sure it is. Why you can slide out as you see a bill collector coming in."

A GOOD GUESS

"He who hesitates is lost."

"You can always try the lost and found columns."

CONSTANCE

The Brethren Ladies' Aid gave a shower last Thursday for Mrs. Mary Turner Utz, who is making her home in the community, having rented the house recently vacated by Leonard Peeno.

The Brethren Ladies' Aid had charge of the Sunday evening program, which they handled very capably with singing, stories and readings.

Mrs. Geo. Kottmyer and Mrs. Thos. Kenyon spent several days in Lexington.

Mrs. Fred Kottmyer and Mrs. Wm. Zimmer spent one day last week with relatives in Westwood.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hempfling spent Saturday with relatives in Walnut Hills.

The community extend their sympathy to the Vahlsing family in the loss of their beloved wife and mother, Mrs. Dena Vahlsing, who passed away Thursday at the Bethesda Hospital, Cincinnati, after a lingering illness. Mrs. Vahlsing was loved by all in this community.

We loved her yes, we loved her
But Jesus loved her more,
And He has sweetly called her
To younder shining shore.
The golden gates were opened
A gentle voice said "come,"
And with farewell unspoken,
She calmly entered home.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Wilson were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Huff Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hartman are the proud parents of a baby girl, born one day last week. They have named her Madeline.

LOVE AND LIVE AND LIKE IT

The jewel we hear so much about is a beautiful useless piece of material that the rich may wear to decorate themselves and impress themselves and others of their material importance. But on the other hand everything beautiful is a jewel. It may be just a thought spoken as it were today and contradicted tomorrow, to give place to something new and better.

The right kind of desire, deep longing and love forces the will to possessive action and in the mind recreates confidence in other men.

When a child, your first idea of the future was to be an Indian or a Policeman and then you grew up and decided that you should be the President of the United States, that it would be the best thing for the Country. Then you go off and get married to the best little girl in the whole world and with her you turn right around and settle down and act like a couple of kids again.

If people would really believe the old prayers, the ones they have been saying for so many years past, it would be something quite different and new, so new to them it would be shocking to them.

When you are closing a big deal and you are ready with the name on the dotted line and you see a lot of money right there in front of you, the telephone rings and here it is the litle woman on the line and she hangs on until you lose your deal and the money just up and flies out the window with it and you don't say a word, just forget it, with a grin. Is this love?

Boys pick your girl; She is the beautiful and very innocent acting lady. Look out, large men, she is seductive. She has a medium waist with very shapely legs and as graceful as a swan she floats around when she moves. Her skin is delicate and clear, almost transparent, her teeth full and pearl hite. Her hair is usually brown and fluffy, with lots of it to adorn her head. Her nose is inclined to snub just a bit. Talks constantly. Don't interfere with her as it is necessary for her to unburden herself about her uncles and aunts. Has a very uncontrollable temper. Doesn't get out of trouble, keeps getting in deeper. She is quick witted and very intelligent and wants every one to know all about it.

Love is the only power among two human being that will draw them together completely, and harmonize them into one, indefinitely.

It's only human nature to mind the little things and overlook the big things in life, that's why we fall in love so easily, without much thought and fall out so hard to ever after remember, things.

What we do for othe ropm,spTSr

What we do for others, prompted by the love of Christ, we do also for him.

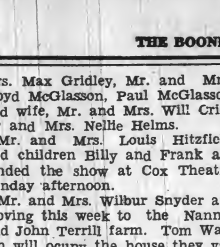
Linda: Every time I look at homely persons, I feel so very comfortable. now have a look. I once knew a boy who picked out the homeliest girls at the party, because they were so much fun and they made over him and he had such a good time and best of all, not much competition as he put it and when he grew up he picked one of them for his wife and he is such a tremendous success and he doesn't have to worry about the little woman while he is away. He is so good looking and she is so crazy about him. Now isn't that a beautiful set up. Don't be discouraged, it will happen to you, just like that.

Joyce; Even though marriage did not bring you the happiness that you hoped for, you did find a certain amount. Now, make it easy for yourself and cultivate that which you have, it will bloom and have the prettiest flowers upon such a foundition.

Virginia; You should school yourself not to be too hasty and ill tempered, you will scare your boy friend away, and by all means don't be jealous over him. It just isn't good for a budding romance at any time. I am sure you will meet with success if you try and try hard enough to control your emotions at all times.

Lily; When a young man loses interest in his girl friend it is very foolish to wear your heart on your sleeve to attract him again. When in love a boy's interest is his best little woman in the land grows and grows. Don't stay at home hoping for the best, because he won't come back. Go get yourself a date and do things.

It is strange, but young people believe that education is a release from labor when in fact and fancy they should be taught that it should bring double the doing, for succes knows no office hours.



Very few men ever take the time to stop and consider whether or not their wives could very well afford to be a widow, it just doesn't occur to them they are so busy chasing the dollars, for their kingdom come.

THE FAMILY DOCTOR

The first step in preventing a cold is to let some air into your house. See that a window is raised at night, otherwise the dry air will affect the mucus membrane of throat and nose, and a cold is easily contracted. Be sure that if more than one opening in a room exists that it does not create a draft. A teaspoon of soda dissolved in a half glass of water is helpful if used when first symptoms of cold are noticed.

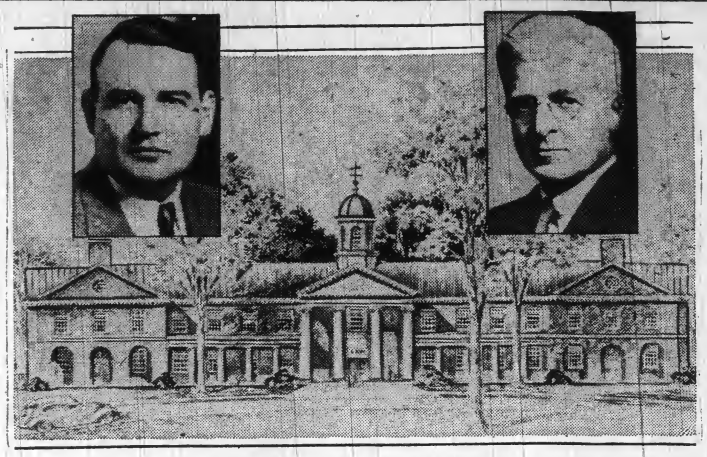
STATE TAKING STEPS TO STOP BOOTLEGGING

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 29—A joint regulation designed to protect the liquor traffic from excess bootlegging, and intended to strengthen enforcement of the state alcoholic control act, was issued today by James W. Martin, commissioner of revenue, and Theodore A. Hageman, director of the division of alcoholic control.

The rule is intended to strengthen the enforcement of the liquor law and would make impossible recurrence of a situation such as has recently developed along the border, especially in northern Kentucky and along the Kentucky-Tennessee border.

The regulation will forbid any wholesaler, rectifier or distiller from making any sales to any person or firm not having a retail license from the state of Kentucky or the state of their residence.



Deliveries of the whisky must be made by railroad or express, or by a common carrier authorized to transport distilled spirits.

Three dealers accused of violating the state laws by selling liquor on which the state consumption tax of 13 cents a pint had not been paid invariably protested that they had delivered the whiskey to someone in Kentucky who claimed to be a resident of another state.

All liquors not sold in accordance with the regulation to non-residents must bear the state's consumption tax stamps.

"By delivering through a bonded common carrier," said Dr. Martin, " we can expect that the liquor at least goes to a bona fide dealer living in that state. We also expect strict compliance with the new regulation, which we believe is a highly salutary one."

Sales were made by a northern Kentucky wholesaler, now in litigation, to persons listed on the sales sheets as "Friday Night," "Santa Claus," "Blue Monday," "Black Cat" and "Merry Christmas," and it was claimed these parties were residents of Ohio and had licenses there. But Ohio being a monopoly state does not issue licenses to retailers.

Construction on the above building (central section) which will house the law school of the University of Louisville will begin within two weeks, University President Raymond A. Kent (right) has announced. Dr. J. N. Lott, Jr., (left) is dean of the school. Costing approximately 200,000, the new structure is financed by a $100,000 WPA grant just received and by private gifts. The law school is forced to leave its old quarters in the center of Louisville to keep highest possible national accrediting; its new building will be the first on the Louisville's spacious campus designed by famous college architect, Jens Fredrick Larson, as a part of the University's development plan.

The new building will accommodate two hundred students and the school's library of 18,000 volumes, including many rare gifts from Supreme Court Justice Louis D. Brandeis.

GIVE RECIPE FOR BAKED SOYBEANS

Baked soybeans recipe, made by the University of Kentucky home economics department:

1 cup soybeans
½ teaspoon salt
¼ pound salt pork
¾ teaspoon mustard
1 tablespoon sugar
2 tablespoons molasses
¾ cup boiling water
1 small onion
1 cup tomatoes

Pick over and wash beans. Put to soak in hot salty water overnight. Put on and boil for two hours, drain and fill bean pot half full, and lay in pork the rind of which has been scalded and scored. Put remaining beans in pot, pour over them mustard, salt, tomatoes and molasses dissolved in hot water. Add enough hot water to cover beans. Put lid on bean pot, bake eight hours or more in a slow oven, 300 to 350 degrees. Replace water as needed. Draw pork to surface during the last hour of baking. Remove cover to brown beans and pork. This makes six servings of two-thirds of a cup each.

WAYNE COUNTY TO HAVE MORE STOCK

Wayne county, one of the best livestock counties in Kentucky, is staging a comeback, according to County Agent H. J. Hayes. Scores of herds were enlarger and improved last year and there is an active demand for breeding stock.

Much of the renewed interest in good stock is due to 4-H club work. Ninety-two 4-H club calves sold at the annual fat cattle show in Louisville for almost $9,000. Prizes added $409 and Willie Rector, who owned the champion Hereford calf at the show, received a trip to the International Live Stock Exposition in Chicago.

Incidentally, Mr. Hayes mentions that Wayne county farmers last year spread 10,535 tons of lime materials to improve pastures and yields of hay and grain.

BETTER METHODS PAY MONTGOMERY FARMERS

Montgomery county farmers increased their profits last year by giving more attention to fertility, to better feeding of livestock, and to improved methods generally, according to the annual report of County Agent Floyd McDaniel.

Twelve poultry raisers who kept records made from $1.45 to $1.95 per hen. They found that better feeding and better breeding paid profits.

Beef cattle men who had their cattle ready for market before October did better than those who sold later.

Twenty-three farmers found that limestone or marl and superphosphate increased hay and grain yields 25 to 100 percent.

Tobacco growers were pleased with results obtained from the use of high-analysis fertilizers.

Farmers who used 20 percent of 43 percent superphosphate on pasture land obtained good results.

The northwestern type of ewe paid better than native ewes.

Make a mouse-trap better than anyone else, and the world will beat a path to your door—but first the world has to know about the mouse-trap, what it sells for, and where it can be had.

PROGRESS IN ESTILL COUNTY

Progress in Estill county as reported by County Agent C. C. Shade: Hobert Palmer founded a purebred Hereford herd by the purchase of seven registered females and a bull. Purebred Hereford bulls were bought last year by W. B. Wilson and J. S. Shepherd. H. G. Wagers obtained $103 from wool and lambs from nine ewes, and is enlarging his flock as fast as he can fence his farm. Mrs. Maggie Embs received $275 from the sale of 80 turkeys, and W. M. Childers marketed 99 turkeys in Cincinnati. Hood Tipton, Tom Hardy and Bud Kirby are improving and enlarging their orchards.

USES SASSAFRAS TO CURE TOBACCO

The use of artificial heat in a barn equipped with a ridge ventilator produced a good cure and brought a good price for tobacco grown by Ernest Thompson, a Metcalfe county farmer. He used sassafras wood for firing.

Dick Perkins, another Metcalfe county farmer, turned under crimson clover and applied 1,000 pounds of 20 percent superphosphate on an acre of tobacco. The result was 1,258 pounds some of which brought 38 cents.

County Agent R. B. Rankin has a large 4-H tobacco club, where he is encouraging improved methods in growing and curing leaf.

TELL 'EM AND SELL 'EM

When anyone tells you America consumes half the world's coffee, or three-fourths of the world's silk remind him he's only telling you one-half the story.

To say the United States has a dozen times as many automobiles as all of Europe, or that 21,000,000 electric irons are in use in American homes, really omits the essential point that this isn't solely because of our nation's bountiful resources, or because we are essentially a progressive people.

Our furnishnigs, vacuum cleaners, radios, are better and more numerous than those of any other nation, because the good inventive brains that made them were coupled with the desire of merchants and dealers to tell people about them, to acquaint housewives and heads of families with labor-saving devices for the home, with good buys in clothing.

It's progress of a sort, it's true, if someone devises a better washing machine, or produces a longer-wearing kind of cloth goods, or makes better ice-cream than anyone else, but genuine progress takes place only when these items are enjoyed in large numbers of American homes, and not when lying idle in a laboratory, storeroom or sales-window.

The real push in progress comes when the world is told where it can get the best shirts, or pair of shoes, for the price, the best fifty-cent dinner or the best new or used car that will fit the budget. If they're not advertised, the products can be locked up in the barn and the key thrown away.

PREPARE BETTER LUNCHES

Approximately 1,125 homemakers are preparing better school lunches for their children, after a study directed by the home demonstration department of the Kentucky College of Agriculture. A total of 1,340 are working on some problem of family nutrition, and 6,538 have adopted improved methods of cooking.

PEACE CONFERENCES BEFORE WARS

J. E. Jones

Washington, D. C. — Several weeks ago the country was asking "would business interests cooperate with the President," and "would the President make peace with big business." Would throwing brickbats stop?

Early in December the recession assumed serious proportions. It looked as though the people of the United States were in the same kind of troubles that they bragged they were emerging from a year before.

During the past three or four weeks there has been a thorough study of the all important question—"causes and cure for the recession." When the Roosevelt-Roper Advisory Council met recently a majority of its members were reported ready to resign their honorary Government portfolios. They drew up a statement of causes and cures that frightened Secretary Roper. At the White House they asked the President why Ickes and Jackson were launching attacks on such men as themselves, who were cooperating with the New Deal. The President took the blame for his spokesmen, and the differences began to smooth out. That peace conference made peace, and now Government and business seems to be moving forward to lick old man recession and put things in shape for busy days in a few more weeks.

There is ground for optimism; and it has been proved that peace conferences should always be held before actual firing of the big guns.

Stabilizing Employment

American business depends upon making goods and selling them to the public. When for any reason the purchasing power of the people fails, or large numbers of people decide to defer buying until some future time the whole business system goes into a slump like the present one. Therefore consideration is now being given in calm conferences in the National Capital to the practices of finance and industries throughout the country. Salesmanship practices and installment buying are factors affecting business to which President Roosevelt calls attention.

The White House conferences and Congress proceedings have laid stress on the importance of "employment stabilization" in the industries. There was especially sympathetic approval of this objective by representatives of industry in recent White House conferences. They said nothing was of greater importance to the automobile industry, for instance, than orderly nationwide conditions. Steady employment of their workers, steady demands for cars, sound installment terms were the things essential to everybody's success. Examination of practices in the industry and proposed corrections will be submitted to the White House.

It is generally understood that the broad principle of self-regulation is being urged by the Administration upon all industries, and also upon the American Federation of Labor, John L. Lewis' C. I. O., and others who are in position to aid in ending the recession.

"A seasonal increase in sales in the Spring, which will bring an improvement in business," is looked for.

"It is a consumation devoutly to be wished." It would solve the emergency problem of self regulation of industry in a way satisfactory to the government and industry.

BURLINGTON SCHOOL NEWS

In last week's news we stated that there would be a debate with Simon Kenton last week but due to bad weather it was postponed until Monday of this week. This is to be the first non decision debate of this year.

Last Friday nite the basket ball boys and the volley ball girls journeyed to Hamilton. The basket ball boys were defeated but the volley ball girls were victorious. The volley ball girls have been playing awfully good volley ball all winter.

This Friday nite Warsaw journies to Burlington to meet our boys. Mr. Kirkwood stated that he throught they might also have a game with the junior boys of the 5th and 6th grades. The bigger boys will probably come out on the floor with their new basket ball suits on. They are expecting them by Friday nite.

Several teachers have reported a lot of sickness in their rooms in both high school and graded schools.

Mrs. Moore reported that her room has 23 new library books and are expecting 50 more right away. Mrs. Eddins also reports that she has quite a few new books. They are supplementary books and story books.

The fifth and sixth grades of Mrs McNeely's room have organized a club known as the "Junior Club." The officers elected were: President-Ruth Van Velzel, Vice President-Allan Gulley, Secretary Treasure-Calvin Kelly, Librarian—Jewell Vice, Monitor for first week Melvin King and Mary Jane Pettit. Monitors for second week-Rosetta Snow and Wilma Atha. The monitors are re-elected every week

KENTUCKY FARM NEWS

W. W. Lane, a Metcalfe county farmer, has a promising 4-acre field of alfalfa seeded in late summer following soybeans. Lime and superphosphate were applied last fall, and will be followed by more phosphate next spring.

S. A. Wakefield of the State Conservation Department estimates there are 1,000 deer in Kentucky. About 500 are in the area between the Tennessee and Cumberland in Trigg and Lyons counties. Others are on the department's farm in Caldwell county, on private estates, and in several eastern counties.

Boyle county homemakers cooperated in "making Christmas for others" by giving parties, filling baskets, making toys, designing dresses, etc. Several parties were given in which toys were exchanged among members, then collected and distributed by county leaders.

Many homemakers in the State made toys for exhibit recently at the Nursery School of the University of Kentucky home economics department. Accompanying each toy was a chart showing how similar ones could be made at home at low cost.

Christian county farmers bought $4,707 worth of terracing equipment during the year 1935-37. They spent $2,799 for labor. A total of 3,064 acres were terraced, 31 pounds dug, 7 miles of ditches cut and 6 miles of road constructed.

Accomplishments of Henderson county homemakers: 238 quarts of vegetables, 33 of fruit, and 111 of soup mixture canned last month; 347 quarts of meat canned; 174 women including a quart of milk per person in daily menu; 68 non-club members given information on foods.

W. M. S. HOLD MEETING

The East Bend W. M. S. met at the home of Mrs. Mellie Scott for their January meeting on the 20th. Nine members answered to the roll call and one visitor was present.

After a fine dinner the new officers took charge and an important business session took place. After our business was completed we had an interesting program, discussing and enlarging upon our Golden Jubilee year.

Our next meeting will be with Mrs. Hary Acra on February 17. All members are urged to come and make this one of the most glorious years in Missionary work.

Mrs. Noel Walton, Pub. Chm'n.

APPLE SAUCE BEST WHEN COOKED SLOW

Suggestions as to the cooking of apple sauce given by the home economics department of the Kentucky College of Agriculture:

The secret of fine-flavored apple sauce is slow cooking to a point beyond the first indication of tenderness. For most apples a half hour is not too much if the heat is kept low. It is well to vary the kind of apple sauce served by adding lemon juice or spices such as cinnamon or cloves. Nutmeg should be added to apple sauce only if it is to be eaten at once, for it is likely to give a bitter flavor on standing. The texture may also be varied by serving (1) apples that have been cored, quartered and cooked with skins on and then put thru a colander; (2) apples pared, cored, cut into thick slices and cooked without stirring until transparent in a covered pan in water that covers them three-fourths of the way; (3) apples that have been pared, cored, quartered, cooked in a small amount of water until tender and then mashed with a fork or spoon.

Wouldn't this be paradise to live in if every man worked as hard for his religious denomination as he is willing to get out and work for his political party?

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks to our neighbors and friends for the kindness shown us during the brief illness of our baby. Especially do we thank Rev. R. L. James for his consoling words; Dr. Yelton for his services; the choir for the beautiful songs and the undertakers. Tharp & Stith for the efficient manner in which they conducted the funeral. 1t-pd.

WEEK'S BEST RECIPE

Drumsticks—One pound veal steak one pound pork steak; 1 teaspoon salt; ⅛ teaspoon pepper; 8 wooden skewers; ¼ cup flour; 1 egg; 2 tablespoons water; 1 cup fine bread crumbs; 4 tablespoons fat. Cut the meat ½ inch thick in 1x1½ inch pieces. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and arrange pork and veal alternately on skewers. Press pieces together to resemble drumsticks. Roll in flour and dip in egg, beaten and diluted with water. Roll in crumbs and fry in hot fat. When brown on all sides, add ½ cup water; cover and simmer 1 hour. The above serves eight.

HOUSECLEANING DAY

Brighten rugs by going over the surface with a scrubbing brush dipped lightly in warm water containing a little spirits of turpentine or ammonia. Another way is by wiping with a cloth or chamois wrung out of lukewarm water to which has been added a little borax and a few drops of vinegar. Salt sprinkled over rugs before sweeping brightens them and discourages moths.

CLOTHES CARE

Remove the shine from dark suits by rubbing lightly with very fine sandpaper. Dampen a shiny navy skirt or pair of trousers with bluing water and press while still damp. A piece of cloth the same color of the garment, wring out of ammonia water and used to sponge clothing will remove the shine. Sponge shiny suits with vinegar before pressing.

THE VOICE OF THE AUTOMOBILE DEALER

Automobile dealers are a definite asset to any community. They are usually progressive and conscious of their civil obligations.

It is sometimes overlooked that the automobile dealers are in one sense the local representatives of the automobile manufacturing company and the entire automotive industry.

There are thousands and thousands of automobile dealers thruout the country and we may wonder what methods the automobile companies use dto be sure that the advice and opinions of the many dealers are transmitted to the manufacturing companies. The local dealer sees the representative of the company frequently, and once or twice a year meets with the heads of the companies at the factory.

One company at least has a formal policy for finding out what the dealers are thinking about the business in general. General Motors has a Dealer Council and at stated intervals a group of dealers from various parts of the country meet with the General Motors official group to discuss problems of common interest.

Current news dispatches state that General Motors has taken another step in this program to bring the company and the dealers closer together. Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., Chairman, General Motors Corporation, has just announced the formation of the Dealers Relations Board of General Motors. Under the new plan any dealer who is dissatisfied with the settlement of any matter by the factory representative with whom he is in constant contact, may appeal the decision to the newly created board, which incidentally is composed of four of the highest ranking officials of General Motors. The purpose of the plan is to insure that any complaint by any dealer receives attention at the very top of the entire organization.

It would seem that this is progressive business in its best form.

County Supervisor Answers Questions

Tenant farmers living in other than designated counties need not apply at present for loans with which to buy a farm under the tenant act, according to W. O. Blackburn, County Supervisor of the Farm Security Administration, but money for regular rehabilitation loans to buy items other than land is still available to farmers and farm tenants he said.

The first allotment of money to buy and improve farms was sufficient to start the program in only a few counties in each state, Mr. Blackburn said, and Boone County was not included in the first list. However, the Bankhead-Jones Farm Tenant Act authorized to be appropriated two and one-half times as much money for the second fiscal year, beginning July 1, and five times as much as for years thereafter. If Congress makes these additional funds available, other counties may be taken into the program. Counties were chosen by the Secretary of Agriculture on advice of the state farm advisory committee on the basis of number of tenants as compared with number of farmers. The availability of good farm land was also a factor, it was stated.

Mr. Blackburn said that a good deal of interest in the ownership program has been shown by tenants in this county. Answers to a number of questions frequently asked about the plans for helping tenants to become owners are now available in Mr. Blackburn's office.

Farm Tenant Loans

Here are the answers to the questions most frequently asked about the program:

1. Where will loans be made?

Funds have been allotted to each state and territory on the basis of its farm population and the prevalence of tenancy. Loans will be made in about 300 counties in the respective states and territories.

2. How will these counties be selected?

By the Secretary of Agriculture with the advice of State Farm Security Advisory Committees. The selection will be based on the farm population, prevallance of tenancy, the availability of good land, and other pertinent factors.

3. How many loans will be made in each county selected?

..About seven. It is estimated that funds available this year will be enough for approximately 2,100 loans, to be spread about the 300 counties in the several states. Regulations provide that there shall be not more than ten nor less than five loans in each county, except in those states where the total number of loans will be less than five.

4. Who may apply for Tenant Purchase Loans?

United States citizens who are farm tenants (not owners(, sharecroppers, farm laborers, or others who obtain or recently have obtained most of their income from farming. Preference will be given to married persons or persons with dependent families; to persons able to make a down payment; or to persons who own livestock and equipment necessary to carry on farming operations. No loans will be made to persons who can obtain adequate loan for the purchase of a farm from other sources at reasonable terms.

5. How should loan applications be made?

If you are in a county designated as one in which loans are to be made this year, obtain an application blank from the County Rehabilitation Supervisor who serves your county. Fill it out carefully and return it to him, either personally or by mail. It usually is advisable to call at his office and talk with him. If you do not know the Supervisor's address, it may be obtained from your County agricultural agent.

6. If my county is selected for loans, may I apply in another county?

No. Because of the limited funds available, application must be restricted to residents of the 300 selected counties.

.7 How will persons who will receive loans be selected from the large number who may apply?

Congress has provided that county committees of three farmers shall certify which applicants by reason of character, ability, and experience are likely successfuly to carry out the undertaking required under a loan to purchase a farm. It is recognized that limitations of funds will make it possible to grants to only a limited number of worthy and deserving applicants this year.

8. What kind of farms can be purchased?

Applicants who will receive loans will be given a wide choice in selecting the farms they want to buy. The price of this property, however, must be in keeping with its value, as determined by the county committee and the FSA. Preference will be given to farms needing a minimum outlay for repairs and improvements.

10. What help will FSA give the applicants who receive a loan?

The Farm Security Administration will assist applicants who receive loans in developing sound farm and home management plans preparing operationg budgets, and maintaining businesslike records.

11. Will loans be large enough to cover building repairs and other farm improvements?

Yes, to a limited extent.

12. Can I get a loan to finish paying for the farm I am now buying?

No. Farm owners are not eligible and refinancing loans will not be made.

13. Must I have a farm selected before I apply?

No. It is usually advisable to talk with the County Supervisor and the County Committee before choosing a farm.

14. What are the terms of the loans?

Loans are made for a 40-year period at 3 per cent interest.

..15. How large will the annual payments be?

Annual payments of 4.3 per cent of the sum borrowed will cover both interest and principal.

16. May I pay off the entire loan in less than forty years?

Yes. The Act provides that after five years payment in full may be made at any time.

17. How will the loans be secured?

By a first mortgage or deed of trust on the farm purchased. The borrower must agree to pay taxes and insurance on the farm buildings, to keep the farm in repair, and prevent waste and exhaustion of the land.

NO CHANGE IN EMPLOYEE-EMPLOYER CONTRIBUTION RATE

"There is no change in the employee-employer contribution rate for old-age insurance under the social security act,' 'it was said today by rank B. Decker, Jr., acting manager of the Covington, Ky., field office of this federal government agency.

"Recently many inquiries have come to our office as to the 1938 contribution rate under the old-age plan," Mr. Decker said. "In some instances in Region V, of which this social security office is a part, it has been reported that employers are now deducting two percent from the wages of their workers, for old-age insurance.

"This is in error as the contribution rate remains at one percent the employee and the employer throughout 1938 and 1939. Both are required to contribute one per cent of wages which are covered by the social security act. The confusion probably is the result of new contribution rates now in effect under state unemployment compensation laws," Mr. Decker added.

"As the social security act now stands, the contributions for old-age insurance increase one-half of one percent, for both employee and employer, every three years. Starting in 1940 the rate will be 1½ percent, but there will be no change until that time as the law now stands," Mr. Decker said.

"All contributions under old-age insurance are paid to the United States Collector of Internal Revenue at Louisville, Ky. The contributions for the first three months of 1938 are due not later than the last day of April. An informational report of contributions showing the names and amounts for individuals also is required at that time," Mr. Decker said.

So far more than 4,500,000 social security account numbers have been issued in Region V, which includes the states of Ohio, Michigan and Kentucky. The Covington office, which covers the counties of Kenton, Campbell, Boone, Bracken, Grant and Pendleton is a district in which it is estimated that more than 2300 account numbers have been issued to date.

SUGGESTS FARMERS RAISE WORK STOCK

The suggestion that farmers consider raising mules and work horses instead of buying them is made by Prof. W. S. Anderson in a new circular called "Workstock," published by the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

Farmers are buying horses shipped in from other states, he says, "a practice which seems unwise when it is evident that horses of a more excellent quality can be produced on Kentucky farms for less cost than is being paid for the imported ones."

He points out that the number of horses and mules on Kentucky farms dropped from 675,000 in 1920 to 450,000 in 1937. This means that there now are less than two head of workstock per farm. While there has been increased breeding in the last two years, not enough foals are being produced to replace loss by death and other causes.

Prof. Anderson's circular, which can be had from county agents or by writing to the college, deals with all phases of raising horses and mules on the farm, including the kind of mares to use, care and handling of stallions and jack stock, feeding horses and mules, and concludes with questions which the Experiment Station receives about the breeding, handling, breaking and feeding of workstock.

Mixed Sets of Silver Are Often Attractive

DEAR Mrs. Post: My husband's family has presented me with his deceased mother's flat silver. The pattern belongs to the mid-Victorian period and is not, at least in my eyes, at all attractive. However, my husband loves it and expects me to use it with his same amount of joy. I shall of course do my best to conceal my dislike for it although I had so much wanted to add to my own silver where pieces were needed. What worries me is having to use together some silver of one kind and some of another decidedly ornate type. I suppose there is nothing for you to answer except that it will look pretty terrible, but it would be consoling to know that you have seen really attractive tables where mixed patterns of this description were used. Frankly, have you?

Answer: Yes, I have. I agree with you that if you were able to buy new silver it would be much better to have it match. But many, many tables in beautifully appointed houses are set with mixed silver, and the reason is obviously that very few can, or want to, discard inherited silver, especially that which has a sentimental association.

Mourning Husband's Death

DEAR Mrs. Post: I have lost my husband and will shortly leave to make my home with a sister on the West Coast. (1) I would like to send a written note of resignation to a local club of which I have always been a member and wish you would suggest what I write. (2) Also, will you tell me whether it would be incorrect to wear black satin slippers with a black dinner dress while I am wearing mourning? I find it impossible to get suede ones that are comfortable.

Answer: (1) You write to the secretary of the club, wording your note more or less like the following: "Dear Mrs. Green: Owing to the changed circumstances in my life and the uncertainty of my ever returning to XX-town to live, it is with very deep regret that I must ask you to present my resignation at the next meeting of the board of governors. Sincerely, Mary K. Blank." (2) Black satin is not suitable for mourning but any dull silk would take the place of suede.

FAVORABLE POULTRY SEASON INDICATED

A favorable season for Kentucky poultry raisers is indicated by current conditions affecting the industry, declares E. A. Johnson of the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

Feed costs are lower than a year ago and no marked changes in feeding prices are expected during 1938. Prices for both eggs and poultry are favorable as compared to feed costs. These factors make for larger returns from poultry flocks and will encourage farmers to enlarge their poultry raising during the year.

Most important development during the past few weeks was the large sale of storage eggs. This helped the egg situation by clearing the way for the fresh eggs now coming to market. Egg prices are now about the same as a year ago and it is generally believed that prices during the next few months will hold close to last year's level. Egg production is lighter than a year ago in almost every section of the country and receipts are small at the leading markets.

The number of hens on farms is nearly 10 percent less than at this time last year and it is the smallest in many years. Egg production per hen was the highest on record for January 1, but total production was less than last year because of the smaller number of layers. With fewer hens on farms and a favorable ratio between feed prices and egg prices, it is likely that hatchings will be increased this year and that the number of hens will be larger next year. This would bring lower egg prices as well as lower prices for poultry at that time.

Other favorable developments include a strong demand for turkeys and other poultry, small cold storage holding of frozen poultry, and small supplies of other meat. Some improvement in business conditions from present levels is expected and this would give additional support to the demand for eggs and poultry.

KENTUCKY FARM NEWS

In planning their 1938 soils program, Hart county farmers are placing emphasis on the following things: Saving the soil; getting high yields, but not over-doing it; larger farms as a rule; greater variety of crops and more kinds of livestock; doing things on time.

The McQuady turkey pool in Breckinridge county has been in operation 15 years, handling most of the turkeys in the neighborhood. This year 2,000 birds were sold for 19½ cents per pound, an estimated 5 cents above market price when shipping factors, etc., are considered.

Washington county's dairy improvement program continues to bring better stock, higher butterfat records and larger milk poundage, and consequent greater profits. E. A. Smothers of Springfield community had the high herd last month.

Judge F. L. Duffy, Harrison county, is starting a purebred Guernsey herd with a yearling bull and a heifer. The heifer is a daughter of Friendship V. C. Ondine, and a granddaughter of Valois Climax, highest-index bull of the breed.

Mail boxes are simple things, Jefferson county homemakers decided, and yet they can be made so much more attractive than they usually are. A fresh coat of paint helps some kinds, and always the names can be put on in even, well-formed letters. More than a hundred homemakers have made these changes.

THE FARM AND HOME

Better laundering is done with soft water. Washing soda or an ammonia solution is often used to soften water, and is more effective and less expensive than soap. Excessive hard water results in great waste of soap.

Apples and dates slice: Cut apples in long strips. Cut dates in similar strips, using one-fourth as much dates as apples. Serve on lettuce with French or mayonnaise dressing.

Water for scalding a hog in a barrel should be between 140 and 155 degrees. The ideal temperature is 142 degrees. This gives a slow scald. Thirty gallons of water is enough to scald a hog in a 50-gallon barrel.

Flushing the kitchen sink drain daily with boiling water will usually prevent clogging. It is especially desirable to run hot water thru the drain after the dishes are washed, thereby carrying away all grease.

Good eggs for hatching are fresh eggshaped, clean, strong in shell texture, free from tint in the white egg breeds, and weigh from 24 to 26 ounces to the dozen.

Lespedeza is seldom sown alone for pasture. A good mixture for the Bluegrass region is 15 pounds of Bluegrass seed and 5 pounds of lespedeza seed; for outside the Bluegrass region, 12 pounds of orchard grass, 5 pounds of lespedeza and 2 pounds of redtop.

General rules for cooking cereals Pour the cereal slowly into boiling water, stirring constantly. Use a teaspoon of salt to a cup of cereal. Boil about 5 minutes and then cook in a double boiler without stirring for a half-hour to 3 hours.

BARKLEY NOT IN 'COLLUSION' TO HOLD SENATE JOB

Washington, Feb. 1—Gov. A. B. Chandler of Kentucky accepted today the challenge of Senator Alben W. Barkley, Democratic Senator Alben tW. Barkley, Democratic floor leader, to a political battle.

"If I read the signs right," Chandler said, "the people of Kentucky will retire Barkley at the next election.

"He is going to have an opponent—strong opposition—in the campaign," added the governor, who said he would not announce until his return home whether he himself would seek the senatorial nomination.

For his second day in the capital, Chandler scheduled conferences with Democratic political leaders.

The governor visited Senator Harrison (D-Miss) who opposed Barkley for the Senate majority leadership last session and lost by one vote. Whether or not Chandler sought Harrison's support in a race against Barkley was not made known immediately, although some of the governor's friends intimated this was his purpose.

A conference with Postmaster General James A. Farley, the national party chairman also was arranged. Chandler said he would report to Farley on the Kentucky political situation.

"I want it clearly understood I am not here to ask for anything," Chandler said. "If I want something, I'll ask the people of Kentucky for it."

The public break between the governor and Barkley, President Roosevelt's lieutenant in the Senate, created a stir from the White House to Capitol Hill.

Chandler called on Mr. Roosevelt Monday. Later two anti-Chandler Kentuckians, John Young Brown and Thomas S. Rhea, visited the White House. When they left they declared the President had left no doubt he favored Barkley's re-election.

Barkley's Statement

Then Barkley issued a formal statement saying:

"For months I have been threatened from Frankfort (capital of Kentucky) with opposition in my race for re-election unless I entered into a conspiracy which would have involved Senator Logan, the President of the United States, and me, to find some way to eliminate Senator Logan from the Senate by appointing him to something else . . ."

A vacancy exists on the Sixth Federal Circuit Court, which serves Kentucky. There had been talk that Logan might be appointed and that Chandler then might succeed him in the Senate.

Logan declared, however, that he would not accept the appointment if it were offered and that he would support Barkley for re-election.

"I have never requested Senator Barkley, Senator Logan or the President to do anything for me," retorted Chandler.

Barkley issued his statement after he received reports that Chandler had discussed with Kentucky Democrats in the House the advisability of advancing the date of the state primary elections.

Chandler refused to discuss the report. Logan declared:

"Any such move would be interpreted as a direct attack on Senator Barkley, who would be deprived of an opportunity to campaign because of his work in the Senate."

Barkley said in his statement:

"I value my own self-respect and the respect of the people of Kentucky above any consideration of political or official title.

"Neither Senator Logan nor I will drag a federal judgeship in Kentucky so low as to permit us to bargain away this high station in return for a free field in my race for re-election. Neither of us is willing to bring about the appointment of a federal judge at the point of a pistol or for any other reason that would be regarded as unworthy and beneath the dignity of the position itself.

"If anybody in the state desires to run against me because I have not been willing to stoop to the despicable expediency involved in all these threats, I welcome such opposition."

Chandler replied:

"The people of Kentucky know me so well, I do not have to issue a long statement bragging about it. It is well-known Barkley has been using Kentucky for years as a place from which to get elected."

Life is a tragedy. Even when a man goes back to the scenes of his boyhood he finds the old swimming hole full of sand.

DIESEIZING HORSEPOWER

Horses don't figure much in power any more, unless it is a tribute due old dobbin to measure the power of engines of all kinds by multiplying the reputed strength of a horse. Steam engines with great horsepower multiplied the benefits and operations of marine and railroad transportation last century. Now the General Motors launches its third plant at Detroit, to supplement the company's operations at Chicago and Cleveland in Diesel engines, and that news means a good deal in a period of recession like the present one.

Years of patient research and an enormous investment of money were required to develop the modern wide application of the Diesel engine. The corporation has long pioneered in producing Diesels in sizes of 600 to 1200 horsepower, suitable to the power demands of railroads and the U. S. Navy but it has taken many years of research to learn how to make successful Diesels in smaller sizes. With the opening of this new plant, General Motors started manufacturing Diesels ranging from fifteen to twelve hundred horsepower, thus creating almost limitless fields for application of this highly economical and efficient power.

In congratulating the corporations it may properly be said that this accomplishment is a typical example of the ultimate justification of the existence of a large corporation. In the words of Mr. Charles F. Kettering, General Motors research chief, "you have to be financially and philosophically able to withstand a thousand failures for one significant discovery in order to conduct successful research."

FLORENCE HOMEMAKERS

Two new members, Mrs. Bonnie Luck and Mrs. Helena Judy, were added to the Florence Homemakers' club Thursday, January 27th. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Mabel Sayre. Those present were, Mesdames Mabel Sayre, Virginia Goodridge, Chas. Corbin, H. C. Fossett, Effie Harrington, Pearl Baker, Bonnie Luck, Helena Judy, Garnett Lucas and Miss Stella Lohline.

After the business of the day was taken care of, Mrs. H. C. Fossett gave a very interesting lesson on "Finishing Touches in the Livable Home."

The minor project was omitted as Miss Mary Hood Gillaspie, Home Demonstration Agent, was away attending the Farm and Home Week at Lexington, Ky.

The next meeting of the Florence Homemaker's Club will be Thursday, February 24th, at Town Hall. The roll call to be answered by "Facts about George Washington."

Twenty Farmers Keep Records

Twenty Boone County farmers will keep complete farm account records in cooperation with the College of Agriculture during 1938, according to H. R. Forkner, county agent. Farmers cooperating in the project will receive a complete farm business analysis after the keeping of their records for one year.

Those farmers cooperating in the project this year are: Henry Siekman, O. Y. Kelley, Wilton Stephens, B. C. Stephens, L. R. Vice, Cam White, V. B. Dolwick, Robert Utz, Wm. Moore, Mrs. Walter Ferguson, Noel Walton, George Kearns, Wm. Ryle, Albert Parker, S. B. Sleet, P. J. Maddin, C. A. Wolfe, Grant Maddox, Sterling Rouse and W. A. Brown.

FLORENCE TEAM WILL MEET BEECHWOOD FIVE

Saturday night the Florence Knights will meet the strong Beechwood boys for an expected well-matched battle. Both teams are of about the same strength, and a hard fight is expected.

As an opening attractving Saturday night, the Florence high school girls will meet the high school girls of 1936. The first game scho girls of 1936. The first game will be called at 7:30 p. m. (fast time).

INVESTIGATING THE RECESSION

Many representatives of finance, industry transportation, merchandising, and other activities have been visiting Washington for the purpose of talking matters over with the President and Congress. These executives have left behind them a mass of information with the Senatorial Unemployment Committee which most newspaper readers find difficulty in harmonizing. It is perfectly clear that the industrialists and other leaders are anxious and eager to cooperate with their government in every possible manner that will help to end the recession. There are about 3,000,000 more jobless persons in the country now than there were three months ago.

There is as much difference of opinion in Washington as there is at the country store at the crossroads in every hamlet in the United States about the cause and cure of the depression. The testimony before the Senate Committee indicates tremendous fluctuations in most lines of industry, and grave doubts exist as to the near future, or what may happen over a period of several years.

Duponts Have the Answers

One industry has furnished a definite and easily understandable illustration of how business was affected and influenced by the slump. The du Ponts Company of Wilmington, Delaware, has made the oustanding contribution in information to the Senate Unemployment Committee. A year ago this company was employing 55,500 persons and the decrease up to the end of 1937 was a trifle under 4,000. Therefore the decline in employment over the twelve months period was seven per cent. But, the total annual payroll for 1937 was twenty-five per cent greater than for the year 1936. The workmen employed by these leaders in the chemical industry are contented. The du Pont company has 100 separate branches of production and turns out 4,000 different products. It has no labor troubles.

The methods of the corporation in checking their business situation enabled them to discover a small but steady decline last April, when most industries thought they were booming. Efficient du Ponts knew that their November sales were seventeen per cent less in dollars than in the same month the year before, and twenty-eight per cent less in December than in the same period last year. The company's analysis indicates that the sales for the six months of 1938 will probably be twenty-three per cent less than in the same period of 1937.

Lammot du Pont testifying regarding business conditions before the Senatorial Committee stated that he believed that the best way to remove the fog of uncertainty was for the Government to make laws and rules that were definite and not subject to general misunderstanding. He refused to recommend any class of laws except that he wanted them to be so clear that every business man could obey them. This, he thought would be a long step forward toward recovery and place the responsibility of recovery on industry and not on the government. "Business must reassure the public that its services are essential, that it is in the aggregate, simply the way in which almost all of us make a living, and that farming, manufacturing, commerce, finance, and labor are inter-dependent. Government and business," he added, "should take counsel together in a spirit of forebearance and cooperation."

Apparently at least this one great industry knows just where it is going, simply by following its systematic long-range program.

Our idea of easy money is to bet that any girl's shoes are too big for her—and then leave it to her to settle the bet.

TOBACCO MONEY HELPING TO KEEP BUSINESS UP IN MANY SECTIONS

Retail trade, for the most part, slipped back into a slower tempo, according to reports to the Department of Commerce from 36 key cities, just received by its Louisville District Office. There was a corresponding easing off in wholesale activities. While bright spots were apparent here and there, the reports in the main presented a rather unhappy chronicle of the current business picture, with evidences of growing unemployment being one of the distressing factors.

Louisville reported considerable improvement in many retail lines, though furniture down about 10 per cent. Department stores ran about even with year ago and in some cases as high as 5 per cent above. Wholesale volume has not yet begun to come back, though country districts advised tobacco money depleting stocks.

Government employment services reported 338 placements, 20.9 per cent under preceding week. Total employment in Indiana reported 7 per cent decline for December, with payrolls decreased 12 per cent.

Though beginning to show some improvement, Burley tobacco auction prices dropped to such low figures that growers have been meeting and endorsing 25 per cent reduction in crop for next season, with plans suggested for adoption of cooperative marketing system. Prices at dark tobacco sales in Western Kentucky somewhat higher than preceding weeks.

Louisville Gas & Electric Company reported plan to expend $1,150,240 on power lines in county and new sub-station.

FEDERAL HIGHWAY AID

Federal aid to highways may not be curtailed. Chairman Cartwright of the House Roads Commitee has introduced a bill consistent with what he says are "well established Federal aid policies."

"I am a strong advocate of economy, but believe reductions should be made in all agencies of the government and not just make roads the goat," said Mr. Cartwright in an explanation of his bill. The bill authorizes $125,000,000 for primary roads each year.

The measure which Mr. Cartwright has placed before Congress appears to be a definite expression of the Roads Committee. It provides $50,000,000 for each year for the elimination of hazards at railroad grade crossings and $25,000,000 a year for secondary roads including farm-to-market roads, rural delivery mail roads, and public school bus routes.

"Highway development still lags far behind the steadily increasing demands of traffic," said Cartwright, in addressing the House. He continued:

"The number of motor vehicles operating on our highways has increased from about 3,500,000 twenty years ago to about 29,000,000 today. It is necessary that new authorization be made by this Congress for an orderly program of highways . . . State highway budgets must be prepared in advance of the session of the State legislatures, and the States must have definite knowledge of Federal-aid authorizations in order to make provisions for their participation.

"Users of the highways pay special taxes, in proportion to their use of the roads, which bring more than $300,000,000 a year into the Federal Treasury. The Federal Government can considerably increase its expenditures for roads and still not draw on its general tax funds, as the motoring public pays the entire bill in special taxes The Congress has declared that such taxes are unfair and unjust unless used for the improvement of roads. If road expenditures are reduced the special taxes on road users should likewise be reduced. Are we going to let the motorists down?"

ENLARGING THE COTTON MARKET

Southern cotton growers and mills are decidedly optimistic about the growing demand for fine lisle stockings. These stockings have a logical place in the stocking wardrobe of the active modern woman, of the school and college girl, and of the sportswoman who has gone bare legged because stocking suitable to her purpose have not been available at a price she would be willing to pay. The American woman's enthusiastic response to domestic lisle stockings can have a far reaching effect. It represents a new and important market for the Southern cotton grower. A dozen pairs of stockings require a pound of fine cotton year. At the conservative estimate of three pairs of lisle stocking per year per woman, sales would amount to 10,000,000 dozen pairs. At $1.00 per pair this represents more than $100,000,000 spent in this country for a 100 per cent American product. It would take 10,000 people working a year to produce 10,000,000 pounds of yarn—employment for American labor that would be very welcome at this time.

What has become of the old fashioned man who used to drink a lot of patent medicine of some kind or another just to get his picture in the paper?

Famous Names Stud The Cast Of Crosby Film

As impressive a cast as you will see in many a moon of movies has been assembled by Paramount for its new comedy with music, "Double or Nothing," which will be at the Gayety Theater on Wednesday and Thursday, Feb. 9th and 10th

With Bing Crosby and Martha Raye in the star positions, the cast includes such popular entertainers as Andy Devine, Mary Carlisle, William Frawley, Fay Holden, Samuel S. Hinds, William Henry and others and also has specialty bits from that famed comedy team the Calgary Brothers, the noted eccentric dancing team of Amos and Arno, Alphonse Berg, Tex Morrissey, Frances Faye, and Ed Rickard.

In addition there is an aggregation of some seventy-five beautiful girls and handsome young men known as the "Sing Band." This group uses no musical instruments yet plays popular music by imitating the various instruments of a dance orchestra so closely that it is impossible for the human ear to tell the difference.

The "Sing Band" renders several new musical hits written expressly for "Double or Nothing" by the song writing teams of Johnston and Burke, who gave the world "Pennies From Heaven," Sam Coslow and Al Siegel and Ralph Freed and Burton Lane.

"Double or Nothing," which is a gay and irresponsible story of four persons vieying with a crooked lawyer to get a million dollar legacy, is the first film in which Martha Raye plays a star role away from Bob Burns. It is also the first Crosby picture in which Bing uses the same feminine romantic lead for the second time. The honor falls to lovely Mary Carlisle who appeared opposite Bing for the first time in the smash hit "College Humor."

YOUTHS STEAL CAR IN WALTON

APPREHENDED BY PATROLMEN IN WILLIAMSTOWN — WERE ON PROBATION ON SIMILAR CHARGES.

Three Covington youths, two 15 and one 16 years old, were arrested in Williamstown, by State Patrolman Nichols Winterberg, after a chase in which the boys used a car allegedly stolen from William Kraus, Walton, a state engineer.

The two younger boys have been placed on probation on similar charges in Kenton County Court on two previous occasions and the older boy, 16, is on parole from the State Reformatory at Greendale.

State Patrolman Winterberg said that the boys had attempted to take several cars from Walton Wednesday before they finally took the Kraus car. The patrolman was in Williamstown when Mr. Kraus and a friend appeared in headquarters. While they were there the stolen car went by at "about 80 miles an hour," according to police.

In the chase that followed the boys drove the car up a blind road and were forced to abandon the auto and run. A shot fired into the air by the patrolman brought the three to a halt.

Local Talent Floor Show

The main attraction at the Valentine dance at Zimmer's Club House, Florence, Saturday night, Feb. 12th will be a floor show made up entirely of local talent.

Other special attractions for this dance will be the "Lucky Chair" and door prizes.

This is the second dance scheduled for Feb. 12th, the other being held by the Young Men's Democratic Club of Boone County at Koenig's Club House, end of car line, Ft. Mitchell.

Public Sale At Anse Gadd Farm

Mrs. L. R. Garrison has recently purchased the farm known as the Anse Gadd place, located on the Big Bone road, about 3½ miles from Union, and will offer at public auction all livestock and personal property, now on the farm.

The sale will begin at 12:00 (slow time) on Saturday, Feb. 19th, with Ray Walton as auctioneer. Their advertisement appears on another page of this issue, giving complete description of all property to be sold.

Cincinnati Woman Arrested By State Patrolmen Sunday

Ora Hensley, was arrested early Sunday morning by state patrolmen and brought to Burlington. She was charged with reckless driving and released on bond.

When arraigned before Judge N. E. Riddell, she was fined $24.50 and cost.

ONE CHARGE DISMISSED

AGAINST ROAD HOUSE OPERATOR—ONE CHARGED BEING STUDIED AND ANOTHER HELD FOR GRAND JURY ACTION.

Russell Miller, road house operator of Big Bone who was tried here Wednesday of last week on three charges was released on running a disorderly house.

Miller who was arrested by Lieut. Osborne and seven other state patrolmen was charged with resisting an officer, running a disorderly house and having concealed weapons. The charge of resisting an officer is being studied by County Judge N. E. Riddell and no definite decision has been handed down as yet. The charge of having concealed weapons was held over for grand jury action.

The courtroom was packed with witnesses and spectators. Practically all day was taken up in hearing testimony of witnesses.

Debt Is Wiped From Records Of New Haven School

When a check, which will wipe away the debt of the new students' piano, was handed to Professor A. B. Moore of New Haven School by Mrs. Raymond Newman, treasurer of the Parent-Teacher Association, a pledge was fulfilled. It was indeed a most happy occasion for these members and with profound appreciation to those who attended the basket ball games sponsored by the association.

D. H. Norris, superintendent of Boone county school was the guest speaker and enlightened the audience on the ways and means of the school taxes.

A selected group of sixth grade students, among those being Misses Norma Laibly, Betty Rivard, Lorine Presser, Virginia Craddock and Master Bobby Moore gave an illustrated lecture on the Commonwealth of Kentucky. They used for their map, a composition of bleached muslin decorated with colored crayons.

Mrs. Austin Gschwind, vice president of the association presided at this meeting as the president, Mrs. Harry Moore is attending the General Assembly at Frankfort.

LARGE FARM TO BE SOLD

AT AUCTION SATURDAY, FEB. 12—LOCATED ON RYLE AND SO. FORK ROAD, 2 MILES SOUTH OF U. S. 42.

To settle the William Willeford estate, the R. G. Kinman Realty Auction Co., 408 Coppin Bldg., Covington, will sell at auction Saturday, Feb. 12, at 10 a. m. slow time, a 173-acre farm, on the Ryle and South Fork Road 2¼ miles South of U. S. Highway 42, and about 4 miles from Verona, Boone County.

Col. Kinman states his company has inspected every acre of this farm and is of the opinion that it is one of the best tobacco or stock farms he has ever offered for sale. The auction will include a six-room residence, stock and tobacco barn, orchard, chicken house, other necessary buildings, stock, tools and household furniture. The farm is in a high state of cultivation, with 15 acres in timber.

Gene Ruppe's band will furnish music and there will be free cash presents. Ladies of the Concord Baptist church will serve lunch.

Democrats To Step Saturday

The Young Men's Democratic Club are sponsoring a dance at Koenig's Club House, end of Ft. Mitchell car line, Saturday night. A good orchestra has been obtained and a ten act-floor show and Jane Roland will be added features of the evening's entertainment.

According to reports to officers a large number of tickets have already been sold and a large crowd is expected to attend.

BANK PRESIDENT DIES AT VERONA

W. M. WHITSON WAS FORMER SCHOOL BOARD OFFICER—HAD BEEN CHURCH LEADER FOR HALF CENTURY.

Services for W. M. Whitson, President of the Verona Bank at Verona, Ky., since he helped to organize it in 1903. and leader in community and church affairs in Verona for many years were held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock by Rev. C. E. Brown and Rev. A. K. Johnson at the New Bethel Baptist Church, Verona. Interment was in New Bethel cemetery.

Mr. Whitson died Wednesday at his home in Verona, after an illness of four weeks. He was 74 years old. He had lived in and near Verona all his life, having been born in Boone county.

For more than 50 years Mr. Whitson was clerk and deacon of New Bethel Baptist Church. He was Secretary and Chairman of the Verona Graded School District Board for more than a decade, holding the offices successively after first being named Secretary when the district was established.

Mr. Whitson leaves his widow, Mrs. Mattie Hudson Whitson; three daughters, Mrs. D. H. Vest, Walton, Mrs. J. L. Hamilton, Verona, and Mrs. Harry Chapman, of Verona; two sons, James H. Whitson and W. M. Whitson, Jr., Detroit; a brother, O. K. Whitson, cashier of the Verona Bank; a sister-in-law Miss Irene Hope Hudson, and six grandchildren.

Last Of Garr Boys Free In Slaying

Shelbyville, Feb. 8—Dr. E. S. Garr was dismissed in Circuit Court here today of a charge that he killed Adjt. Gen. Henry H. Denhardt.

He is the third of the Garr brothers to be exonerated in Denhardt's shooting last September. Jack and Roy Garr were in court today.

Attorney General Hubert Meredith, who has acted as prosecutor of the Garr brothers, told Judge Chales C. Marshall "I feel that there could be no conviction in this case."

County Attorney Coleman Wright agreed to the order of dismissal. George Willis, attorney for Dr. Garr, said he was entirely satisfied.

Dr. Garr's trial was continued from last October.

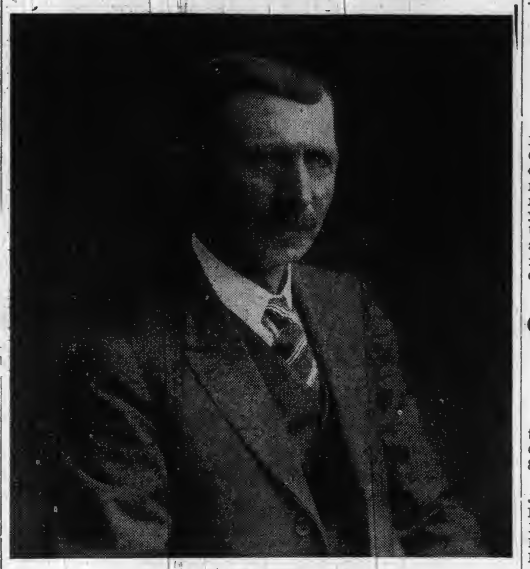
Child Is Badly Burned Wed.



The following story was sent us by our Petersburg correspondent, and she stated that Rev. Carroll was a former pastor of the Petersburg Christian Church:

Miss Helen Carroll, eleven-year-old daughter of Rev. E. Tipton Carroll and Mrs. Carroll, suffered severe burns on her back, arms and shoulders Wednesday evening when her sleeping apparel caught fire from the open grate.

Her parents had gone to Lexington to attend a conference of Christian church, but Mrs. W. G. Withers was with the children and did all in her power to save the little girl. Her sufferings were intense and it was necessary to resort to opiates to quiet the little lady. She is being kept in a tent and is getting along quite as well as could be expected, and it is believed that unless complications set up she will be well in a reasonable time.

It is fortunate that the flames did not reach her face and she is lucky that her burns were not of a more serious nature..

4-H Clubs Expand Organization

Boone County 4-H clubs are making plans for a record enrollment of 500 4-H club members this year, according to H. R. Forkner county agent and Mary Hood Gillaspie, home demonstration agent. This number represents an increase of 63 percent over the record enrollment of 318 members last year.

Increased enrollment will be accompanied with a stronger and more effective club organization in the county. Special plans have been made for leaders' and officers' training meetings, Spring Rally Day, scholarship trips to Junior Week, Community 4-H club tours and picnics, a week's camp for outstanding members, a county fair and picnic, stock judging teams, county champions in clothing, canning, foods, corn, tobacco, poultry and other projects, achievement days, tobacco show and sale, community club competition for the banks of Boone County trophy and other special events.

Prof. D. H. Norris, president of Boone County 4-H council and superintendent of Boone County Schools, and principals and teachers of the county have pledged their full support to the program. Verona and Walton 4-H clubs held their 4-H club enrollment meetings on Monday of this week with marked increased enrollment. All community clubs will complete their enrollment during the next two weeks.

CREDIT ASS'N TO HOLD MEETING

IN WILLIAMSTOWN WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 16TH—F. L. KERR, OF LOUISVILLE TO BE ONE OF SPEAKERS.

Program for the fourth annual meeting of stockholders of the Northern Kentucky Production Credit Association called for 10:00 o'clock on February 16th, in Williamstown, includes brief talks by F. L. Kerr, Vice-President of the Production Credit Corporation of Louisville, Ben Kilgore, Executive Secretary of the Kentucky Farm Bureau. Lunch will be served at noon by the local restaurants.

Wives of association stockholders are especially invited to attend, according to announcement by A. T. Mills, Secretary-Treasurer. "We believe that farm credit problems directly concern and interest farm women, so welcome them all to our meetings," he states.

This is the fourth annual stockholders' meeting of the Northern Kentucky Production Credit Association, which was organized in the spring of 1934 and since has extended $457,955.00 in credit to its members for farm operating purposes.

The association operates in Gallatin, Boone, Grant, Carroll, Owen, Pendleton, Campbell, and Kenton counties.

Important business of the meeting, the announcements points out, is the election of 1 director for three-year term. Directors whose terms are expiring is A. Threlkeld of Grant County. Hold-over directors are W. H. Parker, C. Liston Hempfling, H. W. Webb, C. A. Kelly.

"Our directors urge that every member be present and exercise his voting privilege in selecting the management of the organization for the coming year. Active participation by stockholders is essential to the permanence and good management of the organization. Voting is on the basis of one member one vote, giving an equal voice to each member regardless of the number of shares owned," A. T. Mills states.

Patricia E. Shutts

A mantle of sorrow and grief shadows the Bernard family circle, with a definite and sincere touch of sympathy from neighbors and friends over the death of dear little "Patsy" Shutts, who in life was a radiantly happy and lovable child, age 4 years and 4 months. A precious darling she was, who spread sunshine and gladness all through her short span of life, charming both the old and the young by her sweetness and grace.

Patricia Evelyn Shutts was born October 16, 1933, at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Bernard, Tate St., and continued to make that her home. She drew the affection of all who knew her. She was the daughter of Mrs. Dorothy Wallace by a former marriage to Mr. Ervin Shutts.

She was taken ill with conculsions and was a patient at the Children's hospital, Cincinnati, for about two weeks preceding her death at 2:15 Wednesday afternoon, February 2. Skilled physicians and nurses did all that was possible, while loved ones stood by, and despite it all the messenger came, and the little body is at rest and the soul at peace.

Funeral rites were held at Fitch Bros. Funeral home, Lawrenceburg Ind., at 2:00 p. m. Friday afternoon by Rev. J. Walker Martin. Interment was in Bullittsburg, Ky., cemetery.

Homemakers To Hear Miss Davenport

Clothing leaders of the Boone and Campbell County Homemakers will meet Tuesday, February 15th in Covington. The meeting will be held at Coppin's Department store from 10:30 a. m. to 3:30 p. m. (fast time). Miss Iris Davenport, clothing specialist of the Extension Department, University of Kentucky, will give the lesson on "Style Trends." Methods of remodeling millinery and dresses for the spring season will be discussed by Miss Davenport. Due to the fact that Miss Davenport's talk on Spring Style Trends has been requested by so many counties, Campbell and Boone will meet together. The lesson received by leaders next Tuesday will be given to local clubs next month as their minor project.

The meeting in Covington has been arranged by Mary Hood Gillaspie, home demonstration agent of Boone County.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Moore were dinner guests last Thursday night of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Drake in Ft. Thomas.

Record Set By Farmers Mutual Insurance Co.

Frank Rouse, Secretary of the Farmer's Mutual Fire Insurance Co., in Boone County stated Tuesday that the company had issued more new insurance policies this month than in the past eight years. Mr. Rouse also stated that the company had paid the loss on a house which was destroyed by fire some time ago, and two small claims caused by fire.

Celebrates 83rd Birthday

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Tucker entertained at their home Wednesday evening in honor of Mrs. Tucker's 83rd birthday anniversary.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lizer, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Lizer, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Easton, Mrs. Minnie Bradford, Misses Mary Butts, Mildred and Martha Lois Lizer, Ruby Dinn, Ruth Tucker, James S. Smith and Raymond and Jack Tucker. After a very enjoyable lunch, the evening was spent in playing games and music.

STOCKMEN TO HOLD MEETING

AT BURLINGTON COURTHOUSE FEBRUARY 16 — DIVIDEND CHECKS TO BE DISTRIBUTED AT THIS MEETING.

Boone County Livestock shippers to the Cincinnati Producers Cooperative Association will hold an annual meeting at Burlington courthouse Wednesday, February 16th at 1:00 p. m., according to H. A. Berge, Field Agent for the Association.

The purpose of the meeting will be to distribute dividend checks on livestock sold through the association during the past year and to discuss important improvement problems in livestock marketing for the coming year. Special speakers on the program will include: R. Q. Smith, manager of the Cincinnati Association; H. A. Berge, field agent for the Association who will discuss field problems; E. A. Johnson, marketing specialist from the College of Agriculture, who will discuss the 1938 market outlook for various classes of livestock.

Everyone interested in livestock is invited to attend.

Good Prospects For Fruit Crop

Fruit growers report prospects for a fruit crop so far this year are good. Growers will hold three field meetings this Thursday and Friday to discuss problems in taking care of the crop in case a good set of fruit is secured.

The schedule of the meetings are as follows:

Thursday, February 10th at 9:45 a. m.—J. W. Goodridge's orchard, near Burlington.

Thursday, February 10th at 1:00 p. m.—Emmett Riddell's orchard, two miles from Constance on the Constance-Hebron road.

Friday, February 11th at 9:30 a. m.—F. H. Sebree's adjoining Hamilton school.

Everyone interested in fruit growing is invited to attend.

Independents Meet Florence

On Friday night of this week, the Burlington Independent five will meet the Florence Independent team following the Burlington-Florence high school game on the Florence gym floor.

The local Independent team is composed of A. Sebree, O. Sebree, D. Kirkpatrick, W. Greenup, J. Ogden, A. Weaver, D. Rouse and A. Clore. The Florence team is composed of J. Scott, Bob Scott, Bill Scott, Jenning, Dringenburg and Caton.

On Thursday night of this week the Burlington Independents will play the Southside Baptist team of Covington in the Burlington gym. The Baptists have lost but one game in the Y. M. C. A. league are said to be a strong team. A good game is expected as our local boys are fairly clever on the hardwood. The game will be called at 7:00.

TOURNEY WILL BE HELD MARCH 3-5

IN FLORENCE GYM—DRAWINGS MADE MONDAY NIGHT AT MEETING OF LEAGUE MEMBERS.

Members of the Boone County Basketball League met Monday night at Florence high school for the purpose of making drawing for the County tournament which will be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday, March 3, 4th and 5th.

At this meeting Florence was chosen as the place the tournament will be held.

In the first bracket Florence drew a bye, and New Haven will play Hebron Thursday night at 9 p. m. Hamilton will meet Walton at 10 p. m. Thursday night, and the winner of the New-Haven game will play Florence Friday night at 9 p. m. Hamilton will furnish the opposition for Walton on Thursday night at 10 p. m.

The schedule for Friday will be the winner of the Hamilton-Walton game playing Burlington Friday night at 10 p. m. The winners of the upper bracket and lower brackets will clash Saturday night at 8:30 for the championship of the county.

The second team drawings are as follows:

New Haven, bye, Florence will play Walton Thursday night at 8 p. m. and New Haven will play the winner of the Florence-Walton game Saturday afternoon at 2:30 p. m.

Hamilton and Burlington will lock horns Friday at 8 p. m. and Hebron will meet the winner on Saturday afternoon at 3:30.

Admission to the tourney will be 20 cents for school children and 35 cents for adults.

Second Test On Hybrid Seed Corn 100 Percent

The second germination test of Hybrid Seed Corn No. 69 resulted in 100 percent germination, according to Lloyd Siekman, Chairman of Utopia club sales committee.

Those farmers who have purchased seed are urged to call at the county agent's office and get it before February 15.

Six adult demonstrations in 1937 with Hybrid No. 69 resulted in an increase of 43 percent over the various yellow dent varieties grown in the county.

Farmers who are interested in growing Hybrid Corn this year are asked to place their orders at once. Only six more bushels of this locally bred corn will be available.

WAGE CUTS OR PRICE CUTS?

With a growl that can be compared only to a grizzly bear defending her newly-arrived cub, American labor has made clear its intention to defend its 1937 pay increases to the last pay-check. A reassuring nod from President Roosevelt and a noticeable lack of wage-cutting on the part of business, seems to indicate the bear will be able to keep her cub, and may even be able to help it grow a bit during the coming year.

The tendency away from wage-clipping, however, increases the problem of price-cutting, the most often suggested business hypodermic. The bargain-sale method of ending the current slow-down certainly has its merits. For the average consumer, it means lower prices, cheaper shoes, and a better chance to get that new car.

It also means, say the economists, a quicker climb out of the recession. The laws of supply and demand being what they are, lower prices mean greater demand, greater demand means more work, and more work means an end to recession.

The catch lies in the fact that somewhere along the route, someone has to pay for those lower prices. Increased demand at a marked-down price may eventually raise the total income high enough to cancel the price cuts—but someone has to pay while that's taking place.

What with tax troubles, overhead problems, and a slight case of the jitters, the average enterpriser is in no position to assume the cost of price cutting. Labor has vociferously announced its complete lack of interest in carrying the burden. The result? What usually happens when an irresistible force meets an immovable object?

Lower prices without lower wages, if that combination can be developed, would speed business recovery. We must make sure, however, that in cutting prices, we don't cut somebody's throat—perhaps our own.

MRS. ROOSEVELT'S RECORD

With her official mileage now clocked at something over 200,000 miles, there seems to be a good chance that America's most restless woman, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, will have covered the distance from the earth to the moon by the end of the year, Which, in a way, would be suitable for the moon is one of the few visible places the First Lady hasn't visited.

As the syndicated records of her daily travels show, Mrs. Roosevelt is completely unbothered by anything less drastic than a midnight hop from coast to coast. Her personal speedometer for 1937 ran down with a good 43,000 miles recorded, a total not including such minor extra-curricula activity as a trip through seventeen schools and a coal mine.

Astronomically speaking, Mrs. Roosevelt stil lhas a bit of distance to make on her first light year. At that, we shouldn't give up hope. The First Lady still has three years to go on her second wind.

As an example of that modern American species—the active woman—Mrs. Roosevelt has no peer.

ROAD ECONOMY

As a rule, citizens think of good roads chiefly in terms of speed, convenience and comfort. The highway research board in Washington has found another advantage—savings in cost of car operation and maintenance. The study was made among rural mail carriers in Iowa. It costs them 3.07 cents a mile to drive their automobiles over dirt roads. Gravel roads, at 2.17 cents per mile, are much better. But a good paved highway is easy enough on gasoline, oil, tires and the like to cut the figure to 1.44 cents per mile. As between the old dirt road and the modern highway that is a saving of 1.63 cents, per mile—$163 annually for the driver who covers 10,000 a year. So good roads become a matter of good business. Motorists willingly paid for them even before the pocketbook argument was evident. But where special taxes levied for road building are diverted to other needs, the driver may well wonder if one factor doesn't offset the other.

A WELCOME VISITOR

One fellow who is always welcome at the front door of every home is the free delivery carrier. Nobody motions from the front window for him to drive on, and nobody ever stops him and says: "We don't want any mail today." In fact, everyone is happy to see him coming along the road. His job is not the most pleasant one in the world by any means, since it takes him out into all kinds of weather. But like a real soldier he is always to be found at his post of duty, uncomplaining and unmindful of the drab side of his life. We sometimes wonder if he gets all the smiles and hearty well-wishes to which he is entitled; we wonder if all of his patrons are careful to show their appreciation of his faithful service. Have you ever done any wondering along that line, or are you one of those who take him as a matter of course and withhold the smiles to which he is really entitled and which would help him along in his work?

YOU BET YOUR LIFE!

You bet a nickle when you play that pin-ball game in the corner smokeshop—you bet a day's pay when you wager on the fifth race at the State Fair—but when you break the laws of sane driving, you bet your life!

And what odds do you get? You save one short minute to speed through an intersection at forty miles an hour. If you're an average adult, you've an even chance to enjoy seventeen million more minutes of living. One minute to seventeen million! Those are the odds, and still—YOU BET YOUR LIFE!

Our state's auto toll, in tragic death and living tragedy, is a ghastly and vital problem. The cost of this daily gamble, in broken bones and broken lives, tops millions of dollars each year. Yet who can judge the actual cost? Who can pile human lives on the counter, to check and mark their price-tags? Who can place a dollars and cents value on a father's love or a daughter's youth? And still—YOU BET YOUR LIFE!

Did you ever buy a sweepstakes ticket? Did you ever take a chance in traffic? Equal chances? No! On the same percentage basis, you would have to lose your life thirty-two times in traffic accidents before winning one sweepstakes award. On one, you bet two dollars! On the other, YOU BET YOUR LIFE!

Perhaps you never gamble. Perhaps you never buy a ticket on a race. Perhaps you never even take a chance in playing bridge or eating lobster. But you did touch "sixty" in your car? You never gamble; YOU BET YOUR LIFE!

Will we resolve to drive safely in 1938? Will we work to improve our state's record in traffic matters? Will we drive carefully? —YOU BET YOUR LIFE!

MORE INNOCENTS ABROAD

Today, beneath the muddy fields of Spain, lie the bodies of scores of young Americans, killed fighting for the Loyalist forces at Teruel.

In a letter home, one of them recently wrote: "Our last battle looked like those that come out of Hollywood—only it was real."

Today, those words have come true. For scores of American boys, the Spanish ware has been too real. Today, they are dead!

Hidden in the slime of the trenches, they have heard a man's breath gurgle when a bullet lodges in his lungs. They have heard his calm statement, "I am hit!" and have seen him slip abruptly to the ground.

This is no make-believe scene on a Hollywood back lot. This is bloody Spain, and that lad tearing at his blistering chest once ran up the steps of an American home with a yell of, "Hey Mom, how about some cake?"

Today, with the bitter dregs of war—the scorching paths of bullets in flesh and the refuse of gas bombs—before their eyes, the survivors know that the reality of war is far removed from the shadows of the cinema.

In past weeks they wrote home: "We're humming a parody of the Bubbles Song—I'm forever dodging bullets!" That was youth, full of the gayety of living, the zest for song, romance and laughter.

Today, what feeble laughter remains is cracked with tears. The song in the air is sad. They went to fight for their ideal of freedom, and stayed to die for their youth.

More innocents abroad!

CLOTHES AND CARS

If you'd like to know what the average family does with its income when father gets a raise, then lend your ear a moment to the result of a survey recently completed in a half-dozen midwestern states. A poll was taken throughout Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, Wisconsin, Illinois and Iowa to determine as nearly as possible how the average family, just about the same type of families around Boone county deal out their money for food, clothes, shelter, automobiles, medical care and so on.

Among the most interesting things revealed by the figures, now that they have been tabulated, is the admission of those whose incomes are the lowest that when they do get a little extra money they spend for food, clothing. But when all of them are bunched together and the census is considered as a whole, it is found that the most decided increase in spending goes on the family car—even more on the car than they spend for clothing. For incomes between $2,000 and $2,500, for example, food costs according to the survey took 31 percent, the auto 19 per cent, housing and clothing, 11 per-cent, and so on.

The car is used to take the whole family out for pleasure trips, drives into the country and on vacation jaunts. This all has its good effect on health, education and mental stimulus. It is also used very widely to carry workmen to and from their work. There is a parking lot as big as a farm outside the Ford plant at Dearborn, Mich. So the American family car isn't all luxury by any means, though it may look so to millions of middle-class persons in other lands to whom a car is a dream far beyond realization.

Earn this Reward for Careful Driving!

All of us realize the need for safe driving on our streets and highways.

Here is a practical, new plan to promote safety by giving motorist a direct money reward for no-accident driving.

This plan, called the safe driver reward plan, is backed by leading stock casualty insurance companies.

The plan provides for a return of 15 percent of the annual liability premium on each new or renewal polity effective on or after today, providing no liability loss occurs under the policy during the 12 months it is in effect.

This is a guaranteed reward—written into the contract, it is offered to safe drivers only, as distinguished from motorists who do not have this perfect record.

Don't lose this opportunity. Get full particulars of this remarkable new plan. Stop in today and talk it over. 1t-c.

Lesson for February 13

CONSERVING THE SABBATH FOR MAN

LESSON TEXT—Mark 2:23-3:6.
GOLDEN TEXT—And He said unto them, the Sabbath was made for man—Mark 2:27.
PRIMARY TOPIC—God's Holy Day.
JUNIOR TOPIC—God's Holy Day.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—What Shall I Do on Sunday?
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Using the Sabbath for the Whole Man.

"A man's soul is in a bad state when he begins to regard man-made rites and ceremonies as things of superior importance and exalts them above the preaching of the gospel. It is a symptom of spiritual disease. There is mischief within. It is too often the recourse of an uneasy conscience . . . No wonder St. Paul said to the Galatians, 'Ye observe days, and months, and times, and years. I am afraid of you, lest I have bestowed on you labor in vain.'" These are the comments of John Charles Ryle, Lord Bishop of Liverpool, on the lesson of today.

The formalists of Christ's day, the Pharisees, had overlooked the heart of God's law and the holy living which it was intended to produce, and had bound up even the observance of the Sabbath (which was intended to be a day of rest and gladness) in such a mass of technical "thou shalt nots" that it was a day of fear. They had a false outward profession of worship and had entirely missed the true spirituality of God's law, a fact which drew upon their heads the anger and rebuke of our Lord.

While we as Christians do not observe the Jewish Sabbath, there are principles of doctrine and life bound up in this lesson concerning the Sabbath which we may with profit apply to our day of rest—the first day of the week—the resurrection day, often called "the Lord's Day."

I. False Spirituality Unmasked.

The two incidents in our lesson reveal that under the cloak of earnestly observing the law of the Sabbath the Pharisees were actually covering their own hypocrisy and their hatred for Christ.

The accusations against the disciples because they had taken and eaten grain was not on the ground that they had stolen, for the law (Deut. 23:25) guaranteed that right to the one who had passed through his neighbor's field. They contended, however, that the disciples had worked on the Sabbath in picking and hulling the grain.

The healing of the man with the withered arm revealed that back of their professed concern for the Sabbath was a real hatred for Christ. It is an appalling thing that in the house of worship on the very Sabbath day these men, outwardly so religious, were plotting against our Lord. "They watched him," and even so the enemies of the cross watch us who are his followers.

II. True Spirituality Defined.

Jesus cuts across human hypocrisy and hatred to declare that the true keeping of the Sabbath is to do the work of God. No work of necessity (like plucking the grain) or of mercy (like healing the withered arm) is ever out of place on the day of rest.

How shall we know what we may do on the Lord's Day? Two guiding principles appear in our lesson. (1) Know and follow God's Word. Note the use that Jesus made of it in verses 25 and 26. No man will misuse the Sabbath or the Lord's Day who understands God's Word and obeys it. (2) Live in accordance with the spirit of the Lord Jesus. When tradition stood in the way of the best interests of man, He broke with tradition. If He could do good on the Sabbath He did it.

A word of caution is needed, for some have sought to interpret this lesson as providing biblical ground for doing all sorts of things on their day of rest. That day is for man's good, not for his destruction. His greatest good is served by rest, worship, spiritual development, Christian fellowship, and the doing of deeds of necessity and mercy.

III. Righteous Indignation Manifested.

Our Lord rightly showed His holy anger (v. 5) against his hardhearted critics. He was the Holy One who did not permit His anger to go beyond its proper expression. Man, it must be confessed, seldom is able to control and direct even his righteous indignation. But there is such a thing as being angry without sin (Eph. 4:26), and one could sometimes wish that God's children could be moved to a holy anger against all sin and unrighteousness.

Comforting Word

This is a comforting word of Scripture which presents Christ as a shepherd whose sheep had strayed.

God's Grace

Think what the grace of God is like. Grace is love loving the unlovely.

THE WASHINGTON CONFERENCES

J. E. Jones

Washington, D. C.—The President and the business men have met many times and "talked it all over." Congress has heard from business men appearing before its own committees. Besides that—the President and Congress have heard from business men who did not come to Washington, but used the mails and other means of communication. As a result the depression is boiled down by aid of the press and the radio to a fairly comprehensive analysis and understanding.

The business men of large and small industries and corporations have told Washington that commonsense would be served if the Government would announce a program of intentions for a year or two, at least.

They put it about as follows: "Tell us what you intend to do, Mr. Government, and do it; tell business what you want it to do, and we'll do it." Business men believe that the slump is superficial, due to fear, and a peculiar lack of confidence.

Management and labor have asked Washington to give them freedom of action—control of their own affairs including problems of wages and hours—and let collective bargaining and other established methods have a chance to work without constant nosey interference by big politicians.

These matters concerning local salesmen or corporations in marketing their products either on short-term credits or extended installment terms are looked upon as remote to Government. Merchandising has always been controlled by business men. Licensing corporations may be a debatable question—but it is a theory that need not be hurried. Taxation is all out of balance but that can't be changed in a moment. If the gates of free competition and free enterprise are opened it will help to restore confidence.

There's plenty of money in the control of industry and the Government, plenty of American spirit left. And if a thousand of the brainiest men in the nation are right in what they tell the President and Congress FEAR can be chased out and prosperity restored. The principal obstructions appear to be due to politics.

WILL THEY REST IN FLANDERS FIELD?

If the United States has had an international policy since our Government was stung by European nations that afterwards ignored their war debts it would be interesting to know what were things that are called "an international policy."

Students and writers who discuss our international affairs seem to think that we are just about as unsteady as England and other nations that have let down on substitute "programs for defence." Policing for peace appear to be more or less of an illusion. We tried that in 1916. How can the dead rest in Flanders Field as the United States bucles on its armor? Already the volume of noises are growing louder in the moving picture houses as "patriotism" acquires high-blood pressure. Think it over and help quite your excitable neighbors. The sitution in Washington is turning too rapidly away from the ways of peace.

Senator Pittman tells the Senate that the President has a policy, which he says is "Noninterference and nonintervention in the affairs of other Governments."

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATIONS ANNOUNCED

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced open competitive examinations for the following positions:

Senior scientific aid (preparator in pathology), $2,000 a year, Army Medical Museum.

Physiotherapy aids, $1,800 a year U. S. Public Health Service, and Veterans' Administration.

Printer-proofreader, $1.32 an hour (40-hour week), Government Printing Office.

Full information may be obtained from the Secretary of the United States Civil Service Board of Examiners at the post office or customhouse in any city which has a post office of the first or second class, or from the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C.

THE FAMILY DOCTOR

If object swallowed by a child can be seen, a careful attempt may be made to remove it with the fingers. If object has passed beyond the throat feed quantities of potatoes and bread but do not give a cathartic or produce vomiting. If allowed to pass slowly through the intestines it becomes covered with fecal matter and is expelled with no harm.

THE SILK STOCKING BOYCOTT

A strong movement is gaining headway among economists, government officials, business men and sagacious labor leaders to discourage the boycott against Japanese silk.

Such a boycott, it is pointed out is not in accordance with our Government's policies, either with regard to the Japanese-China war, on our economic trade policies and relations.

It is claimed that a complete stoppage of our raw silk imports, about 90 per cent of which comes from Japan, the rest from China and Italy, would throw out of employment 120,000 workers in American silk mills and bring ruin to many thousands of others in dependent industries. Japan is our third best customer, outranked only by England and Canada. In 1937 Japan bought approximately $290,000,000 worth of our goods including more than $60,000,000 worth of cotton and about $40,000,000 worth of oil products. We sell one and a half times as much goods to Japan as we buy from her, thus the balance of trade is of benefit to American workers.

Raw silk costs from $1.50 to $2.00 per pound; one pound is sufficient for from one to two dozen pairs of silk stockings which range from 45 cents to $2.00 a pair, averaging from 70 cents to $1.00 retail. In a dollar pair of stockings the silk costs only from 8 to 15 cents, the rest going for American wages, manufacturing costs, selling expense and wholesale and retail profits. Much the same is true of silk ties and underwear.

American manufacturers of silk products claim that silk substitutes for stockings lack the necessary flexibility over knees and ankles.

A boycott is more than a mere protest. Our own Government is using its efforts to maintain neutrality and for that reason frowns upon boycotts aimed at Japan.

Myrna Loy Wears $100,000 Black Opal In Picture

The world's largest and rarest black opal became a motion picture "prop" for a day. The opal, "Green Goddess," was worn by Myrna Loy in a scene for "Double Wedding," which will be shown at the Gayety Theatre, Erlanger, Wed. and Thurs., February 16th and 17th.

Owned by Charles H. Walton, of Pasadena, "Green Goddess" weighs 96 carats. Discovered in the Lightning Ridge field in Australia the opal originally weighed 220 carats before it was cut.

Valued at $100,000, the "Green Goddess" was taken to the film studio by two armed guards.

The valuable jewel is an example of the stunning ornaments and clothes worn by Miss Loy in the new picture in which she plays a smart New York gown shop proprietor. All of the star's clothes, as well as those worn by Florence Rice, who plays a secondary lead in the picture, were designed by Adrian and signal the latest in women's fashions.

William Powell is co-starred with Miss Loy for the seventh time in "Double Wedding," and others in the cast include John Beal, Jessie Ralph and Edgar Kennedy.

MASTERS' NEW IMPROVED 1938 PLANT SETTER

There is excellent reason for Masters' leadership in the plant setter industry, for it was Masters who built the first practical automatic plant setter over forty years ago. Since then it has been continually improved. Our 1938 model is the last word—it has no competition. Others have tried to imitate, but never have been able to equal Masters' efficiency and durability. It is so simple and easy to use a Masters'. A Masters' Plant Setter is assurance of maximum stand and prolific yield.

Tobacco buyers say they can tell when a crop has been planted with a Masters' by its uniform high quality. They gladly pay highest prices for this finer yield. One man can set 8,000 to 15,000 plants a day, and do it without even a crick in his back. Once you use the Masters' you will never be satisfied with any other method of plant setting. Masters' Improved Plant Setter is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction in setting

BURLINGTON SCHOOL NEWS

My, are we proud of our basketball team. For a long time when we wrote the school news it seemed that we had to say that our team was defeated, but now its a different story. Friday night Warsaw journeyed to Burlington and was defeated by a score of 43-37. The second team was defeated.

Judging from the way our midget team played Friday night before the other game, we feel that we rest assured of a good team in the future.

Friday night, February 11, the Burlington boys journey to Florenece to compete against their team. They have stated that they feel sure they will play a winning game.

Mrs. Kirkwood and Mrs. McNeely stated that they had quite a few absent from school, due to illness.

Donald Webster has returned to and a half weeks with an infected arm, after having been vaccinated.

The first grade students are making their Valentines for a Valentine party. They are looking toward this day with great enthusiasm.

The first graders are enjoying some new books this week.

The debaters had their first decision debate Feb. 8th with Alexandria and Falmouth at Simon Kenton. As yet, the outcome has not been learned.

The freshmen organized their class last week. Officers elected were as follows: President, Harold Flick; Vice President, Alpha Lee Rogers; Secretary, Wanita See; Treasurer, James Gale Smith; and class Reporter, Mary Belle Smith.

Luella Cason, School Rep'r.

NEW HAVEN HOMEMAKERS

The New Haven Homemakers will be the guests of the County President, Mrs. Sam Sleet, on Friday, February 18th at 10:30. Instead of the half-day meetings as the club met the past year, the membership has decided on the full-day meeting, in which way the business session can be held before the noon hour, leaving a full afternoon period for study and demonstration. Mrs. John Taylor and Mrs. Jake Cleek will present for a lesson a subject of much interest to the lovers of needlework, this being the last project of the term.

HEBRON P.-T. A. TO HOLD MEETING FEB. 15

The Hebron P.-T. A. will have their regular meeting, February 15 at 8:00 p. m. The following program will be given:

1. Topic to be announced, Mr. Joe Austin. 2. Coordination of Parents and Teachers, Supt. D. H. Norris. 3. Something new in report cards, Miss Katherine Evans. 4. My child's report card, Mrs. Mark Holliday. 5. Southern Melodies, Hebron Glee Club.

We are looking forward with interest to meeting Mr. Austin again. Those of you who heard him at Hebron when he delivered the Commencement address of 1936 know that he is a very interesting speaker. No one should know better than Mr. Norris how the parents and teachers can work together for the benefit of the child, so we will be expecting some good ideas from him.

Our own Miss Evans and Mrs. Holliday will discuss the problem that causes much heartache each month, "Grades."

We are always glad for our Glee Club to sing for us, and we will also have a little social affair after the meeting.

Mrs. Sibbia Reimer.

CONSTANCE HOMEMAKERS MEET

The Constance Homemakers met at the home of Mrs. Adam Reeves for their February meeting. There were nine members present, Mrs. John Hempfling, Mrs. Freda Kottmyer, Mrs. N. E. Zimmer, Mrs. Thomas Kenyon, Mrs. Grace Dolwick, Mrs. Geo. Kottmyer, Mrs. Dora Dolwick, Mrs. Myrtle Reeves and Mrs. Adam Reeves. Two visitors, Mrs. Elmer Reeves and Mrs. B. C. Lundy and our Home Demonstration agent, Miss Mary Hood Gillaspie were also present.

The morning was taken up with our business meeting. Mrs. Geo. Kottmyer, Mrs. Thomas Kenyon and Miss Gillaspie gave a report on Farm and Home Week which was held at Lexington and which they attended. They told of shaking hands with Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and hearing several of her addresses. A number of other good talks were given by other speakers.

At the noon hour a delicious luncheon was served, after which we all enjoyed our lesson of making scarfs, given by Miss Gillaspie. Our next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Grace Dolwick, March 2. The subject will be "Cooking."

WEEK'S BEST RECIPE

Stuffed Steak—Take a round steak and spread it an inch thick with chopped bread and butter, seasoned with pepper and salt, sage and a little onion if liked, and a sliced hard-boiled egg. Roll steak up, tie with twine, lay in a baking pan, with thin slices of pork on top. Pour round it a pint of water, cover closely and bake in modterate oven three hours. Serve with rich, brown gravy.

CAPITOL COMMENTS

Statements made by word of mouth look entirely different when they blare forth in the public prints, although they are printed exactly as said . . . It seems that Governor Chandler had an occasion to call the White House in Washington. He talked to James Roosevelt, son and secretary of the President. During the course of the conversation, the Governor in a burst of enthusiasm, declared that if he ran for the Senate against Alben W. Barkley, Kentucky's Senior Senator and majority floor leader in the upper house, he, not Barkley, would be the next man to represent the state in that branch of the government . . .That was a strong assertion. That phrase that "I, not Barkley, would be the next Senator," was the key line to a good story. Any reporter would have taken it for his lead sentence, and they all did. So full was that particular line that all newshawks failed to mention the remainder of the story. For instance: "Why did Chandler call the White House?" Certainly he was not effervescing with so much enthusiasm that he just called up the President to say that if he decided to run for the Senate that he would win. Governor Chandler called Washington for an entirely different reason, and that expression was incidental to the other conversation, yet it was a high point and a top news lead. And when it was made the lead, and the other portion of the conversation omitted, it made the Governor appear a bit "cocky" . . . "What was the other part of the conversation," you ask? I am certain I don't know and neither does anyone else, except the Governor and James Roosevelt. However, you can put it down in your book that what the Governor said to the President's son will make history of some sort, perhaps interesting and perhaps not.

* * *

The death recently of Federal Circuit Judge Charles H. Moorman of Louisville, again set tongues wagging at a high rate. A new judge must be named to replace him. Dame Rumor, making a quick observation, was just as quick to make a deduction that Senator Mills M. Logan would be offered the Judgeship in order to make way for a Senate seat for the Governor. That would ease the tension considerably, but there are numerous angles to be considered. First of all, if such should be the idea, then Senator Logan must be consulted and he must agree. If he does not agree, then the whole thing can be called off and the President can name whom he pleases. Regardless of what happens Governor Chandler cannot take Mills Logan's Senate seat until Logan has been consulted and so far as can be found out at this time, the subject of his stepping down has never been broached to him.

* * *

Great gushes of political water has gone under the bridge since last week and the tide still at flood. At the current sitting there are no signs of the flow receding. Here are a few of the things that have happened: Governor Chandler has visited President Roosevelt. The President tried to curb the Governor's ambitions to become U. S. Senator, Alben W. Barkley, Kentucky's Senior member of the Senate, whose seat is being eyed by the Governor, challenged the Governor to a race for the re-nomination, which within itself appears to be a case of the champion challenging the challenger. Governor Chandler was promised the support of no less than seven of the eleven Democratic legislators from Jefferson county, if he runs for the Senate. This indicated that Mickey Brenan, Louisville,'s political impressario is not in absolute command of all that he surveys, as is generally supposed. This indicated the rise of a new political faction in Louisville and Jefferson County, one which will test its strength this summer. Senator M. M. Logan declared that he was not ready to go to the sacrificial altar and take a permanent job in order that his seat could be declared vacant to make way for the appointment of Chandler to the Senate. All the while the public prints are effervescing with the hottest political news of the decade, Chandler vs. Barkley, the General Assembly continues to plough furrow after furrow in an effort to be ready to adjourn sine die on March 1.

* * *

The Barkley adherants were given a jar last week when an innocent looking bill, Senate Bill No. 125 was introduced by Senator E. T. Wesley, Pulaski County Republican. The bill would change the date of the primary election from the first Saturday in August to the first Tuesday in June. This change would have materially injured the chances of Senator Barkley in the coming primary. Had the bill passed (It still is an issue) the primaries would have been over just about the time that Senator Barkley would have come back to Kentucky for his Summer vacation, at which time he planned to do his campaigning. The Bill will not pass according to Governor Chandler, who is against it. He declared that he was not aware of such a bill being prepared for presentation and that he would bend an effort to beat the bill. He declared that he would not favor such a bill because it would appear that he was its instigator and that it had been brought out for the express purpose of handicapping Senator Barkley in his race. With the Governor declared against the bill, there is little chance that it will ever come to a vote. It has been referred to the committee on Sufferage and Elections. However, the rules committee took hold of all bills Wednesday and whether this body, which will delve into all measures not yet acted upon, will act on the bill remains to be seen.

* * *

The reason that the action of the Jefferson County legislative delegation attracted so much attention was that Jefferson county has concentrated within its confines, a great number of votes and by being able to sway that section, any candidate has a much better chance of election. The uprising came to a head when Brennan was called from Louisville to meet with the delegation early one morning last week. The situation was discussed over a breakfast table. When Brennan called the roll seven men, Senators Atkisson, Mayer and Hettnger and Representatives Gnau, Rollo, Farnsley and Eyl jolted the Louisville Irishmen by definitely declaring themselves for Chandler. It is known that the night before this meeting that Representative Norman Curtis declared that he was for Chandler but because of his affiliations, was hesitant. Already two of Brennan's stalwarts, Shackelford Miller and Miss Lennie McLaughlin have cast their lot with Barkley. The former has taken the post as Barkley's campaign manager. However, two other affiliants with Brennan, George Wetherby and John Dugan two young powers that have shown great strength in past races and each with a big following and both with progressive ideas, have outwardly declared themselves for Chandler.

Although the Governor has not yet announced for the nomination for Senate, he has taken a careeful survey of the state and has taken the pulse of each selection and when he does announce he will feel that he has a fairly accurate picture of the situation and will believe that he can win.

* * *

While the Legislature is running on good routine, the Highway Department heeded the plea of the Free Bridge tool advocates. Commissioner Robert Humphreys announced that as an experiment, the toll on three state owned bridges, approaching Paducah, would be cut to twenty-five cents. The free Toll Bridge Associations have been driving hard at the Administration since last summer in an effort to free the bridges. It was found that such would be highly impracticable at the time, however Commissioner Humphreys at the time the fever for free bridges was at its height, promised to do something about the situation. Last week he met with the association in Paducah and the result is the 90 day experiment. If the amount of toll at the reduced rate, remains at any way near the level it is expected to, then the experiment will cease to be an experiment and become permanent.

* * *

Random Shots: Child marriages in Kentucky will be impossible if Senate Bill No. 96, to declare prohibited and void, marriages between males under 18 years old and females under 16. The Bill was offered by Senator Otis White of Butler county. . . . John Hunnicutt, majority floor leader in the house, was rendered hors de combat last week when he suffered a broken rib in an automobile accident. The injury was so painful that he had to relinquish his duties for a day. Rhodes K. Meyers of Bowling Green took the lead in the absence of Hunnicutt . . . Another marriage bill met with the approval of the Administration and is likely to become a law. The bill proposes to require applicants for marriage licenses to furnish a certificate that they are free from disease. There was a report that this bill did not meet with the favor of several county clerks because it was likely to cut into the fees of their office. However, Governor Chandler declared that he was of the opinion that no clerk was willing to put the health and happiness of a mother and child above the fee for a marriage license . . . The liquor Control bill is being remade again . . . The measure has run the gauntlet twice before and although it was considered good when it was first made, it did not meet with the approval of enough Senators to assure its passage. . . . It is the belief of this column that this measure will not be passed in this regular session.

CITIES CHISEL ON RELIEF

Minnesota's three metropolitan counties that include St. Paul, Minneapolis and Duluth pull down $3,352,971 public relief money. Eighty-four additional counties get $977,497 from the State's direct relief fund. With all their tremendous taxable assets these Minnesota cities are as greedy chiselers as New York City, Chicago, and a long line of metropolitan districts throughout the nation. I have a letter from the editor of the Prairie News at Lester Prairie, Minnesota, which says:

"In addition to carrying a considerable portion of the relief costs of the mertopolitan centers of this State, the rural communities also pay considerable more in taxes into the Federal Treasury than is returned to them. I, of course, am speaking of the counties that are able to pay, such as the middle and southern counties of this State."

Nothing illustrates better the injustice that result from the Federal system of relief, conducted on the theory that the Government has such superior qualities in its brain-trusts than exists in the States—local communities of the country.

Here in Washington we are always hearing about the poor farmers. Poor indeed, when agricultural counties of Minnesota and other States are compelled to help support the chiseling administrations ruled over by smart politicians. Isn't it time to change the existing system by which a centralized Government in the National Capital usurps the rights of the States and the local communities?—J. E. Jones, in National Industries News Service.

Cutting Wedding Cake Calls for Real Skill

DEAR Mrs. Post: I was at a very miniature wedding reception recently. In fact, there were only ten persons present. But it was one of the loveliest after-wedding parties I have ever known. It was late afternoon and almost dark, the dining table was set with a lace cloth and candelabra, there was a small bride's cake ornamented with the wedding couple's first names and a bride and groom figurine set on top, and there was champagne to drink the traditional toasts. Unlike all other weddings at which I have been, at this one I sat close enough so that I could watch the wedding cake being cut, and I never before realized that this could be such a task. The bride pierced the cake with the point of the blade but when she tried to bring the side of the blade down through the cake, the slice broke into many pieces. One of the guests took the knife then but her luck was just about the same. I have wondered since the wedding whether there was any right way to cut a wedding cake, or is it, as in this case, just a matter of chance?

Answer: Of course you don't tell me whether the cake was not very fresh, or perhaps the knife very dull. In any case, the best way to cut wedding cake is to spear it first and with the knife in this same point down position, continue to stab the slice all the way across. If after the first stab is made, the knife blade is brought down as though it were a lever, the piece invariably crumbles even though the blade is very sharp.

Butter Balls Remain

DEAR Mrs. Post: Has the vogue for "butter balls" gone out? Several years ago it seemed that every hostess served fancy designs of individual butter portions but today I never see them anywhere.

Answer: No, I think butter balls are still seen in many houses although it is true that in quite as many others butter is simply cut neatly into squares. The reason is probably that of time saving since very few of us have as many servants as we used to. One might, in fact, say that comparatively few have any.

YOU hear a lot about 1938 models . . . 90-horse power engines . . . longer wheel base . . . uni-steel bodies . . . four wheel brakes, etc. But let us tell you about our engines and cars . . . Locomotives, —hundreds of them—with 1600 horse power and more "under the hood" . . . Coaches and Pullmans with all the "new car" features—no-draft ventilation —dust proof—completely air-conditioned.

Steel bodies? We have had them for years! Brakes —the best kind built—air compression. Safety is our wachword, you know. Why, we haven't killed a passenger in a train accident for over 20 years.

What about economy, you say? 2 cents a mile in coaches, 2½ to 3 cents a mile in Pullmans. We figure all these features just about make train travel the cheapest and most satisfactory you can use.

P. S. We do the driving for you. Relax while we watch the road—and get you there safely!

Surveys to Evaluate Work of Federal Relief Announced

Louisville, Ky., Feb. 8—Surveys to evaluate the work of the various Federal relief agencies in Kentucky, since the Government entered this field in 1932, was announced today by George H. Goodman, administrator for the Works Progress Administration.

Has this work been useful and permanent, or has it been "boondoggling" and "leaf-raking?" Have relief workers given honest labor to the best of their abilities, or have they leaned on their shovels and imposed upon the nation's generosity? Has the workmanship been good or indifferent? Has it been more constructive and more American to give work to the able-bodied and needy unemployed, in view of the added cost, than merely to provide them with food and shelter and let them wait in idleness for private jobs?

"These are the questions," Mr. Goodman said, "the Nation wants answered. The best and most important source of such information and constructive criticism is the front line of local officials who have worked with Federal work relief machinery to fit local unemployed and local needs together in Kentucky."

Consequently, Mr. Goodman added, letters have gone out to State, County and City officials urging them to participate in this survey and to be utterly frank in their observation of Federal efforts in their respective communities. Actual personal experiences with the program—whether these officials feel their communities have gained or lost, in public facilities, in morale of the jobless, in community standards of living, in fiscal standing are urged in the letter.

All Federal agencies employing relief labor such as K. E. R. A., C. W. A., W. P. A., P. W. A., and N. Y. A., are to be included, Mr. Goodman pointed out.

These evaluations made by State, County and City officials, Mr. Goodman said, will be assembled in the Louisville office of the Works Progress Administration at the earliest date possible. There all of the data collected in the State will be submitted to an Appraisal Committee of prominent Kentuckians, not yet named, which in turn will make a combined evaluation appraisal for the State at large.

This latter appraisal is to be placed in the hands of a National Appraisal Committee at Washington not later than March 8, and therefrom will be drawn the complete picture of work relief in all of its forms in the Nation.

Full publicity will be given these evaluations all along the line, Mr. Goodman promised.

"One of the greatest questions before the Nation today," Mr. Goodman pointed out, "is unemployment and how to deal with it. In a welter of conflicting views the one thing opinion seems united upon is that we should have more knowledge of the problem, as a basis for sound constructive planning.

"A nation-wide registration of unemployed has recently been made in an effort to measure the size of the problem.

"Until now no agency has attempted to compile comprehensive nation-wide information on the results of the Federal Works Program. The extent to which communities of this State and the Nation have been able to create lasting improvements and valuable public services through constructive use of the abilities of their own destitute unemployed, made available by the various Federal job-giving programs."

National cooperating agencies in the appraisal, Mr. Goodman said are: The American Association of Planning Officials, American Institute of Architects, American Municipal Association, American Public Welfare Association, National Aeronautic Association, National Education Association, National Research Association, United States Bureau of Public Roads, United States Conference of Mayors and the Works Progress Administration

CARD OF THANKS

In the midst of our sorrow and grief we are not unmindful of the many kind acts bestowed upon us by our friends and neighbors in the loss of our dear father,

George Huey Stevenson

We especially want to thank those who remembered him with beautiful floral offerings and other evidences of sympathy; also Bro. Johnson for his kind and consoling words; the ones who rendered the beautiful songs; the pallbearers; the Road Department for assisting us on the road in our trouble and Philip Taliaferro, the undertaker for the efficient manner in conducting the funeral.

The Bereaved Family

IN LOVING MEMORY

From this world of pain and sorrow
To the land of peace and rest
God has taken our dear father
Where there is found eternal rest.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my beloved husband, Claud Stephenson, who passed away Sept. 16, 1937.
No one knows how I miss you
No one knows the bitter pain;
It is lonesome here without you,
Life will never be the same.
Sadly missed by his wife.
—Lula.

STORE IS ROBBED AT RABBIT HASH

BLOOD HOUNDS ARE BROUGHT FROM LEXINGTON TO TRAIL ROBBERS—$40.00 IS ESTIMATED LOSS.

Thieves gained entrance to John Ryle's store at Rabbit Hash last Thursday night by breaking a window and released the lock, which allowed them to enter the building through the small storage room at the side of the main building.

The culprits broke open the cash register, obtaining approximately $10.00 in cash, and took several pairs of overalls, watches, knives, and other small items. The loss was estimated at approximately $40.00.

Bloodhounds were called from Lexington and put on the trail of the robbers. They were trailed to the edge of the river on the Kentucky side and the bloodhound picked the trail up on the Indiana side, which led a short distance toward Rising Sun.

Fingerprints were taken and turned over to Indiana authorities who are making an effort to trace the robbers. At this time no information has been received from the Indiana police.

OLD-AGE BENEFITS BEING INCREASED

STEADILY IN COVINGTON DISTRICT, ACCORDING TO FRANK B. DECKER, MANAGER OF THE OFFICE.

The amounts which are being paid out as lump-sum benefits under the Social Security Act are increasing steadily in the Covington, Kentucky District, according to Frank B. Decker, Jr., Manager of the office in the Coppin Building. According to report recently received from the Social Security Board in Washington, claims for lump-sum payments under the old-age insurance plan of the Social Security Act were certified during January at the rate of 942 per working day, Mr. Decker stated. Six months ago, in August, the daily rate was 165 from which level it climbed steadily through September, October, November and December, the successive average daily rates for each month being 228, 363, 381 and 590.

During January a total of $745,691 was certified for payment to 23,538 claimants—workers who reached the age of 65 and the estates of workers who died. The average amount of each payment was $31.68, or almost double the average of $17.00 for all claims paid up to the end of August.

Pennsylvania with 2,929 headed the list in number of claims certified, but the greatest amount of money went to New York where $97,175 was distributed among 2,768 claimants. The State with the highest average $39.24 was New Jersey, where 1,144 claims were certified.

The largest claim that has been certified went to an employee who reached the age of 65. He received a lump-sum payment in January of $525. The largest death claim certified was $420.

Since the Government's old age insurance plan went into effect on January 1, 1937, $2,028,207 has been certified for payment to 76,775 claimants. Each of the claims paid amounts to 3½ percent of the total wages paid to wage earners.

Claims are now being paid to workers who reach the age of 65, after having been employed in fields covered by the Social Security Act. They are also being paid to the heirs of those who have died after having been employed in this manner, Mr. Decker stated.

March 1st Last Day Of Grace For Car Owners

C. D. Benson, County Court Clerk, of Boone County stated that Tuesday, March 1st is the last day of grace for auto owners using 1937 license plates. Mr. Benson stated that all automobile owners should make an effort to obtain their licenses before this date due to the last minute rush. If all car owners wait until the last day to obtain their licenses it will be impossible for the clerk and his assistant to take care of the applicants.

John Moore's house was slightly damaged by fire Sunday. The blaze was quickly extinguished by the Hebron fire department. The fire started from an electric iron.

Lillard Scott Is Much Improved

Lillard Scott, who was recovering from a recent operation for double hernia was suddenly stricken with an attack of coronary thrombosies.

He was placed under an oxygen tent which was removed for 18 minutes Tuesday morning and one and one-half hours Tuesday night. Wednesday morning in a telephone conversation authorities at Christ Hospital stated that the tent had been removed for two hours and that Mr. Scott was much improved.

Fire Destroys Vacant House

The property of Mrs. Lafontaine, of Erlanger, Ky., located on the Dixie Highway near Cabindale was completely destroyed by fire Monday night before fire departments and help could be summoned.

The house was vacant at the time, but was being remodeled and made into a business house. The estimated loss was $2,000.00.

Origin of the fire was unknown as the fire was completely beyond control before it was discovered.

Mr. Floyd L. Miller and Mrs. Johnst Northcutt of the Dixie Heights P.-T. A. were business callers at this office Wednesday morning.

Equalization Board In Session Here

The Board of Tax Equalization of Boone County is now in session at the courthouse, Burlington, and anyone who has a complaint to make about their tax assessments must appear before this board for adjustment.

The members of the Board this year are: Hugh Stephens, Union; Hubert Conner, Hebron; L. D. Rennecker, Florence and Wilton Stephens, Tax Commissioner.

The board is expected to be in session until Monday of next week.

APPLE SCAB IS PROBLEM

TO LOCAL FRUIT GROWERS—SAID TO BE CAUSE OF GREATEST LOSS IN PRODUCTION OF PROFITABLE FRUIT.

Local fruit growers, in a series of meetings held in Boone County last Thursday and Friday, considered apple scab the cause of greatest loss in the production of profitable market fruit, according to H. R. Forkner, county agent. Scab was found to vary greatly in its attack on different varieties. Many growers the past season were unable to control the disease through their spray schedules.

Mr. W. W. Magill, orchard field agent from the College of Agriculture, was a principal speaker at all three meetings held. Mr. Magill stated the scab control problem had become greater since the growers switched from lime sulphur to oil for the dormant sprays. The oil has proven a superior kill for scale but does not affect scab. The cold winter of 1936 killed most of the scale. Since scale control is not at present an important factor, Mr. Magill considered it highly important that growers use a delayed dormant lime sulphur spray of one gallon to eight strength and to apply at least two lime sulphur sprays of one to 40 strength before bloom, a weak Bordeaux spray in full bloom and a 1 to 40 lime sulphur petal fall spray. These are considered the most important sprays in scab control.

Spray schedules for various types of fruits may be secured at the county agent's office in Burlington. Plans have been made for the holding of late summer tours in leading orchards to study results of spray scheduled followed.

Burlington Man Is Summoned

Wm. W. Green, 76, passed away Saturday morning at his home, in Burlington, after an illness of several weeks from carcimona.

Mr. Green was well known thruout Boone county, and his friends were numbered by his acquaintances.

The body was prepared in the home by Chambers & Grubbs, Walton Funeral Directors and remained in state until Monday morning.

Funeral services were conducted at the Belleview Baptist Church Monday morning at 10:00, with Rev. Raymond Smith, officiating, in the presence of a large assemblage of relatives and freinds.

She leaves two daughters, Mrs. Harry W. Shearer and Mrs. G. W. Bodker; a sister, Mrs. Charlotte Davrinville, San Antonio, Tex., and a granddaughter, Helen Hall Schearer.

Truck Growers Hear Gardner

Mr. John S. Gardner, field agent in truck crops of the College of Agriculture, spoke to truck crop growers in a meeting at Constance school house last Wednesday evening. Mr. Gardner gave recommendations for new varieties of crops and methods of insect and disease control.

The Constance - Taylorsport growers have planned a good constructive truck crops improvement program for 1938. Mr. John P. Dolwick is chairman of the local program.

WILL CELEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Mart Benson

Mr. and Mrs. Mart Benson, Walton, will be married 50 years on the 22nd day of February, this year, having spent their entire lives in Boone County. They are the parents of C. D. Benson, County Clerk, Burlington and Mrs. J. A. Baird, of Knoxville, Tennessee. There are also four grandchildren to bring added happiness to the lives of Mr. and Mrs. Benson.

Mr. Benson has been a very successful carpenter for over forty years, and both have enjoyed the best of health up until the last two years.

The Recorder joins with their many friends over the entire county in wishing them many more years of happiness together.

Sheep Specialist Will Be Speaker At Walton Mon.

R. C. Miller, sheep specialist of the College of Agriculture, will meet with Boone County sheep raisers in a meeting at Walton high school Monday, February 21 at 7:00 p. m., according to H. R. Forkner, county agent.

Mr. Miller will discuss latest developments in market lamb improvement and results of recent work in stomach worm and parasite control. Results being secured in the recently organized Sheep Protective Association will also be discussed on the program.

All who are interested in sheep production are invited to attend.

Date Is Set To Organize Fire Department

There will be a meeting at the courthouse Thursday night, Feb. 17 at 7:30 p. m. for the purpose of organizing a local fire department. All people who are interested in this project are cordially invited to attend.

Walton Auto Victim Passes

Harry Simmons, 56, of Walton, carpenter, died early Friday at St. Elizabeth Hospital, Covington, of injuries suffered when he was struck by an automobile on the Walton-Verona Highway near his home late Wednesday.

Dr. James P. Riffe, Kenton county coroner, reported death was due to injuries suffered in the accident. The victim had suffered concussion of the brain and a compound fracture of the right leg.

Sam Jones Hudson, Walton, the driver of the car which struck Simmons, told police that he was blinded by the lights of an approaching car and could not avoid striking the victim.

His body was taken to Chambers & Grubbs Funeral Home, Walton, for preparation, and laid in State until Sunday, where the funeral services were conducted by Bro. D. E. Bedinger, assisted by Bro. John Roberts and Bro. Alford, in the presence of a large assembly of relatives and friends, after which the remains were laid to rest in Walton cemetery.

He leaves his widow, 1 daughter and 1 son, 7 grand children, 3 brothers to mourn his passing.

Chambers and Grubbs were in charge of arrangements.

Kinman Holds Record Sale

Col. R. G. Kinman, of the R. G. Kinman Realty Auction Co., 408 Coppin Bldg., Covington reports the sale Saturday of the 173-acre Willeford farm, was in his opinion, attended by more persons than any other public auction ever held in Boone or Gallatin counties. Autos were parked for miles around the scene of the sale.

Everything advertised was sold at good prices, and everybody concerned was well satisfied.

Jersey Herd Is Offered At Auction

Mr. Robert W. Terrill, one of Boone County's pioneer purebred Jersey breeders will hold a dispersal sale at his farm on the Commissary Road, two miles from Petersburg on this coming Tuesday, February 22nd, beginning at 11:30 a. m. Forty head of purebred Jersey cows, bulls and heifers will be sold at public auction.

Mr. Terrill has spent more than fifteen years selecting and breeding up one of the good Jersey herds in Northern Kentucky. Mr. Terrill states he is forced to sell his herd because the home farm on which he has conducted his operations is being sold to settle the estate. We wish Mr. Terrill a most successful sale.

Scout Troop Is Organized

Constance has organized a Boy Scout troop, and anyone living in or near Constance desiring to become a member of the troop are requested to make application to Mr. Shirley Hempfling or Mr. Ben Kottmyer.

Large Crowd Attends Dance

A large crowd was in attendance at the Young Men's Democratic dance held at Koenig's Club House end of Ft. Mitchell car line Saturday night.

These dances are sponsored by the club and money derived from entertainment is used for a worthy cause.

Those in attendance stated that the dance music was excellent and that the floor show was very entertaining.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Lucas had as their guests Tuesday evening, their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Ryle and little daughter, Phyllis.

Hebron Takes Hamilton Boys

Hebron high defeated the Hamilton Farmers Friday night by a score of 39 to 20, placing them as leaders in the Boone County Conference by a half-game margin.

A new star gained attention of the Hebron fans, Turner led in the firing with a total of 12. Aylor was best for the losers with nine.

The Walton basket ball team playing a fine brand of defensive basketball, held the Morgan high team four points in a little less than three-quarters. Walton won the battle, 40 to 19. Is was played on the Walton floor.

Osborne made 16 points while his teammate, Pennington, collected 10. Jenkins collected seven for the losers.

The Florence Knights trounced the Burlington boys in one of the hardest fought games witnesses on the Florence floor this season, by a score of 33 to 31. Both teams showed much improvement and were fighting all the time.

Huey was high point man for the Burlington boys, with 10 points, while Shotwell led the Florence Knights with 12 points to his credit.

The Burlington Independents also went down in defeat at the hands of the Florence Independents by a score of 21 to 23. A. Sebree was high point man for the Burlington boys with 14 points. R. Scott was high point man for the visitors with 10 points to his credit.

FIRE DESTROYS CAR, GARAGE

IN BURLINGTON EARLY MONDAY MORNING—ELSMERE AND FLORENCE FIRE DEPARTMENT RESPOND TO CALL.

The citizens of Burlington were aroused early Monday morning by the explosion of several shotgun shells, and upon investigation discovered that the garage of C. D. Benson, County Court Clerk, was enveloped by flames.

Several spread the alarm and in a very short time practically all of the town's population was at the scene. Both Florence and Elsmere Fire Departments were summoned, and responded to the call.

The car, a 1938 Ford, the garage and all its contents were destroyed. A small building only a few feet from the garage was saved by a bucket brigade formed by local citizens. The loss was estimated at approximately $900 which was covered by only $550 insurance. Mr. Benson stated that the garage contained many articles of value.

The Florence and Elsmere Fire Departments deserve much praise in their efforts. Although the fire was well under control when these departments arrived, their assistance will be long remembered by the citizens of this town.

A fire department is very much needed in our town. Even though a small pumper could be obtained, it would add much to the safetly of our citizens and their property. No doubt, if some kind of fire fighting equipment could be obtained the insurance rates in our little city would be materially reduced.

According to a report, (unofficial), Elsmere has a small cistern pumper which they would be willing to dispose of, probably at a small charge. This kind of equipment would add much to the safety of the citizens and their property.

Four-H Clubs Hold Meetings

Six Boone County 4-H clubs held their 1938 organization meetings the past week with record enrollment, according to H. R. Forkner, county agent. The six clubs, New Haven, Hebron, Walton, Verona, Hamilton, and Petersburg, enrolled a total of 294 members.

Burlington, Florence, Grant and Taylorsport clubs have meeting dates set for this week and next. These clubs are expected to boost the 1938 enrollment to between 450 and 500 members.

New Haven and Hebron 4-H clubs to date have tied with 82 members each for the largest enrollment in Boone County 4-H club history. Burlington, and Florence clubs, organizing this week, have possibilities of exceeding this number. Boone County 4-H club members are increasing in both number and quality. All indications are for a history making 4-H club year in 1938.

Hon. Frank C. Green, of Louisville, former Commonwealth Attorney for this district, was in this town a short time Tuesday afternoon on business. Mr. Green served as Commonwealth Attorney of this district prior to Hon. Orie S. Ware.

608 FORMS FORWARDED

TO WASHINGTON FOR PAYMENT —163 ADDITIONAL FORMS TO BE FORWARDED FRIDAY OF THIS WEEK.

Six hundred and eight completed application for payment forms were forwarded to Washington thru the State office on Wednesday of this week, according to H. R. Forkner, county agent. One hundred and sixty-three addition forms will be completed and forwarded the state office by Friday of this week.

John E. Crigler, Secretary of the Boone Conty ACP Association, reports that approximately 189 applications for payment forms have not been signed or received at the county office to date. The sooner these forms are signed, the sooner they will be forwarded for payment. The county office is exerting every effort to clear application forms at the earliest possible date after they are signed.

THE YOUNG DRIVER

In a report just issued by traffic experts of the American Association for the Advancement of Science figures show that the most deadly class of drivers in the U. S. today are those in their teens. In fact, these same figures show that the driver in his teens is causing every year almost double the number of lives taken by average drivers in all other age classifications.

Most accidents, as shown by the report which covers a five-year period and a study of more than 2,000,000 traffic fatalities, are caused by drivers between 16 and 20 years of age. Drivers at the age of 19 get the worst rating of all, while it is shown that if motorists under 25 drove as safely as older operators 8,000 lives would be saved every year.

These are staggering and impressive figures, and should be given careful thought by every citizen—especially those who have a boy or girl under 20 accustomed to operate a car. Drivers license laws carrying an age limitation have helped in some sections, but that is far from being a solution to the problem of what to do to make the teen-age driver less deadly. Safety instruction in schools will bring about a certain measure of relief from the annual toll of death. But the schools, for some unknown reason, do not go in for safety instruction as heartily as they should. So the country goes on gasping at the annual death list, wholly unable to control the teenage drivers or to invest any way whereby their parents might be made to assume so much of the responsibility that they would hasten to take a hand in the matter. And that, after all, may be where the final solution lies.

VALUE OF THRIFT

We read in an interesting publication known as "Thrift Magazine" that statistics gathered over a long period of years show that 57 percent of American citizens—more than one-half the population—haven't as much as $2,000 in money or property, or both, when they reach the age of 65 years. In other words, more than one-half of our population is dependent upon somebody else for a living, or on charity, when it reaches 65. That is a startling revelation and one certainly worth pondering over. It ought to prove a powerful sermon to boys who are starting out to earn their way in the world, or to the man in business who has still some years to go before reaching 65. In a land of good wages and banks paying a reasonable rate of interest on deposited money there doesn't seem to be any excuse for such a deplorable condition. But the fact remains that it exists and it probably will exist until more people wake up to the fact that the most valuable habit anyone can acquire is the habit of thrift—saving against the days when they won't be able to earn.

TOO MANY PAINS

Every notice that there appears to be more different kinds of aches and pains and general physical complaints than used to be the case. Not that the health of the community isn't as good as in former years, for it is. But more people seem to make public their ailments than in other years.

We've done a lot of wondering about it and have reached the conclusion that changing habits of eating and varieties of food has a lot to do with it. This generation isn't eating like the former one. This one goes in more for canned and fancy prepared foods. Housewives don't can the roughage their mother did—pickles, corn, hominy, beets and that type of stuff. Now they can more jellies, jams and preserves. We are not finding fault with the changed custom—we are merely wondering if back of it doesn't lie the real reason for more minor hpysical ailments than befell our fathers and mothers in earlier days.

The death rate isn't as high now as formerly, for which everyone is truly thankful. We are more healthy, yet more complaining; we wear fewer clothes, yet we are more minor physical ailments than proposition any way you take it, and no one seems to know the answer to it unless it is "stylish" nowadays to brag about your ailments.

STITCHES IN TIME

No matter how well you may be fixed for accessories on your car, and even though you seldom drive it more than a few miles from home, you still lack a very important requisite for safety if you haven't a "first aid" kit of some sort under the front seat. At a cost of but a few cents any motorist can buy a roll of medicated gauze bandage, a little package of absorbent cotton, a vial of arnica, a bit of adhesive tape, some vaseline and, to make the kit complete, a bottle of cramp and colic medicine. You may never need any of these safeguards, but they are a wonderful protection in the event of accident or sudden illness, when it may not be easy to get in contact with medical aid. Or it would come in handy if you found someone along the highway who had fallen a victim of misfortune. It doesn't take up much room in the car, just as this suggestion takes up but little space in the paper, yet the value of a "first aid" kit, like the value of the suggestion, cannot be measured by the space it occupies.

THINK OF THIS

There was an item in the daily papers the other day to the effect that a big Chicago food manufacturer has announced he will spend a million dollars in advertising his products in 1938. When asked why, he answered: "Because advertising speaks to everybody, and I can talk to only a few. How can I sell them what they want if I don't tell them that I've got it for sale? I can't visit every house in the United States and tell the people living in those houses that if they'll buy my products they will save money. But the newspapers and magazines can visit every home, and they do. So I am going to have them carry my message into homes that I can not get it into in any other way." There's a whole sermon in a few words, and an argument that no one can successfully dispute. There is also an example in it for any other man who has something to sell. "How can you sell someone what they want to buy if you don't let them know you've got it for sale?" There's something for every man in business to think over.

THE GOOD OLD DAYS

England's distinguished prophet of the future, Mr. H. G. Wells, has again been indulging in his favorite pastime, a study of pre-dated history. From the comparative safety of his 1938 vantage point, Mr. Wells has enjoyed a long look at the world, vintage circa 1988.

The political situation, he reports, isn't going to change very much in the next fifty years. The turn of the century will find the adjectives "insincere, irrational, violent, convulsive, cruel, horrible and war-like," still useful when describing the governors and governments of the world.

For the average man, he has a more hopeful view. Just as the common man of today, he declares, "is healthier, better informed, better fed, clothed and housed" than his ancestor of the Gay Nineties, in like mariner the man of 1988 will be in a more comfortable position than the man of '38.

Will this make the man of tomorrow any happier than his present relative? Not a bit of it, says Mr. Wells. He'll grouse about all this modern stuff, and go on looking back with envy at the good old days of 1938.

A CHEMICAL BLOCKADE

When next the sun and rain of summer bring out the poliomyelitis virus and the annual threat of an infantile paralysis epidemic the happy combination of a new medical discovery and the means of putting it into effect, may save thousands of young lives before winter comes.

After reams of research, two Stanford University scientists, Dr E. W. Schultz and Bacteriologist L. P. Beghardt, have developed a chemical barrier which shuts off the virus from the nerve centers it ravages. Using zinc sulphate as a building material, the scientists have learned to construct a wall in the nasal passages to block the attacking virus.

Tested theoretically under laboratory conditions, the zinc sulphate treatment was first used by physicians during last summer's Toronto epidemic. Continued development, as in all medical innovations, had by this week made further testing of the treatment imperative. Such a test has been made possible through funds just contributed by the President's Birthday Celebration committee.

Thus does science combine with a national celebration to give young America a birthday gift, a gift which may well mean "many happy returns of the day" to thousands of youngsters.

AN INSPIRATION

Teach your boy that the man who never does any more than he gets paid for, never gets paid for any more than he does.

THE SKI'S THE LIMIT

One thing about America! When she does things, she does them with all sails set and banners flying. This year, with snowy mountains in style and "slalom" on every lip, the ski's the limit.

Whether it's a barrel-stave slide down the back street or a deluxe swoop via airplane into the millionaire's hide-out at Sun Valley, skiing seems to be defenitely "the thing" for 1938. People who used to turn up their collars and run at the first sign of the little white flakes, now grin with glee and run—for the nearest mountainside. Oldsters who once complained if the neighbor's sidwalk was a bit snowy, now hunt the deepest drifts to try their tricks with the sticks. And the youngsters! A sled used to be fast enough for most modern kids, but now they insist on a forty mile-per-hour clip down-wind through the trees.

Perhaps it's all part of the faster-paced life we're leading. Perhaps the love of speed has become so vital to us that we have to feel the zip of time and space speeding past us, even while playing.

At any rate, it's a vital, zestful sport. A nation whose citizens can take a hundred headers into a snow drift and come up similing, isn't going to let a little icy gully like a business recession lick it.

ERLANGER

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Martin, of Willow St., spent Sunday with Mr and Mrs. Frank Watson.

Mrs. Elmer Goodridge is ill with tonsilitis.

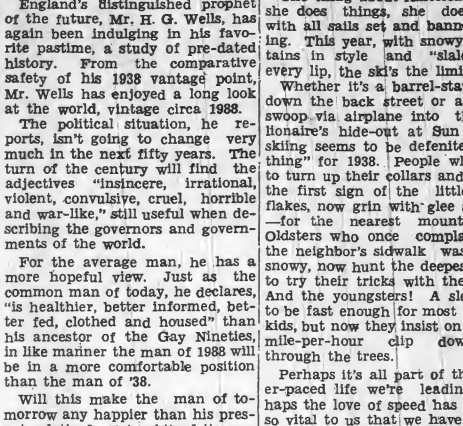
The North Bend Baptist Training Union met at Elsmere Baptist Church Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. A large crowd attended and a good program was put on by the Lationa, Madison Ave., and Immanuel Churches.

The Fidelis class of the Elsmere Baptist church held their regular monthly meeting Tuesday evening.

The children of Elsmere graded school attended the basketball game at Locust Street school Friday afternoon.

Miss Lillian Mullikin, of Georgetown, and Floyd Mason were married February 11th at the home of Rev. J. A. Miller.

The funeral of Mrs. Frank Hall was held Saturday, with services from Taliaferro's funeral home. Burial was in Burlington cemetery. She leaves two daughters, Mrs. Harry Shearer and Mrs. Will Bodker, of Newport.



Approximately 50 Rockcastle county farmers made a farm inventory the first two weeks in January.

Clarence Middleton, Harlan county, has bought 2,000 pounds of lespedeza seed to sow on his farm this spring.

One hundred and fifty-one pieces of pottery were decorated by Mason county homemakers.

CHOOSING COMPANIONS IN SERVICE

LESSON TEXT—Mark 3:7-19, 31-35.

GOLDEN TEXT—For whosoever shall do the will of God, the same is my brother—Mark 3:35.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Twelve Men Who Went With Jesus.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Twelve Men Who Went With Jesus.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Working With Others for Christ.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Comradeship in Christian Service.

"God can save a man who is all alone on the top of the Alps." So spoke one who sought to discourage another who wanted to give his life for Christian service. No one questions that God could thus carry on His work in sovereign power, and that there are times when He does that very thing. But ordinarily God works through men. It was "the sword of the Lord, and of Gideon" (Judges 7:18).

What a glorious, inspiring truth it is that God calls men into companionship with Him for service. Sinful and weak though they be they may become strong and holy, and do valiant service for Him.

I. The Need of Christian Workers (vv. 7-11).

Although the hostility to Christ was growing apace among the religious leaders, the people thronged about Him in the hope they might have deliverance from the devil and from disease. The need was so great that the Lord Jesus now prepared to call those who were to be His fellow-servants.

The multitudes are in just as desperate need of Christ and of the ministry of His church today. Why, then, do they not crowd the churches and press in around His servants? That is the question over which leaders of the church are puzzled. There may be many reasons, but we suggest two as being at least worthy of careful thought. The first is that we live in a time of apostasy. In the time of Christ men had only begun to hear His message of deliverance. In our day men have heard and heard again and have hardened their hearts.

Another reason is that in many, perhaps most, instances, the church has so far separated itself from the Lord that it has no power. Needy men are not interested in the dead observance of religious forms. They want to see the workings of the power of the Most High God!

Whether men know their need or not, whether they throng our churches or not, their very need of Christ should impel us to serve the Master in reaching them. The love of Christ should constrain us.

II. The Call to Christian Work (vv. 12-19).

Much might be said at this point but we must limit ourselves to two thoughts. Note that the Lord chooses his own workers; we do not choose to work for Him. Then be encouraged by the fact that He chose men of widely differing gifts, temperaments, and personal characteristics.

Then we note that He called some of unusual ability, others with little ability; some learned, and some unlearned—fishermen, a tax-gatherer, and others of various occupations. Note that none were by profession preachers. What a comfort it is to those who are in Christian work to remember that it is not what we are or may have been that counts; it is what Christ is and what he can do through us!

III. Preparation for Christian Work (vv. 31-35).

God has many ways to prepare His servants—but it seems that they all experience the heart-breaking disappointment of misunderstanding and the heart-warming joy of intimate fellowship with the Lord.

Look at verse 21 and you will realize that the family and friends of Jesus thought He was crazy because He devoted Himself so wholeheartedly to the service of His Father. Is it not strange that if a man becomes a scientist he is honored if he ruins his health in zealous research? If he is a business man he may burn the lights late in the pursuit of wealth, but if he chooses to give his life to the greatest of all occupations open to man—service for Christ—his friends and relatives try to deter him by calling him a fanatic.

Beautiful beyond words is the other side of our picture. Those who serve Him are "to be with Him" (v. 14). He sends them forth to preach, and gives them power. Yes, they even become the members of the most intimate family circle. "Behold . . . my brethren" (v. 34).

Vain Regrets and Grief

Forgive!—the years are slipping by, and Life is all too brief—A time will come when it's too late for vain regrets and grief.

Come Apart and Rest!

Even the busiest lives must have their breathing times, when the ordinary strain of effort is relaxed.

Unconscious Benefaction

It may well be that the good we unconsciously do exceeds the sum of all our purposed benefactions.

EXPERTS ADVISE ON BORROWING MONEY

Credit was one of the subjects given attention by speakers at the annual Farm and Home Convention at the University of Kentucky. Four rules to follow in borrowing money were presented by A. S. Goss, Federal Land Bank Commissioner.

1. One should borrow only when there is a reasonable expectation that the use of credit will improve his position or earning power and thus enable him to repay the borrowed money when due.

2. Credit will never take the place of income.

3. The giving of security does not discharge the debt.

4. The safest loan is that which is best adapted to the borrower's capacity to pay.

Each loan should stand on its own feet, Dr E. C. Young of Purdue University told farmers. One should know definitely what the money is to be used for, and that its use will return enough profit to repay it.

Then, Dr. Young throught farmers should be conservative about how much money they would make and be sure that their earnings would be sufficient to pay the loan.

He warned about scattering loans, having many small debts, borrowing money here and there.

"Be honest with yourself and keep a full and accurate statement of your total debts, open accounts and contingent liabilities," said Dr. Young. "Do not go security for other people unless you can afford to pay the bill. Persons who should borrow now have ample credit available and an opportunity to pledge their own assets as security, without asking your security."

KENTUCKY 4-H CLUB NEWS

CLOTHING PROJECTS have been receiving major attention in Breathitt county this winter, and comprise one of the most successful pieces of club work ever attempted in the county. A county-wide clothing show will be held in March.

TWO CARLOADS of calves will be purchased by Washington county club members, to fatten for the annual show and sale at the Bourbon Stock Yards in Louisville. Practically all project work for girls is already under way.

THE YEAR'S PROGRAM in Marion county includes a spring rally, a fall achievement day, community club picnics, entries in county and state contests, and an enrollment goal of 225.

FRANKLIN COUNTY farmers have organized a committee to help club members purchase calves to feed for the state cattle show and sale. It is planned to obtain financial assistance from a production credit association.

HOPKINS COUNTY plans for year: 12 clubs, 500 members; spring rally, April 10; 40 pigs for swine show; local, district and state fair exhibits and demonstrations; county achievement day in fall; quarterly conferences of county leaders and officers.

FIFTY-NINE TODD county boys grew 28,716 pounds of burley tobacco which they sold for $5,155 net. Twenty-five boys produced 14,080 pounds of one-sucker tobacco which they sold for $723. James Coleman received 10½ cents a pound for his one-sucker crop, the highest price.

TWENTY-SEVEN BOYS in Fulton and Hickman counties will grow an acre each of hybrid corn. Ten will raise beef calves, 13 own brood sows and 22 will fatten hogs.

38,387 BOYS, GIRLS IN 4-H CLUB WORK

The annual report of J. W. Whitehouse of the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture shows an enrollment last year of 38,387 farm boys and girls in 4-H club work. This includes 37,512 members in 4-H clubs in 119 counties and 875 young men and women in Utopia clubs, which are organizations for boys and girls who have passed the maximum 4-H club age of 18. This enrollment represents an increase of about 4,200 over that of 1936.

Four thousand, five hundred and sixty-two local leaders helped in club work last year, or 432 more than in 1936.

Four-H club members raised all kinds of livestock, grew tobacco, corn and other crops, canned foods, made clothing, engaged in landscape work, learned how to cook, and did many other things of educational and financial value.

Club members fattened 1,021 calves for the annual cattle show in Louisville, received $4,150 in prizes, and in addition made a profit on their calves. Many of the club boys raised their calves.

At nine tobacco shows held last fall, club members exhibited and sold 1,411,396 pounds of high quality leaf of their own growing. Nearly 6,000 boys grew tobacco last year. More than 1,000 were engaged in raising and finishing beef calves, and about half that many more in dairying. Nearly 5,000 boys and girls raised poultry; 2,698 raised hogs, and 2,328 grew corn. Fifteen hundred had home gardens, and 207 had market gardens. More than 7,000 girls were enrolled in clothing making, and several thousand canned fruits and vegetables.

TREES MAKE SCREENS FOR UNSIGHTLY SPOT

Use of trees to create screens for undesirable buildings or lots on farmsteads, is suggested by Prof. N. R. Elliott, landscape specialist at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

He would use large trees as backgrounds and for the framing of farm buildings. Such native trees in Kentucky are the elm, oak, tulip poplar, sweet gum, ash and walnut. Three to six large growing trees around buildings often are needed, he says. A variety of kinds is desirable for the best effect. Allow room for growth, setting them preferably 50 feet from buildings.

Medium-sized trees, such as red or sugar maple, may be used in space that is limited. They furnish additional screening. Other kinds in this group are pin oak, scarlet oak, wild cherry, black locust and Kentucky coffee trees.

Small trees are usually best located in groups of two to five of a kind; that is, two dogwood and three redbud may be set 12 feet apart to form an attractive group. Small trees furnish flowers, fruit and foliage, Mr. Elliott points out, and are among the most useful plants. In addition to dogwood and redbud, the small tree group includes red hall, black hall and service berry.

Another group of plants are the evergreens, which develop small or medium-sized trees and include the red cedars, holly and pines. However, Mr. Elliott suggests that evergreens be used sparingly.

A Franklin county public forum meeting weekly attracts 75 to 100 persons.

If we had guns of smaller calibre and men of larger calibre we would be a long step further on the road to peace.

A DIME OR A DOLLAR.

"Can ya gimme a dim for a cup'a coffee?" Those words, symbols of unemployment and hopelessness, are heard all too often on the nation's streets these winter months. With seven million men on the idle lists, less than half are now receiving federal aid. The remaining millions face the spectre of unemployment without the helping hand of government.

Such a fact would not have seemed startling in the days of "rugged individualism." But today, whether we like it or not, a new philosophy of relief fills the nation. Such words as "indigent" and "needy" are on their way into the purgatory of forgotten words. Relief has shed its charity rags and donned the robes of social justice. The unemployed of 1938 have learned to ask, not for a cup of coffee, but for a dollar dinner.

The demand for $3 billion in new relief funds just voiced by John L. Lewis is in line with this sort of thinking. The CIO leader reports that only 1,831.961 of the 7,000,000 unemployed are listed on the WPA rolls. What, he asks, is being done to take care of those other millions?

The multi-million dollar relief budget, like the poor, we seem destined to have with us always. The unemployed have come to greet Uncle Sam with an expectant "Welcome, Godfather!" Having accepted that post, the good uncle cannot now resign the position.

OUTLOOK FOR BURLEY IS CONSIDERED GOOD

The outlook for burley tobacco is considered good by the department of markets at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture and Experiment Station. Consumption has increased and stocks have declined. Although production last year was 12 percent above requirements, it is thought that the carry over probably will be below normal. The production of a crop somewhat larger than the 361 million pounds grown in 1937 may be justified this year in view of probable continued increase in consumption and in order to build up reserve supplies, it is pointed out.

The market situation for fire-cured tobacco, however, is little if any improved over a year ago. Exports continue to decline and domestic consumption is unchanged. Diversion of some of this type to by-products has helped, but as a whole returns from growing fire-cured tobacco probably will not be satisfactory. It is suggested that farmers try to shift to some other products, at least in part.

Demand for one-sucker tobacco does not show much change, and last year's production was excessive. It is suggested that prices may go lower unless production is reduced. Green River tobacco is in a more favorable position, since production last year was 10 percent less than disappearance, and the improved situation is expected to continue through this year unless production is larger than in 1937.

B. L. Campbell of Perry county has placed an order for 300 peach trees.

SAYS PLANS HELP POULTRY KEEPERS

Since this is an age of planning Stanley Caton, poultry expert at the Kentucky College of Agriculture, suggests that the chicken raisers do a little thinking ahead this season.

Start 300 chicks this spring for every 100 pullets wanted for next fall and winter. About all one can expect is one good pullet for each three chicks started, he declares. Laying house room must be provided for the number of old hens carried over plus the number of pullets to be kept.

Then poultry keepers should know about how much feed they will need. Raise only the chicks that can be fed properly, suggests Caton. A chick the first 12 weeks will need 7 to 8 pounds of feed, and from 16 to 19 pounds from the time it is 3 months old until it is 6 months old.

If 150 or more chicks are to be raised Caton advises using a brooder house and brooder stove. Allow floor space at the rate of one square foot for each 2½ chicks. Feeder space should be provided at the rate of one inch per chick.

Here are the jobs Caton says should be looked after without further delay: Clean and repair the brooder house. Check the brooder stove carefully for needed repairs. Build or repair chick feeders. Order chicks for March or April delivery. Examine the hens fo lice and the hen house for mites.

BANISH GLARE

. . . and make your kitchen a brighter more cheerful place in which to work with

RENU-A-LITE

THE LOW COST, EASY-TO-INSTALL FIXTURE

Glare from exposed light bulbs is harmful to the eyes, interferes with ease and comfort in seeing and is frequently the cause of eyestrain and headaches.

Raw light, as the scientists call it, is particularly undesirable in the kitchen, where the average woman spends one-third of her waking hours. It may be avoided at small expense by installing a RENU-A-LITE fixture, which softens and diffuses the light, making it soothing and restful to the eyes.

RENU-A-LITE is radically different from ordinary types of kitchen fixtures. Light bulb and diffusing bowl are combined as one unit, which screws into a ceiling or drop cord socket like an ordinary bulb. No tools or wiring are necessary.

The opal glass diffusing bowl not only softens the light but distributes it more evenly throughout the room. You get more light as well as a better quality of light. The result is a more cheerful and pleasant place in which to work.

$1.95 Including bulb

Ask for a RENU-A-LITE demonstration in your home today. See for yourself how it protects your eyes and brightens your kitchen. No obligation!

Rev. R. Lee James, Virgil Vice, Robert Clore and Albert Wm. Weaver attended the District B. T. U. Sunday afternoon at the Elsmere Baptist church.

Many inquiries are received daily for good farms in Boone County. It seems that there are more persons wanting farms this spring than has been known in several years.

The Rose Unions of this district met at the Burlington M. E. church Monday night for their regular business meeting. Delightful refreshments were served and all enjoyed an old fashioned spelling-bee after the business session.

Lamar Congleton and Elmer Kirkpatrick attended the funeral of Thomas Congleton of Lexington Friday. He was the father of Lamar Congleton and was 95 years of age. He was one of the first settlers of Fayette county.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Graves, of Erlanger, entertained Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Maurer, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Rudicill, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Combs and son and Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Stephens Friday night of last week.

The W. M. U. met at the home of Mrs. W. B. Cotton Thursday afternoon, Feb. 10. The subject was "Home Missions." The following members were present: Mrs. W. B. Cotton, Mrs. Lucas, Mrs. J. Sullivan, Mrs. A. A. King, Mrs. G. Tolin, Mrs. R. Clore, Mrs. V. Pope, Mrs. H. Gaines, Mrs. J. J. Gaines, Mrs. M. A. Yelton, Mrs. J. W. Kelly, Mrs. W. E. Easton, Mrs. J. W. Goodridge, Mrs. R. L. James, Mrs. W. Brown, Mrs. G. C. Jarrell, Mrs. J. A. Huey, Mrs. A. G. McMullen, Mrs. T. Hensley.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Ryle called on his cousin, Mrs. Herby Ewick and little daughter in Christ Hospital, Cincinnati, O., Sunday.

MILK AFFECTED BY CONDITION OF EWE

Ewes fail to give milk or produce sufficient quantity because of poor feeding, disease or because they did not inherit milk producing ability, says a statement from the department of animal pathology at the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station.

Breeding ewes that are properly fed will gain in weight from breeding to lambing time, although they usually lose weight from lambing to weaning time. A ewe that is in poor condition when she lambs will not produce a good flow of milk. Feed, water and salt are necessary for good milk production. Ewes frequently do not get enough water during stormy weather and this results in a decrease in milk flow and may cause pregnancy disease in pregnant ewes that otherwise would not have developed this condition.

Mastitis or inflammation of the udder is most likely to occur at lambing time or at weaning time. High producing ewes in good condition should receive a reduced quantity of feed for one week before lambing. The feed should be increased gradually following lambing. At weaning time the ewes should receive less feed for two or three days before and for a week after the lambs are taken away. As soon as an ewe shows evidence of mastitis she should be removed from the flock and milked every hour. If the mastitis becomes severe it may be advisable to call a veterinarian. All ewes that have udder trouble that results in the gland be coming hard should be marked and disposed of for slaughter before the next breeding season. Such ewes frequently fail to give milk the next year and are a source of infection for the remainder of the flock.

Lambs do not get in marketable condition because of parasities, lack of feed or both. Many of these lambs are from ewes that produce a small quantity of milk. The practice of keeping such ewe lambs for breeding will eventually result in a flock of small ewes that are poor milk producers.

BARLEY INCREASES PASTURE

By sowing barley on lespedeza, Joel Depp of Metcalfe county extends the pasture period from five to eight months in the year, says County Agent R. R. Rankin. He sowed two bushels to the acre on korean lespedeza early last fall, and now has a heavy, green sod for early spring grazing. The lespedeza reseeded itself and a hay crop and barley grain crop will be produced, in addition to pasture.

It appears quite clearly by this time that the trouble with commerce industry in this country is that congress does too much backseat driving.

ENVOY WITHOUT BUCKLES

Though necks may crane and eyes pop when America's new envoy to Britain shortly arrives to present his credentials at the Court of St. James in London, Ambassador Joseph Patrick Kennedy is determined to let hard-shelled British tradition bear the brunt of his decision.

Definitely, he will not present himself at St. James' in knee-breeches.

This red-headed descendant of Ireland's doughty kings—the first one, incidentally, ever to represent the United States in Great Britain—has stoutly affirmed that he will make his inaugural appearance in plain, streamlined American trousers.

And Joseph Patrick Kennedy should know America will be watching to see how steadfastly he hews to his present conviction. Newspapers and newsreels will bring proof—or even disproof, perish the thought—to 130 million Americans as to whether Mr. Kennedy sticks by his guns, and his trousers after he enters the great gray city on the Thames.

After all, there is Mrs. Kennedy to be heard from yet. And the pages of domestic life glow with eloquent tribute to the indefatigable wives who have triumphed over cantankerous spouses who rebelled at the thought of climbing into stiff formal harness.

As we remember it, Gen. Charles G. Dawes also uttered hotly peppered words on the subject of hosiery, buckles and breeches, when he was appointed our Ambassador to England several years ago. The trappings of Britain's pomp and circumstance appear to fit ill with American tradition.

But whether buckled, clad in breeches, and shod in silk stocking or not, we wish Ambassador Kennedy the best of success and good fortune as America's representative in the great, gray city by the Thames!

PICKED UP AROUND TOWN

The mere fact that a congressman can carry water on both shoulders doesn't mean that's what he's got on his hip.

A woman used to be a lot more thoughtful and considerate of her husband, when she thought he was the only husband she was going to get.

Another thing as sure as death and taxes is that a lot of girls would have more satisfactory faces if they could have done their own picking.

According to some women, the finest thing to get for the kitchen is a hired girl.

The man who used to drink a little wine for his stomach's sake, now drinks a little bum whiskey for the undertaker's sake.

A writer compared the human body to a violin. That is probably why some men are always fiddlin' around.

"The upkeep of some homes wouldn't be so bad if it wasn't for the keep-up with the neighbors.

It is as hard for the modern boy to hold a girl without an auto as it is for him to find money for gas if he has one.

BOYD FARMERS TO GROW STRAWBERRIES

To help supply large near-by markets, Boyd county farmers are planning to start in the strawberry business this year. Approximately 100 men in eight organized communities will set patches of a quarter of an acre to an acre each this spring, according to County Agent Robert Wigginton. This season will be spent getting the patches established and learning how to care for the plants. Next year it is hoped to market the first crop cooperatively in Ashland, Catlettsburg, Russell, Greenup, Raceland and other Kentucky towns. The Aroma variety will be grown.

A few years ago the same towns were most of their milk and other dairy products at a distance, shipping them in. Now dairying has been developed to where Boyd county farmers last year received more that a half of a million dollars from milk. More vegetables fruit and poultry products are also being produced in Boyd and other eastern counties for local markets and for towns in Ohio and West Virginia.

Back in the good old days an optimist was a boy who belived everything he read on a circus poster.

FASHIONS FLASHES FROM DALTON'S

Dalton's, always first with the newest fashions, are now showing suits, coats and accessories for Spring and Easter wear.

The new fashions are gay and colorful and more flattering than ever before. Navy leads the fashion parade, closely followed by strawberry, wood violet, red earth and black. Man-tailored suits in gabardine and worsted fabrics are very practical, for now during the changing weather, they can be worn under fur coats, or light weight wraps. The colors are green, navy, brown, grey, black and stripes. Many bright shades in swagger coats, that vary in length from fingertips to full length, are being shown in all sizes.

Dalton's stock of new frocks is complete. Some with separate redingotes jackets and the very popular boleros are finding favor with women of all sizes.

Bags, shoes, hats and gloves are being shown in shades to match.

Northern Kentucky women enjoy the convenience of shopping at Dalton's, Madison Ave., opposite Pike St., Covington, where they can choose their entire outfit from head to foot. A small deposit will hold your selection at Dalton's. —Adv

He Should Escort Girl Home If Hour Is Late

DEAR Mrs. Post: How should a girl answer a man when he asks whether he might send her home alone in a cab instead of going home with her? This happened to me when I spent the evening recently with a friend and his family at their house.

Answer: I think the only answer you could make is, "Don't think of coming." Of course, if the hour were late, then someone should have gone with you.

* * *

When Not to Tip

DEAR Mrs. Post: I have gone for years to a very expensive hairdressing establishment and have always left a tip for those who take care of me. In discussing the question with a friend, she believes that their prices are exorbitant enough so that no tip is necessary. To substantiate her side of the argument she gave me for example some of the better restaurants in which no tips are expected.

Answer: Unless the restaurant or the hairdressers have signs plainly explaining that no tipping is permitted, you would be expected to tip at the usual rates. And unless your total bill is very high your percentage would, if anything, be slightly higher than in similar places having cheaper rates.

* * *

Use of Monograms.

DEAR Mrs. Post: What is the proper arrangement of initials in a monogram? I am thinking now of the monogram that has a taller initial in the center. Also, is a monogram ever carried out on the envelopes, and if not, may a return address be put on the flaps of envelopes to be used with paper marked with a monogram?

Answer: When the initial in the center is larger it is always the initial of the surname. It is proper, if you like it, to have the address stamped on the flap of the envelope for paper marked with a monogram, although strictly speaking formal notes are sent without any return address. Paper marked with a monogram is more formal than paper stamped with an address but of course you can use it for any personal letters.

Walking

Just Let Me Tell You A Few Facts About Walking, So You'll Realize Just How Much It Can Do For You.

The normal heart, you know, beats about seventy-two times a minute and pumps about six ounces of blood with each beat. Now, in fast walking, or at the rate of four miles an hour—(which is how fast you should walk to do you some good)—you'll find the normal heart will INCREASE its beat ten times to the minute, pumping six ounces of blood at each beat, gives sixty ounces per minute or 3600 an hour, which is 225 pounds. You can easily see that 225 ADDITIONAL pounds of blood pumped DAILY through your veins means just that much more life to your whole body.

There's no use of my telling you to get out and walk if you are having trouble with your feet, because I know you won't do it, BUT—if I tell you how to get rid of those aching, paining feet, first—then there's nothing to keep you from walking every day and benefiting your health by this wonderful exercise.

It has also been found that millions suffer without knowing the reason why—those headaches, those leg pains, and even sleepless nights may be caused by the shoes you are wearing. Stop that suffering now—our Foot Comfort Specialists will gladly give you an honest and thorough foot analysis Absolutely Free—and will show you the shoe for your special foot. Then you will be asked to return as many times as necessary, to make the adjustments necessary for your foot comfort. All the above service is absolutely free—Your only cost is your shoes.

Put your feet in OUR HANDS and begin to get relief.

CAPITOL COMMENTS

"Which of the two is taking the biggest gamble?"

Governor Chandler, who is about to flip his chapeaux into the circle to denote that he is a candidate for the United States Senate or Alben W. Barkley, who already holds the Senior seat from Kentucky.

This is the question which is now making the rounds, being discussed with equal acume by the great unwashed, the highly unformed and by those who are in tempting to offer an answer itself but is passing along different opinions.

Your correspondent has chatted with the Governor about the situation . . . He asked pointblank if he (the Governor) was basing his popularity upon the statements the know. This pillar is not atfrom those from the outlying districts who are in Frankfort for some definite purpose. The Governor declared that he was not depending upon the word of these folk but rather the word of disinterested men and women who have visited the hinterlands or are from these sections and who are not seeking any favors, political or otherwise . . . So you can expect the announcement within a few days that A. B. Chandler will be a candidate for the U. S. Senate. . . . Until that announcement is made this column will no longer comment on

The new liquor control bill has been drafted. It is as lengthy an instrument as has been offered to a group of legislators since the birth of the reorganization bill in 1936. This new bill which would clarify the liquor situations in the State, is more than 100 typewritten pages and according to folk who had a finger in the writing, there was nothing left unturned in the bill. The House and the Senate will spend a major portion of the remaining time in the regular session in discussion and passage of this bill. Although this measure has been slightly shunted about for a month, it will still get several amendments before it is finally passed . . . All legislative measures that has not already been brought out, went into the hands of the Rules Committee last week and the remainder of the session will see the Rules Committee in charge of affairs in both House and Senate . . . In a last minute rush before the rules committee took over there was one other highly important bill that hit the floor besides the substitute alcohol control measure . . . Claude Hammons, Barbourville Republican, offered a Greyhound Racing Bill. This gadget proposed by Hammons would allow Greyhound Racing in all counties that did not have horse racing. The State would collect three percent of all wagers made through the parimutual machines and the track would take up to fifteen percent so it seems and the plans would pay $100 per day license . . . Greyhound racing has been proposed on previous occasions but the race horse folk have been able to divert the legislature off of it and as a result the dogs have never been legal in the State . . . This bill would affect the heavier populated districts in this manner . . . For instance it would not be legal to have a dog track in Louisville because Jefferson County aready has a "hoss" track, however it would be no trouble for the dog fanciers to build a race place up the river in Oldham County and open up for business. The Cincinnati folk who have to come across the river for their horse racing could just as easily come across to the dog track Latonia is in Kenton County and could not have a dog mart, but Newport, also across the Ohio from the heavily populated Cincinnati, is without a track and Newport is in Campbell County—So much for the dogs . . . Among the interesting points in the new liquor control bill are: "The authority for the issuance of permits would be vested in a State Control Board composed of three members of the State Tax Commission". The Board would have power to grant, deny, suspend or revoke permits but appeals from its orders may be made to circuit courts or the Court of Appeals. The administration of the control law would be in the hands of James W. Martin, Commissioner of Revenue. Provisions are made for county and city control boards with limited authority. The county board would be comprised of the sheriff, the county judge and the county attorney, none of whom would receive any pay for their work. The city board would be named by the municipality's chief executive. License fees for distillers would be classified according to production capacity with $1,500 or 51 to 100 barrels a day to $3,000 for 201 or more barrels a day. Wholesalers license fees would be raised from the present $700 to $1,000. Rectifier's fees would be reduced from $1,500 to $1,000 and vintner's fees from $1,000 to $500.

PETERSBURG HOMEMAKERS

The Petersburg Homemakers met at the school house Thursday, Feb. 10th with eighteen members and one guest present. The morning was taken up with business and making plans for the new year.

At noon a very delicious covered dish lunch was served. After lunch Miss Gillaspie gave us some instruction on finishes for scarfs and table runners, then the meeting was turned over to President Chambers, who introduced our guest, County President Sleet, who gave us a very interesting talk on Farm and Home Week which was held at Lexington in January. This was a complete review and was very much enjoyed by all.

Miss Herma Mathews and Miss Joan Gordon acted as hostess.

Next month Mrs. Howard Ryle and Miss Mary Rector will be the hostess.

Our new project Plain Patterns in Cookery with Mrs. Louis Hitzfield and Miss Gladys Klopp as leaders will start next month, and instead of bringing a covered dish lunch, the lunch will be cooked at the meeting. Don't forget the date and don't be late. We are sure that we will have an interesting subject.

THE FAMILY DOCTOR

In case of hiccough, sit erect and inflate the lungs fully. Then, retaining the breth, bend forward until the chest meets the knees After slowly rising again to the erect position, slowly exhale the breath. Repeat a second time and the nerves will be found to have received an excess of energy that will enable them to function properly.

GOAL IS SET AT $50,000 FOR CRIPPLED CHILDREN

Louisville, Ky., February 11—A goal of $50,000 has been set for a statewide campaign to be launched Easter Sunday to provide additional money for hospital care, braces, crutches, and treatment for some of the 3,384 crippled children who are on the waiting list of the Kentucky Crippled Children Commission.

Lieutenant Governor Keen Johnson in accepting chairmanship of a statewide campaign, declared today that he strongly urges all citizens of Kentucky to contribute and by thus supporting the Kentucky Society for Crippled Children in this campaign to assist in reaching more of the children who have been examined and for whom treatment has been recommended by physicians and surgeons. Bart Peak, of Lexington, former district governor of Rotary will be vice chairman of the campaign for funds.

Harry V. McChesney, state president of the Kentucky Society for Crippled Children, in announcing the campaign said that the infantile paralysis epidemic of last year necessitated an extended program. Mr. McChesney said that assistance already has been pledged in the campaign by B. C. "Ted" Lee, of Covington, state commander of the American Legion; Mrs. Paul Wickliffe, of Greenville, state president of the Federation of Women's Clubs; Mrs. C. A. Schroetter, president of the Kentucky Congress of Parent-Teacher Associations; Mrs. Dillman Rash, of Louisville, president of the Junior League of that city; O. O. Thompson, of Covington, and W. L. Mathews, Bowling Green, district governors of Kentucky Rotary Clubs; a representative of the Kiwanis Clubs, and other civic organizations.

The Society raised $110,000 in 1928, $32,000 in 1935 in campaigns for funds to supplement state and federal appropriations. Ben Williamson, of Ashland, former United States Senator. and chairman of the Kentucky Crippled Children Commission, said in expressing approval of the campaign that the Commission has kept carefully within its appropriations but that the people of the state should have opportunity, after knowing the needs, to add their donations in the effort to prevent turning away children who need treatment.

LADY CONTRARY

Secretary Miss Perkins opposes the bill in Congress for a maritime meditation board. Joseph P. Kennedy championed this method of arbitration while he was Chairman of the Maritime Commission prior to his appointment as Ambassador to England. Kennedy favored the tried and tested plan for shipping that has been successful in railroad labor relations Miss Perkins backs the wild seamen who have been making trouble on our seaboards. She doesn't seem "to make sense" in these troublesome labor disputes, and a lot of sober-minded thinking people wonder why she is retained in the Cabinet.

CLOTHES CARE

To clean feathers, cut some soap into small pieces; pour boiling water on the soap and add a little pearlash. When this is dissolved and the mixture is cool enough, plunge the feathers into it and draw them through the hand until the dirt appears to be squeezed out of them. Then place them in a clean lather with some bluing in it. Rinse in cold bluing water to give them a good color; beat them against the hand to shake off the water and dry by shaking them near a fire.

VOLUME 62 — BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 24, 1938 — NUMBER 40

CHICKENS WALK HOME

TWO DAYS AFTER BEING STOLEN FROM POULTRY HOUSE—OVER 150 OTHER CHICKENS REPORTED STOLEN.

Just who the joke is on, it has not been definitely decided as yet, but almost anyone can get a good laugh out of this one handed us by authorities who have been working on a recent chicken stealing case in Boone County.

On February 13th, while Mr. W. H. Smith, of Union, was attending church services at the local church thieves entered his poultry house by forcing a lock and relieved him of 13 head of his fine chickens. The authorities were not notified because there had been several other similar robberies in the neighborhood, and the robbers had left no clues of any nature.

However, this particular robbery occurred on Sunday night, and on the following Monday, two of the stolen chickens came walking into the back yard. This aroused some suspicion, but not so much until Wednesday morning, when four more of the stolen chicken returned home. By this time the sheriff and his deputy had made their rounds and stopped in to investigate this robbery. Upon investigation, they were assured that the chickens that had returned were the stolen ones. and upon further investigation, found a sack made especially for carrying chickens, and all the remaining stolen chickens hidden in a nearby barn not more than 100 yards from the poultry house.

Tracks were followed from the poultry house to a nearby neighbor's house, and also to this same barn. The sheriff and deputy called at the neighbor's house to learn that the three boys who been there on Sunday night, and had previously been living there, had suddenly disappeared and could not be located.

Mr. Smith's loss was only one chicken that was killed in the poultry house on the night of the robbery. The other 13 have all found their way home.

The sheriff stated that this is the first clue they have had on the chicken stealing gang, and that they are hoping to be able to break up this racket which is being practiced so frequently in this county.

The other major losses recently were: R. L. Green of the Beaver community who lost 50 chickens and Mrs. Bessie Baker, of Union who lost 70 head.

NEW HAVEN P.-T. A.

The New Haven Parent-Teacher Association will meet on Tuesday night, March 1, at 7 o'clock for the montiny meeting. Mrs. Harry Moore, president will preside.

434 ENROLLED IN EIGHT 4-H CLUBS

FIVE HUNDRED IS GOAL SET—ALL BOYS AND GIRLS BETWEEN 10 AND 18 INVITED TO JOIN CLUB.

Boone County 4-H clubs enrollment for 1938 is rolling up the largest in 4-H club history, according to H. R. Forkner, county agent. Eight community clubs to date have already enrolled 434 members and two more clubs will hold organization meetings this week. Indications are the high goal of 500 members may be reached.

Clubs that have organized to date are Burlington, Florence, Walton, Verona, Hamilton, New Haven, Hebron and Petersburg. Grant and Taylorsport clubs are holding their organization meetings in the near future.

Every boy and girl between the age of 10 and 18 years inclusive, interested in conducting an agricultural or home economic project is eligible for membership in 4-H club work. Enrollment cards may be secured from the county agent's office in Burlington or from the community club secretaries. Agricultural projects most popular among members this year are tobacco, corn, garden, poultry, dairy pig, lamb and colts. Home Economics projects most popular among members are sewing, foods, canning and room improvement.

Two hundred and ten members to date have enrolled in Agricultural projects and two hundred and twenty-four members have enrolled in Home Economics projects.

Florence Man Dies At Age 77

Funeral services Charles W. Clarkson, who died Wednesday of last week at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Ira Tanner, near Florence, were held at 2 p. m. Friday, at the Philip Tallaferro funeral home, Erlanger. Burial was in Hopeful cemetery with Rev. J. A. Miller, pastor of the Elsmere Baptist Church, and Rev. H. M. Hauter, pastor of the Hopeful Lutheran Church, officiating.

Mr. Clarkson. 77, was a member of the Elsmere Baptist Church. He leaves his daughter, Mrs. Tanner, and a sister, Mrs. Lynn Wilson, of Union, a brother John Clarkson, of Elsmere, and eight grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

WALTON BOY IS INJURED

WHEN HIT BY TRUCK—DEEP CUT ON HEAD IS EXTENT OF INJURIES—DRIVER RELEASED.

Kenneth E. Johnson, Jr., 10 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. K. E. Johnson, of Walton suffered a deep cut on his head Friday when he ran into the path of a Cincinnati Time Recording truck in front of his home.

The driver, Clarence Galley, of Norwood, O., told Town Marshal Bolington that the boy darted in front of the truck and he could not avoid hitting him. Galley was not held.

The boy was treated by Dr. R. E. Ryle and taken to his home.

Local Students Broadcast Over Station WCPO

Tuesday night, at 7:15 the Boone County Schools were on the air over station WCPO, outlining in brief the athletic activities of Boone county on the Better Sports Athletic program, under the direction of Russell Bridges, director of athletics for station WCPO.

Among those participating in the program was Edwin Walton, Bink Shinkle, Hitchfield, of Hebron; J. R. Huey and Bill Aylor. of Hamilton; and Miss Carolyn Cropper, of Burlington. Shinkle and Hitchfield, two of the county's outstanding basketball stars this year, discussed basketball and outlined the activities of the County Athletic Association. Huey and Aylor of Hamilton discussed track, and Miss Cropper discussed the girl's activities in the athletic program in Boone County. At the close of the program, Mr. Edwin Walton, of Hebron interviewed each of the students.

This recognition of Boone County athletics is something we should be proud of, and especially are we grateful to Mr. Bridges for arranging this program. Due credit must be given Prof. E. E. Kirkwood of the Burlington school, who was the cause of Boone County be recognized over this sports program.

Patrolmen Arrest Four Truck Drivers

State Patrolmen Winterberg and Smith arrested four truck drivers last Thursday night for overloading. Two of the trucks were owned by Whitley, one by Huey and the other by the Silver Fleet Co.

The patrolmen stated that all trucks caught with a load exceeding 18,000 pounds would be cited to court.

ROBERTS-KINNEY TO BE SPEAKERS

AT SOILS AND CROPS MEETING TO BE HELD AT BURLINGTON FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 25—PROGRAM SET FOR 10:00 A. M.

Prof. George Roberts, head of Agronomy Department and Prof. E. J. Kinney, head of crops department of the College of Agriculture, Kentucky Experiment Station, Lexington will be principal speakers at the soils and crops meeting to be held at Burlington courthouse this Friday, February 25th, according to H. R. Forkner, county Agent.

Boone County farmers are fortunate in securing these two outstanding authorities on soils and crops problems. Both men have contributed much to the advancement of Kentucky agriculture during the past thirty years.

The morning program beginning at 10:00 a. m. will be devoted to discussions on hybrid seed corn, red clover, lespedeza timothy, blue grass, red top and tobacco. The afternoon program will be devoted to fertilizers, lime, phosphate, clover crops and outstanding results secured thru soil improvement practices.

This meeting, originally planned by the farmers of Burlington community, has been extended to the entire county. The subject discussed will be of vital interest to every farmer and every farmer is invited to attend. This should be one of the most profitable days the average farm will spend this year, according to the county agent. Everyone who can is urged to attend.

Col. Lute Bradford will be the auctioneer.

Celebrates Birthday

Mrs. James Tanner, of Hebron was surprised Wednesday evening, February 16th when a number of relatives and friends arrived to help celebrate her birthday anniversary.

The evening was spent in playing games, and later a delicious lunch was served.

The following guests were present: Leslie Snow and wife, Jess England and family, Ambrose Easton and wife, Arnold Easton, Miss Mabel Morris, Tommie Morris, and Clifford Tanner, wife and son.

February 28 Limit On Kentucky Tags

Frankfort, Ky., February 21—In a public letter, Governor Chandler reminded Kentucky motorists today that new 1938 license tags must be displayed on all vehicles operating in the state after February 28th.

The Governor said he had been informed motorists were unusally slow in obtaining their new tags this year, and warned that no extension of the time for obtaining the licenses could be granted.

Unique Club In Process Of Organization

Word reached this office Monday morning that a very unique club is being organized at Hebron which will be known as the "Nut" Club. Just the purpose of the club is unknown to the writer, but we will probably learn more about this organization later on.

According to reports, the club meets at Goodridge's Store, and it was stated by one who is in the "know" that officers will be elected in the near future.

Reports have it, that the club is growing rapidly and that quite a lot of interest is being shown by the Hebron citizens.

Tax Collections Are Very Slow

According to W. B. Cotton, Tax Collector for this current period, the 1936-37 tax collections are very slow so far, with over one-half of the taxes still not paid. There is just three more days before the penalty of 10 percent is added, plus 6 percent interest. February 28th is absolutely the last day to pay without penalty.

The taxes are being collected in the grand jury room in the courthouse, and not in the Sheriff's office as in the past few years. All inquiries and telephone calls should be directed to W. B. Cotton, Burlington 77 at the courthouse.

The dog license for this year can be secured at the sheriff's office, and according to F. M. Walton, Sheriff, there has only been approximately 600 licenses sold for dogs in this county, while there were over 2300 dogs listed for taxation. This leaves approximately 1700 unlicensed dogs, and if these license are not secured soon, there will likewise be a penalty attached for failure to obtain same. The deadline for this license was January 1st, although the penalty has not been imposed yet, in order to give all persons owning dogs a chance to secure their license without a penalty.

Livestock Men Hold Meeting

The Cincinnati Producers Cooperative Commission Association held a county meeting of all Boone County shippers at Burlington last Wednesday afternoon. The association rendered a splendid program on livestock marketing problems and at the conclusion of the meeting distributed $447.95 in dividend refund checks to 220 members.

The principal speakers on the program included John C. Bedinger, Walton who is a director of the association, E. A. Johnson, marketing department, University of Kentucky; Ed Schurter, calf salesman; R. Q. Smith, manager Producers; Dan Welsh, sheep salesman, and H. A. Berge, field agent.

Farmers present at the meeting made plans for the holding of a tour of the livestock yards and packing plants in Cincinnati, March 16th.

31st Anniversary Is Celebrated

Sunday, February 13th a group of relatives and friends surprised Mr. and Mrs. Homer McCrander, it being their thirty-first wedding anniversary. A most enjoyable evening was spent.

The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bowers, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Dringenburg, Charlie O'Hara, Miss Fanny O'Hara, Mrs. Katie Cahill, Mrs. Jennie Bowers, Mrs. Katie Scott, Misses Sophia and Alma Schwibold and Albert Schwibold.

Elsmere Woman Sues Walton Man

Alleged refusal to abide by a written agreement under which property was to be transferred to her caused Lona Herschling, Kenton County. to file suit in Kenton Circuit Court Thursday against R. A. Thornton, Walton, for $2,500 damages.

The plaintiff avers that December 3, 1937, she entered into written contract whereby Thornton was to sell her the Woodland Tourist Camp, Dixie Highway, south of Walton, for $4,300 payable $645 at that time, and 50 per cent of the balance January 3. The balance was to be paid in two notes of $1,075 payable respectively in 1939 and 1940, the plaintiff stated.

She alleges Thornton refused to accept the money or to transfer the property, and that she has been deprived of its resale, for which she asks damages.

Petersburg Man Injured In Fall

Ben Hensley, of Petersburg suffered two broken ribs and a fractured spine when he fell in his room at the Jule Hoffman home last week. He was taken to the Dr. Geo. Smith Hopsital in Lawrenceburg, Ind., for treatment.

ALL-STAR GAME WILL BE PLAYED

SOON AFTER THE SEASON ENDS—TWO PLAYERS TO BE SELECTED FROM EACH SCHOOL—TOURNAMENT NEXT WEEK.

The coaches and officials of the Boone County Athletic Conference have planned a basketball game for all the schools to have a part in soon after the regular season ends.

According to the plan, there will be two players selected from each school to represent that school in the game. By such a selection, there will be equal representation of all the schools in the game regardless of conference standings.

Details of this game and the plan of selection will appear in this paper next week. It is the hope that the school representatives will be selected on the basis of their playing ability entirely. There will be ballots in the Boone County Recorder and the Walton Advertiser which may have the choice of the two players from any particular person's school district written in. Fans will vote for two players in their own district only. This means that those living in the New Haven school district will vote for two in that school and those in the Hamilton district will vote for two in that school.

The public will have a chance to see the players throughout the tournament which will be held next week at Florence, before making a choice. The votes can best be made after seeing the boys play in a tournament.

The All-star game will be played on the Florence floor on a date to be announced later.

Watch for details and your ballot in your local paper next week.

Blue Triangle Club Organized

Last Wednesday evening the Girl Reserves of the Burlington school entertained the former Girl Reserves of the school with a delightful dinner. Miss Stenken, of Covington was the speaker of the evening. The purpose of the meeting was to form an organization of the old Girl Reserves which will be known as the Blue Triangle. Mrs. John Conner was elected president, Mrs Wm. Greenup Vice President, Mrs. Robert Maurer, Secretary and Mrs. A. E. Stephens, Treasurer.

The first meeting is scheduled for March 7th, when the Burlington group will go to Hebron to be with that club for the evening. All former Girl Reserves of Burlington high school are urged to be present.

Mrs. M. M. Lucas enjoyed the week-end in Covington, visiting her son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Lucas. They entertained with a theater party, seeing "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," also "Heidi."

WAS SOLD AT AUCTION TUESDAY, FEB. 22—TOP COW SELLS FOR $195.00 TO G. M. KEARNS OF UNION.

The Jersey herd of R. W. Terrill, Burlington, Ky., sold at public auction, Tuesday, Feb. 22nd, brought the fancy sum of $3,538.00, according to Lloyd Siekman, sales clerk. The herd consisted of 1 aged bull, 5 bull calves, 9 heifer calves under 7 months, and 26 milk cows.

Mr. Terrill has been a registered Jersey breeder for over 20 years and had one of the best herds in the entire state.

The top cow sold for $195.00 to G. M. Kearns, Union, Ky., who was also the purchaser of 13 other head. Twenty-eight of the forty-one head were purchased by Boone County dairymen.

The 26 milk cows that were sold averaged $109.15, the 9 heifer calves averaged $45.38, and the 5 bull calves average $37.40. The aged bull sold for $100.00.

Utopia Clubs Hold District Conference

Northern Kentucky Utopia clubs held a district conference at Warsaw Saturday, February 19th. The conference was attended by approximately 40 members from Boone, Gallatin, Scott and Carroll county.

Principal speakers on the program were William J. Johnstone, crops field agent from the college who gave a demonstration on the selection of good corn and Mr. Carl W. Jones, Utopia agent and Miss Edith Lacy, Home Economist.

Boone County members attending the conference included: John E. Crigler, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Maddox, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Siekman, Bailey Greenup, William Moore, Mildred Siekman, Jane Scott, Mary H. Gillaspie, Dave Colville and H. R. Forkner.

Successful Sale

The R. G. Kinman Realty Auction Co., 408 Coppin Bldg., Covington, reports another very successful sale—that of Joseph A. Huey, near Union, last Thursday. The sale was largely attended and everything offered brought good prices. On the cows prices ranged to $100 and to $190 on the horses.

TOPNOTCHERS TAKE VISITORS

HEBRON TURNS BACK SIMON KENTON AND WALTON TRIMS WARSAW BY TOP HEAVY MAJORITY.

Simon Kenton invaded the Hebron hardwood Friday to be turned back in defeat by a score of 25 to 20. Warsaw came up from down the river to take a 46 to 27 setback at the hands of Walton.

In defeating Warsaw, Walton was led by Osborne, one of the deadliest ball shooters in the league. He made 22 points. Closser was best for his team with eight.

At the halfway mark the score stood 23 to 13, with the winners already in front. In the reserve game Walton took a 21 to 20 victory.

Shinkle led the Hebron team in victory over the Kenton Pioneers. Shinkle dumped in nine points to share with Rust, star for the losers, the high point honors of the night.

Other Hebron scorers were Hitzfield with eight, Huey with five and Turner with three.

Saturday night the strong Walton quintet invaded the hardwood of Burlington school, defeating the local by a score of 61 to 35. The local boys fought bravely, but were up against opposition too strong for them.

Friday night Hamilton trimmed the Florence five in a hotly contested game by a score of 22 to 15.

Walton will entertain Lloyd High on Friday night of this week, while Burlington will be hosts to the Hebron club. These games will be last played this season, at the county tournament will be held on the following week.

PAST FAD STAGE

It won't be long until residents of the southern states have occasion to count up their winter tourist dollars, and when they do they are going to agree most heartily on this one point—the trailer has now passed the fad stage. Summer resort states wondering about, it until last summer. Then they saw indisputable evidence of its truthfulness, and the retailer, as a permanent institution. This winter the states that boast warm breezes when the north, east and west are snowed under have reaped a veritable gold mine from trailer owners. Now that is a year-round vehicle, and that a trailer owner can find an ideal camp in winter as easily as he can in the summer, it makes this vehicle a still more profitable investment. With more and more modern campsites being constructed and opened to them, the investment is still greatly enlarged. With a knowledge of popularity last summer, and this new proof from winter resort states of their popularity in the colder months, it would seem that the citizen who has had the "trailer bug" in his bonnet can now profitably go ahead and let it bite him.

GOOD REASONING

A Wisconsin university professor, following an investigation over a period of several years, reaches the conclusion that the most prosperous and progressive communities are those in which the most reading is done. That sounds reasonable, because people who are posted do not spend as much money foolishly as those who are in touch with the business and industrial world through newspapers. We honestly believe that survey would show that the families taking the most newspapers and magazines are likewise the most prosperous ones. Maybe the newspapers do not make them so, but they do help a great deal. It doesn't cost much to try the experiment of taking more than one paper and it is easy enough to stop if it fails. We would suggest, however, that to make the experiment more sure of success that you start in by subscribing for your home-town paper first.

A DANGEROUS PRACTICE

A thoughtful motorist dropped into the office a few days ago with one of the most unselfish requests any many ever made of any newspaper. "Do something for a certain class of motorists around here," he requested, "who have a habit of ignoring traffic when they are changing a tire along a highway." And it is a good and thoughtful suggestion. One does not always have a puncture or a blowout just where the road is wide, but it is easy to get the car as far off the main body of the road as possible before starting to repair or change the tire. It is also easy to keep a sharp lookout for approaching machines, and to avoid working on a curve where an approaching driver may not be able to see you until it is too late to avoid striking you as you stand or kneel alongside your car. Every motorist knows the danger referred to, but not all of them use the care they should when they encounter repair emergencies along the road. So we pass on the suggestion in the hope that someone who sees it may recall it when he has a roadside tire change to make—and protect himself accordingly.

ONE-ROOM SCHOOLS

We read in a daily paper an article in which a New York professor declares the little, one-room rural schoolhouse is a "menace to the nation" and not capable of laying the foundation for the kind of an education demanded in these modern times.

It's our candid opinion, and we believe that opinion is shared by practically everyone that the New York man is "talking through his hat." The country need not worry about the one-room schools in which the boys and the girls are drilled in a few studies by teachers who speak the English language and who constantly emphasize the importance of loyalty to the U. S. government. Of course our rural schools are not the equal of the great ones boasted by our cities and larger towns: allowance must be made for the inability of the rural neighbors to raise the money for big buildings and high-salaried instructors. But the thousands of American teachers in the little one-room schools scattered all over this nation are doing a work far more wonderful than they are given credit for, and they are deserving of the highest praise, not word of criticism. Such teachers are among this nation's greatest assets. If a poll was taken today in every city of any consequence in the country it would show that the men who are actually running those cities, and who are back of all their big business institutions, in a majority of instances received their education, or the foundation for it, in the little one-room school houses in the rural districts and the smaller towns of the nation.

OATS AND GAS

Old residents recall that 40 or 50 years ago the farmer sowed about as many acres of oats as of corn or wheat. The oats went to fuel the power plant of the farm—the horses and mules which pulled the plows. There was a city market for the surplus, for horses and mules by the thousands pulled the ice wagons, the street cars, the drays and the carriages. It was an oats-drawn world.

The horseless city has been with us now for years, and again they are predicting that the horseless farm is soon to be a reality. One tractor pulling the plows now takes the place 10 horses used to fill. Henry Ford is at this very moment preparing to introduce a tractor to do the work of many horses at a cost of one. It will eat no oats and hay. The horseless farm will destroy its own market for oats and hay. The soil once needed for those products is turned to cotton, corn and wheat. So up goes the supply, and down goes the price of those products, and Uncle Sam must step in and save agriculture by helping it fill or avoid the vacuum made by the coming of the horseless age.

Ford predicts a time not far away when the bodies of autos will be made almost wholly from corn husks, soy beans, wheat chaff and other products of the soil. He might have added that the ultimate fuel for the motor age will come in gerat part from the soil in the form of alcohol. Thus again, in due time, the farm will be furnishing the "oats" for the pulling machinery of country and town. And so it goes, around in a circle and everything eventually working out to the good of all mankind. The oat-power of yesterday is the gas-power of today, and there is no need in worrying about tomorrow. When the gas gives out the farm will step in again and provide a substitute.

Lesson for February 27

MEASURING A MAN'S WORTH

LESSON TEXT—Mark 5:1-17.

GOLDEN TEXT—How much then is a man of more value than a sheep!—Matthew 12:12.

PRIMARY TOPIC—A Man Who Went Home Well.

JUNIOR TOPIC—What Is a Man Worth?

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—What Am I Worth?

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Putting People Before Profit.

Awful is the scene that meets us as we go with our Lord across the sea of Galilee and draw up to the shore of the country of the Gadarenes. Distressing beyond words is the plight of the man who is under the power of a legion of the demons of Satan; inspiring is the assurance that Christ is victor over the devil and his hosts; soul-searching is the disappointing picture of the men as they evaluate their brother's spiritual need over against personal gain.

The same mighty conflict between the two great spiritual kingdoms, of good and evil, God and Satan, goes on in our day. Jesus Christ is still "greater . . . than he that is in the world" (I John 4:4). Equally true is it that we must each one of us choose what is to be our attitude toward the conflict, and especially toward the Christ.

I. The Power of Satan (vv. 1-5).

Foolish men sometimes speak boldly about Satan as though he were only a weakling, or perchance but a creature of legend.

The devil, who is but one being, operates through many evil spirits, or demons. They are everywhere active, and it appears from Scripture that they seek a physical body through which they may function. Demon-possession, which was so common in our Lord's day, still exists, especially on the mission field. There are some who believe that the almost unbelievable cunning and brazen wickedness of modern gangsters is an expression of demoniacal control.

The text graphically portrays what becomes of a poor soul who has gotten into the clutches of Satan. It is a dark and terrifying picture known to us even in this year of 1938. But, thank God, there is a way of deliverance.

II. The Victory of Christ (vv. 6-13).

The command of Jesus (v. 8) evidently preceded the cry of the demons (v. 7). Notice that the demons who hated our Lord had no doubts about His being the Son of God. They knew Him. How strange it is that many voices that deny His deity come from the pulpit, the professor's chair, or over the radio, in the name of Christianity!

The demons knew His power, also, for though they adjured Him not to torment them, they realized that they must obey His command to "come out of the man." They asked permission to enter the swine.

III. The Perversity of Man (vv. 14-17).

The keepers of the swine fled to tell the owners. They and others came to see what had happened. They saw the demoniac seated, clothed and in his right mind, "and they greatly rejoiced and magnified the name of the Lord." Did they? No, indeed! "They were afraid" (v. 15), "and they began to pray him to depart" (v. 17).

Why were they afraid? Two reasons are suggested. In the first place they wanted no spiritual activity that would interfere with their business. Swine were of more value in their sight than the liberation of demon-possessed men. They have their successors in our day. Such are the men who rent their buildings for taverns and dance halls because they want money. Akin to them are those who counsel against the expenditure of money to keep the church open, the Sunday school operating, and for the sending of missionaries into fields white unto harvest.

A tract entitled "Suppose" asks the pertinent and searching question, "Suppose I were offered $10,000 for every soul I led to Christ; would that impel me to do more than I now do because of the constraining love of Christ?"

Another reason for their fear was that they did not want to be disturbed in their state of spiritual somnolence. Someone has said that the reason the church of our day does not have a revival is because it doesn't want it. If revival fires began to burn crooked things would have to be made straight, worldliness would have to be put away, the pursuit of money would have to be set aside while men sought souls.

Careful Planning

Just the difference in the way the two men use their heads makes the difference in the way they conduct their business. Misdirected, systemless work will make any business management ineffective,, while careful planning, simple, effective system, will aid even moderate ability to accomplish vast results.

Repentance

To grieve over sin is one thing, to repent is another.—Robertson.

ON CLEANING DAY

Acids stain marble. To polish, use another piece of marble and water . . . To clean plaster of paris, make a paste of starch and water, cover article and when dry, brush off . . . Feather pillows should be aired on a clear, windy day. The sun brings out the oil from the feathers. They may also be freshened and made sweet-smelling by placing talcum powder in them.

MASTERS' NEW IMPROVED 1938 PLANT SETTER

Plants, Covers and Waters With One Operation

There is excellent reason for Masters' leadership in the plant setter industry, for it was Masters who built the first practical automatic plant setter over forty years ago. Since then it has been continually improved. Our 1938 model is the last word—it has no competition. Others have tried to imitate, but never have been able to equal Masters' efficiency and durability. It is so simple and easy to use a Masters'. A Masters' Plant Setter is assurance of maximum stand and prolific yield.

Tobacco buyers say they can tell when a crop has been planted with a Masters' by its uniform high quality. They gladly pay highest prices for this finer yield. One man can set 8,000 to 15,000 plants a day, and do it without even a crick in his back. Once you use the Masters' you will never be satisfied with any other method of plant setting. Masters' Improved Plant Setter is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction in setting

Tobacco, Tomatoes, Cabbage, Sweet Potatoes and other plants

Nearly all first-class Hardware and Implement dealers handle, recommend and sell Masters' Improved Plant Setters. Ask your local merchant to show you this newest and best device of its kind. Examine it—see the fine workmanship, the smoothness and ease of operation. If your dealer doesn't have it in stock, write for full information direct. Don't wait until planting time, or you may be disappointed. Last season the demand exceeded the supply by thousands. Make sure of getting your Masters' Plant Setters by ordering NOW.

BURLINGTON SCHOOL NEWS

Walton journeyed to Burlington last Saturday night to play a winning game. Our boys played hard but were still defeated. Friday night Hebron meets our boys here on our gymnasium floor for the last scheduled game before the tournament. The volleye ball girls will also meet. We hope that we are victorious.

Last Wednesday morning Miss Faber conducted a recital as the regular chapel program. Those who took part were Florence Newman, Pauline Norris and Mary Bell Smith as a trio, and Wayne Jones and Leland Ryle with their fiddle; Mildred Selkman and Mary Margaret Fowler with piano solo, and Miss Faber brought a young girl from Lloyd school at Erlanger to give us a selection on the fiddle. After this Miss Faber gave us a special number on the violin, which everyone enjoyed.

Tuesday afternoon of this week the debate team went to New Haven to debate against the Holmes team and Hebron. We do not know the decision as yet, but will publish them next week. Next week the debating teams from all other schools will meet at Burlington. We have been to several others schools and now the other schools are coming here. We certainly wish our debaters success.

The Bible study classes are meeting regularly now under the leadership of Mrs. Tolin and Albert W. Weaver.

The work is starting on our library Wednesday of this week. We are going to have our library catalogued and made up to date. The teachers and students are planning to help in this work.

4-H CLUB HOLDS MEETING

The Burlington Blue Ribbon 4-H Club met Monday, February 21, for the purpose of reorganization. This year the club organization will be slightly different all over the county. Instead of having one club, there will be two community clubs. The boys and girls will be divided because of the increased enrollment. This will make the work easier and not so hard on the president.

At the first meeting the following officers were elected: President, Olive Poston; Vice President, Mildred Siekman; Secretary-Treasurer-Reporter, Florence Cook; Cheer Leader, Carolyn Cropper; Sergant-at-Arms, Ruby Cotton.

Miss Gillaspie, home demonstration agent, was present at the first meeting and explained the new type of organization.

The meeting adjourned by club members repeating the club pledge.

Florence Cook, Reporter.

POINT PLEASANT

The roads are in a very bad condition. Supt. D. H. Norris has stopped the county school bus on account of the road is past travel. It is time for some work to be done on the road when the county bus will not travel it. The road is in worse condition now than it has been for several years.

John Beil and Wm. Gross called on B. H. Tanner who is very ill at the home of his sister in Florence.

Mr. and Mrs. John Beil and children called on Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Wernz one evening last week.

The Wilson Coal Co., of Ludlow was delivering coal in this neighborhood last Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Eggleston were shopping in Covington Friday.

Mrs. Elnora Riddle and son spent Thursday night with her parents.

Dr. Nunnelley, of Bullittsville was called to see Mrs. Hays, who is on the sick list.

B. H. Tanner, who is staying at Florence with his sister is very ill.

John Beil was transacting business at Burlington one day last week.

J. S. Eggleston and wife attended services at Florence Baptist church Sunday.

FASHIONS FLASHES FROM DALTON'S

Dalton's, always first with the newest fashions, are now showing suits, coats and accessories for Spring and Easter wear.

The new fashions are gay and colorful and more flattering than ever before. Navy leads the fashion parade, closely followed by strawberry, wood violet, red earth and black. Man-tailored suits in gabardine and worsted fabrics are very practical, for now during the changing weather, they can be worn under fur coats, or light weight wraps. The colors are green, navy, brown, grey, black and stripes. Many bright shades in swagger coats, that vary in length from fingertips to full length, are being shown in all sizes.

Dalton's stock of new frocks is complete. Some with separate redingotes jackets and the very popular boleroes are finding favor with women of all sizes.

Bags, shoes, hats and gloves are being shown in shades to match.

Northern Kentucky women enjoy the convenience of shopping at Dalton's, Madison Ave., opposite Pike St., Covington, where they can choose their entire outfit from head to foot. A small deposit will hold your selection at Dalton's.

CHECK EWE TROUBLE BY BETTER FEEDING

The disease of ewes known as pregnancy disease, acidosis, acetonemia and lambing paralysis is rather common in Kentucky. It affects ewes a short time before lambing. Work that has been done at Experiment Stations proves that the disease is not infectious nor contagious. There is reliable evidence that the disease is nutritional in origin and that it can be prevented by proper feeding, says a statement from the University of Kentucky Experiment Station.

Ewes that are in the early stages of pregnancy disease can frequently be saved by drenching them with two ounces of any kind of molasses diluted with an equal amount of water. This treatment should be given twice each day Further development of the disease in a flock can be prevented by feeding molasses at the rate of three quarts for each 100 ewes twice each day. The molasses should be diluted with an equal quantity of hot water, sprinkled over the feed and thoroughly mixed. This mixture should not be prepared too long before feeding since damp feed may spoil. Blackstrap molasses is much cheaper than other kinds.

The above being true, it is to be expected that intravenous injections of a glucose solution would have a more immediate effect than feeding or drenching with molasses. Since repeated injections of glucose will save a certain percentage of ewes showing symptoms of pregnancy disease, some seem to think that this is the best way to handle the problem. However, practical procedure would seem to be to feed ewes on a hay and grain rotation of a kind and quantity that would prevent the disease, rather than to attempt to carry them through on a starvation ration and trust to injections of glucose, should the disease develop.

COLLEGE SUGGESTS MIXTURE SEEDING

The University of Kentucky College of Agriculture offers the following recommendations to farmers who plan to seed pasture and meadow mixtures this spring:

All seedings should be composed of mixtures of grasses and legumes. Such mixtures will not only produce more and better feed, but will conserve the soil. Lespedeza should be included in all mixtures as it adds feed value and insures against complete failure.

When grasses and legumes are seeded in connection with winter cover crops, it is desirable that the small grain be pastured in the spring. Rank growth of small grains often smother young grasses and legumes.

Where pasture or meadow mixtures are to be seeded on especially prepared ground, a light seeding of oats may be sowed to provide protection to the young seedlings and to be mowed or grazed off before maturing.

Pasture and meadow production is greatly improved by the use of limestone and phosphate.

Suggested seeding mixtures:

1. Orchard grass, bluegrass, alsike clover and lespedeza.
2. Orchard grass, bluegrass, sweet clover and lespedeza.

Alfalfa, bluegrass, orchard grass and lespedeza.

Red clover, any grass or grasses and lespedeza.

5. Redtop, timothy, alsike clover and lespedeza.

IN LOVING MEMORY

Of my beloved husband, who passed away, Feb. 24th, 1935, Harvey H. Souther.

What was his creed
God was his creed, I know,
That here below, he walked the common road,
And lifted many a load, lightening the task
Brightened the day for others,
Toiling on their weary way.
This, his only need, God and love his creed.

His creed? He didn't need a creed,
Enough that never yielded he to greed,
But served a brother in his daily need;
Plucked many a thorn, and planted many a flower,
Glorified the service of each hour.
Had faith in God, himself and fellow man;
Perchance he never thought about a creed,
I know he lived his life in deed.

—Geneva Souther.

SUGGESTS CARE IN BUYING OLD SEEDS

From Prof. W. A. Price, head of the seed testing laboratory at the Agricultural Experiment Station at Lexington comes a warning against buying old seeds, those tested a year or more ago. In some instances, he says, the germination qualities of seeds are affected by age. This is especially true of lespedeza, timothy, bluegrass and tobacco. A test is being made at the Experiment Station to determine just what effect age has on germination, and while the experiment has not been going long enough to draw definite conclusions, it is evident that seeds three years old or older often germinate poorly. Prof Price urges farmers to read the tag on the bag to see when the germination test was made and what it was, before buying seeds of any kind.

Foot Comfort Specialist at
Peoples' Foot Comfort
9th and Madison Ave., Cov., Ky.

Seven out of ten men and women who suffer are suffering with their feet . . . and it's time something was done to give them relief! How often have you heard friends or relatives say—

"Oh, my feet just won't carry me any more!" or "My feet are just killing me!" Now this would be funny if it were not so true. Think of the many times those suffering feet of yours have made you give some one a short unsatisfactory answer.

Maybe you slighted one of your good friends, or even your best friend,—just because your feet were hurting you.

You know, you just can't get the best out of life when your feet hurt. That's why you should come to us—let one of our foot comfort specialists give you a thorough foot analysis, put the correct shoe on you for your type of trouble and you'll just begin to live all over again. Then too, you'll be asked to come back for those free oscillating electric treatments that just make your feet feel years younger—This is done to help the circulation in your feet, then the shoes hold the bones up in posture and displace many pounds of weight, for an example a girl weighing 120 lbs. in walking one mile will impose 56 tons of weight on each foot. The average girl or house wife walks about twelve miles a day.

Just imagine what it would mean to you if it were possible to displace that weight, and that's just what many of our friends tell us, that shoes allow their feet to rest and relieve half the burden on their feet. In all cases where exercise is necessary we will recommend what exercise to start with and as the feet become stronger we'll give you more strenuous exercise so as to acquire a very brisk step. Remember your only expense is the price of Seigual Shoes—and now the writer wishes you all good foot comfort.

NORBEH CHAMPION 4-H NOTES

The girls of the Norbeh Champion 4-H club held their first meeting with Miss Gillaspie in charge. Since the club was too large this year, the boys and girls meet in separate groups.

Each group elected their own officers. The girls' group elected the following officers:

President, Katherine Jane Casper; Vice President, Glenrose Williams; Secretary-Treasurer, Virginia Reimer; Cheer Leader, Martha Clayton; Sargent-at-Arms, Frances Beacom.

Miss Gillaspie gave a brief outline of the work of the year. Along with our club work we also shall have the study of trees.

The sewing unit girls are progressing very nicely. They are hoping to complete their work by Rally Day.

Virginia Reimer, Club Reporter.

Homemakers Represented At Covington Meet

Twenty-two clothing leaders of Boone Homemakers attended a Leaders' Training class in Covington last week. Boone Homemakers met with leaders of Campbell county at Coppin's department store to hear Miss Iris Davenport's discussion on Spring Style Trends. Miss Davenport, clothing specialist Extension division, University of Kentucky, told leaders about the newest trends in spring styles of millinery, dresses, coats, suits and accessories. Merchandise from Coppin's store was used for demonstration purposes. The Homemakers were guests of Coppins for lunch. Leaders will bring this lesson back to local clubs in March.

The following attended the meeting in Covington: Mrs. W. T. Renaker and Mrs. Lorena Myers, Verona; Mrs. Allan Gaines, Mrs. J. C. Bedinger and Mrs. Alleen Conner, Walton; Mrs. Norma Aylor and Mrs. George Casper, Hebron; Mrs. Elizabeth Morehead and Mrs. Elizabeth Aylor, Taylorsport; Mrs. Virgie Kottmyer, Mrs. Elmer Peeno and Mrs. James Dye, Constance; Mrs. Herna Mathews and Mrs. Lawrence Chambers, Petersburg; Mrs. C. L. Cropper and Mrs. Robert Clore, Burlington; Mrs. Gertrude Tinkelenberg, Grant; Mrs. Virginia Goodridge and Mrs. L. T. Utz, Florence and Mrs. Sam B. Sleet and Mrs. J. S. Taylor, New Haven.

One sad thought is that there is another generation now growing up that never saw and never will see a buggy whip decorated with a big bow of red ribbon.

THE BOONE COUNTY RECORDER

ESTABLISHED 1875

VOLUME 62 | BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY THURSDAY, MARCH 3, 1938 | NUMBER 41

ALL-STAR TEAM WILL BE CHOSEN BY POPULAR VOTE

Fans From Entire County Will Pick Two Best From Each School—County's Twelve Best Players Will Compete on Florence Floor

In last week's issue of the Boone County Recorder was a preliminary announcement of plans for the selection of two basketball players from each school to play on the all-county teams.

The plan is to have the reading public vote for two in each school to play in the game. You are to vote for the two you choose from the school which serves the community in which you live. If you live in Florence district, vote for two in that school, if you live in Hebron district vote for two players of the Hebron team and so on through Boone County.

This plan will select twelve players from the six high schools in the county which will be pitted against each other in teams of six by a process of drawing. The game is to be played at Florence. Aside from showing the best players from each school in what should be a close game, this will tend to create friendly spirit between the schools, since at least three schools will be represented by each team.

The Boone County Athletic conference is sponsoring this game in the interest of better basketball and the success of the Conference. The date will be set during the week following the Regional tournament so that it will not interfere with the teams which will represent Boone County in the Region. Watch for the date and go with your choice players to Florence and see the twelve best players of the county in a spirited basketball game.

Below is a ballot for your convenience. Watch the District tournament games before you select your favorites if you choose, but be certain to send your vote in before Saturday, March 12, at midnight. Mail your ballots filled out and signed to the Boone County Recorder. Be certain not to be too late. These boys are interested in knowing just what you think of their playing. Don't forget the date before which the bollots must be sent in, March 12 at midnight.

WALTON MAN SHOOTS SELF

WAS RETIRED CARPENTER—ILL HEALTH SAID TO BE CAUSE OF ACT — SERVICES HELD TUESDAY.

Frank E. Stephenson, 67 years. ended his life Sunday at his home in Walton by shooting himself with a rifle.

His son-in-law Earl Stanton, investigating a noise in the creamery room of the home, found Stephenson dead on the floor. A rifle was lying nearby.

Mr. Stephenson had been in ill health for over five years, according to reports. He was a retired carpenter and was well known throughout the county.

Besides his daughter and son-in-law he is survived by his widow, Mrs. Nannie Merrill Stephenson; a son, John E. Stephenson; a sister, Mrs. Zella Frazier, and six brothers, Forrest, Raymond, Thomas, Charles, Floyd and Johnson Stephenson.

Funeral services were conducted at the Walton Baptist church of which he was a member Tuesday by his pastor, Rev. Alford in the presence of an overflowing house of relatives and friends. On Monday evening at 7:30 p. m. the Junior Order held their service at the funeral home.

Chambers and Grubbs, of Walton were in charge of funeral arrangements.

The W. M. U. meets Friday at 10:00 a. m. at the Burlington Baptist church.

FOUR INJURED IN COLLISION

NEAR WALTON SUNDAY—CAR PLUNGES OFF ROAD AFTER SIDESWIPING CINCINNATIAN'S AUTO.

Four persons were injured, one seriously when an automobile in which they were riding, driven by Alfred S. Slade, 23 years old, of Covington, sideswiped a car driven by Waldon Gilbert, 50, Cincinnati, near Walton early Sunday morning.

Patrolmen Robert Brugh and James Bolington reported Slade's car strucks Gilbert's then plunged off the road one mile west of Walton.

The injured, taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital, Covington, were Mr. and Mrs. William Croswait, 426 Greenup Street, Covington; Mrs. Evelyn Black, 21, same address and Slade.

The Croswaits suffered severe head and face cuts. Physicians said Croswait's condition was serious, his wife's "fair." Mrs. Black and Slade were released after treatment for cuts and bruises.

Gilbert escaped injury. Slade's automobile was badly damaged.

He will be located at Lawrenceburg. Ky.

FARM SOLD AT FLORENCE

Mrs. Gertrude Morris sold her farm of 100 acres on the Price pike near Florence to Mr. L. Henry Thomas, of Cincinnati. Mr. Thomas had purchased an adjoining farm from S. J. Zapp about a year ago. This gives Mr. Thomas a nice body of land with two sets of buildings. A. B. Renaker made the sale to Mr. Thomas for Mrs. Morris.

WALTON UPSETS ERLANGER HIGH

IN FAST GAME FRIDAY NIGHT —WALTON AND HEBRON TIED FOR FIRST PLACE IN LEAGUE STANDING.

Clinton Henry of Erlanger High outscored his Boone County rival for the second time this year when the Juggernauts invaded the Walton hardwood Friday night, but the Juggernaut team bowed to the Bearcats, 32 to 30.

The result was an upset. The game was featured by a personal duel between the Lloyd ace, Henry, who racked up 16 points and Osborne, Walton forward. who scored 15 points. In an earlier game Henry had outscored Osborne.

The Walton boys jumped into an early lead, and held a 6-0 lead at one time. The first half ended with Walton leading 15 to 14.

In the final stanza the Juggernauts rallied to draw even and then pass the Boone Countians, but with a one-point lead and three minutes to play Clinton Henry went the way of four personal fouls. A free throw and a field goal, while hold the Erlanger boys scoreless, clinched the battle for Walton.

Hebron, display a cle er brand of basketball, went back into a tie for first place in the Boone County Conference Friday night when they defeated Burlington 61 to 29.

Huey and Turner made 16 each for the winners. Shinkle got 14 and Hitzfield 13. Winfred Huey was high point man for the losers with 10.

In another Boone County Conference battle, New Haven made Hamilton jump through the hoop 42 to 35.

Griffith was high point man for New Haven with 21 points, while Carroll tallied 13 for the losers.

SOILS, CROP MEET WELL ATTENDED

ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY FARMERS HEAR PROF. E. J. KINNEY AND PROF. GEORGE ROBERTS LAST FRIDAY.

One hundred and fifty farmers attended the soil and crops meeting held at Burlington on last Friday, according to H. R. Forkner county agent and Mark Cook, chairman of the soils and crops project of Burlington community program of work. Prof. E. J. Kinney, head of the crops work and Prof. George Roberts, head of the soils work at the Kentucky Experiment Station were principal speakers on the program.

Farmers attending the meeting stated it was one of the most profitable and interesting farm education meetings held in the county. The subjects discussed were of vital importance t improvement in soils and crops problem.

Statements of interest to farmers at the meeting included some of the following:

"There is no great difference in the quality of burley tobacco secured from any improved varieties of burley tobacco grown today. Experiment Station No. 16 is the most root rot resisting variety being grown and is equal to any in quality.

"Old sod fields, previous to the cropping season, seem to prepare soil best for the production of higher quality tobacco," Prof. Kinney said.

Prof. Kinney is of the opinion that natural curing should be used to the fullest extent and coke used only when poor curing weather develops. This means previous preparation should be made for use of coke or other curing agent.

Hybrid corn seed should be secured only from known sources and used because of increased yields secured.

Not all domestic and very little foreign red clover seed is adapted to Kentucky. Adapted Kentucky grown seed should be used. Farmers should make a tour to the Experiment Station red clover fields this summer to study results being secured with adapted seed.

Prof. George Roberts says Clovers should always be sown with all grasses because of the lengthened life of the grasses and the increased yields secured.

Don't lime just ahead of tobacco. Tobacco land should be in sod for at least three years previous to plowing. 400 pound of 3-8-6 fertilizer per acre drilled in two ribbons eight inches apart about ten days before setting would be a good general recommendation for fertilizing tobacco. This recommendation would not apply to every individual case. Sod and manure make for best moisture conditions.

Early sown winter cover crops should always be sown on cultivated fields. Expensive losses of nitrogen results when cover crops are not used.

RALPH MAURER WINS CONTEST

HAVING BEST SPORTS ARTICLE —CONTEST SPONSORED BY EASTERN TEACHERS COLLEGE.

"Dead Pan Rome" an Esquire-styled sports article, written by Ralph Maurer, senior, won first prize in a contest sponsored by the Eastern Teachers College yearbook, the Milestone, it was announced by Charles Billerman, Milestone business manager.

The article was a 1,200 word narrative concerning Eastern's Head Coach Rome Rankin. Variations of strongly worded satire on "local bluebloods" also dotted the pages, contest officials stated.

Maurer received statewide recognition earlier in the year when awarded seconds on editorial and feature writing in the Kentucky Intercollegiate Press Association contest.

The young northern Kentucky journalist is known as "the busiest man on the campus," and rightly so as he is editor of the Eastern Progress, students newspaper, was president of the International Relations Club during the first semester, a member of the Social Science Club, Sima Tau Pi, honorary commercial fraternity, and Northern Kentucky Club. He is also leading a student move for a modified system of student government.

Besdies these collegiate activities young Maurer is a resident reporter for the Lexington Leader, and was co-organizer of a town camera club, which has as its objective the publication of a photo magazine.

When asked how he could "stand the gaff," Maurer modestly stated that he was making up for time lost in the past. Concerning future plans, he insinuated that he was going to teach several years and then enter the University of Missouri College of Journalism.

Maurer is the son of Mrs. Josie Maurer, Burlington.

Kinman To Hold Auction March 5th

R. G. Kinman Realty Auction Co. 408 Coppin Bldg., Covington, announces an auction of live stock, farm implements and household goods at the Lloyd Ross farm Saturday, March 5th at 10 a. m., slow time. Volley Ball Tournament Is Scheduled

Plans have just recently been completed for the holding of the first Volley Ball tournament ever to be held in the county, according to E. E. Kirkwood, publicity director of the Boone County Athletic Association.

This tournament is to be sponsored by the Burlington school and will be exclusively a girls' affair, since the female sex no longer have a part in the basketball program.

Girls teams from the six high schools in the county will compete for the championship, and much interest has already been shown in this coming sports event for Boone County girls.

The date for this event has not been announced, but will probably be made known soon after the basketball tourney this week.

TAX COLLECTIONS HEAVY LAST DAY

DELINQUENCY EXPECTED TO BE APPROXIMATELY 10 PER CENT—$15,000.00 WILL BE SUBJECT TO PENALTY.

Tax collections were very heavy in the office of Tax Collector, W. B. Cotton, Monday, but it has been estimated that there is approximately 10 percent of the taxes delinquent, the largest amount since 1934.

According to reports Kenton county reported approximately 30 percent delinquency, and Campbell county approximately 25 percent at the close of their books Monday.

The penalty of 6 percent and 6 percent interest will be added now, and all delinquent taxes will be advertised during the month of April.

There has only been 777 dog licenses secured in Boone this year, and over 2300 dogs were accessed. Unless you obtain your dog license soon, there will be a court order issued which will increase your dog license 50c each.

Four-H Members Will Broadcast

Boone County 4-H club members are making plans for the presentation of a radio program over WHAS on March 29th at 11:45 a. m. The program will be devoted to the interests of Boone County 4-H club members.

Everyone is urged to tune in on this program.

Debating Teams Visit Burlington

The Northern Kentucky Debating Conference, representing the schools from Boone, Kenton, Pendleton and Campbell counties met at the Burlington school Tuesday afternoon for their district debating contest.

There were over 80 participants, including delegates. coaches and judges. Seven debates were being heard at one time, and there were two periods.

We do not have the results of this meeting, but we will carry a complete listing of the winners in our next issue.

Robert Codey

Robert "Jack" Codey, aged 79 years, former Kenton County Road Commissioner for eight years and resident of Erlanger, Ky., was killed Wednesday morning when struck by a train at the Latonia crossing. The remains were removed to the Tallaferro Funeral Home in Erlanger for preparation.

Mr. Codey is survived by his widow. Mrs. Addie Codey, one daughter, Miss Fannie Codey, five sons, Guy, George, Jess and Irvin all of Kenton County and Albert of Montana, also two sisters and three brothers.

He was a charter member of the Erlanger Methodist Church.

Funeral services were conducted Friday afternoon at 2:30 by the Rev. E. K. Arnold and D. E. Bedinger at the Tallaferro Funeral Home with interment following in Highland cemetery. His four sons acted as pall bearers.

THE REAL AMERICA

While complete figures gathered in the recent nation-wide unemployment census have not yet furnished to the public, it will be of great interest to everyone to learn one particular point in connection with it. That is that those figures which have so far been made available show that more than 80 percent of the approximately registered as out of employment are residents of cities in excess of 5,000 population.

Small-town America, where about one-third of the nation's population lives in hamlets, villages and small towns, is and always has been the last section of the nation to feel a lack of jobs. Even the rural areas, because of idle farm labor, show a higher percentage of unemployment than the small towns. Approximately 18 percent of unemployable men and women in the United States were without jobs as of last December 1. But the percentage of idle in small-town America does not run nearly so high, in fact, it probably does not exceed eight per cent.

The small towns, the villages and the hamlets of this country are fortunate in more ways than one. Life may not have as many high spots in such places as it offers in the big and over-crowded cities, but neither does it have so many low ones. Men and women follow the even ten or their ways in the small towns, the hamlets and the villages, and a far greater degree of peace and contentment, as well as comfort and well-being, is the result.

CROPS AND THE MOON

There's one thing you doubtless have heard a lot of argument about, and which nobody has probably been able to explain to you satisfactorily, and that is what effect, if any, the moon really has on farm crops and garden vegetables. A lot of successful gardeners would no more plant cucumbers or peas when the "signs" are wrong than they'd chase a polecat in their Sunday suit. Yet agricultural college experts argue that it is all bunk and superstition. They say the moon doesn't affect plant life.

Despite their contention, however, there are still a good many people living right in Boone County who are not willing to agree that these scientific gentlemen are right. They say that if the moon can jerk the ocean around and cause tides to ebb and flow, it can cut some figure in vegetable growth. They've seen cucumbers run to vine and potatoes refuse to sprout, or to bear decent sibed potatoes if they did sprout, because they were not planted according to the moon.

It is an old question, but it has never been explained. Science and the farmer work fairly well together in a lot of things, but when it comes to this thing of the moon figuring in plant life, they simply cannot agree. That is why it is still, as it always has been, an interesting subject and one you can stir up an argument with as easily as you can by talking politics. Try it on the next farmer or gardenmaker you meet and see for yourself.

—o—

LEST YOU FORGET

Unless the usual signs fails, there will be several more weeks of winter before the green shows any signs of getting back in the trees. That means that for several more weeks to come your outdoor friends—the birds—are going to have a hard time scratching a living out of the ground and trees. So this is a final winter appeal to every citizen to keep right on throwing out crumbs, if they are doing so, and if they are to start at once and keep it up for a few more weeks to come. We should no more get along without these little feathered friends than we could get along without the grass and the trees. And when we consider that only for the birds we would be forced to lose our birds and trees, there certainly should be no hesitancy on anyone's part to look after the welfare of such protectors at a time when it is almost impossible for them to exist without human assistance. Keep up the noble work a few weeks longer—keep on tossing out a daily ration of crumbs for the birds.

A BETTER START

Insofar as the elements are concerned, the present year got away to a much happier start than the last one, and the natural hope is now that it continue uninterrupted. Citizens recall the distressing floods of last year, and the widespread suffering that was going on in many sections of the country along about this time. Many predicted that many places hardest hit would never recover from their tremendous loss. But today, a year later, the sun again shines bright in old homes restored, or new ones that have replaced those swept away. All of which goes to prove that time is a great healer, and that the American people, trusting in the same agency which caused them suffering to likewise restore them to joy, will always find a way out of such visitations. Other disasters will come, of course. But it's still a poor idea to cross bridges before getting to them. It's still best to be thankful for today's sunshine and today's smiles—and to stand ready to help the other fellow, as he will be ready to help you, when the clouds do come.

—o—

VANISHING SCARECROWS

According to the U. S. Bureau of Biological Survey, the scarecrow is already virtually extinct. No citizen need take the bureau's word for it, however. All he has to do is get in his car and drive around awhile through most any farming district. Where every corn field one had its crude cross decked in discarded clothing and hat, with perhaps a few handfuls of hay for stuffing, one may drive for miles without seeing a single one.

The scarecrow is gone, says the Bureau, because it so miserably failed to live up to its name. The crow is a wise bird. It saw in the ridiculously outstretched arms of the scarecrow not an evidence of human presence, but merely a convenient perch from which the better to enjoy the feast and taunt the farmer. Yet that had been going on for a good many years before the farmer list faith in the scarecrow.

Modern mechanical science, we suspect, might provide a much more lifelike and effective substitute. Why not a radio-controlled dummy, perhaps, with the earmarks and movements of a real man, that the farmer, manipulating a gadget from the comfort of his armchair, could dispatch about his fields at will? But the new taste for crow's meat, which it has been discovered can be made into a fairly delectable dish, has removed even the necessity for that. As a result the hunter's quest for the crow has discouraged the flocks from pilfering corn more than ever the scarecrow did. So there is another clue to the disappearance of another familiar figure from the countryside—the old scarecrow.

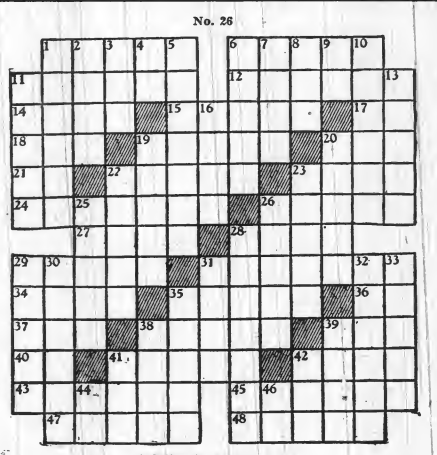
BATTER UP



Announcement that the American League's new official sound motion picture "Batter Up" is to be distributed, without admission fee, to schools, colleges, athletic coaches, clubs, etc., through the cooperation of the Fisher Body Division of General Motors, offers another opportunity to say a word for American business. Here is an example of public service by big business which merits commendation. More than twelve million people saw previous editions of this baseball film during the past three years because the generosity and public mildedness of this automotive business organization, made free public showings possible.

"Batter Up" is to be released in 2-and-4 reel lengths and in 16 and 35mm. sizes. The shorter version requires approximately 23 minutes for a showing and the longer one, 40 minutes.

Lew Fonseca, director of promotion for the American League, has written and supervised "Batter Up." It is an entirely new production, with many of the sequences taken in special sets constructed within the motion picture studio. Other innovations from a technical standpoint include the use of what is known as the "frozen frame." This device, which stops the action momentarily, is employed with slow motion to illustrate the more important points. Narration is by Ted Husing, one of the country's best known and best informed sports anouncers.

Lesson for March 6

SERVING WITH WHAT WE HAVE

LESSON TEXT—Mark 6:1-13.
GOLDEN TEXT—Such as I have give I thee.—Acts 3:6.
PRIMARY TOPIC—When Jesus Went Home to Nazareth.
JUNIOR TOPIC—On a Journey for Jesus.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Serving With What We Have.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Serving With What We Have.

One of the difficulties we mortals face in dealing with spiritual things is that we interpret things in the realm of the spirit according to the principles and measurements of the physical world. We are quick to say "We cannot" on the basis of logical human reasoning, when an appreciation of the power of God operative on our behalf would enable us to say "We can," and having left God out of our thinking we find that indeed we cannot.

The lesson before us presents two pictures from our Lord's second visit to his home country, Nazareth. On His first visit they had tried to thrust Him over the precipice, and He in all the glory and poise of the Son of God had walked through their midst and gone His way. Now He comes again with His disciples. We then see how His home folk virtually made the power of the omnipotent God impotent because of their unbelief. On the other hand we see the weakness of men made mighty because of obedience to the command of God.

I. The Paralysis of Unbelief (vv. 1-6).

The world, the flesh, and the devil have brought forth a dark list of wicked things, but perhaps the most destructive and distressing of all is the foundation sin of unbelief. When we think back to the underlying reason for any sin or weakness in man it will be found that there is a failure to believe God. Men do not believe what He says about sin and its penalty, nor do they believe Him when He offers them grace and strength for victory.

At Nazareth the unbelief which limited the Son of God revealed itself in two questions—

1. "Whence hath this man these things?" (v. 2).

They could not deny His mighty works so they turn their attack on His person. "Is not this the carpenter?" (v. 3). Essentially this was envy, "the difficulty of acknowledging the superiority over themselves of one of their own number". . . (Morgan).

We are ashamed of the attitude of the men of Nazareth, but we follow in their footsteps. Heavy among the burdens a Christian worker must bear is the unbelief and ridicule of his own people. Because a man has sold us groceries, or painted our house or driven a taxi in our town we cannot see how he could ever be a preacher or a missionary. Well, he can, and it is such folk that God often calls.

2. "What is this wisdom?" (v. 2).

The wisdom of Jesus was the wisdom of God (John 7:16). But how could they know that? How can we know? In John 7:17 Jesus gave the answer: "If any man will do his will, he shall know of the doctrine, whether it be of God, or whether I speak of myself." We see then that the reason for their unbelief was really an unwillingness to do the will of God. The controlling motive of their life was wrong. Had they been moved by a desire to do God's will, and a purpose to live in accordance therewith (even though there might have been failure in that earnest effort), they would have known that Jesus had His wisdom from God.

II. The Power of Divine Commission (vv. 7-13).

Just as unbelief hinders even the Son of God, so faith in God and obedience to His command makes of weak and poorly equipped men the mighty servants of God. In fact, their very dependence on Him for all things sets them free to devote themselves fully to the ministry of preaching and healing.

Note that they went "two by two." We have forgotten that divine plan, and often send men into remote and dangerous pioneer work—alone. Man needs fellowship; he needs counsel and control.

Consider also how they were to learn to trust God for their daily sustenance (vv. 8,9). They suffered no lack (see Luke 22:35). These rules for the life of religious workers were modified later (Luke 22:36), but the principle remains the same—the man or woman who is not ready to depend on God for everything had better not set out to follow Him. It is a blessed and delightful life!

Resisting Interference

It is sometimes pretty hard to do something you feel is right against the interference of all the world and her little brother. Sometimes it's a good thing to say "right or wrong, that's my story, and I'm going to stick to it," no matter how many well-meaning friends may advise otherwise.—Ouise Vapel.

The New JaSol Store

The JaSol, located on Pike St., the last 15 years, moved this week to its new location, 706 Madison Ave., Covington. The JaSol wishes to anounce to its many Boone County friends and customers that the store is now open.

The JaSol ranks with the best apparel shops in this vicinity, and is now presenting the latest styles in women's wear, featuring all that is new in coats, including toppers, finger lengths, knee lengths and dress caats. The dresses shown are tomorrow's styles. Of course, black and navy, with neat trims of white, still are in the greatest demand. with prints and shades fast becoming favorites among the fashion-wise, the management states. The JaSol will continue to show a complete selection of sizes, including 9 to 17, 12 to 20, 38, 54 and 16½ to 30½.

Accessories for women will also comprise an important department at the new JaSol. Hats of straw, with clever trims, are shown in large quantities and in all sizes. This new store also is showing a complete assortment of hosiery, blouses and lingerie.

Owner Charles I. Jacobs extends a personal invitation to all Recorder readers to inspect his new JaSol, which he feels will be the pride of Covington. The store faces the Seventh Street parking block.

LUHN & STEVIE ANNOUNCE 31ST ANNIVERSARY SALE

In February, 1907, the Luhn & Stevie Company was incorporated at 30 Pike St., Covington, the store consisting of two selling floors and two floors for reserve stocks. Approximately 10 years ago the company began to expand, taking over the second and third floors of 32 Pike St.

In November 1936, a very modern shoe store was opened at 34 Pike St., completing the company's expansion program to date.

Following Luhn & Stevie's annual custom, a store-wide 31st Anniversarl Sale is now in progress.

The stores are owned and operated by Kentuckians, who have had an active part in northern Kentucky's business life for many years. The management wishes to take this opportunity to thank Boone County residents for past patronage.

Having undergone alterations and improvements, Pat's China Store, 736 Madison Ave., Covington is observing its fourth anniversary by holding a special sale, during which prices have been marked way down, as will be noted by the store's advertisement in this issue. The sale has been so successful it will be continued all this week.

New show windows have been installed, and floor space has been considerably increased, permitting the largest stock the store has ever carried.

FLORENCE HOMEMAKERS' CLUB

There was a very good attendance at the regular monthly meeting of the Florence Homemakers' Club, February 24, at the Town Hall. Miss Mary Hood Gillaspie, home demonstration agent, showed some very lovely scarfs, table covers and bedspreads made in India and Morroco leather purses. Miss Gillaspie and Mrs. Virginia Goodridge gave the lesson on "Style Trend," and Mrs. C. F. Blankenbeker gave a most delightful talk about her trip to Farm and Home Week at Lexington, Ky.

Three new members, Mrs. Leila V. Allen, Mrs. Geneva Arnold and Mrs. Charlotte Wilson were welcomed into the club. The next meeting will be March 24th. The subject of the day will be "Plain Cookery." The roll call will be answered by "What We Know About St. Patrick." The meeting will be followed by a Social program.

FOUR-H NEWS

The Foods class, a division of the Burlington Blue Ribbon 4-H club met Thursday at th eschool under the direction of Miss Mary Hood Gillasiep home demonstration agt.

Very little was done at this first meeting. Miss Gillaspie outlined the wrok for the next class. The members filled out the record books as much as possible.

Rebecca Stephenson was elected Captain of the class.

The meeting adjourned with each member looking forward eagerly to the class next Thrsday, when the preparation of breakfast foods will begin.

It has just about gotten so in this country that when a man pleads guilty everybody thinks he is crazy.

BURLINGTON SCHOOL NEWS

Last Friday night Hebron journeyed to Burlington to play a good and a winning game of basketball. Our girls certainly played a wonderful game of volley ball. defeating the Hebron girls two games out of three. We are going to have a volley ball tournament here this year, and we wish our girls more success.

Friday night the Burlington boys journey to Florence to compete in the annual basketball tournament. We feel that our boys will play for all their worth at this game.

Mrs. Moore reports that the second and third grade bird club met last Friday afternoon to start work on their bird booklets. They have set Friday as their regular day to meet.

Tuesday afternoon the different debate teams of Hobokin journeyed to Burlingt n to hold their contests.

Mrs. Kirkwood reports that Miss Anna Claudine Tungate and Billy Ray Hickman have been transferred to other schools. We are sorry to lose these students.

Plans are being made for the high school scholarship test of various high school subjects this year. We are planning to enter into this event.

PREPARATION OF FOOD IS TOPIC OF HOMEMAKERS

On a hill overlooking the environs of Beaver Lick, the home of Mrs. Sam Sleet was the gathering place for the New Haven Homemakers for their February meeting on Friday last. Miss Mary Hood Gillaspie, Home Demonstration Agent presided over the morning session, which was devoted to business relative to the new project, Food Preparation. Mrs. Walter Pennington and Mrs. R. M. Baldwin were chosen as the leaders for this study.

The dinner, a combined effort of the membership, was served at 12 o'clock. In the afternoon assembly Mrs. Sleet acted in her capacity as County President and introduced Mrs. Clinton Blankenbeker, who was the official delegate to the Farm and Home Convention which convened in Lexington the last week in January. Mrs. Blankenbeker gave a vivid account of her stay there, the highlights being of interest to all interested in the welfare of the family center, the home.

Mrs. Mattie Griffith and Mrs. Lon Wilson were among the guests present at the meeting.

What worries us personally is not what congress is doing about taxes but what we are going to have to do about them.

The prettiest women in the world today are the ones you see in magazine ads advertising some sort of kitchen equipment.

Leaders Attend Training Class

Twenty-two leaders, representing eleven Homemakers' clubs, attended the first training class in Foods last week in Burlington. The lesson was given by Mrs. Pearl Haak, Foods Specialist, University of Kentucky. She was assisted by Mary Hood Gillaspie, Home Demonstration agent.

The eleven Homemakers' clubs of Boone County, representing 350 Homemakers, will study foods for their major project for the next four months. Mrs. Haak will conduct the four training classes. Actual preparation of food will take place at each local meeting. Mrs. Haak discussed the nutritive value of fruits and vegetables in the diet. She emphasized the importance of eating fruits and vegetables with an abundance of vitam A to prevent diseases of the nose and throat.

Training classes are conducted in the relief building in Burlington. The Community Public Service Company is lending an electric stove for the training class.

Here's one thing that's too one-sided. Motorists killed more than 15,000 pedestrians last year and not one pedestrian killed a motorist.

492 Members Are Enrolled In 4-H Clubs

Ten Boone County 4-H clubs have organized to date enrolling 492 members, just eight members short of the 500 member goal, according to H. R. Forkner. county agent. The 500 member goal is expected to be exceeded by the next series of meetings.

Community clubs organized to date include Burlington, Florence, Walton, Verona, New Haven, Hamilton, Belleview, Petersburg, Hebron and Taylorsport. Each club has a complete set of officers, including president. vice president, secretary-treasurer, club reporter, sargent-at-arms, cheer leaders and project captains. Local adult leaders ar eassisting each community club and each project group of five or more members in the community club.

The 4-H clubs are making the most substantial advance under the 4-H motto "Make the Best Better."

Farm projects most popular among members are:

Corn—Growing one-half acre of hybrid variety in comparison with one-half acre of open pollinated varieties.

Tobacco—From one-fourth to one acre.

Garden—Various sizes, starting from a minimum of 20x40 feet.

Poultry—Four settings of eggs or 50 baby chicks if starting with baby chicks.

Dairy calf—Starting purebred dairy heifer.

Pig—Two or more market pigs.

Lamb—Starting with five or more eyes.

Colt—A new project that will be carried with from five to ten members this year.

Home projects popular among members include sewing, canning, foods and room improvement.

Examples that club members make money was shown the past year when seventy-five Boone County members sold 33,580 lbs. of tobacco in the Covington sale for $8,725.36.

Sewing and certain other projects have a strict educational value but are of equal interest to members.

Four-H club work is open to every boy and girl in the county between the ages of 10 and 18 years, inclusive, who carries out an approved agricultural or home economics project.

Enrollment cards may be secured from the community club secretaries or at the county agent's office in Burlington.

YOUR CREDIT IS GOOD

If you need a loan we will consider it a favor to us if you will call and discuss the matter. It is easy to arrange a loan at this bank and it is handled confidentially.

Naturally we require reasonable security such as will protect the loan in bad as well as good times but most prospective borrowers have this acceptable security, such as good financial statement of holdings, real estate, personal endorsement, etc.

Mortgage loans on farm lands especially desired.

BUY A MODERN CAR NOW—WHILE YOU HAVE MORE TO TRADE AND LESS TO PAY

SEE ANY CAR DEALER DISPLAYING THIS SIGN

Get there early while the choice is wide—fine cars now offered at rock-bottom prices

This National Used Car Exchange Week gives you a great opportunity to OWN A BETTER CAR for a small investment. Automobile dealers co-operating in this big sale have a fine selection of used cars — and prices are far below those of several months ago.

Many are 1937, '36 and '35 models — backed by the finest of dealer guarantees. All have thousands of miles of first-class unused transportation in them.

And the "first-class" transportation of these modern cars represents satisfaction which the owners of older cars can hardly imagine. Beautiful, modern styling — a more comfortable ride — more room for you and your luggage — finer, more powerful engines — better gas mileage — better brakes — bigger tires — dozens of improvements introduced since your old car was built.

Now's the time to make the switch, while you have more to trade and less to pay. Your present car may cover the down-payment—balance on easy terms. If you have no car to trade, you can still take advantage of the low down-payments and easy terms during this sale.

Good Health Begins with Good Posture

Good Posture Begins with Good Feet

Not many of you realize that your general health depends on your feet as much as it does.

I dare say that many of you men and women are suffering with nervousness, backache, headaches and other ailments—simply because your feet aren't in good healthy condition, and the funny part of it is, you would never think of your feet as being the cause of your trouble.

Most of us don't ever want to bother with our feet. Just what are feet anyhow? Why, nothing, ends of our legs. That all feet are! They're just to walk on. Why be bothered with them? Now, isn't that truthfully your own attitude toward your ONLY pair of feet? The feet that carry you around all day, that suffer your abuse, that squeeze into your tight and ill fitting shoes, and bear the entire weight of your body! Now these feet of yours that have taken such abuse, are deserving of some consideration.

I know that thousands of dollars are spent by you women on creams and lotions to keep from having what is commonly known as "dishpan hands", and yet you wear shoes that cramp your feet and put wrinkles in your face! You know, you can hide your hands in gloves when you go out, but you can't hide the wrinkles in your face caused by pain in your feet and legs!

For men and women, especially you women who do not want lines and wrinkles in your face—give your feet a chance to be healthy!

Week Feet Can Be Straightened Up, removing pressure from nerves stopping those reflexes to distant parts of the body, ending those distress signals that are out from aching feet—and actually getting rid of aches and pains you never throught you could be rid of. Come in tomorrow—have one of our foot comfort analysis and get the correct type of shoe, you'll be years younger, feel better all over.

Just remember, you cannot enjoy good health with unhealthy feet.

Boys and Girls:

Do Not Fly Kites Near Electric Wires

Boys and girls, flying kites near electric wires is dangerous! Don't take chances. Follow these suggestions and be safe:

1. Do not use wire or metallic kite strings.
2. Do not climb poles to get tangled kites.
3. Do not poke sticks at kites caught in wires or try to pull them down by their tails.
4. Do not use metal kite sticks.
5. Do not fly kites with wet string or in damp rainy weather.
6. Fly your kites in parks, playgrounds or pastures, clear away from power lines.

If kites become entangled in wires, call our office at once. Our employees know how to remove them without endangering anyone or causing an interruption to electric service.

PARENTS: See that these suggestions are followed by the children in your neighborhood. You may save a life or prevent a serious injury.

NEW OWNER FOR WALTON PAPER

ELIZABETHTOWN MAN TAKES CONTROL—SALE MADE LAST WEEK—WAS FORMER EMPLOYEE OF FETTERS CO.

James H. Jump, 34, Elizabethtown, Ky., took over control of the Walton Advertiser Thursday of last week. The sale of the newspaper was made last week by the widows of the former owners, the late Roy D. Stamler and James R. Wallace, who died in November. It reported the deal was closed at the sale cost of $6,000 cash.

Jump was born and reared in Elizabethtown and was graduated from the Elizabethtown High School. He attended Georgetown (Ky.) College and Detroit (Mich.) College.

He began in the printing industry with the Fetters Printing Company, Louisville, and from there went to Michigan where he followed the trade. Following the death of his father in Michigan he returned to Kentucky to work on the Hardin County News.

Jump will be assisted in the active operating of the newspaper by his wife. He stated that his policy will be to do the utmost in printing local news.

Free Tobacco Seed For 4-H Club Members

Boone County 4-H club members expecting to use certified Experiment Station No. 16 tobacco seed may secure enough seed for their project free of charge thru the county agent's office in Burlington. These seed will also be available to members at the community club meetings being held this week and next week.

These seed have been donated thru the generosity of one of the leading certified seed tobacco producers and are not for sale. The county agent's office does not sell seed or any other commodities. The office, however, does attempt to keep a list of leading producers and will be glad at any time to advise growers where they can locate certified tobacco seed of any of the popular varieties, provided the seed can not be secured locally.

TRIBUTE PAID DAVE COLVILLE

LARGE NUMBER GATHER AT LOCAL SCHOOL TO HONOR ASSISTANT COUNTY AGENT WHO TAKES NEW POST

Approximately fifty persons assembled at the Burlington auditorium Wednesday night of last week to pay tribute to Dave Colville, who had been employed as assistant county agent of Boone county for the past nineteen months.

The occasion was a complete surprise to Mr. Colville, and had been planned by his co-workers in the county office.

A delightful meal was served at 7:30 by the Mother's Club of the local school, consisting of fish, potatoes, coffee, salad, corn bread and pie. After the supper, toastmaster, John Crigler called upon several for speeches. H. R. Forkner, was the first speaker of the evening, followed by D. H. Norris, Carroll Cropper, A. E. Stephens, E. E. Kirkwood, Miss Mary Hood Gillaspie and Walter Brown. Many words of praise for Mr. Colville and his work in the county was uttered by these speakers.

At the close of the speaking Mr. Colville was presented was a beautiful tie clasp set and belt with initial buckle.

In a brief talk made by the honor guest, he stated that it had been a pleasure to work in Boone County, and that there would always be a warm spot in his heart for the county and its citizens.

After the supper table tennis, volley ball and other games were enjoyed until a late hour.

Mr. Colville left Thursday morning for Lawrenceburg, Ky., in Anderson county where he will take up his new duties as assistant county agent of that county. He will be replaced in Boone county by James G. Dye, Georgetown, who had held an assistant's post in Scott county.

We regret to lose Mr. Colville but wish for him the best of success in his new field.

REVIVAL TO BE HELD AT WALTON

REV. G. B. TRAYNOR, NEWPORT WAS FORMER PASTOR AT WALTON.

A two weeks series of evangelistic services are to begin Sunday, March 13 at the Walton Methodist Church. The preaching is to be done by Rev. G. B. Traynor, pastor of the Taylors Street M. E. Church, South, Newport. The Rev. Traynor was in charge of the Walton Methodist church for three years, 1931-34 and was a very popular minister in the community. Doubtless his many friends will be glad of the privilege of hearing him again.

The congregational singing will be led by Rev. R. M. Baldwin, who is an experienced evangelistic singer, and is now pastor of the Hughes Chapel and Big Bone Methodist Churches. The Hammond organ, with Mrs. J. B. Johnson at the console, is to be used in the instrumental music, along with the piano. Mrs. F. E. Bedinger will direct the choir in special numbers.

This is to be known as the "Aldersgate Revival" in commemoration of the two hundredth anniversary of "the heart warming" experiences of the Rev. John Wesley, human organizer of the Methodist church.

The services will begin each evening at 7 o'clock and at 11:00 a. m. on Sunday mornings. The public is cordially invited.

R. R. Rose, pastor of the church will be in charge.

BATTLING LOVERS IN "BREAKAST FOR TWO"

If things were made consistent in many of the current comedy film hits, the birde and groom would be married by the minister of war, have a prize fight promoter for the best man and have their home re-zoned for a boxing arena.

Fun with a punch has replaced the sophisticated comedy so popular a year ago, and film wives have to be sparring partners as well as helpmates this season.

Running true to the 1937 comedy specifications, RKO Radio's "Breakfast for Two," which will be shown at the Gayety Theater Sunday and Monday, finds Barbara Stanwyck and Herbert Marshall stars, exchanging left uppercuts and right jabs instead of love and kisses. And there was no fake about it. Both stars had to "take it" in one of the scenes where Miss Stanwyck tries to make a man of her play-boy via the squared circle route.

And Marshall is authority for the information that Miss Stanwyck may be small, but she packs a mean right.

From the pages of Irvin S. Cobb, Will Rogers brings "Judge Priest," a character so human, a portrait so lovable and a picture so packed with heart-throbs and laughs that it ranks as the beloved humorist's finest, funniest hit. All the warm humor and rich romance that made "State Fair" and "David Harum" fun favorities is rekindled in this Twentieth Century-Fox picture at the Gayety Theater, on Wednesday and Thursday, March 23rd and 24th.

Saturday night the feature picture will be "Springtime in the Rockies."

Mrs. Robert Berkshire, of Lexington, a former resident of Burlington, underwent a serious operation last Wednesday at the St. Joseph Hospital, Lexington. At this time she convalescing nicely. Her many friends her wish for a speedy recovery.

NEW PUMPER FOR FLORENCE

TAX REDUCTION IS PROMISED IF NEW PLAN IS SUCCESS—70-CENT REDUCTION NOW IN EFFECT.

The Florence Voluntary Fire Department held its regular meeting last week and decided to purchase a new pumper for the department that would bring the equipment of the Florence force up to a much higher standard, and also be of much value to the vast rural area that surrounds the town of Florence.

The new equipment is expected to cost approximately $3,000.00, and the entire sum will be raised by subscription and donations. There was quite a large crowd at the meeting which was called for the purpose of discussing the buying of this new equipment, and much enthusiasm was shown in the new undertaking.

The Florence Department has been very beneficial to the residents of the Town of Florence, not only in the protection that is given the town, but the insurance rates have been reduced approximately 70 percent, and another reduction is in view, provided the new pumper is purchased as planned.

All persons who feel that they would like to donate to this worthy cause are urged to make either their donation or pledge as soon as possible.

1938 AC PROGRAM MEETINGS ANNOUNCED

A series of meetings will be held through the next two weeks in the different communities in the county to explain the 1938 Agricultural Conservation Program. Meetings scheduled so far are as follows:

Burlington courthouse, Saturday March 12 at 2:00 p. m. (slow time).

Hebron Masonic Hall, Saturday, March 12 at 7:30 p. m. (slow time).

Verona School, Monday, March 14 at 7:30 p. m. (slow time).

Walton School. Tuesday, March 15 at 7:30 p. m. (slow time).

New Haven School, Thursday, March 17 at 7:30 p. m. (slow time).

Dates for holding meetings in other communities will be announced later.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Florence Christian church are giving a fresh fish dinner at the Florence garage, corner of Dixie Highway and Shelby St., from 11 a. m. to 9 p. m. Price 35c. The time is set for Saturday March 19th.

Geo. Wernz of the Pt. Pleasant neighborhood was a brief caller at this office Tuesday. Mr. Wernz stated that he and several citizens of the neighborhood were in town in regard to the condition of their road.

Celebrates 93rd Birthday

T. C. Adams one of the county's oldest resident celebrated his ninety-third birthday, February 27th.

Those who participated in the celebration were: Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Leavell and sons Harold Lee and Lawrence Ray, all of Lockland, O., Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd L. Barker, of Blue Ash, Ohio, Mrs. Chas. M. Stone, of Ellicottville, N. Y., Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Moore, of Dayton, Ky., Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Adams of Youngstown, O., Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Rector of Erlanger, Mrs. Atha and Wilma Fay Atha.

Must Clean Right-of-Ways

At the regular meeting of the Boone Fiscal Court on Tuesday of this week, it was ruled that all landowners who owned or controlled property bordering a public highway must clear their fence lines of bushes. trees. weeds or any undesirable objects that would hinder the construction of public highways, and obstruct the view of motorists.

This work must be done not later than August 1st, 1938, according to the court order which follows.

Boone Fiscal Court,
In re-Order for Clearing Highways

Whereas, the repair and construction of the County roads have been greatly hindered by the accumulation of bushes. briars, weeds shrubs and hedges growing along said roads, and he travel on the constructed road has been made dangerous by said accumulation; and,

Whereas, Kentucky Statute 432-A-1, 4342-A.-2 and 4342-A-3 provide for the clearing of said lands:

It is therefore ordered by the Court, that every owner, controller and manager of lands bordering and abutting on the public highways of this county, cut, clear away. remove and carry from along said public highways all bushes, weeds, shrubs and overhanging limbs of trees, and all other obstructions along said highways, same to be done between the 1st day of July and the 1st day of August, 1938.

It is also ordered by the court that this order be advertised as the law requires.

Col. Kinman Gives Talk Over Station WCKY

Col. R. G. Kinman, of Florence, with offices in Covington was interviewed Friday night by Rex Davis, announcer for WCKY.

The announcer asked Mr. Kinman in the broadcast, "Do auctioneers really chant in the singsong affected by that seller on the network cigaret programs?" Mr. Kinman replied "Yes, they do." He proceeded to demonstrate the art of tobacco auctioneering to the radio audience. No doubt, many of the listeners heard the chant of the tobacco auctioneer for the first time in this broadcast.

Col. Kinman hold the unofficial world's record of selling 667 baskets of tobacco per hour for five hours and 40 minutes, without relief. This record was established several years ago.

Mr. Kinman started on his career as an auctioneer, in Williamtown 20 years ago, being only 16 years of age. He has practiced his profession in all the leading markets, including Kentucky, Georgia, the Carolinas and elsewhere.

For the past two seasons he has held the position as auctioneer of the Kenton Looseleaf Tobacco Warehouse in Covington, and has been conducting the R. G. Kinman Realty Co., for several years. He is an instructor in the Reppert School of Auctioneering in Indiana.

Florence Girl In Hospital

Edna Bell Thornton, Florence, was removed to the Bethesda Hospital, Cincinnati, last Saturday afternoon, due to a serious attack of heart trouble. Miss Thornton has been suffering from this ailment for quite some time, and has been attended by a Cincinnati specialist for several months.

Miss Thornton has been employed as bookkeeper for the Consolidated Telephone Company for the past ten years, and has become well known over the entire county. She will be temporarily replaced by Margie Bell, of Richwood.

According to our last reports, Miss Thornton is much improved but will have to remain in the hospital for approximately two weeks, and then remain at home for three months.

Craig's Sale Will Be Held Saturday

Having sold the farm known as the Addle Ryle farm located on the East Bend road about 6 miles from Burlington, W. J. Craig, owner, has announced one of the largest personal property sales in this section in recent years.

Kirby Conner of Cincinnati Union Stock Yards was the purchaser of this fine farm, and he intends to make his summer home in Boone County. Mr. Conner is widely known here and is one of the leading lamb buyers for the Green-Embry Co.

This will be a combination of several individual ownerships, but will all be brought to one place and sold to the highest bidder.

All the personal property of the J. W. Palmer estate will be sold at this sale, including his entire lot of blacksmith tools and equipment.

A complete list will be found in the advertisement on the last page of this issue.

REAL ESTATE SALES

Fitzhugh L. Tanner sold 63 acres of land located about four miles out on the East Bend pike to Mrs. Kate Ruebusch of Dayton, Ky. Mr. Tanner had purchased this farm from Joseph Hogan a few months ago, formerly owned by M. M. Lucas. Melvin Jones and Rel C. Wayman made the sale.

Courtney Walton sold about 125 acres of land on the Petersburg pike near Idlewild to E. A. Martin. This farm lies directly across the road in front of Mr. Martin's home and was originally a part of the same farm that Mr. Martin had purchased from Mr. Walton several years ago. Melvin Jones and A. B. Renaker negotiated the sale.

McNEELY-LOUDEN SALE IS SUCCESS

According to a report received here Monday afternoon, the public sale held by McNeely-McMullen and Louden was very much a success and well attended. All of the property sold for fancy prices.

Col. Lute Bradford was the auctioneer, and Mr. Bradford reports that he has sold over $20.000 worth of livestock and personal property since January 1st of this year.

Girls' Volley Ball Tourney Scheduled

Will Be Held At Burlington School Friday, March 18—Table Tennis Tourney For Boys and Girls To Be Played at Same Time

The Burlington school is sponsoring the first girl's Volley Ball Tournament for Boone County on Friday evening, March 18th.

School people as well as others are anxious to give the girls of the various high schools a chance to match their skill with each other in competitive athletic contests. Little has been done for these girls since the elimination of girl's basketball from the schools. Now provision is being made for the the girls to play in interscholastic contests. The Burlington school has invited the schools of the county to send teams to a volley ball and table tennis ping pong) tournament.

Burlington, Hebron, Hamilton, Florence, and New Haven have accepted the invitations to date for Volley Ball, and all the schools that have facilities for table tennis have accepted that invitation. All the games will be held the same evening; since it will be possible to play off the table tenis in between the volley ball games, thus giving the girls and fans a chance for variety and rest. Two tables of ping pong will be going at the same time. Some of the boys and girls have developed a rather proficient skill in table tennis. This part of the tourney will be open to both girls and boys for single matches.

Much interest has been shown in these sports since they have been introduced into the schools. Especially has this been true during the past season for volley ball. since the girls have had opportunity to play in interschool contests as preliminary games to regular boys' basketball games. Coaches of the various schools are training the teams for the coming tournament and we have every reason to expect some keen competition in both of these sports.

This tournament marks another step forward in the modern school program of physical education which has for its goal some interesting competitive game for every boy and girl who wants to play. This is fast broadening the program to include all the children rather than a selected few who may desire basketball or one or two other games.

As many as find it convenient to do so should prepare to see this new type of tournament which is in the interest of more boys and girls and in more types of athletic contests.

The date is Friday, March 18, and the time 7:00 p. m. Admission is 15c and 25c.

ALL-STAR GAME SET FOR 15TH

TEAMS WILL BE CHOSEN BY POPULAR VOTE THROUGH THIS NEWSPAPER—FACULTY-COACHES TO DO BATTLE.

At a recent meeting of the Boone County Athletic Association it was decided that the Boone County All-Star game would be held at Florence on Tuesday night, March 15th. game to be called at 8:00 p. m.

Prior to the main attraction on this night, there will also be a game between the faculty-coaches of the various schools included in this asociation. This promises to be one of the outstanding events of the basketball season, and all attending will be assured of some fancy plays that have probably never been displayed on Boone County hardwood.

You will find on several pages in this issue your ballots for the purpose of voting for the two favorite players from the school that serves your community. You may vote for any two players you choose, but your ballots must be in this office not later than March 13th, and postmarked not later than midnight, March 12th. Each ballot must be signed by the person casting their vote, and all duplicate ballots will be thrown out and not counted. The twelve players chosen from the six schools will be divided into two teams, which will make up the main event next Tuesday night.

Cast your vote for your favorite players, then come out and see Boone County's twelve best fight it out at Florence next week.

HEBRON TAKES DISTRICT TITLE

DEFEATING WALTON-VERONA FIVE 22-27—WALTON-VERONA B TEAM WINS FIRST PLACE OVER NEW HAVEN.

The Hebron high school nosed out Walton-Verona Saturday night to win the championship of the Thirty-third District Tournament. The match was played on the Florence floor before a capacity crowd. The score was 27 to 22.

Both teams will represent the district in the regional tournament at Covington which started yesterday and will end March 12.

Honors were even until the third period. At the end of the first quarter the score was 8 to 8. At the half it was 12 to 12. In the third period Hebron launch a scoring drive to gain a lead of 18 to 14.

Osborne of Walton-Verona was high point man of the game with 10 points. He has played in 27 games this season, accumulating 40 points. Turner was high for Hebron with nine.

The Walton-Verona Class B team defeated the New Haven Class B five 39 to 21.

Everyone enjoyed the amateur program given by the Girl Reserves Tuesday evening.

FSA Chattel Transfers Require Legal Releases

Persons selling, trading or receiving chattels mortgaged to the Farm Security Administration as security for rehabilitation loans are liable to court action by the government if legal releases have not been secured, according to a notice received from the regional attorney, reports W. O. Blackburn, county rehabilitation supervisor of the FSA, Independence. Ky.

Restrictions are placed on sale or transfer of chattels mortgaged to FSA not only to provide partial security for rehabilitations loans but to insure maintenance of sufficient operating goods to keep the farm on a productive basis and carry out farm plans, says the notice.

Where sale or trade of mortgaged chattels is necessary because of changes in farm operation, authorization for transfer of such property should be secured through the county supervisors office, Blackburn pointed out.

HINT OF SPRING

There's no more positive evidence that spring is on the way than to glimpse the brikhtly-colored seed catalogue peering through the little glass window of a postoffice box, or staring out from the bigger galvanized receptacle out along the rural free delivery route. It is safe to assert that "spring is just around the corner" when the seed catalogues begin to arrive.

While gardening will doubtless be on as large a scale this year as it was last, making garden actually has become a lost art with a majority of the present generation. The more modern housewife contends that she can buy her vegetables cheaper than she can grow them; that she can get canned vegetables as cheaply as she can afofrd to can them serself. But that argument doesn't go over with the old-timers who know from experience that nothing can offset or equal the satisfaction that comes with the production—with your own hands—of that which goes to provide a livelihood. Gardens and chickens always have meant independence to the rural and small-town families of this country. As an old friend once said, "It's fine to know that when you want a meal all you have to do is go out and pull it up or wring its neck."

There's something about a home garden that can't be figures in dollars and cents. There's a happiness tied up in a handful of vegetables fresh-pulled from your own patch that all the can-openers in the world can't match. So here comes the seed catalogue, and right behind it comes spring. It would be a good time to settle the garden argument to your own satisfaction.

THE HUMBLE PENNY

Quite a few people are inclined to look down on the humble penny and ignore it on the ground that "it won't buy anything." Now they have occasion to change their mind. A big eastern concern that does a nation-wide business in chewing gum and candy through penny vending machines has just issued its yearly report to its stockholders, and it shows that more than three and one-half billion pennies passed through those machines in 1937.

Here is proof that the penny is among the country's greatest circulating mediums, and that the individual or the company making a special drive for it can get rich. When we reflect how many newspapers the pennies buy every day, how many millions of letters and postcards it carries around over the nation every hour, then its value takes on new signifance. But it takes a special report of a big concern dealing wholly in penny merchandise to make us see the tremendous buying power back of it. By itself, in these days of high prices, the penny really does seem insignificant. But there are $47,000,000 worth of them in circulation at this very minute, and that's worth striving for.

"Save the pennies and the dollars will save themselves" is a saying as truthful as if it had appeared in Holy Writ. And the happiest and wisest citizens are those who recognize it, instead of tossing the penny away as something "that won't buy anything."

—o—

TRY IT AND SEE

We overheard a woman in a store a few days ago insisting upon having a certain brand of coffee. In fact, she was so insistent that no other brand of coffee would answer her demands that we asked her about it; asked her just why she insisted on that particular kind of coffee. "I see it advertised in everything I pick up," she answered, "and if it wasn't all right they wouldn't be advertising it." And we are constrained to believe that the same rule works with everything else sold over the counter. The best advertised goods move fastest—every merchant knows that, and yet there are merchants who fail to take advantage of this knowledge and advertise the goods they have in stock that they would like to see moving off the counters faster. It's a poor rule that won't work more than one way—and the columns of this paper are wide open to the merchant who wants to make a test of it.

WELL SPENT

It would be a good idea for home owners, as the season for spring repairs draw near, to bear in mind that a dollar expended in this way means far more than a good investment in comfort or appearances. It means, in addition, an added value to the property itself—a dollar you get back through the comfort it buys and which you also get back, and with interest, at any time you dispose of the property. Nothing declines in value more rapidly than residential property that is allowed to fall into a bad state of repair; and nothing enhances its value more than keeping it in good condition and looking good. Always paint a house before selling it. The difference in appearances alone will bring you an increase in price that will more than pay for the paint job. Appearances, in a house as well as an individual, count for a great deal. Bear that in mind as you plan to give your home the spring repairs that should not be neglected.

—o—

MAKING IT PAY

The motorist who gets 100 percent dividend out of his car is the one who utilizes it to get out to meetings and conferences held to further the improvement and development of his community; meetings that are directly in his interest since his own property is always involved in such plans as are under discussion. He gets some more out of it when he uses it to attend social gatherings, gatherings that bring him into closer and happier reunion with his neighbors. He reaps dividends by giving pleasure to those who do not have a car of their own by taking them out for an occasional pleasure ride. He gets a return on his investment when he uses it to take a vacation jaunt into some distance community, where he can see how others work and play and live; where he gets a broader vision of the nation he lives in and a better understanding of those who are helping him to make it what it is. The motorist who uses his car for these things can actually be said to come mightly close to getting 100 percent dividend out of his car.

AN EDITOR'S LAMENT

Here is a dirge voiced by a Maine editor—but all editors can endorse it, for it is as true as Holy Writ. He says:

"We have many subscribers who have taken our paper for years and who have paid us nothing. Do such persons think that we can live on birchbark, like a Cossack's horse, or grow fast by inhaling the west wind Do they suppose the W. C. T. U. or the . M. C. A. provides us with clothes? Do they think that paper, type, ink, fuel and many other costly and necessary articles are sent to us by unknown and invisible hands? We are not in the show business and we don't know anything about magic or making things appear from out of the empty air. When hungry, we have no time to fish and hunt, and it would be impious to expect a sheet full of good things to be miraculously let down from the skies. And as to being fed by ravens, as was a certain Bible character, it is more likely that the ravens will be feeding upon us unless a few delinquents get busy and pay their bills pretty soon."

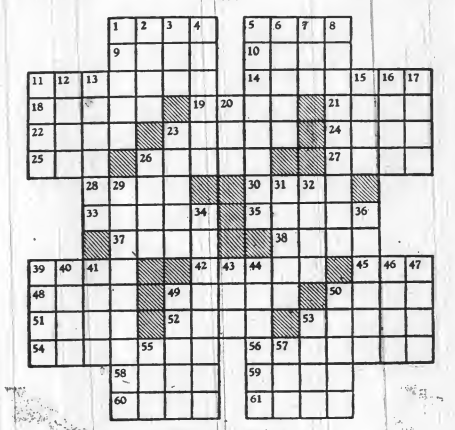
REVOLUTION IN THE SOUTH

Today that neglected stepchild of the Southland's coastal plains and forest slopes—southern slash pine—celebrates its coming of age.

With the opening of a $3 million pulp mill in a little seacoast town northeast of Jacksonville, Florida, during the past fortnight, some 200 million acres of clash pine are going to put to work revolutionizing America's paper-making industry.

The newspaper you are reading at this noment is printed on stock called newsprint. Your publisher, in company with thousands of the nation's other publishers, contributes to the quarter of a billion sum it costs to buy this newsprint every year.

Today the price of this paper is swinging between $45 and $55 a ton. Last March it soared as high as $69 a ton. If, by any chance, war should come, it might skyrocket to $150 a ton, as it did in 1920. Anything which might lower th s cost and make America less dependent on foreign newsprint is important to us who publish papers and to you who buy them.



Such dramatic news has just been made by chemical research. The vast tracts of southern slash pine, formerly neglected or used only as a source of turpentine, can now be treated, it is declared, to furnish pulp for every type of paper from newsprint—at $35 a ton—to bondpaper.

Already this discovery is changing the fact of the South. New roadways and rail routes are vitalizing the slash pine areas, as this industry and its payrolls tap the new-found wealth in the great belt of forests sweeping across the Appalachians. This presages relief from the high cost of newsprint. More than that—it testifies to the wealth of America's hidden resources which endless, persistent research is daily disclosing.

Urging the wife to keep account of the family expenses is just a sly way of calling attention to how much she spends on herself.

Lesson for March 13

FEEDING THE HUNGRY

LESSON TEXT—Mark 6:30-44.
GOLDEN TEXT—Give ye them to eat. Mark 6:37.
PRIMARY TOPIC—When Jesus Fed a Hungry Crowd.
JUNIOR TOPIC—A Boy's Part in a Great Miracle.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Sharing What We Have.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Providing for the Needs of All.

"My God shall supply all your need according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus" (Phil. 4:19). Such is the assurance of God's Word. Countless Christians have proved it to be true that they may trust God to supply every need—temporal or spiritual.

The lesson for today first presents the disciples as they had come back from their preaching expedition and presented to the Lord Jesus a report of their stewardship in ministering the bread of life to the spiritually needy. He invites them to a place apart from the busy walks of daily life for a time of communion and rest. The multitude would not be denied, however, and follow our Lord to the desert place. Having taught them, Jesus has opportunity to instruct His disciples in the important ministry of supplying for those in need the bread for their bodies.

I. The Ministry of the Bread of Life.

Reports of accomplishments in the field of Christian work (although sometimes an earnest accounting of stewardship of service and money) are all too often prepared for the purpose of impressing men and seeking their financial assistance. The real report is the one which disciples make to their Lord. It concerns two vital points.

1. "What they had done" (v. 30).

One of the temptations which face the preacher and teacher of Christian truth is to avoid unpleasant and difficult problems by simply proclaiming the truth and doing nothing about the outworking of that truth in daily living. It sounds very pious to say that we will present the Word and let it do its own work, but the Christian worker who evades his duty to deal at close grips with sin and disorder in the church and community has not discharged his responsibility to Christ.

2. "What they had taught" (v. 30).

The second temptation of the preacher is to follow the specious reasoning of the modernist who says that it does not matter what a man believes, it is what he does that counts. The foundation of Christian character is Christian doctrine, therefore the disciple of Christ must know what to teach, and give account to the Lord for his teaching. Teaching and doing the commandments of God go hand in hand.

II. The Ministry of Daily Bread.

Jesus found no rest, for the multitudes followed Him to the other side of the lake. Ere long the evening approaches, and the disciples begin to be concerned about how this great multitude is to be fed. They follow the inclinations of the flesh and decide to solve the problem by asking Jesus to

1. "Send them away" (v. 36).

The church has followed their example in dealing with the social problems of the people down through the years. The result is that being denied fellowship, comfort, and help by a church which was too busy building up a vast organization or a beautiful order of worship, the common people have responded to the appeal of political leaders who have provided a substitute for what the church should have given them.

Serious thoughts are these. It will not do for us to "send them away" from the church empty hearted and empty handed. Our Lord says—

2. "Give ye them to eat" (v. 37).

Reckoning hastily on what a small boy had brought for his lunch (trust an alert boy to be ready!), the disciples soon demonstrate that it is impossible to feed this great throng. Logic is such a devastating thing when it operates apart from faith in God. They were absolutely right in their reasoning and in their calculations, but they had forgotten the one factor that really counted. Jesus was there, and Jesus is God, and God is omnipotent.

3. "He commanded . . . and they did all eat" (vv. 39, 42).

When God speaks all the limitations of the finite disappear, and the needs of men are fully met—with "twelve baskets full of fragments" left over!

Let those who labor in difficult places with limited resources take heart—and trust God.

Wisdom

Wisdom allows nothing to be good that will not be so forever; no man to be happy but he that needs no other happiness than what he has within himself; no man to be great or powerful that is not master of himself.—Seneca.

Longings

Every longing should become an active impulse in the soul. Our longing should lead us into all paths of Christly service and all heroic duty.

The Hanging Of Smith Williams

Well, here I come again. Now if I heard any criticism on my last article, would have kept still, but here goes.

This relates to the mob which took Smith Williams out of jail and hung him in the year 1876.

Williams was held in jail for the shooting and killing of Fred Wahl, who resided on the place his brother now owns, on the Minola pike between Limaburg and Constance.

Smith Williams, colored was hunting on Wahl's place and Wahl, who was plowing told him to get off the place, and that he had told him before not to hunt on his land. The story goes that Williams raised his gun and killed Wahl. Of course, the Negro skipped soon after the shooting. A search was made for him ,but he could not be found for some time, and he would not have been found then had it not been for a man Williams took to be his friend. Williams lived with a colored family by the name of Jimerson, and the wife, Aunt Nancy told where to find him. I, obtained this part of the story from Charlie Anderson (Mr. Woogie) as they all call him. He says Aunt Nancy told Wm. Edward Walton, and he told his brother Jim Harry Walton. They talked the case over and decided to get some more help as they knew he would be a dangerous man to take. It was decided to take Lum and Eph Anderson in with them and divide the $500.00 reward which was offered for his capture. They called a meeting, and it was decided that they would start after Williams the next day, but it seems that the Anderson brother left that night and was not at the place where they were to meet.

Now I believe that Mr. Woogie is right in what he tells me, for he told me some other facts that I heard from Anderson's after the capture.

Some of you may wonder why the Walton brothers wanted help in capturing Williams, but had you seen him you would have wanted all the help you could get, for he was one of the most powerful looking men I have ever seen. He was well over six feet and was built in proportion, and believe me the mob found it out, but more of that later one.

After Williams was brought back and lodged in jail, Anderson told about finding him somewhere in Indiana. They found him cutting railroad ties in a woods. They said they hid behind trees until Williams stopped to eat his dinner which was at the butt of the tree. He had been working on the top of the trees, and left his axe there, which he ate his dinner. Then they stepped out between him and his ax with guns on him and told him they would take him dead or alive. He surrendered, but said, "if I had my axe you would never taken me alive."

I don't know whetner he had a trial before the county judge or not, but he was indicted by the grand jury and his trial was set for the April term of court. However, it was continued to the September term of court. As you know, they only had circuit court twice each year at that time. He never came to trial, as he was taken out of the jail by a mob some time between April and September.

I will tell you some of the things I saw and heard in regard to that mob. It seems the mob was very quiet up to the time they began breaking into the jail, which was the one torn down, to give place for the one now in use. Williams was down stairs in the only cell there. The jailer, Mr. Sam Cowen lived in the old frame house that stood where Miss Nell Martin's house now stands but the old house was a one-story affair, except for the storeroom which had a room above it, there were two rooms running north of the storeroom, and two rooms and hallway running east of the storeroom. The hallway opened into the back yard and almost proved a life saver for Williams.

The first Mr. Cowen knew of the trouble was when three men came to his hall door and knocked. When he opened the door, they told him they had a prisoner for him. When he stepped out they grabbed him and carried him across the street to the jail, but he managed to throw the keys away on the way over, and then was when the noise began, as they mob was prepared to break into the pail. While the noise was at its height, the Sheriff who was G. Finch stepped out, but was met by a man who stepped out from behind a tree and said, "Mister Sheriff, you just as well go back, for you can't do a thing." He said O. K. and did as he was told. Jerry Blythe, who was living in the Boone Hotel came to see what all the noise was about, and met with the same reception. Judge Cy Riddell started up the street and was invited to go home, which he did, so you see they were organized.

Now, back to Mr. Cowen and Williams: While they were crashing their way in. Mr. Cowen was held where he could see and hear all that was taking place. He said when the mob had broken in Williams was standing in the cell door. He had removed his clothes and had greased his body from head to foot, so the mob could not hold him. Mr. Cowen said that he knocked men down as fast as they came to him, and they began shooting at him. He broke thru the mob and ran across the street to the Cowen house. Joe Cowen's wife, Mrs. Kate Cowen was peeping out of their hall door, but she saw him coming and closed and bolted the door. From there Williams ran up toward the courthouse, and there is where he was knocked down with a blacksmith's hammer. He fell right by the side of the public cistern, and then it was that some one called for the rope. They were going to hang him on a lower tree that stood in the courthouse yard, about half way between the brick column of the courthouse and the Circuit Clerk's office, that stood in the southeast corner of the yard. The rope had been lost, so they threw him in a spring wagon and drove out the pike toward Florence.

No one tried to follow them as there were some fifty or a hundred shots fired as they filed out of town. No one knew where they took Williams until the next morning, when Thomas Kirkpatrick came to town and said there was a man hanging on a walnut tree on the left hand side of the road between what is now the Ernst road and John Ryle's house.

There is where I saw one of the best built men I have ever seen. He left his marks on more than one man that night. The whole world was against him and he put up a great fight and said nothing, and if he had been able to get in that hall door, he would not have been hung that night.

Most of the shot which hit him were put in him after he was hanging, most all of them in his feet and legs. His knees had gravel ground into them and his elbows, showing he fought to the last, as he knew they would show him no mercy.

He was buried in the poorhouse graveyard and was removed from there during the night. He was traced to the Petersburg pike, and that was all.

He had the distinction of being the first man hung on the walnut tree and the colored people, as a rule would not pass there at night for years.

There was one colored man who worked at the livery stable in Burlington that was getting whiskey for the young boys, but he received a letter with a skull and crossbones on it and a twig of walnut limb in it. The note read, "Leave town in three hours." He was gone in one hour. When a strange Negro came to town, he was warned by the colored people, and he was no trouble.

Some have told me they knew several who were in the mob, but I will call no names, for I know nothing about it. I do know that two of them lost their hats and never came back for them. I guess they were not sure where they were, when they were knocked out from under them. All of this proves that people had not forgotten the Blimm case.

The jail keys were found the next day and the lost rope was found in the alley between Wm. Kirkpatrick's warehouse and the jail.

I think Williams was dead when they hung him. It was evident that they stood him up in the wagon and tied the short piece of tarred rope around his neck and drove out from under him, for the rope was so short that his head nearly touch the limb. And by the way, the limb has been broken off the walnut treet, but the stub is still there to remind us of that never-to-be-forgotten night.

One more fact that will be of interest to some people: When Smith Williams was brought up for trial, the court appointed F. Riddell and R. C. Green to defend him, as he had no lawyer. F. Riddell was Judge N. E. Riddell's and Mrs. A. B. Renaker's father.

Here is where I get off—believe it or not.

C. A. FOWLER.

EROSION FOLLOWS OVERGRAZING

Two much livestock on a farm may result in soil erosion following overgrazing, points out James Donehue, a Pendleton county farmer. Likewise, cash income per animal may be reduced because of overgrazed pasture and the net profit be less than could be obtained from fewer animals better fed. Mr. Donehue is planning a long-time pasture program, including a rotation of livestock numbers.

KITCHEN KINKS

Brushing an unbaked pie with milk or beaten egg will produce an attractive glaze and an even brown—Soak popcorn kernels in cold water 20 minutes, drain off the water and they will pop perfectly—When baking potatoes without jackets rub them with melted butter before putting them in the oven. This keeps the outside from getting crusty and tough.

CARD OF THANKS

I desire to express my heartfelt thanks through the Boone County Recorder, to my friends and neighbors, who were so good, kind and thoughtful to us, in every way, during my dear husband's illness, and after he left me, to go to the beautiful garden alone, on Sat. Feb. 12, 1938 at 7:35 a. m., while the dew on the roses was sparkling and that garden where Jesus is waiting, that is wonderously fair, to pilot his spirit over a beautiful isle of somewhere there to await the Resurrection morn, where all must meet Jesus. Then should not we all be willing, ready to give of the best to the Master.

Especially do we thank Rev. Will Smith for his prayer to God for me and all; to Rev. James for the beautiful scripture reading; to our pastor Rev. Raymond Smith, whose text was Psalms 29, subject, "Our Earthly Pilgrimage," so ably delivered and worthy of much thought; to Mr. Chambers and Grubbs, Walton, for their and impressive manner in conducting the funeral arrangements; to the donors of the beautiful floral offerings: not si many pieces surrounded his casket but the many nice packages and good deeds that were brought and sent in to our home, and help in every way offered by everybody, while he was yet with me. he would say "Thank God first and then, the hands that prepared them or sent them, who are His servants, His children in Christ Jesus.

I also wish to thank his nurses, Mrs. Tupman, Mrs. Mary Clore, Mrs. B. Huey, who relieved us four nights; Dr. and Mrs. M. A. Yelton, who were ever ready; the singers and pianist, music so sweet to my tired heart, since it seemed that this was the end of that thirty-one years of our wedded life of a perfect day; the pallbearers who carried his body the last step of the way; the sexton and his helper who opened and closed his grave; the many who send beautiful cards and lines from several states and District of Columbia are cherished, along with sweet memories of the past.

William Wallace Greene was born Jan. 18, 1862, departed this life Feb. 12, 1938.

His Devoted wife, Genie M. Greene

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our appreciation to all our friends and neighbors for their kindness and help they extended during the illness and death of dear wife and mother,

Jessie Bondurant

We also want to thank Dr. Yelton for his untiring service; Mr. Chambers and his daughter for the efficient way in which they conducted the funeral; the donors of the many beautiful floral offerings; Bro. Brewer for his kind words at the home and the grave.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY NOTES

Thursday, Feb. 17 the Baptist Women's Missionary Society and the Y. W. A. girls society of the East Bend Baptist Church jointly met for a most enjoyable day at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Acra, who live a short distance below Rabbit Hash. The members arriving early in the morning spent a couple of hours cutting out and sewing on some dresses for Juanita Christle an orphan girl at Glendale, whom the two societies have adopted and pledged to clothe.

At the noon hour a most bountiful lunch was served which consisted of all the delicacies of the season and after a social hour of visiting, the regular business meetings were called to order by the Presidents, Mrs. Frances Shinkle conducting the W. M. U. and Mrs. Christena Kirtley the Y. W. A. meeting. The program was conducted by our leader, Mrs. Irene Acra. After the conclusion of the program the meeting was closed by the Circle prayer.

The following are visitors and members who enjoyed the day: Mrs. Carrie Ogden, Mrs. Christena Kirtley, Mrs. Orville Hensley and son Jackie Parker, Mrs. Edd Shinkle and son Donnie, Miss Marie Conner, of Lilburn, Ga., Mrs. Fay Stephens, Mrs. Angero Hodges, Mrs. Adah Ryle, Misses Rose and Lucille Hodges, Mrs. Jewel Scott, Mrs. Edith Cunningham, James A. Wilson and wife and son David, Mrs. Maud Walton, Mr. and Mrs. Noel Walton and little son David, Mrs. Irene Acra and daughters, Nadine and Bettye, Mrs. Minnette Stephens, the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Acra.

The March meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Ethel Wilson.

HOMEMAKERS PLAN FARM CLEAN-UPS

Early spring has been designated as farmstead clean-up season among the 15,000 members of homemakers club in 48 Kentucky counties. Some of the things to be done, as listed by N. R. Elliott, landscape specialist at the Kentucky College of Agriculture, include:

Removal of old buildings no longer useful and already falling down, saving the useful lumber.

Removal of dead and unsightly trees. Sometimes the stumps are left as places for flower boxes, and sometimes branch stubs are left and the trumpet vine or Virginia creeper planted at the base of the old tree.

Dismantling of worn-out machinery, selling the iron as junk and burning of wooden parts.

Usable machinery put in tobacco barns or other buildings, if possible ,or out of sight behind buildings.

Lots and corrals for lviestock cleaned of old fencing and other trash.

Old fences, especially in front yard, repaired or replaced and discarded parts removed.

Gates repaired or replaced and

In most cases it will not be necessary to spend money says Mr. Elliott. Members of the family working together, with the use of a team and wagon, can remove a lot of trash and rubbish in a day or two.

SOIL TEST OFTEN NOT WHOLE STORY

Frequent notices have been given in the past year over the radio and through the newspapers of the State that no soil samples should be sent to the Agricultural Experiment Station at Lexington for test without first getting directions from the Station for taking the samples. Notwithstanding these notices, practically no one asks for the directions, although many samples are received. Unless the samples are properly taken, they may not fairly represent the land, and may cause erroneous advice to be given.

Soil analysis are not particularly helpful in making recommendations for fertilizing tobacco. A better basis is to tell how the land has been managed for the last five years, including cropping, the use of manure, lime and fertilizers, and to give an estimate of how much corn the land will produce in an average season.

The chief value of soil tests is to show the need for lime and phosphorous as a basis for improving the soil through the proper use of legumes, grasses, and farm manure. Extension Circular 272 gives a discussion of these practices. It will be sent free upon application.

Many county agents have equipment for making soil tests, and their local experience gives added value to their tests.

WEEK'S BEST RECEIPE

APPLE SNOW—2 grated apples; 2 beaten egg whites; 1½ cups sugar; combine and beat into a creamy mixture. SAUCE—2 egg yolks; 2 tablespoons cornstarch; 3 tablespoons sugar; pinch of salt; ½ cup milk; 1 teaspoon orange juice or orange extract. Cook in double boiler until thick. Allow to cool. Pour the apple snow and serve the dish with salted wafers.

Another difficult thing to understand is why some women can't realize the worth of their husbands half as quickly as they can their worthlessness.

BURLINGTON SCHOOL NEWS

Last Tuesday evening all of the different debate teams of Northern Kentucky, gathered here for debates. Our team debated against Dixie Heights and Butler. They were successful against Dixie Heights. The debaters were Florence Cook and Pauline Norris.

Tuesday the team went to Lloyd to meet with the several debate clubs there, and our teams are going to debate Highlands and Ludlow. We wish them success.

Tuesday night of this week the Girl Reserves sponsored an amateur program which consistsed of an imitation of Amos and Andy, Aunt Ida and Little Clifford, Girls of the Golden West and many others.

Mrs. McNeely and Mrs. Eddins report that quite a few are back to school after being ill.

Next week the first four grades are going to give a chapel program consisting of the study of flowers, birds and study of Holland and Transportation.

The first grade is holding a contest to see which one can read the most books during the year. Some of the students have set their goal at 100.

A good many students attended the basketball tournament at Florence. Our boys played Walton and Hamilton. A more complete story may be found on another page of this paper.

OPENING MEETING HELD AT GRANT

The Grant True Blue 4-H club has forty members which is an increased enrollment of twenty-five.

We elected Ray Denlston president; Robert McNeely, vice president, and Wm. Tinkelenberg, secy-treasurer. Mr. George Walton is club leader, while Mr. Lee McNeely is his assistant.

One of our members, William Frank, is taking the colt project. This is a new project this year.

William Tinkelenberg, Reporter.

Another reason why most of our prayers are not answered is we are selfish enough to expect the Lord to do our hustling and wo rying for us.

YES, that's what we like to call ourselves because it's just eighty-eight years ago that we moved in. We bought some property then, laid some rails, and did some building here, and since that time we've seen a lot of changes—seen a lot of new faces come to town. In fact, we brought a lot of them in ourselves.

We feel proud that we've played an important part in the development here. We've paid our taxes every year . . . over $7,000,000 last year, much of this to help maintain schools, highways and governmental activities. We furnished employment to 27,000 people, whose wages totaled up to $45,000,000. And every year we've been providing "Old Reliable" friendly freight and passenger service.

It would be nice to stay and chat awhile over old times, neighbor. We'd have a lot to talk about. But there isn't time. You're busy and so are we . . . on our second eighty-eight years.

SPRING OPENING AT DALTON'S FEATURING SMART NEW FASHIONS

Dalton's, always first with the newest fashions, are now showing suits, coats and accessories for Spring and Easter wear.

The new fashions are gay and colorful and more flattering than ever before. Navy leads the fashion parade, closely followed by strawberry, wood violet, red earth and black. Man-tailored suits in gabardine and worsted fabrics are very partical, for now during the changing weather, they can be worn under fur coats, or light weight wraps. The colors are green, navy, brown, grey, black and stripes. Many bright shades in swagger coats, that vary in length from fingertips to full length, are being shown in all sizes.

Dalton's stock of new frocks is complete. Some with separate redingotes jackets and the very popular boleroes are finding favor with women of all sizes.

Bags, shoes, hats and gloves are being shown in shades to match.

Northern Kentucky women enjoy the convenience of shopping at Dalton's Madison Ave., opposite Pike St., Covington, where they can choose their entire outfit from head to foot. A small deposit will hold your selection at Daltons.

The First Signs Of Eye Strain

Nerves, headaches, or similar symptoms of eye disorder should be a warning for you to take immediate action to prevent what might develop into something of a more serious nature.

The eye, like every other delicate instrument, must be watched carefully, and the first sign of weakness corrected, to insure maximum and continued efficiency.

The physical comfort and the knowledge that you have received expert attention will repay you many times over.

Know that your eyesight is safe.

CONVENIENT PAYMENTS IF DESIRED.

RABBIT HASH

A large crowd attended the sale of Ira Smith Saturday. The W. M. U. society served lunch. Quite a nice sum was realized. We regret to see these good people leave our community, as they will move to Union.

We are glad to hear that Lillard Scott is improving.

Sorry to hear of the serious illness of Mrs. Wm. Hankinson, of Belleview.

Mrs. Sallie Myrick does not improve very rapidly. Her daughter, Mrs. Ray Ashcraft and family are staying with her.

James Wilson and family have returned to their home, after spending the winter with Mrs. Sallie Myrick.

Wm. Delph has moved to F. L. Scott's residence. Mr. Isaac is now located on the hill where they vacated.

A. G. Hodges and family spent Thursday with their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Stephens.

Roy Ryle and family and Mrs. Nellie Ryle returned home from Florida Thursday, after spending the winter months there. They are living in their place on top of the hill.

Mrs. B. W. Clore returned home Thursday from Batavia, O., where she visited her daughter, Mrs. A. E. Blythe and family. They returned with her for the day and a friend, Mrs. Nina Kautz also accompanied them.

Mr. and Mrs. Lustenberger entertained their son John and family from Friday until Sunday of last week.

Mrs. Emma Craig took dinner with her brother Walter Ryle and wife last Saturday. Mrs. Helen Stephens also visited them.

Edgar C. Clore is helping Robert Hankinson with his farm work.

Miss Zelma Clore spent Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Craig.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Dolph were Sunday guest of their mother, Mrs. Lou Van Ness and son Joe.

Edwin Palmer and family and Mrs. Alice Palmer visited their home place Sunday.

J. W. Craig disposed of his property in Waterloo last week to Kirb Conner, of Cincinnati, O.

Joe Black moved to Mr. J. H. Walton's farm here last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Acra spent Saturday with Paul Acra and family. Mrs. Nellie Scott also spent Saturday night there.

Most young men are wise enough to know that when a girl begins running her fingers through a fellow's hair it's time for him to either propose or go home.

Foot Comfort Specialist at
Peoples' Foot Comfort
9th and Madison Ave., Cov., Ky.

Infection of the Feet

Infection and blood poisoning are more likely to develop in the feet than any part of the body. A fundamental reason for this is the fact that the feet are the farthest from the heart and the circulation of the blood is least active with resultant low resistance. Another reason is that germs thrive under conditions of heat, dampness, and darkness and these conditions surround the feet almost constantly during our walking and active hours. The germs may be on the instrument that is used in cutting nails or that razor blade you use to cut your corns or calluses. Those corns and calluses should never have been there in the first place. The cause of corns and callouses in most cases can be corrected and they will go away.

Broken down feet pinch nerve and blood vessels in your feet. Now let me explain: When a nerve is pinched or cramped in your feet, it sets up a series of reflexes, a series of "long distant telephone calls" to distant parts of the body, to parts of higher sensativety and less resistance. That is why you often have aches and pains all over your body from your feet being in a weak, strained condition.

But, here's the brighter side of this problem, the part that brings hope to those of you who have suffered with your feet for many years. Weak Feet Can Be Straightened Up. Remove pressure from nerves, stopping those reflexes to distant parts of the body, ending those distress signals that are sent from aching feet, and actually get rid of aches and pains you never thought you would be rid of. Do this at once; come to People's Foot Comfort. One of our foot comfort specialists will make a scientific analysis of your feet (absolutely free). You only pay for your prescription shoes, nothing more. —Adv.

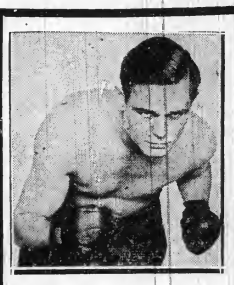
UTOPIA CLUB MEETS

The Boone County Utopia Club held its February meeting Thursday the 17th at the Burlington courthouse. The farmer's tour was decided upon with Wednesday, March 16th as the date with about 12 Utopia members to attend.

Plans for a summer camp and the county fair were discussed, but nothing definitely was planed.

After the business session, several interesting discussions were given by Grant Maddox, Jake Siekman and H. R. Forkner, directed by John Crigler, chairman of the educational program. Each Utopia member was pleased to have Mr. Jones, of Lexington as our visitor and advisor for the evening. After adjournment of the business meeting he entertained us with games and puzzles. Florence was in charge of refreshments.



4-H CLUB NEWS

The Foods class met Thursday, March 3, at Burlington high school under the supervision of Miss Mary Hood Gillaspie.

The preparation of breakfast fruits was discussed. Miss Gillaspie told how to make the dishes attractive. She also suggested many different ways of serving fruit. The fruits discussed were bananas, apples, prunes, peaches, oranges and grapefruit.

Tne next meeting will be Thursday, March 10th at 1:00 p. m. The discussion will be "Breakfast Cereals."

MASTERS' NEW IMPROVED 1938 PLANT SETTER

Plants, Covers and Waters With One Operation

There is excellent reason for Masters' leadership in the plant setter industry, for it was Masters who built the first practical automatic plant setter over forty years ago. Since then it has been continually improved. Our 1938 model is the last word—it has no competition. Others have tried to imitate, but never have been able to equal Masters' efficiency and durability. It is so simple and easy to use a Masters'. A Masters' Plant Setter is assurance of maximum stand and prolific yield.

Tobacco buyers say they can tell when a crop has been planted with a Masters' by its uniform high quality. They gladly pay highest prices for this finer yield. One man can set 8,000 to 15,000 plants a day, and do it without even a crick in his back. Once you use the Masters' you will never be satisfied with any other method of plant setting. Masters' Improved Plant Setter is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction in setting

Tobacco, Tomatoes, Cabbage, Sweet Potatoes and other plants

NO TIRESOME STOOPING PAYS FOR SELF IN A DAY

Nearly all first-class Hardware and Implement dealers handle, recommend and sell Masters' Improved Plant Setters. Ask your local merchant to show you this newest and best device of its kind. Examine it—see the fine workmanship, the smoothness and ease of operation. If your dealer doesn't have it in stock, write for full information direct. Don't wait until planting time, or you may be disappointed. Last season the demand exceeded the supply by thousands. Make sure of getting your Masters' Plant Setters by ordering NOW.

WHAT HAPPENED TO THE OLD CRACKER BARREL

Jim Perkins ran a grocery store many years ago on Main Street. Jim was well liked by his customers because he exchanged the news of the day and settled the affairs of the nation.

Over in one corner of the store, stood a big barrel of crackers. Minnie the cat used to sleep on the crackers when the customers were not helping themselves to a little lunch.

All of this has changed due to national advertising. Improvements in manufacturing and modern packaging has made it possible to put better crackers in an airtight package, wrapped in wax paper, thus insuring cleanliness and freshness from oven to you.

National advertising in newspapers built a volume of business for Jim so that these crackers sell for five cents and the quality is consistent with the manufacturer's name which appears on each box. There is a reasonable profit for the local grocer in the sale as well as for the manufacturer.

Nationally advertised crackers or any other nationally advertised products are the best your dollar will buy and are more consistent in quality because of national brand advertising in this newspaper and others throughout the country. You, the consumer, have purchased these national brands of gasoline, foods, household appliances,, automobiles, drugs and beverages advertised in this newspaper and thus made possible low prices to you due to the tremendous volume.

Buy nationall yadvertised brands from your local dealer featured in this newspaper.

THE GARDEN

POTATOES

By John S. Gardner, Kentucky College of Agriculture

Potato planting time is coming apace. As for that, some more venturesome gardeners have already planted their crops, though whether they will profit from their haste is problematical. In the latitude of Lexington, the right time lies between March 15 and April 10. In the extreme south portion of the state, the time is a week or 10 days earlier and in the northern counties, a week later.

Potato land should be of the best. It should be deep and mellow, well enough drained not to stand in water, but not subject to becoming excessively dry, either. To help it meet either condition it should contain humus or rotted down vegetable matter in large amount.

The best humus materials is stable manure, but unless it is well rotted, particularly if horse manure, it may cause potato scab trouble. Other materials are grass or clover sod, straw tree leaves, weeds or a "green manure crop" sown especially to turn under. Except for the last named, it is best to break the land in the previous fall to give the plowed under matter time to rot, at least partly. The green manure, rye or wheat, or best of all, barley, grown through the winter, should be turned under in the spring, six weeks before potato planting, if possible.

Potato land should be broken deep, for the deeper the plowing the greater the moisture reservoir. Ten inches is perhaps a maximum, breaking with horses, and if the custom has been to break a lesser depth, each year an inch should be gained until the depth is reached.

Before turning the land, it is well to cut fine with a disk any growth or any of the materials just named ,so that rotting may proceed speedily, for, unrotted, they make the land "drouths" especially in season of scant rainfall.

A most important item in successful potato growing is using good seed. Roughly, there are two kinds, certified and common, so-called "select." The former is standard always, but the latter may be extremely variable. Sometimes, "select" seed potatoes are merely table potatoes, though somewhat more uniform in shape and size, perhaps. Sometimes, "select" seed is a mixture of several varieties that conform generally to one shape. If seed of that sort is used with some of the varieties unsuited to Kentucky climate and to the season, the results may be extremely disappointing.

The way to be safe is to use only certified seed, guaranteed all to be of the variety named on the tag, to contain less than 5 percent of the "running out" diseases that cause low yields, and to show less than 5 percent of either scab and black scurf. To make sure, however, that the seed is genuine certified seed, the tag must be examined to see that the certifying agency is reputable: A State College of Agriculture, a State Department of Agriculture or a State Seed Commission. Also, the name and address of the grower is given, for producers of genuine certified seed potatoes are proud to stand behind their product.

KITCHEN KINKS

Decorative colored sugars may be made at home by blending a few drops of cake coloring into ordinary granulated sugar . . . Keep a piece of dried orange peel in the tea canister and a pleasing flavor will result. . . Much of the tartness of sour fruits will be taken away if a pinch of soda is added during the cooking process; also much less sugar will be required for sweetening.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

Resolution adopted by the Board of Directors of the Florence Building and Loan Association, Florence Kentucky at the regular meeting:

There was a vacant seat by the death of our beloved secretary W. F. Bradford, who had been a director of this association since organization in 1925 and who has given his ability and untiring efforts to the welfare of our association.

Desiring to show our appreciation of his many years of fellowship and services and our respect to his memory, the following resolutions are respectfully submitted:

R solved, in the death of W. F. Bra ford, the association has lost one of its most true and faithful servants, a true and devoted secretary and the community one of its worthy citizens,

Be it further resolved, in the past friendship we will treasure his memory, and to his friends and relatives we desire to express our sympathy and sorrow with them in the loss of one who many good qualities will long be remembered.

Be it further resolved that these resolutions be spread on the minutes of the Florence Building and Loan Association and a copy be forwarded to the wife of W. F Bradford.

Signed

MOVIES FOR CHILD REQUIRE SELECTION

Should children go to the movies? Miss Mary Mumford, in charge of the nursery school of the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture, makes the following suggestions:

Be sure the theater has proper air circulation, fire escapes, etc.

Do not take small children to movies suggestive of crime, or movies that are over-exciting.

If the child goes to movies occasionally, be sure that he also has active, creative recreation. Movies demand nothing of the child, and too many of them may act as a narcotic.

Select movies carefully, perhaps using lists put out from month to month as suitable by dependable magazines.

Let the movies be an occasional supplement to healthful outdoor recreation for the child. For the older child, wisely-chosen pictures may be definitely helpful, though for the pre-school child movies are injurious.

"A good movie may do as much as fine art or literature in shaping the child's attitudes and interests," Miss Mumford points out. "A movie suitable for a 10-year-old may be very poor for one six years old. They should be chosen as carefully as toys or other equipment, with an eye to promoting growth and development. Parents must decide as to the advantages and disadvantages of each picture at each age level."

ON CLEANING DAY

To polish silver a simple method is to use one teaspoon common salt and one teaspoon baking soda to every quart of hot water. Use an aluminum pan or one of enamel resting an aluminum pie plate or cover on the bottom and laying the silver so that it comes in contact with the aluminum or another piece of silver which does touch it. The tarnish is almost instantly removed and the silver may be rinsed and dried. This method should not be used on silver having an oxidized finish.

WALTON-VERONA ARE RUNNERS-UP

IN REGIONAL TOURNAMENT—BELLEVUE TIGERS DEFEAT WALTON-VERONA BEARCATS SATURDAY NIGHT.

The Bellevue High School Tigers won the right to compete in the State basketball tournament when they defeated the Walton-Verona Bearcats by a score of 45 to 22 Saturday night in the final game of the Ninth Regional high school basketball tournament at Holmes high school.

The Tigers went to the front shortly after the opening whistle when Dumford dropped one in and immediately followed this with a free throw. Then Walton broke into the scoring column when Chapman flipped in a field goal from mid-court, making the score 3 to 2. The Tigers stood off every challenge of the Bearcats and the first quarter ended, Bellevue 7, Walton-Verona 6.

The second quarter ended with Walton trailing 9 to 22 and at the third quarter Walton had 14 while Bellevue had chalked up 36. The final whistle showed Walton 22 and Bellevue 45.

A point the Walton-Verona supporters will be glad to know is that their star, "Ossie" Osborne, was on even terms with Dumford for all-tournament high scoring honors each having made 47 points in three games in the regionals. Osborne tallied 19 in his first game, 19 in the second game and 9 in the third

The referees of all the Ninth Regional tournament were Dan Tehan and C. G. Lamb.

Boone county players chosen on the all-tournament team were, Osborne and Chapman, of Walton and Shinkle, of Hebron.

HEBRON MAN IS APPOINTED

HUBERT CONNER NAMED AS CAMPAIGN CHAIRMAN FOR ALBEN W. BARKLEY IN BOONE COUNTY.

A report from Schackelford Miller, Jr., State Campaign manager for Alben W. Barkley, stated that Hubert Conner had accepted the post as campaign manager for Boone County.

Mr. Conner is resident of the Hebron neighborhood and is well known throughout the county. He has never taken any active part in politics, but will no doubt add much to Barkley's strength in this county.

Mr. Schackelford stated that Mr. Conner had accepted the chairmanship of Senator Barkley's campaign in Boone County. The letter was dated March 9, 1938.

4-H CLUB NEWS

The Burlington Blue Ribbon 4-H club held its second meeting Monday, March 14. Approximately 30 girls were present. A greater part of the time was taken up filling out the secretary's book as to age, address, years in club work, etc., of the members.

Miss Mary Hood Gillaspie, home demonstration agent was present and told about the Spring Rally which will be held May 14 at Burlington. The purpose of Spring Rally Day is to select representatives to Junior Week.

A program had been planned but due to the lack of time it was not given.

The meeting adjourned by repeating the club pledge which was led by our cheer leader, Carolyn Cropper.

Florence Cook, Reporter.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Ryle entertained her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Lucas, of Covington, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Lucas were Sunday guests of their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Jones, of Erlanger.

Osborne Scores 609 Points During Entire Season

Homer Lee Osborne, ace forward on the Walton Bearcat team this season, marked up 9 more points to his credit Saturday night, making him high-point man in the entire county, with a total of 591 points for the season of 37-38.

"Ossie," as he is better known, scored 490 points in the regular scheduled games this season, 54 points in the District Tournament and 47 points in the Regional Tournament.

He was also picked on the All-District Tournament team and on the All-Tournament team at the Regional. Chapman of Walton, and Shinkle of Hebron was also picked for the All-Regional Tournament team at Covington last Saturday night. All three of the above mentioned players were also chosen for the All-Star game at Florence which was held Tuesday night.

Girls' Tourney Set For Friday

The Girls' Volley Ball tournament, the first of its kind ever to be held in the county, will be held at the Burlington gym on Friday night, March 18th. Also scheduled for the same evening is the table tennis tourney, which is likewise new to the sport fans of Boone County.

The school to participate in these events will be Burlington, Hebron, Hamilton, Florence and New Haven. Much interest has been shown in these sports since they have been introduced into the schools, as it gives those who do not take part in basketball, an opportunity to participate in a tournament.

The games will start promptly at 7:00 p. m. and the admission will be 15 and 25c.

John Boles Sings, Loves And Fights In New Picture

John Boles, co-starred with Jack Oakie in "Fight For Your Lady," returned for the first time since 1934 to the studio whence he rose to fame in 1929, in "Rio Rita," first big hit of the sound era.

It is nearly three years since Boles appeared in a RKO Radio film. In 1934 he starred with Ann Harding in "The Life of Vergie Winters" and with Irene Dunne in "The Age of Innocence."

His role in "Fight For Your Lady," which will be shown at the Gayety Theatre, Erlanger on Sunday and Monday, is that of an American concert singer, in which he plays opposite Jack Oakie and Ida Lupino. One sequence gives him the opportunity of singing the hit love song, "Blame It On The Danube."

During the action he is called upon to fight a sword duel with a notorious duelist, who has already rolled up a record of forty-four victims to his steel, and proposes to make Boles So. 45, because the singer has chanced to trifle with the affections of the lady (played by Ida Lupino) to whom the killer is engaged. The dullest role is filled by Erik Dhodes. The picture was directed by Ben Stoloff and produced by Albert Lewis.

Other attractions for this coming week will be "Forty Naughty Girls" and "You're Only Young Once."

See advertisment for all shows.

SENSATIONAL EXPOSURE

Rev. Raymond Smith, pastor of the Belleview Baptist church will deliver the most sensational exposure of the "Dance" that has probably ever been delivered in this section of the country, Sunday night, March 20th at 7:30 p. m.

It will be shown how nudity, immorality, drunkenness, murder, divorce, death and judgment has always, and is now associated with the dance.

A history of all kinds of dances will be given and they are all found in the Bible.

Plain words will be used so that all will be able to understand. No one from the political to the religious will be spared. In fact, this is promised to be a blood-curdling revelation of this great menace to our homes and society. The public has a right to know these little known facts and there the public is invited.

Miss Audrey Finn, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Finn of the Woolper neighborhood, has been very ill for the past few days.

Beaver Man Dies In St. Elizabeth Hospital March 9

Forest Black passed away in St. Elizabeth Hospital March 9th. His body was removed to Chambers and Grubbs Funeral Home for preparation and laid in state until Friday at 2 p. m. when it was conveyed to Beaver Christian church where funeral services were conducted by Bro. Roy Johnson, assisted by Bro. Ervin in the presence of his many friends. Burial was in the local cemetery.

He leaves to mourn his passing, a widow, 1 daughter, 1 brother and a number of other relatives.

John C. Bolen Passes Away

John C. Bolen passed away Sunday evening at 5 p. m. following a lingering illness at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Herbert Snyder.

Besides his daughter he leaves two brothers, Robert and C. A. Bolen and a number of other relatives and friends to mourn his going.

He was a member of the Petersburg Christian Church, a Mason and a member of the Eastern Star.

Funeral services were conducted from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Snyder Tuesday at 2 p. m. by his pastor, Rev. Lucas, in the presence of his many friends, after which the remains were conveyed to Petersburg cemetery and laid to rest by the side of his wife, who preceded him many years ago.

The pallbearers were Lawrence Chambers, Harry McWethy, Ray Witham, Edgar Snyder, Carl Keim, Wendell Keim.

Chambers and Grubbs, Walton Funeral Directors were in charge of arrangements.

HOMEMAKERS ADVISORY COUNCIL HOLD MEETING

The Advisory Council of Homemakers met at the beautiful country home of Mrs. Sam Sleet, our county president. Projects for the coming year were discussed, with Miss Lulie Logan, assistant state leader of home demonstration agents and our own county agent Mary Hood Gillaspie.

Those present were Mrs. Mabel G. Sayre, Mrs. Alma Gaines, Mrs. Elmer Peeno, Mrs. Thos. E. Ryan, Mrs. J. C. Aylor, Mrs. J. C. Bedinger, Mrs. Elizabeth Aylor, Mrs. C. F. Blankenbeker, Mrs. Edward Rogers, Mrs. Lawrence Chambers, Mrs. Walter Ferguson, Mrs. Vernon Pope, Mrs. Sam Sleet and Mrs. R. R. Witham.

It is the hope of all the officers that the projects chosen for next year will prove interesting and helpful.

Remember all women are cordially invited to attend any meetings they so desire and are obligated in no way.

Strange Activity At Hamilton School House

Rumors have been reaching this office of some strange and feverish activity at the schoolhouse at Hamilton. Stories have been told of doing never heard of before at that place. One informant states that while passing the school one night he saw Mr.——— (we don't dare tell the name) one of the oldest and most prominent farmers of that locality dressed up in a pair of shorts doing a tap dance while band made up of some of the better known women of that community played a hoedown. Others report and swear by their stories that they saw Mr. C—— playing on a slip horn while his wife and some other women were hollering and making the awfulest racket you ever heard. One man swears that he heard and saw Fred Allen the radio comedian (at least he says it sounded like him) when he was peeping in the window one other time.

When any one asks any of these people what is going on all they do is just laugh and wink, so we figure that sooner or later something interesting is going to happen down there. However, our rambling reporter swears that he's going to dig the truth up if we'll just give him time, so watch this paper next week for more and more interesting acounts of these carryings on.

BASKETBALL SEASON CLOSED

ALL-STAR GAME MARKS END OF SEASON IN BOONE COUNTY—HAMILTON SCHOOL FAR IN LEAD AT CLOSE OF CONTEST.

The All-Star basketball game, made up of two players selected by popular vote from each school, was played at the Florence gym Tuesday night, which officially marked the close of all basketball activities of Boone County boys for this season.

The players from the various schools to be chosen by popular vote were as follows: Hebron, Shinkle, Huey; Hamilton, Carroll, Aylor; Burlington, Huey, Porter; Florence, Brooks, Myers; New Haven, Barlow, Griffith; Walton, Chapman, Osborne. The total number of votes cast for the various schools was as follows: Hamilton 119, Florence 78, Burlington 66, Hebron 60, New Haven 39, and Walton 20.

The All-Stars were divided into two teams, one player from each school to be on opposite teams, and the line-up for the game was Osborne, M. Porter, Huey, Griffith, Carroll and Myers vs. Chapman, W. Huey, Shinkle, Barlow, Aylor and Brooks. The final score for this game was 40 to 31, in favor of the team headed by Chapman. Osborne was high-point man in the game with 18 points to his credit. Chapman was second with a total of 12 points to his credit.

There was a total of 362 votes votes cast for the various Boone County teams, 362 of this total were cast through this newspaper, and 20 were cast through the Walton Advertiser.

The conference trophy donated by the Boone County Recorder was presented at the close of the game for the highest standing for the entire season. This year, however presented a different situation as both Hebron and Walton teams were tied for the season, both winning 9 games and losing only one. Duplicate trophies were awarded, one to each school.

The line-up in the Coaches-Faculty game follows: Coaches, Laws, Jennings, Huey, Moore, Walton and Brock. Faculty, Asbury, Caton, Coop, Smith, McNeely and Huff. The final score of this game was 36-27 in favor of the faculty.

Boone County has had a very successful basketball season this year, and it is the desire of every school, coach and member of the teams to express their sincere thanks and appreciation for the support given them throughout the entire season, which has been very successful.

362 Votes Are Cast Thru This Newspaper

In the recent popular vote contest to choose the two outstanding basketball players from each school in Boone County, this newspaper was responsible for 362 out of a total of 382 for the entire county.

Ballots were placed in both newspapers in the county, and the final count showed Recorder 362, Advertiser 20.

Thanks to our many loyal subscribers for their cooperation in making this contest a very successful one.

Born

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Harmon, of Conneaut, Ohio, are the proud parents of a fine 5½ pound baby boy, named David Eugene. The child was born Tuesday, March 8th. Both baby and mother are reported to be doing fine at this writing.

Mrs. Harmon, (nee Miss Olive Vice) of Burlington, is widely known here in Boone County as her parents and family make their home in the Woolper neighborhood.

Bullittsville Grocery Robbed Wed. Morning

The Bullittsville grocery, owned by Chas. Engle, was robbed Wednesday morning of last week. The thieves made their entrance by breaking the front window.

According to Jake Williams, deputy sheriff, the loss to Mr. Engle was approximately $100.00. The loot consisted of canned goods, candy, cakes and shirts.

Mr. Williams stated that the culprits left no clues as to their identity.

Farm Meetings Well Attended

The community meeting on the 1938 Agricultural Conservation program and 1938 Farm Act held the past week were well attended, according to H. R. Forkner, county agent.

The response shown by farmers at the meetings shows they are vitally interested in Agricultural Improvement and important problems in relation to farm work.

While information on the new farm act was just received at the county office a few days ago, every effort is being made to inform farmers at the earliest possible date.

The schedule of community meetings on the new farm program to be held during the next two weeks is as follows:

New Haven School, Thursday, March 17th at 7:30 p. m.

Grant school, Friday March 18, at 7:30 p. m.

Homemakers Will Hold Training Class

Leaders of foods in the Homemakers clubs of Boone County will have their second training class Wednesday, March 23. The meeting will be held in the relief office building in Burlington from 10 a. m. to 3:00 p. m. (slow time), according to Mary Hood Gillaspie, home demonstration agent. Mrs. Pearl Haak, foods specialist, University of Kentucky, will give a lesson on cereals and their nutritional use in the diet.

Boone Homemakers are having their first major project in foods. This project is taught mostly thru demonstration. Leaders purchase the food and direct the preparation for the all-day local Homemakers meeting. The menu prepared at February meetings consisted of baked cabbage and meat, baked stuffed potatoes, buttered baby beets, chinese celery and apple salad, cornmeal muffins, carrot pudding and coffee.

Attendance at local meetings has been higher than for any other major project.

Fish Fry To Be Given By Men Of Christian Church

The men of the Bullittsville Christian church are sponsoring a fish fry to be given at the church on Saturday night, March 19th. An excellent fish menu will be presented consisting of Jack Salmon, potato salad, corn bread, coffee, and pie at popular prices.

The proceeds of the fish fry are to be used in improvements on the church building. All who are interested in enjoying a good fish meal and a social evening as well as contributing toward a worthy cause are cordially invited to be present. Serving will begin at 5:30 p. m. slow time.

BOONE COUNTY ENROLLS EIGHT

AT UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY SECOND SEMESTER—LARGEST SECOND SEMESTER ENROLLMENT IN HISTORY.

Surpassing the registration figure for the second term of the 1936-'37 school year at the University of Kentucky by a margin of 203, the current semester's enrollment of the state institution closed officially February 14, with a total of 3,470 students entered for classwork, the largest second semester's enrollment in the history of the University.

The figure missed reaching the first semester's all-time record of 3,535 by only 65 registrants. In the past the second semester count has always fallen approximately 150 short of that of the first session. Although February 14 marked the end of registration for regular students, those entering the University for independent work will be allowed extra time for signing up.

Among those registered from Boone county are: James Conner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Conner, Burlington; John DeMoisey, son of Rev. and Mrs. R. F. Demoisey, Walton: Andrew Edwards, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Edwards, Burlington; Allen Kenyon, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Kenyon, Constance; Melvin Kenyon, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Kenyon, Constance; Cornelius Reagan, Florence; Jas. Sams, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Sams, Florence; Kathryn Sebree, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dolpha Sebree, Florence.

We are very glad to report to our readers that Ed Burris, of the East Bend Road, is slightly improved, after a prolonged illness.

Mr. Burris has been confined to his bed for several weeks with an attack of heart trouble, but according to a report received late Tuesday afternoon, his condition is slightly improved.

COMPENSATION LAW CHANGED

ONE OF PRINCIPAL PROVISIONS TENDS TO SIMPLIFY EMPLOYER DATA—CHANGE MADE IN REPORTING WAGES.

Frankfort, Ky., March 15—Kenaucky's Unemployment Compensation Commission today is operating under a new law passed at the recent regular session of the General Assembly without a dissenting vote and became effective immediately upon being signed by Governor A. B. Chandler.

Bearing an emergency clause, the law went into effect March 5, the date of its approval by the governor.

One of the principal provisions contained in the new law tends to simply reports requiring certain data from employers. One of those the effect of which will be far reaching, is the provision changing the methods of reporting wage data.

Under the old law reports requiring such data as hours worked by employes, weekly earnings and other details were required of employers in making individual employment records of their employes over a quarterly period, eliminating other detailed information.

Also of immediate interest to employes is a provision of the new law eliminating the exemption of workers engaged in non-manual labor earning at a rate in excess of $2600 a year. The new law requires all workers regardless of their occupation, if they come within provisions of the law, to make contributions on the first $3000 of their earnings. This provision conforms to the section of the Social Security Act covering Old Age Insurance.

Persons who casually solicit insurance not in the ordinary pursuit of their livelihood are exempt under the new law as to the extent of such insurance activities but the general exemptions of agents and solicitors of insurance companies, contained in the old law, has been eliminated.

Another provision immediately effective is the one eliminating tips and gratuties from the definition of wages.

THE NEW YEAR

Just what the new year will bring forth in the way of living and working conditions is a subject everyone just now is deeply interested in. Of course speculation is rife as to what it holds in store for the farmer, first of all, for it is in undisputed fact that unless things run along smoothly for him it is bound to be pretty bumphy for the balance of the country.

From scattered reports, covering the nation as a whole, it is understood that farmers do not look for the bumper crops they had in 1937—it's hard to have two years that in a row—but they are, as a rule, of the opinion that prices will be better and that from an actual money standpoint 1938 will be a better year than 1937.

The inclination of the government to get in closer touch with industry and cooperate heartily in launching a building boom and further reducing relief rolls thru employment is also an optimistic note for the new year. In fact, but for the labor situation, with its many strikes and constant turmoil, its own ranks split asunder by factional fights and flash of leadership, everything would look mighty fine for 1938. If some way can be found to keep labor at peace with industry, then the one great threat to better times will be wiped out. We enter the new year at the mercy of capital and labor. If they can be brought together in a resign of peace and understanding, then agriculture and transportation and finance and trade will keep their affairs in shape. The fate of 1938 seems to lie in the hands of the man with the dinner pail and all the rest of the country can do is hope and pray that he acts soberly and sensibly and with the best interest of his fellowman at heart.

MODERN RUSTLING

We may expect in the near future a new type of wild west novels of cattle rangers and rustlers and heroes and heroines, with the southwest as the scene and the present year as the time. The stream of stories will start to flow as soon as fiction writers hear about the state of affairs in Texas and adjoining states. It may be hard for the average reader to realize it, but due to the high price of beef cattle thieves are on a rampage. In fact, says the commander of the Texas Rangers, there is more livestock being stolen right now than at any time for the past seventy years.

In place of the bronco, cayuse and mustang which sped the rustlers on their way in the old days, the rich business of stealing another's cattle is now done by motor truck, and the trucks guided by overhead plans. The gasoline cowboys who covet their neighbor's property on the hoof are giving honest men plenty of trouble. But virtually all of the rustlers end up in the jailhouse, which cattle raisers have reluctantly accepted as a substitute for the old-fashioned hemp rope and tree limb as punishment for the thieves.

The reason they are being captured is the crude old branding iron, which today as in days of yore, marks the route to stolen cattle. Ever since the first longhorn steer crossed the Rio Grande into Texas there have been cattle rustlers and branding irons. Longhorns have changed into beefy, white-face shorthorns, but the old branding iron remains constant and unchanged, marking ownership as it did a cenutry ago and furnishing still the evidence which eventually traps the rustler.

FOUND AT LAST

The state of Texas can now proudly boast as being the home of "the world's safest driver." His name is Allen B. Hill. By vocation he is a truck driver, is 55 years old, and was Exhibit A at the recent National Trucking Convention. Hill's record is approximately 1,400,000 in 30 years without an accident or an arrest. And that is a record worth hanging up anywhere, and one that should serve as a good example to every driver as he enters a new year full of good resolutions. Hill, now a resident of Corpus Christi has driven in many states, and drove a truck in France during the World War. And here is his rule for safe driving:

Give al lthe road you can and take all they'll give you. "I've had to take to the ditch many times to avoid getting hit, but I've found it the best way out. Stay off of the other fellow's side of the road."

A DOG FIGHT

When a Chicago editor recently stated as his opinion that dogs do not think or plan ahead, he opened up a way to get an argument out of any man who owns a dog. These dog owners want to know how about the shepherd dog that can round up a herd of sheep or cattle and drive them into pen or shed? Then, too, what about the St. Bernards who have been locating and bringing succor to lost travelers in the Alps mountains for many years And if that is not enough, how about these dogs trained especially for parts in moving pictures, and who go through their parts as well as any of the human actors and actresses—and a whole lot better than many of them? If the canine hero does not look ahead, behind and to all sides in delicate situations in a manner that most people are incapable of we miss our guess.

KEEPING THE BODY STRONG

LESSON TEXT—Mark 6:53-56; Judg. 13: 12-14; I Cor. 3:16, 17; Rom. 12:1, 2.

GOLDEN TEXT—Now therefore beware, I pray thee, and drink not wine nor strong drink, and eat not any unclean thing.—Judg. 13:4.

PRIMARY TOPIC—The Body God Gave Us.

JUNIOR TOPIC—For Jesus' Sake.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—What Liquor, Drugs, and Tobacco Do to Health.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—How Intemperance Affects Health.

The universe of God is perfectly organized in every respect. Beings that function in the spirit realm are spirit beings, not subject to the limitations of the physical world. We who dwell and serve in the physical world are equipped with physical bodies which are ideal instruments for our present existence.

With all their shortcomings and frailties, our bodies are indeed marvelous machines, intricate and delicate, yet unbelievably hardy and durable. They are a gift from God, and it is our express responsibility to glorify God in our bodies (I Cor. 6:20).

I. How to Have a Strong Body.

It is obvious that not every one has equal physical strength and health. In some measure this is by divine providence or at least by God's permissive will, and those of us who find ourselves thus limited do well to count on His grace for patience to use what we have for His glory. But not one of us wants to yield hopelessly to our inability. Rather we will do our best to overcome it. We want to know

1. How to cure weakness (Mark 6:53-56).

God alone can heal the sick. Even in our day when science has made such strides in the healing art, we note that the most successful remedy or system of treatment is the one that clears the way for what men call nature, but we know to be God, to work. Jesus healed the multitudes in the land of Gennesaret; He heals in America.

2. How to prevent weakness (Judg. 13:12-14).

The mother of Samson, who was to be a Nazarite, was to drink no wine and to observe careful dietary regulations before he was born.

Note also that if it is bad for a man to have such poisons in his veins before he is born, surely it is poor judgment to put them in after he comes to the age where he controls his own life. We need to watch our diets, and we have much valuable help on that point. We also need to give serious attention to the use of narcotics. It may surprise some to know that the term narcotics includes not only drugs and alcoholic beverages, but also tobacco, and such common things as tea and coffee.

Other abuse of the body, such as overwork, neglect of rest, etc., may well be mentioned. The besetting sin of some Christian workers is the destruction of their bodies, the very temple of the Holy Ghost, by overwork.

II. How to Use a Strong Body.

Unfortunate as it is to observe that some who would serve the Lord have to struggle with the weakness of the body, it is far sadder to note that all too often those who have strong bodies forget to use that strength for God. Our Scripture portions give us two excellent guiding principles. Our bodies should be

1. Kept for God (I Cor. 3:16, 17).

These verses refer to the body of the Christian, for only of him can it be said that his body is the temple of the Holy Ghost.

The Holy Spirit is a person, the third person of the blessed Trinity. He comes to dwell within the soul of the Christian immediately upon his being regenerated, thus making his body the temple of the Holy Ghost. A clear grasp of that truth solves the problem of what we should do with and for our bodies. We must keep them well and clean. We dare not defile them in any way. The body of the Christian is kept for God.

2. Yielded to God (Rom. 12:1, 2).

It is a high and noble sacrifice to die for Christ.

But our call just now is to be a "living sacrifice." There are times when that may seem harder than to be a martyr. We do know that it is not always easy to live through the drab, difficult, and sometimes dreadful days, with a clear and shining testimony for Christ. But it can be done and is always to His glory. It is by the transforming grace of God that we are enabled to live such a life.

Meditation

It is the mark of a superior man that, left to himself, he is able endlessly to amuse, interest and entertain himself out of his personal stock of meditations, ideas, criticisms, memories, philosophy, humor and what not.—George Nathan.

Like Unto Him

"There should be no greater comfort to Christian persons than to be made like unto Christ by suffering patiently adversities, troubles, and sickness.

If you believe the ads in the magazines, cigarettes can now cure everything but skidding.

Just think what fun nations will have in the next war in messing up each other's radio programs.

SPRING OPENING AT DALTON'S FEATURING SMART NEW FASHIONS

Dalton's, always first with the newest fashions, are now showing suits, coats and accessories for Spring and Easter wear.

The new fashions are gay and colorful and more flattering than ever before. Navy leads the fashion parade, closely followed by strawberry, wood violet. red earth and black. Man-tailored suits in gabardine and worsted fabrics are very partical, for now during the changing weather, they can be worn under fur coats, or light weight wraps. The colors are green, navy, brown, grey, black and stripes. Many bright shades in swagger coats, that vary in length from fingertips to full length, are being shown in all sizes.

Dalton's stock of new frocks is complete. Some with separate redingotes jackets and the very popular boleroes are finding favor with women of all sizes.

Bags, shoes, hats and gloves are being shown in shades to match.

Northern Kentucky women enjoy the convenience of shopping at Dalton's Madison Ave., opposite Pike St., Covington, where they can choose their entire outfit from head to foot. A small deposit will hold your selection at Daltons.

BURLINGTON SCHOOL NEWS

The amateur program last Tuesday night was well attended by all and everyone seemed to enjoy the program. Miss Luella Cason, who imitated "Aunt Ida" and Miss Ida Pearl Gulley imitating "Little Clifford" were given first prize by the vote of the audience.

The debate club journed to Dixie Heights Tuesday to debate Lloyd and New Haven. As yet, we do not know the results, but will print them later.

The first six grades are working on a chapel program, which they are to give Wednesday of this week.

Friday night of this week there will be a girls' volley ball tournament and a ping pong tournament held in our school auditorium. We hope every one will come out and give our students support, as this is the first time we have ever had anything of this kind. We wish them success.

Mrs. Eddins reports that she has a new student, Theodore Buckler, of Indiana. We welcome him into our school.

One of the bird club member's mother has written a poem concerning their club and it is printed below:

OUR CLUB

We have a bird club in our room
We think it will be a boom;
Our meetings are on Friday afternoon,
We'll lear, all about birds soon.

We will learn about the robin,
Canary and Jay,
And while we're learning we will have fun at play;
We will learn the bird's habits and how they look,
We will study the birds in all the books.
We enjoy our club, we like it quite well,
We will learn every bird, so we can tell
What kind he is by the way he flies
And the way he looks up in the skies.

MELVIN B. BRAUER GRADUATES FROM U. E. I.

The Utilities Engineering Institute, 404 North Wells Street, Chicago, Illinois, announces that Melvin B. Brauer, 827 Ann Street, Newport, Ky., is a member of their recent graduating class.

After nearly a year of preparatory study, Mr. Brauer attended the laboratory of the Institute where he received intensive shop practice on all types of air conditioning equipment.

The Institute reports that Mr. Brauer completed his training with high honors and is to be congratulated for his achievement. He has expressed a desire to secure employment in or near Cincinnati, and the Utilities Engineering Institute is assisting him in this connection.

CAPITOL COMMENTS

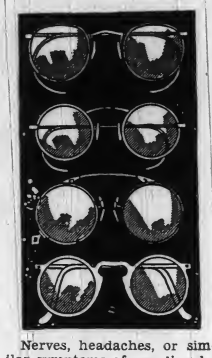
The real firing in the Senatorial campaign which has pitted Governor Chandler against Alben W. Barkley, will not get under way until late in April or the first part of may. Although there will be speeches and a lot of hurrah in the meantime, the heavy shelling from the two sectors will be a summertime program. So anything you hear now, just sit back and tell your neighbor: "My friend you ain't heard nothin' yet." At the current sitting both sides are busily engaged in making their organizations, naming county chairman, chairwomen, and all of those who go to make up precinct organs. Those folks are the most important people in any election and both sides know it.

Your correspondent has just returned from a trip to Washington, D. C., where he spent a few days with his big ears to the ground, his mouth shut, and his eyes open, and during his stay he heard plenty about the coming campaign. In fact, he heard enough to make him believe that the Chandler-Barkley fight was as much at home in the National Capitol as it was in Kentucky. Many folk who have merely read about Kentucky and Kentucky politics and passed it off as so much reading matter, are now taking an active interest in this race. Chandler, in his few visits there, has made lasting impressions. On the other hand there are people who believe that Barkley is too firmly entrenched to be moved. Among the big shots who are backing Barkley there is a feeling of danger. They realize that Chandler is a powerful figure and that he would make an even more powerful figure when and if he wins a Senate seat. Anyhow, Washington is taking this race just as seriously as Kentucky is and the feeling there is almost as high.

* * *

There are thousands of laws and acts on the Statute books of Kentucky. Of all the laws that have been made and passed in Kentucky, there is not a single one that satisfies everybody. When a law is passed that will completely please everybody in the State, then the law is superfluous and there was no need to pass it in the first place. That leads up to the new liquor law which was passed and placed upon the staute books at the regular session. It seems that the Louisville folk are dissatisfied with it and are now busy preparing amendments to it, amendments that they will offer in the current extraordinary session. Mayor Joe Scholtz says that the new law deprives the city of rights under the constitution section on home rule. In a certion section of the new law provisions were made for the appointment of a city paid liquor administrator—the appointment to be made by the State's Commissioner of Revenue. The section that Mayor Scholtz declares violated is Section 160 which gives the procedure for selecting municipal officers. To quote: "Other officers of cities or towns shall be elected by the qualified voters therein or appointed by the local authorities." The dispute over that point merely reveals that it al lis a matter of patronage. Just a question whether Mayor Scholtz can add votes to the Brennan Faction in Louisville or whether the present State administration can make more friends by having the disposal of the job. If Scholtz gains his point the giving of the job probably will go to either Lennie McLaughlin or Schakelford Miller, the mainsprings in Alben W. Barkley's scrap for the high percentage of votes in Louisville. There undoubtedly will be an amendment to the new law and that one to correct a mistake made in the drawing of the act. Because a comma was left out of a sentence it is now permissible to legally sell beer in Louisville all day on Sunday. The old law prohibited the sale until 1 p. m.

* * *



That Governor Chandler has the support of the Young Democrats of the Nation was shown last week when he was appointed to the post of National Executive Chairman of Organization of the Young Democratic Clubs of America. Pitt Tyson Maner, Montgomery, Alabama, announced the appointment from Washington. The post is the most powerful one that can be given by the head of the young organization and it gives the entirety of United States as a territory over which Chandler can roam and direct organization.

A proposed measure before the General Assembly at its current session would make Elmer McGlothen of Frenchburg, representative from the Menifee-Montgom ery district, an attorney, and for that matter would make any solon who has served two terms as a member of the House or Senate, eligible to become a lawyer without his going through the formality of going to a law school and taking the State Bar examination. This proposed act has drawn fire from the Louisville Bar Association. The Association in a letter to Governor Chandler, who is backing the bill, declared that it was a bad precedent and that the whole association was against its passage. If such was passed McGlothen would be eligible as would Marion McCarthy of Webster county and Bob Trapp of Hopkins county. Both McCarthy and Trapp are now members of the Jefferson School of Law in Louisville and are working for their degrees.

Senator Paul Sidebottom, Williamstown Democrat and one of the few senators who has not exactly stuck with the present administration, has introduced a bill which would divert $1,179,425 from the State Road Fund to help counties pay off their road and bridge bonds. The diversion would continue annually and would amount to five percent of the counties' road and bridge bond idebtedness. This idebtedness now amounts to more than twenty-three millions of dollars. Each county would receive a share in proportion to its debt. If such a bill should go to the finals in this session and be passed and become effective, it would be a severe jolt to the present road building program. Taking more than a million dollars a year out of the highway program would knock the schedule into a chocked hat. Some of the counties who have been able to take care of their own indebtedness and have struggled along to keep their heads above water and are in fair financial shape would object because they, not having any bonded indebtedness, would not be entitled to share in the cut, although they have paid a portion of the taxes that made the money available. It is doubtful that this measure will pass.

They say an honest confession is good for the soul. Yes, and it's also good for a column or so in the newspapers.

The First Signs Of Eye Strain

Nerves, headaches, or similar symptoms of eye disorder should be a warning for you to take immediate action to prevent what might develop into something of a more serious nature.

The eye, like every other delicate instrument, must be watched carefully, and the first sign of weakness corrected, to insure maximum and continued efficiency.

The physical comfort and the knowledge that you have received expert attention will repay you many times over.

Know that your eyesight is safe.

HONEST SERVICE

AN OPEN MESSAGE

To our FRIENDS & CUSTOMERS of this Community

For the past 12 years we have been associated in the sales and service of electric appliances. It has always been our desire to maintain a competent service department covering all branches of electric service, including house wiring.

Selling and servicing electric merchandise, is not a SIDE LINE with us, it is OUR ENTIRE BUSINESS.

Thanks to your cooperation and patronage, we have built for you, the Erlanger Electric Shop.

We offer for SALE and YOUR APPROVAL the following major appliances, which we believe to be "tops" in their line:

Genuine Frigidaires, made and backed by General Motors Corporation; Electrolux refrigerators, gas and kerosene operated; Maytag and Crosley Save-A-Maid washers; Philco, Crosley, Zenith and Motorola radios electric and battery sets; General Electric and Eureka cleaners; genuine Cunningham, Philco and Sylvania radio tubes. Full line of small appliances.

We wanted a service department whereby we may be able to employ the best of mechanics in their line. This of course took time and money.

We now specialize in the following guaranteed service.

Refrigeration, household and commercial washers, any make or model in sweepers, any make radio, any age, any model. House wiring, home or industrial, electric welding, electric motors and machinist work.

Your worries are over when you call Dixie 7305 for service. You will be happily surprised at our conservative prices and you will be satisfied with our work, which is ABSOLUELY GUARANTEED.

We'll be Honest with you

Do you "fly all to pieces" when the children are noisy, or when the vegetables burn, or when the jelly won't "jell?" Some mothers are just naturally cranky. Some mothers are cross and impatient because they are nervous.

If you are a natural crank, DR. MILES NERVINE won't do much for you. If you are irritable because your nerves are overtaxed, DR. MILES NERVINE will do a lot for you.

Do you suffer from Sleeplessness, Restlessness, Nervous Irritability, Nervous Headache, or Nervous Indigestion? Do you worry over trifles, start at sudden noises? Overtaxed nerves will cause all these troubles, and DR. MILES NERVINE will help you to relax those overtaxed nerves.

Why don't you give it a trial on our guarantee of satisfaction or your money back? Your druggist can tell you about DR. MILES NERVINE. He has been selling it ever since he started clerking in a drug store. Dr. Miles Nervine comes in two forms—Liquid and Effervescent Tablets. Both equally effective in quieting overtaxed nerves. Both sell for 25¢ and $1.00 depending on the size of the package.

A CARD OF THANKS

The following clipping was handed us by Mr. Webster. He stated the clipping was found among several which formerly belong to Mr. Frank Hall, a former employer of The Recorder:

"I desire to thank my friends and neighborh most heartily in this manner for the united aid and co-operation during the illness and death of my late husband, who escaped from me by the hand of death on Friday last, while choking at his breakfast. To the friends and other who contributed so willingly toward making the last moments and funeral of my husband a success, I desire to remember most kindly, hoping these few lines will find them enjoying the same blessing. I have a good milch cow and roan gelding horse 5 years old which I will sell very cheap. God moves in a mysterious way His wonders to perform; He plants His footsteps on the sea and rides upon the storm; also a black shote, very low."—National Republican.

WEEK'S BEST RECIPE

Apple Tarts—6 firm tart apples; ¾ cup granulated sugar; 1 cup water; ¼ cup red cinnamon candies; 1 tablespoon lemon juice; 4 tablespoons orange juice, wash, pare and core apples and place in baking dish. Combine sugar, water, cinnamon candies, lemon and orange juices and heat, stirring constantly until cinnamon candies have melted. Pour syrup over apples. Cover and bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F) until tender. Turn apples in syrup during baking so they become pink throughout. Remove apples from syrup and cook syrup until it thickens. Pour thickened syrup over apples and serve after cooling.

PETERSBURG HOMEMAKERS

The Petersburg Homemakers with Mrs. Louis Hitzfield and Miss Gladys Klopp as leaders and Mrs. Howard Ryle and Miss Mary Rector as hostesses met last Thursday at the school house.

Miss Klopp gave the lesson very effectively and we learned many startling and helpful facts about vegetables and vegetable cookery.

Our leaders Mrs. Hitzfield and Miss Klopp prepared a very delicious meal and explained as they prepared it why it was prepared in that particular manner. Twenty members and four visitors enjoyed the meal.

The afternoon was devoted to the minor project "Clothing," which was given by Mrs. L. S. Chambers, who always knows her subject and gives her lessons very impressively.

Miss Gillaspie gave a talk on our past work and we voted for the project that we wanted to have for our next series. She also made mention and urged that we mark March 29th on our calendar to attend the county tour at the Taft Art Museum. Each club in the county is to be responsible for their own party.

Mrs. Ryle our recreation chairman had two very interesting games for us.

Mesdames Harry McWethy and Florian Holton will act as hostesses for the April meeting which will be April 14 at the Schoolhouse.

LLOYD SOCIETY MEETS

The Lloyd Memorial Society met Saturday, March 5th at the Lloyd home for an all-day meeting. This was Baptist day and the following members of the Baptist Aid Society were present: Mrs. R. L. Demoisey, Mrs. Lula Presser, Mrs. W. L. Stephens. Mrs. Tenny Beemon, Mrs. Sallie Thompson, Mrs. Georgia Myers, Mrs. Ethel Marquis, Mrs. Clarence Fossett, Mrs. Carrie Surface, Mrs. Jenny Lewis, Mrs. L. B. FIVE ANIMALS DIE IN BLAZE

NEAR FLORENCE—ELSMERE AND FLORENCE FIREMEN UNABLE TO SAVE BARN—LOSS ESTIMATED AT $10,000.

Five valuable horses were lost early Thursday morning in a fire which destroyed the barn of Bert Rich two and one-half miles south of Florence on the Dixie Highway. The loss was estimated at $10,000.

Elsmere and Florence volunteer fire departments were called, but the blaze had made such headway that firemen were unable to save any portion of the barn or its contents.

The fire apparently started in the office part of the barn, about 3 a. m. Thursday morning. Before the flames were discovered by Mr. Rich the blaze had spread so that it was impossible to lead the horses to safety.

One possibility as to the origin of the fire was suggested, when it was learned that an auto had run out of gasoline near the home. It was thought that the occupants of the car might have gone into the barn to sleep, and inadvertently caused the fire. The men obtained gasoline and left the scene about 8 a. m. Thursday. They were believed to be tourists

Among the horses lost in the fire were three that Mr. Rich had entered in the horse show to be held at the Cavalry grounds in Cincinnati in April. They were "Charming Belle," a five-gaited saddle mare: "Majestic Lady," a blue ribbon mare and "Rosaline," a three-year-old gray mare.

Another horse burned was "Sparkling Firefly," a stallion being used for breeding purposes. The stallion was the property of John White, Mt. Olivet, Ky.

The fifth of the trapped animals was a Shetland pony, "Chief Eminence," a blue-ribbon winner at the Louisville State Fair last year.

Mr. Rich, unable to enter the inferno from the front door of the barn, ran to the back, where he opened the door. All horses except the stallion were already down, and before that horse could escape he fell to the ground.

Mr. Rich's home, located on the highway, about 200 feet from the barn, was not endangered by the flames.

LOCAL GIRLS WIN VOLLEY TOURNEY

NEW HAVEN GIRLS RUN CLOSE SECOND — HAMILTON TAKES ALL HONORS IN TABLE TENNIS MATCHES.

The Burlington girls' volley ball team had a very hard fight on their hands last Friday night at the Burlington gym, to defeat the hard scrapping New Haven team, and to keep the beautiful trophy donated by the Farmers Bank of Petersburg and the Hebron Bank of Hebron. The New Haven six received the runner-up trophy donated by the Peoples Deposit Bank, Burlington.

All schools had to take their hats off to Hamilton in the table tennis matches. Zug Atha, Hamilton, winner of the boys' match, and Miss Gene Ogden, Hamilton, winner of the girls' match were supreme. The trophies for these matches were donated by Smith's grocery, Burlington and Gulley & Pettit's grocery, also of Burlington.

Quite a large crowd attended this tourney, and much interest was shown in this, the first of its kind in Boone County. According to the results of this event, it is almost certain that there will be a tournment of this kind for the girls each year, and that they will be afforded the opportunity to participate in such events each year hereafter.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Brown entertained Friday night, Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Easton, Mr. and Mrs. Robert [illegible], Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Huey and Mr. and Mrs. William Greenup.

Mary Witham Weds In Florida

At a simple but impressive marriage ceremony performed March 3 at the home of the bride, 811 Fifteenth Avenue South St. Petersburg, Fla., Mrs. Mary Witham became the bride of Glen Perry. The single ring service was read by Rev. Charles E. Carroll, pastor of the Grace M. E. Church.

Witnesses for the ceremony were Mrs. Carroll, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mills and Gladys Chamberlin.

The bride wore a becoming gown of white with matching accessories an dher bouquet was of white roses and sweet peas.

Mrs. Perry moved to St. Petersburg several years ago from Petersburg, Ky., and the bridegroom is a retired undertaker from Barre, Vt., who also has been making his home in the city for a number of years.

After a wedding trip to Havana Mr. and Mrs. Perry will make their home at 811 Fifteenth avenue south, St. Petersburg, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Ryle and little daughter Phyllis entertained Sunday, her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Lucas, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Jones and children Joe Ann and Donald, of Erlanger, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Lucas, of Covington and Miss Betty Ryle.

BOONE MAN GETS GOOD POSITION

WITH AGRICULTURAL ADJUSTMENT ADMINISTRATION—IS BROTHER OF JOHN, AUDREY, AND RUSSELL FINN.

W. G. Finn, a native of Boone County has been appointed director of the east central division of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

Mr. Finn grew in Boone, and is a brother of John, Audrey and Russell Finn, of the Woolper neighborhood. He was graduated from the University of Kentucky in 1923 and later did graduate work at Iowa State College and American University. He was a member of the staff of the University of Kentucky until 1931, when he received an appointment as economist by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics of the Department of Agriculture. While in the bureau he was engaged in studies of tobacco Prices. In 1935 he was sent to Europe to gather data on the consumption of American tobacco in European countries.

Mr. Finn became affiliated with the Agricultural Adjustment Administration when the AAA tobacco program was inaugurated in 1933. He was made assistant director of the east central division in 1936. In 1937 he became acting director and served in that position until his recent appointment as director.

The east central region includes the states of Delaware, Kentucky, Maryland, North Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia and West Virginia.

Mr. Finn is well known throughout Boone County, and his many friends here wish him much success in his present position.

Edward A. Utz

The funeral of Edward A. Utz, who died late Wednesday at his home near Union, were held at the Philip Taliaferro funeral home, Erlanger, Saturday morning.

Services were held at the Big Bone Baptist church Saturday at 2:30 p. m., with Rev. O. M. Huey, of Louisville, a boyhood chum, assisted by Rev. Roy Johnson, pastor officiating. Interment followed in Hopeful cemetery.

Mr. Utz, 77, was the father of Capt. Lee Norris, of the United States Marines, at Quantico, Va. He also leaves his widow, Mrs. Allie Utz, and three other sons and two daughters.

26 Farmers Attend Tour

Twenty-six Boone County farmers took part in a tour of the Cincinnati Livestock yards and packing plants on Wednesday of last week. Radio station WLW was also visited following the tour.

Everyone attending reported the meeting was a most profitable and enjoyable day spent. Plans were completed for the holding of a series of tours on May 18th, 26th and 27th during the early part of the lamb marketing season. Everyone interested will be invited to attend.

WALTON THEATER OPENED MAR. 17

ONE OF MOST MODERN THEATERS IN NORTHERN KENTUCKY—HAS SEATING CAPACITY OF 491.

Last Thursday night the new James Theater, Walton had its formal opening, with a large crowd in attendance.

The new theater, which is operated by Jas. E. Falls, is one of the most modern and beautiful theaters in Northern Kentucky. The interior is beautifully decorated in various colors. Lights which are placed completely around the walls and have eleven different colors are very beautiful. The seats are covered in leather and the backs in red plush.

The booth, which houses the projectors and sound equipment has been constructed of fire proof materials, and a complete new sound system has been installed.

According to Mr. Falls, the theater will seat 411 persons. Mr. Falls stated that at their Saturday night shows there were seven hundred in attendance.

The building formerly was a garage and was operated by Mr. Falls, but was remodeled for the new theater recently.

In the same building will be found a small confectionery where patrons can obtain soft drinks, candy and other small items.

Walton and Boone county as a whole should be proud of this beautiful place of entertainment. Without a doubt it is as modern as as any theater in this section of the country.

4-H Clubs To Present Program Over WHAS

Well Known Farmer Dies

Ed Burris, passed away at his home, 4 miles South of Burlington early Sunday morning, following an extended illness. He was 67 years of age.

He leaves two sons, Charles and Henry Burris, two daughters, Mrs. Willis Rogers, Mrs. Oscar McMurray, 2 grandchildren, two brothers Geo. Burris, of Walton and Chas. Burris, of St. Louis, and a number of relatives and friends. His wife preceded him some seven years ago.

Funeral services were conducted from the home on Tuesday at 2 p. m. by Rev. H. M. Hauter, in the presence of his many neighbors and friends, after which his remains were laid to rest by the side of his wife in the Burlington cemetery.

Pallbearers were Robt. Barnes, Walter Whitson, Wm. Dringenburg, James Brown, Clifford Jones and Claude Arrasmith.

Chambers and Grubbs, Walton funeral directors were in charge of arrangements.

Mr. J. K. Sebree, of Florence, was a business caller at this office Tuesday, and made final arrangements for his public sale which will be held April 1st.

Morgan-Easton

Arnold Easton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Easton, of Price pike and Miss Dorothy Morgan, daughter of Bob Morgan and wife, of Erlanger surprised their many friends by being quietly married Wednesday, March 16th at the home of Rev. Hauter.

After a six o'clock dinner given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Easton, the happy couple, accompanied by James Tanner and wife, left for a trip through Central Kentucky, stopping at all points of interest.

The young couple will be at home to their many friends at the residence of his parents. Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Easton.

Their many friends wish them much success and happiness.

LARGE NUMBER AT CONFERENCE

OF ADULT 4-H CLUB LEADERS HELD IN BURLINGTON SATURDAY—ALL CLUB IN COUNTY REPRESENTED.

Twenty-seven Boone County adult 4-H club leaders attended an all-day conference held at Burlington Saturday. Each of the ten community 4-H clubs in the county were represented.

The county and home agents reported the goal of 500 members had been exceeded and that 527 boys and girls had been enrolled under the supervision of 51 adult leaders. A total of 272 members were enrolled in 27 agricultural project groups and 255 members were enrolled in 24 Home economics project groups.

Mrs. Elizabeth Morehead of Taylorsport 4-H club and Mrs. J. F. Cleek of New Haven Booster 4-H club gave splendid discussions on their local project group organization problems. Prof. D. H. Norris stressed the importance of the 4-H club program and its place in the educational program. He stated the Boone County educational program was designed to fit the needs of the boys and girls to best enable them to go out into the world to make success and not failure. We have in the past stressed too much the making of the boy to fit the program and not enough of the program to fit the boy.

The leaders approved the 1938 score card to be used in competition for the banks of Boone county trophy. They also recommended that competition between clubs be divided in two groups: Group 1 clubs in communities with high schools and group 2 in communities with the elementary grades. Group 1 includes Burlington, Hebron, Florence, Walton, New Haven and Hamilton. Grant, Petersburg, Taylorsport and Verona are in Group 2. Trophies of equal value will be awarded clubs scoring highest in achievement and work in each group.

Leaders present at the meeting were: Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Cleek, Miss Ruby Parker, Mr. Courtney Kelly, Mrs. R. C. Garrison, Mrs. Elza Poston, Mrs. Helen Rogers, Mrs. James Berry, Mrs. Pat Morehead, Mrs. Mabel Anderson, Mrs. Stella Nichols, Mrs. Eunie Pettit, Mrs. E. A. Martin, Mr. E. J. Aylor, Mr. J. G. Pennington, Mrs. Vernon Pope, Miss Elizabeth Harris, Mrs. Beulah Vest, Mrs. Mary E. Johnson, Mrs. Joseph Meyer, Mrs. Lillian Caldwell, Miss Etta Collins, Mr. W. G. Kite, Mr. and Mrs. Asbury, Mr. E. E. Fish and Superintendent D. H. Norris.

Lillard Scott Returns Home

Mr. and Mrs. Al Albiez, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Reese and daughter and Mrs. Kate Kirkpatrick spent Sunday with Mrs. Bess Rouse and Mrs. Lavina Kirkpatrick.

REFERENDUM ON TOBACCO

LIKELY TO BE HELD IN NEXT FEW WEEKS, ACCORDING TO INFORMATION RECEIVED BY COUNTY AGENT.

A tobacco referendum on burley tobacco to decide whether market quotas on burley tobacco will be in effect in 1938 will likely be held in the next few weeks, according to information received by H. R. Forkner, county agent.

The general features of tobacco marketing quotas, if put in effect, are being discussed at the community Agricultural Conservation program meetings.

Community Agricultural Conservation Program meetings to be held in the near future are:

Florence, Friday, March 25th at 7:00 p. m. (slow time), at the schoolhouse.

Constance—Thursday, March 31, at 7:00 p. m. (slow time) at the school house.

Everyone is invited to attend these meetings.

Reservoir At Walton Opens To Anglers April 1st

Anglers throughout Northern Kentucky will be interested to learn that the Walton Reservoir will open to all fishermen on April 1st. The open season will continue until October 30th including the month of May.

During the past few years fishermen from all parts of this State have flocked to the Walton reservoir to try their luck, and many have been very successful, taking bass, crappie, and brim. Some of the catches have been large, with some bass being taken which weighed from 4 to 5 pounds.

This year, the caretaker, Edwin Johnson, stated that the lake had been restocked with bass, crappie, brim and blue cats. The blue cats are a new fish for the reservoir, this being the first time they have been stocked in this lake.

Sportsmen seeking a day of rest and angling need look no farther than the Walton reservoir. Here they will find fishing ideal, and the writer can assure every sportsman that he will receive the best of treatment by the caretaker, who is well known throughout the state as one of the most efficient game wardens employed by the state.

Season tickets are on sale at the Chevrolet Garage, Walton for $5; day tickets $1.00; and afternoon tickets 50c.

The lake was restocked with 1,000 crappie, 10 inches long; 800 bass, all lengal length; 100 blue cats which will average 12 inches in length. These fish were purchased from a private hatchery in Ohio.

New Fish Law Not In Effect Until Next Year

The new fishing law enacted by the general assembly at the recent session will not be in effect until next year, according to Edwin Johnson, State Game Warden.

The new law provides that fishermen be alolwed to fish in navigable streams below a lock during the month of May. However, this year this law will not be effect, and anyone caught fishing in any streams during the month of May are subject to arrest.

Little Light Shed On Hamilton School Doings

Our reporter this week has shed very little light on the activties reported at the Hamilton school. He has as yet been unable to find out any names, but he believes that he has a pretty good idea what is going to happen. However, contrary to popular report, he is sure that Mr. Sebree is not the one mentioned as Mr. S——, but he is sure that in a couple of weeks or so that a big evening of entertainment is going to be given to the people of that and other neighborhoods.

Rumbor has it that a number of radio celebrities (huh) or at least most every one around here thinks so, are going to present one of the slambanginest pieces of fun and entertainment that the county has ever seen. We hear in particular that there will be a band and what a band, a whole troupe of comedians and comediennes, together with a whole bevy of beautiful girls who dressed in the very best fashion will adorn the gathering with their presence. It is reported that a representative of the Clown Hall news will give a resume of the latest political news of the day one of his texts will be taken somewhere between the courthouse door and Walton No. 2, while another will deal with the senator who is not singing "Happy Days are Here Again." And, we are told, it will not be well for the coaches, star basketball players and school principals to turn aside from this for on this very night it is said that a well known (to whom) commentator will touch light upon the affairs of the sporting world.

All in all it will be well for every one to watch this paper for the full and complete details including dates and everything else, next week, when we promise you faithfully, the whole will be told.

BIG BONE PROSPECTIVE SITE FOR STATE PARK

$8,000,000 Will Be Available Through WPA Labor—McClendon Visits County Seat Friday.

For sometime now, there has been considerable talk of the possibility of converting the Big Bone Springs, Boone County, into a state park. Not until this week, however, has there ever been any definite efforts made toward the advancement of this project.

This movement was started sometime ago by men of Boone County who have considerable influence, and have drawn many more into the project since it was started. According to Wm. S. Webb, head of the State Archaeologist Department of Conservation, the first work to be done at the spring will be sponsored by the University of Kentucky, through WPA labor. The State has, at present, set up a large archaeological WPA project which would enable them to employ the service of a party of forty or fifty men, provided this number was eligible for WPA work.

The first move toward this project would be to dig long trenches for the purpose of discovering deposits of Pleistocene mammals in this section near the springs. If such discoveries were made, and the place approved by the University of Kentucky as to its scientific value, then it is possible that a State Park would be made of the grounds.

For the first excavations and experiments at this place, the county would not have to spend anything toward it. However, Boone County at this time does not employ a certifying agent for the WPA labor, and if this thing develops, the county would be forced to appoint such an agent for the job.

R. L. McClendon, director of WPA labor, spent a short time in Burlington Friday for the purpose of discussing the possibility of obtaining WPA laborers in the county, to be used on this project.

There is nothing definite developed as yet, but this subject has been discussed before such organizations as the Young Men's Democratic Club of Boone County, and several others of importance. It is looked upon by all persons as a worthwhile undertaking for the county, and if it develops, it will mean fine roads and much of value to all persons living in the vicinity of the Big Bone Springs.

A TOLL ROAD ECHO

The recent suggestion by a Kentucky senator that Congress provide an appropriation of one billion dollars for the construction of four great motor highways is not apt to meet with the nation-wide acclaim he anticipates. In fact, members of the older generation—and they are today's taxpayers—are pretty apt to start protesting such a plan the moment it comes to their ears. The proposed coast-to-coast and Canada-to-the-Gulf highways would, of course, be toll roads. The older generation has not forgotten and cannot forget what toll roads mean.

As far as the average motorist is concerned, there is no occasion for building toll roads so long as gasoline taxation can provide toll-free roads if the gas revenues are honestly and carefully expended. He encounters now and then an example of what toll highways mean when is forced to pay an assessment at a bridge crossing. And yet the bridge tolls are being abandoned just as rapidly as the revenue reaches a point where it pays for the bridge. Thousands of miles of old-time toll roads were made free traffic lanes after the auto came into being, but at an awful cost to the taxpayers. Old-timers recall the graft and unjust toll rates charged, and they are pretty apt to sense in the plan of the Kentucky senator an echo of the old system. The country can use more highways, and especially more modern ones. Linking the coasts and the lakes and gulf by means of such thoroughfares would undoubtedly be a long step forward. But if it means a return to the old toll system, then the country will do better off to struggle along without them.

COST OF NEGLECT

Estimates sent out from Washington reveal that farmers who neglect or delay the regular painting of their homes, barns, fences and mechanical equipment from year to year actually pile up an annual loss to themselves of approximately $500,000,000.

In urging an immediate paint up campaign the government points out the false economy of the idea that a property owner can save money by investing in other things besides paint. The decay of wood, the rust and corrosion of metal, both of which can be prevented by paint, is eating away the profits of rural residents at an alarming rate.

It should not be necessary to tell farmers that heat and cold and moisture and dryness quickly affect wood and metal for they know it without being told. Yet a lot of them apparently have not learned that they can save more money by applying a coat of paint every three years than they can by not doing so. These are facts, worked out after careful experiments over a long period of years and with every kind of wood and metal. Since there isn't any more floating about this neighborhood than is good for us let us look into this paint proposition at once and see if we can't stop at least one leak by protecting property exposed to the elements, instead of letting it go to rack and ruin.

TOO MANY RASCALS

It's true in Boone county, and we believe the same rule holds good in most every community. that the farmer is the prey of more rascals now than at any time in agricultural history. Since the auto came the theft of chickens has become a fine art. With an auto to get away in a thief can now steal hundreds of fowls where once he had to be content with a half-dozen or more. In the old days when there were few people on the roads the farmer might lose an occasional chicken, but it was usually the work of a lone hobo and seldom occurred. Today he has to keep everything he possesses under lock and key. His orchard and garden, and frequently his hog pen, are common ground for the modern auto thief and he has but little more protection than he had back when he could lay down at night, with doors and windows unlocked and know that everything would be in place when awoke in the morning. Our legislators could very well devote a little time to a study of this subject, and to the enactment of measures that will protect the rural resident from the over-mounting horde of rascals that beset him.

WATCH YOUR CHECKS

It will probably surprise the average citizen to learn that forgers and check-workers reaped a harvest of almost $100,000,000 in this country last year. Financial experts point out that a great many people who would take the utmost care of a dollar bill, will write a check for any sum and hand it to a stranger. Often the check is made out with a lead pencil, and figures are supplied in a haphazard manner. All a crook needs is an eraser and he can change the figures to his own liking. It may take a minute longer to secure pen and ink and make out a check as it should be made out, but the time thus expended is, from a standpoint of protection, worth the effort. Don't take chances, for you never know who may handle your check as it makes its rounds, and you have no means of knowing but it may find its way into the hands of a crook. Use a little more care, and thus render your chance of escaping a forger greater than they will be if you make out and pass out checks in a haphazard manner.

CONFIDENCE

The reaction the ordinary reader gets when he sees something advertised attractively is that the product must be what it is claimed to be or its makers would not spend their money pushing it. They do not say much about the goods that they are not willing to back up. They may have to carry some brands of goods that are a drag on the market because the public has not been made acquainted with them, but when a maker or merchant endorses something heartily and enthusiastically you can depend on it that it is something that is advertised—evidence in itself that all the value claimed for the product is there. As a result of this kind of endorsement, advertising brings profitable returns. If the product offered is a real bargain—and merchants will not usually advertise it as such unless it is—then a demand is instantly created for it and the public will buy it. You can depend on advertised goods. They are better, or they wouldn't be advertised.

TO HAVE FULL EGG BASKET NEXT FALL

Prepare now for a full egg basket next fall by getting good chicks early, feeding them properly and keeping down disease, suggests the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

Much depends upon the quality of chicks secured. This may have no relation to the price paid for them. Cheap chicks are said often to be expensive chicks.

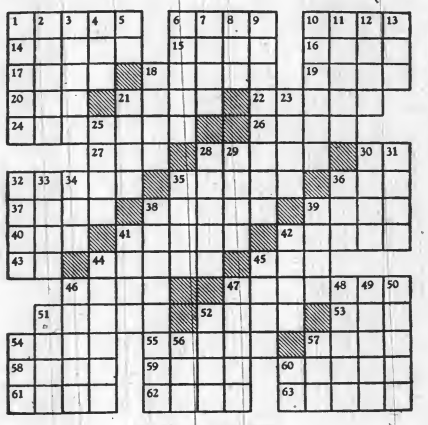
Good chicks are from flocks that have been tested for pullorum disease, flocks that have been bred for egg production and egg size, and flocks that have low adult mortality.

Failures in brooding can be tracted to one of the following:

Over-crowding. This often results in stunted growth, cannibalism and spread of disease.

Insufficient feeder space. Allow one inch per chick and then increase this amount as the chicks grow older.

Tracking disease into the brooder house by going directly from the range and houses used by the older birds to the brooder house.



Allowing chicks to get on ground contaminated with disease germs and parasite eggs. A sun porch or clean range helps solve this problem.

Improper feeding.

Lesson for March 27

CORRECTING WRONG IDEAS OF RELIGION

LESSON TEXT—Mark 7:1-13.
GOLDEN TEXT—This people honoreth me with their lips, but their heart is far from me. Mark 7:6.
PRIMARY TOPIC—At Dinner-Time.
JUNIOR TOPIC—What Is Real Religion?
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—What Counts with God?
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Sidestepping Responsibilities.

The never-ending struggle of Christianity is to keep the simple gospel of the grace of God in Christ Jesus free to operate in all its glory and power, unencumbered by the traditions and formulas of men. It has been my privilege to read a recent book by a brilliant young man who, while serving as a professor of philosophy in a large university, is also versed in the related fields of theology, psychology, psychiatry, and psychotherapy. He has had first-hand experience in dealing with the problems of men and women. With this background of both study and experience he gives it as his absolute conviction that we must get "back to the original simplicity of the Christian gospel." He suggests that we need to "dust off the additions and superstructures" that have been added since Christ came to seek and to save the lost.

Our lesson for today finds Jesus meeting that very issue with the traditionalists of His day.

I. Washed Hands and Unwashed Hearts (vv. 1-6).

In the process of interpreting the law of Moses and applying it to the affairs of daily life the religious authorities of Israel had developed a mass of intricate and onerous rules which had literally buried the law itself and had substituted ritualistic formalism for spiritual life. So fond had the scribes and the Pharisees become of these traditions that they became bold enough to declare that they were far superior to the law itself.

Their attack on Jesus because His disciples ate with unwashed hands did not refer to the proper cleansing of one's hands before eating, but to the ceremonial washings which were said to be necessary if one had accidentally touched a Gentile, or something that a Gentile had touched in the market place.

Jesus skillfully and finally disposes of that question by reminding the objectors that they were serving God with their lips only, but their hearts were far from Him. Washed hands are not a thing to be condemned, and Jesus says nothing about that point. When the washing of hands becomes of more importance than the cleansing of the heart, however, the soul is in real danger.

II. Traditions of Man Versus the Commandment of God (vv. 7-13).

Here is the heart of the entire matter, for while we may not always be aware of it the fact is that our anxiety to maintain human tradition which is contrary to the law and Spirit of God is fundamentally for the purpose of evading our full and true responsibility.

The Jew who was so avaricious that he did not wish to support his aged and needy parents could entirely evade that God-given responsibility by declaring that his property was "Corban," dedicated to God. Thereafter no matter how great was the need of his parents they could receive nothing. The execution of this oath was carried out to such a fine point that a son who had declared his property to be "Corban" could visit a sick father or mother for only a brief period lest he might stay long enough to perform some duties of a nurse and so contribute to his parents by saving them some expense.

Thus do men even in our day make "the word of God of none effect" (v. 13), through their traditions. No right minded person objects to the worthy traditions of worship and service which are such a precious heritage of the Christian church. Rightfully apprehended and properly used they are both desirable and helpful. But we must never permit the grace and power of God in Jesus Christ "to be brought under the trammels of human teachers or the arrangements of human office-bearers. The first movement toward the mastery of the soul by tradition is the movement of that soul away from immediate, direct, first-hand fellowship with God" (Morgan).

The crying need of our day, as it was of the time when Jesus was on earth, is that we should clear away hindering encumbrances.

Goodness

The general goodness which is nourished in noble hearts, makes every one think that strength of virtue to be in another whereof they find assured foundation in themselves.—Sir P. Sidney.

Simplicity of Religion

Pure religion and undefiled before God and the Father is this, To visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction, and to keep himself unspotted from the world.—James 1:27.

If you believe the ads in the magazines, cigarettes can now cure everything but skidding.

Belieview

Mrs. W. B. Adams is the guest of Tony Cook and family.

Mrs. Michael Clore has been considerably worse for several days.

Miss Sallie Craig, of Rising Sun, is the guest of Dan Lowell and wife.

Charles Maurer, who has been confined to his room for sometime is much better.

Bob Rouse and family, of Limaburg were guests of your humble servant and family, Sunday.

Union

Uncle Cum Wilson, of Richwood, was visiting here Friday.

Lee Huey, of Big Bone, will plant 70 acres of tobacco this year, so reports say.

James Bristow is an artist in the building of cutter plows and lettuce beds.

Miss Nannie Bristow and Miss Martin have excellent schools here, while Miss Manetta Riley has a flourishing school at Big Bone.

L. W. Lassing bought five acres of land of Jas. A. Huey and about one-half an acre of J. W. Conner last week for an outlet to Hamilton Place.

Ben Riley and Clinton Blankenbeker of Pleasant Ridge are seen often, going through Union in stylish rigs, wearing their best togs and broadest smiles and we warrant they do not go as far as Beaver.

Florence

Miss Mattie Whitson is teaching a private school at Erlanger.

Mrs. Charles Tanner is the guest of her mother, Mrs. Henry Tanner.

Mrs. Noah Clore has returned from Cattlettsburg, where she was called on account of the serious illness of her little grandson.

Gunpowder

Busby & Kirkpatrick are busy as bees farming when the weather permits. Otherwise, they work at their trade.

Wm. Surface had seven teeth and numerous old snags extracted last Friday, and as a result is nursing a very sore jaw.

John and Ben Surface, Lute Aylor, Ezra Rouse and uncle Billie Tanner are building fence between showers and John Aylor and Clarence Tanner grub between showers. Ben Tanner is putting in the time dodging showers and feeding lambs, and converting a summer kitchen into a winter cooking department.

Hathaway

James Rice and wife spent last week with his mother in the Belleview neighborhood.

Claud Ryle and wife, of East Bend were visiting in this neighborhood last Saturday and Sunday.

Rev. J. A. Kirtley filled his regular appointment at the Big Bone church last Sunday. He left his buggy at Union, riding horseback from there to Big Bone.

Limaburg

Owen Aylor had a wood sawing last Monday.

Twenty men helped Eddie Farrell saw wood on the 25th and they certainly did relish the excellent supper prepared for the occasion by Mrs. Farrell.

Robert Snyder had an old time corn husking last Saturday night. It was the revival of Ante Bellum social gathering that was quite a fad among the farmers in slave times.

Pt. Pleasant

Albert Riggs was the guest of Mrs. Julia Stansifer of Covington, last week.

Miss Grace Russell was the guest of Miss Lula Souther, of Ludlow last week.

Mrs. Chas. Roland, who has been the guest of Mrs. Charles Scott all winter has returned to her home at Toledo, Ohio.

Local News

Marce Riddell engineered a sale a few days since by which a Mt. Sterling man realized $600 for a horse sold to a Missouri party.

Personal Mention

Mrs. Newton Sullivan has been very low for several days.

Miss Gussie Kirkpatrick, of Covington, is visiting her relatives here.

Marion McMullen, of McVille made the Recorder a brief call Saturday.

J. W. Rouse, of Limaburg was one of the several persons in town on business Saturday.

Joseph Bullock the Hebron tailor, was in town last Friday taking orders for spring suits.

Mr. Templeton Gaines, of Bullittsville, was in town Monday. He is looking uncommonly well.

Miss Mary Furlong returned last week from a delightful visit to her brother John at Bowling Green.

H. C. Duncan and Dr. Hays, of Bullittsville, were enjoying the spring sunshine in Burlington Friday.

J. F. Weaver is recovering from a severe attack of pneumonia and rheumatism. While he was at his worst, his wife died.

Wm. Phillips, a wealthy old bachelor, who domiciles down on Gunpowder, was in town Monday looking as happy as possible for one who batches.

Mrs. B. W. Adams was called to Hamilton last Friday on account of the serious illness of Harry Adams' little boy.

James Clore has developed into the most energetic farmer in this locality where so many industrious tillers of the soil do abound. It is said Jim's hands already need dehorning.

Esquire Clinton Gaines, of Bullittsville, was in town Wednesday. The Squire has never had an opportunity to dispense justice, but when he does begin the genuine article will be handed out unsparingly.

ON CLEANING DAY

A chamois wrung out of clear water makes an excellent dust cloth. A cloth wrung from very hot water to which a tablespoonful of kerosene has been added also makes a very good duster. Silk dusters scatter no lint. Wash dust cloths in a rich naptha suds and dry without rinsing, and they will scatter no lint.

Of All Things Happening

Three of our local boys decided they would go up to two more neighbor boys' to spend a few hours together. When they arrived these boys were doing up their choirs, such as milking, feeding, etc. So the boys being very kind and generous decided they would help do the work. Doud B. was to feed the cows hay and corn. An old cow got over in the manger and along came D. and threw hay on top of her. not seeing the cow, and soon here came B. and put plenty of corn on her. The cow was weighted down and began to kick and scramble around. When they heard the noise they investigated and found that they had put all the feed on top of the poor old cow. They then began to yell for help and uncle C. B., and O. and D. had gone somewhere else at the time, but by all their help the poor old cow was released. Listen uncle Chas. you had better watch this bunch they might cover you up sometime.

NEW BEAUTY SALON OPENS

The Moderenette Beauty Salon opened yesterday at 526 Madison Avenue, Covington.

This Salon, owned by the Lynette Beauty Shop, Newport, Ky., has all the latest fixtures and accessories to be found in metropolitan beauty shops, and will employ a corps of beauty experts, which will assure its customers the best grade of work at modest prices.

Specials are announced in the Salon's advertisement in this issue of The Recorder.

NEW HAVEN SENIOR WILL SPONSOR PLAY

The New Haven Senior class who so successfully produced last year the play "Lookin' Lovely" by Janice Gard, will stage a three-act comedy by the same author this year, entitled "Listen to Leon!"

Hush! We are told that when you "Listen to Leon," you must not believe all you hear. Guisepe, the valet declares Leon needs two men to get him out of his scrapes. It is a merry mixup for the audience when Leon falls in love with one girl, although he has her name mixed with that of her friend, and thinks that his uncle is determined to wed him to Western cowgirl. To add to the confusion he has been married before and his dead wife's stepdaughter insists on calling him "Papa!"

Complications pile up and so do the laughts! The date will be announced in next week's paper. Be sure to "Listen to Leon!"

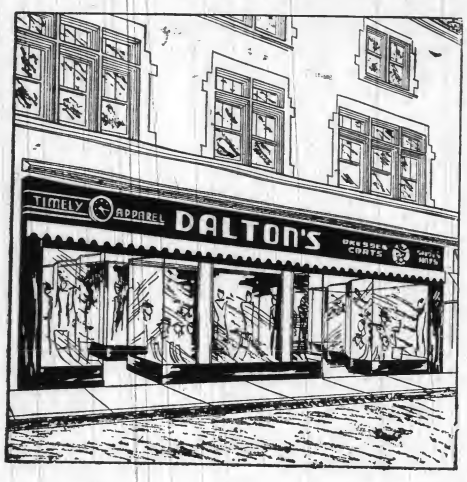
Bible School Sunday at 10:00 a. m. Ed Shinkle, Supt.

UTOPIANS MEET

Boone County Utopia club members will hold their regular March meeting at Burlington, Thursday evening, March 24th at 7:30 p. m.

Mr. Al Hager ,manager of Dixie View Nursery, will be a principal speaker on the program. The landscaping project group will be in charge of the educational program.



Hebron community group will be in charge of special features on the recreational program. Everyone interested in Utopia club work is invited to attend.

When you consider how many disagreeable people there are in the world it's a wonder hung juries are not more common.

How unfortunate it is that the only men who know how to handle big world problems prefer to spend their time whittling on a box.

Why is it that some fellows imagine a neighbor women is interested in hearing them tell things about themselves that their own wives get the earache from listening to 20 years ago?

NEW SPRING FASHIONS AT DALTON'S COVINGTON STORE

Gay new fashions are arriving daily at Dalton's at Madison and Pike Sts., Covington. Shoppers find their choice of smart coats, suits and dresses as well as accessories, in a grand array of new spring colors and styles. The clever toppers in fleeces, flannels, and tweeds that are shown at $7.95 have found favor with many women—Smart, because they can be worn over a frock or a tailored suit, too.

Redingotes and jackets are the latest fashion interest in dresses. A complete selection of these are shown in all sizes at $4.95. A new note is the three-piece suit ensemble shown in fur-trimmed or untrimmed models. A matching topcoat completes a chic suit combination, and it is so versatile, there are many ways you'll wear it.

The new copper shades that Dalton's are featuring are the sensation of the Paris and New York fashion shows. You'll like these glamorous tones of copper to accent your navy, grey or beige outfit. Blouses, shoes, bags, hats, gloves, and hose from Dalton's complete showing, can be beautifully blended in these and many other new shades.

A fashion thrill awaits you on your visit to Dalton's. You'll like shopping there, for selections are larger, prices modest, and you have the assurance of being first with the newest in apparel.

A small deposit will hold any outfit 'til Easter —so plan your visit now, while selections are best. —Adv.

MASTERS' NEW IMPROVED 1938 PLANT SETTER

There is excellent reason for Masters' leadership in the plant setter industry, for it was Masters who built the first practical automatic plant setter over forty years ago. Since then it has been continually improved. Our 1938 model is the last word—it has no competition. Others have tried to imitate, but never have been able to equal Masters' efficiency and durability. It is so simple and easy to use a Masters'. A Masters' Plant Setter is assurance of maximum stand and prolific yield.

Tobacco buyers say they can tell when a crop has been planted with a Masters' by its uniform high quality. They gladly pay highest prices for this finer yield. One man can set 8,000 to 15,000 plants a day, and do it without even a crick in his back. Once you use the Masters' you will never be satisfied with any other method of plant setting. Masters' Improved Plant Setter is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction in setting

Tobacco, Tomatoes, Cabbage, Sweet Potatoes and other plants

Nearly all first-class Hardware and Implement dealers handle, recommend and sell Masters' Improved Plant Setters. Ask your local merchant to show you this newest and best device of its kind. Examine it—see the fine workmanship, the smoothness and ease of operation. If your dealer doesn't have it in stock, write for full information direct. Don't wait until planting time, or you may be disappointed. Last season the demand exceeded the supply by thousands. Make sure of getting your Masters' Plant Setters by ordering NOW.

Homemakers To Visit Taft Museum

Homemakers of Boone County plan to visit Taft Museum, Rockwood Pottery and Eden Park Art Museum in Cincinnati, Tuesday, March 29th. Each of the eleven Homemaker clubs in the county are planing to be represented on the tour. Miss Ida C. Hagman, Home Improvement Specialist, University of Kentucky, will accompany the Boone women and talk about the pictures at Taft Museum.

The following schedule will be used on the trip: Meet at Taft Museum 10:30 (central time) and inspect the Taft home. Taft Museum is located at the east corner of Fourth and Pike Streets. Lunch will be served in the cafeteria of Art Museum in Eden Park at 12:00 noon. Homemakers will then look at the pictures in the Art Museum. A tour of Rockwood pottery will start at 2:00 p. m.

This is the first time Boone Homemakers have had a tour, according to Mary Hood Gillaspie, home demonstration agent. The Burlington club has planned to take 25 in a bus.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

Resolutions adopted by the Board of Directors of Verona Bank, Verona, Kentucky at the regular board meeting held March 2, 1938.

There was a vacant seat by the death of our beloved associate, W. M. Whitson, who had been president of this bank since its organization in 1903, and had given his ability and time to the welfare of our institution. The remaining members are deeply grieved over their great loss in such a valued, untiring and able leader.

Now, therefore, the following resolution is adopted:

Be it further resolved that a of W. M. Whitson, the Verona Bank has lost a very valuable officer whose place will be hard to fill, that Boone County has lost one of its most honorable and upright citizens and that this family has lost a kind and affectionate husband and father.

Be it further sesolved that a copy of these resolutions be printed in the Boone County Recorder and Walton Advertiser, a copy sent to the bereaved family and a copy spread on the minutes of the Verona Bank.

IMPRESSIVE PROGRAM GIVEN BY HOMEMAKERS

With reluctance, the New Haven Homemakers took their leave from the home of Mrs. John Conley on Friday last, a no more expressive way of showing appreciation of the opportunity to spend the day in this household, where true hospitality and gracious living reign supreme.

Starting at 10:30 in the morning Mrs. Walter Pennington and Mrs. Lloyd Ross, project leaders, prepared the dinner and during preparation gave lectures on the essentials in the daily foods, relative to their economy, an object to be considered in a well managed kitchen.

Mrs. Sam Sleet, president, gave a review on the trend of the Spring styles, using for illustrations, pictures taken from curren magazines and daily papers.

Mrs. Mattie Griffith, guest of Mrs. Conley came in at the noon hour and Mrs. Mattie May Hamilton, of Covington, came with Miss Mary Hood Gillaspie, home demonstration agent, for the afternoon session, which was devoted to important announcements, including the proposed trip to the Taft Museum on March 29.

Most women get as much satisfaction knowing they are not behind the times as their husbands get from knowing they are ahead of their bills.

GUESS WHO?

When the lads and lassies of the gay nineties saw these young blades dashing up the pike in their red rubbertired runabouts behind their fancy mares, little did they dream that someday they would be famous radio stars. Neither did we but if you'll watch this paper close you'll learn when to come to the Hamilton school to find out.

SET OUT PRINCIPLES OF NEW FARM PROGRAM

Discussing the new farm act, Secretary of Agriculture Wallace says it supplies the basis for the following six-point program designed to provide farmers with adequate facilities and with the stability of income needed to enable them to go on producing abundantly and to maintain ample reserves of farm commodities for use of the nation.

One—Continuance of the AAA soil conservation program and establishment of its objectives as a part of permanent farm policy represents a national investment in soil fertility and insurance for the nation of future abundance of food fiber.

Two—National acreage allotments are established at levels designed to give production ample for domestic consumption, exports and reserve supplies, and payments are made to encourage farmers to produce up to these national allotments.

Three—Loan provisions in the law encourage systematic storage of surpluses of big crop years for use in years of shortage. The Government is authorized to advance money as loans to enable farmers to hold surpluses until needed.

Four—Marketing quotas backed by penalties on sales in excess of the quotas can be used, subject to approval of a two-thirds vote of the producers voting, to secure general participation of farmers in a program designed to hold surplus supplies off the market until they are needed.

Five—Release of corn supplies from storage under marketing quotas is provided to meet any shortage that develops either on the farm, in the county, or in the case of national need.

Six—Crop insurance for wheat, starting with the 1939 crop, will give the wheat producers and the bread supplies of the nation better protection against drouth. Gradual accumulations of wheat paid in by farmers as insurance premiums will contribute a major part of the ever normal granary supplies for wheat.

GRAINS OF WISDOM

"The trouble with most people is that they think with their hopes or fears or wishes rather than with their minds."

CAPITOL COMMENTS

The greatest political show of the century!—you're about to see it folks. The barkers are speeling their wares, over radio, and court house platforms—The parade will soon get started. The band wagons are being padded and the steps made low, the political pop is flowing—The big tent covers Kentucky. It is a two ring show.

The aides of both Chandler and Barkley are looking over the counties in the State, selecting the chairmen and chairwomen for the campaign — Headquarters are mushrooming up in all sections. Judge Brady Stewart of Paducah, Chandler's Campaign Manager and Schackelford Miller, Louisville, Barkley's director of combat, have been drilling their lieutenants, counting noses and oiling their guns.

The newspapers long suffering and snowed under with bales of propaganda sent out from Washington and Frankfort, under the guise of news, have finally come into a land of Manna. The milk and honey will begin to flow in the early spring when both campaign managers will turn their big guns in the form of advertising, towards the coy voters of the rural sections, who will be the balance of power.

* * *

The gist of a bill proposed to help the counties of the state, those counties which are bad off financially and are not doing so well, comes to the fore. One thing is virtually certain. There will be no appropriations madt to give these counties money. The way the bill which is now prepared, reads will establish a commission to see that each county puts its business in order, take stock of what it has on hand, total all of its bills and then set up a budget under which, it will operate and then start payment on its obligations. This will be much the same sort of reorganization as the state underwent almost three years ago and the bill which made it possible for the state to blaze a trail out of a financial jungle. . . . There is a contemplated measure now being discussed legalizing the use of Rural Highway fund allotments for bond retirement. This would not become effective until April 1, 1940. That folks, would be a month after the adjournment of the next regular session of legislature.

* * *

Senator Strother Melton, Paducah has introduced a bill into this special session which would put the Negro College at Paducah back on the map . . . This school was virtually erased from existence in January when the General Assembly, in passing the appropriations bill, did not take care of the school. At that time it was planned to merge that institution with the Negro school at Frankfort and make the pair a finer school . . . Senator Melton's bill would change the name of the school from Western Industrial College, to Western Kentucky Vocational Training School, and calls for an appropriation of $40,000 for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1939 and $39,000 for the following year.

* * *

The schoolmarm's are likely to get a good break from this special session. Their retirement fund bill is getting favorable consideration from most all sides and it appears that it will eventually pass . . . This would give these older school teachers a chance to retire and the younger teachers a chance to take their places in the educational world.

* * *

Random Shots: Kentucky's Agricultural Experiment Station is likely to get an appropriation of $10,000 annually for the next two years to promote, develop and encourage better methods of production, packing and marketing of strawberries, apples, peaches and other fruits . . . Strawberries is a big money crop in the Southwestern section of the state. . . . The county judges in counties where the county seat is a second, third, or fourth class city, may be able to hire a stenographer, under a new measure . . . Heretofore the county judge has been forced to do his own steno work or pay for a worker from his own pocket. . . . The current special session is due to end April 1. There is talk of another session to be called in May to consider legislation for the improvement of the State's penal eleemosynary institutions.

DAVID M. PORTER.

PROMOTES DAIRYING IN ANDERSON COUNTY

Twenty purebred Jersey heifers were distributed to 4-H club members in Anderson county with the hope, says County Agent George Insko, of developing interest among farmers in well-bred dairy cattle. The calves were purchased from outstanding dairy herds, the Kraft-Phenix Cheese Corporation assisting the county agent in making the selections. The cheese company is planning to provide an outstanding sire for use in developing good herds. George Harris, field agent for the College of Agriculture, will assist in instructing the club members in the proper care of dairy stock.

COLLEGE GRADUATES FIND EMPLOYMENT

Eight of the young men and women who graduated at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture in February are now either holding regular jobs, or in the case of home economics graduates are married—a record for quick work in either case.

Elizabeth T. Taylor, Lexington, is graduate assistant in the university home economics department. Hazel Ruth Hicks, Bryantsville, is an assistant county home demonstration agent in Fayette county. Julia Dixon, London, is teaching home economics in the high school at Clinton, Ky., and the former Helen Lewis of Crestwood is now Mrs. Ervin Gillenwater, Cave City.

E. Logan Brown, Shelbyville, is farming on his father's large farm in Shelby county. Guy F. Boyd, and William F. Griffin, who came from Tennessee to study agriculture at the University of Kentucky are both assistant county agents.

Arthur S. Johnson of River Falls, Wis., is taking graduate work in agricultural economics.

KENTUCKY DAIRYMEN LIKE TRENCH SILOS

Sixteen of the 21 members of the dairy herd improvement association in the Purchase region counties of Western Kentucky are feeding silage, according to Tester, Ralph Patterson. Five of the 16 have trench silos, which they like because of their low cost. The cost of this type if silo varies with the cost of labor and the size of the silo, says Patterson.

A typical example of this kind of silo is one 90 feet long, 4½ feet deep, 6 feet wide at the top and 4 feet wide at the bottom. Such a silo filled 1½ feet above ground should contain enough silage to winter 20 cows six months. The cost of digging this silo is estimated at $20, and the cost of filling at $30.

KITCHEN KINKS

Hang a bag of whole mustard in the vinegar and it will soon clear. A piece of adhesive placed on the thumb when peeling vegetables will save the finger from cuts . . . A small spoon of peanut butter improves the flavor of stews . . . If you place a little sugar in the teapot before making tea, the tablecloth will not become stained should any spill on it.

ANNOUNCING

an invitation to all to attend The Opening of John F. Class VAPO-PATH Mineral treatments at Walton, Ky.

SUNDAY, MARCH 27, 1938

1 TO 5 P. M.

To hear us explain this modern and scientific method that is working wonders for suffering humanity, that is now available to the people of Walton and vicinity.

Are you suffering from Arthritis, Rheumatism, Asthma, Hay Fever, Sinus, Bronchial Trouble, Stomach Trouble, Skin Disease or some other ailment that has resisted your efforts to get relief? If so, we suggest you investigate VAPO-PATH.

It has accomplished almost unbelievable results for thousands upon thousands of people who have taken advantage of this method to secure relief and to regain lost vigor and happiness.

The John F. Class method is a VAPO-PATH application that is an aid in removing impurities and poisons from the system. But of even greater importance is the fact that it supplies those mineral elements that are lacking in the human system and that are absolutely necessary to a robust constitution.

John F. Class VAPO-PATH

Attractions At Gayety Theater

A striking cross-section of life among ambitious girls from every walk of society who hitch their wagons to the stars, revealing their defeats, triumphs, heart-aches and heart-throbs, is woven into the thematic pattern of RKO Radio's "Stage Door," co-starring Katherine Hepburn, Ginger Rogers and Adolphe Menjou which will be shown on Wednesday and Thursday, March 30th and 31st.

A society girl burning with ambition, sanguine in her belief that she will attain great heights in the theatre makes friends with another girl, a night club hoofer. Together they share the heart-aches and disappointments of the typical stage aspirant.

The sudden suicide of a despondent friend awakens within the stage-struck heiress a flaming determination to give an unforgettable performance as a monument to the memory of the departed girl. Like a bolt of lightning she sears Broadway with her inspired acting.

Katharine Hepburn is fittingly cast as the high strung emotional actress who reaches the pinnacle of dramatic success, while Ginger Rogers play the meaty role of the vivacious night club entertainer who finally finds happiness with a good-looking press agent.

Gail Patrick and twenty-five other capable performers appear in supporting roles in "Stage Door."

* * *

Jane Withers, who is starred in "45 Fathers," Twentieth Century-Fox picture featuring Thomas Beck, Louise Henry and the Hartmans, coming to the Gayety for Sunday and Monday, had the opportunity to show her culinary ability during production of the film when she prepared a stack of pancakes for a breakfast sequence on the set.

* * *

"She's No Lady" is the attraction at the Gayety Saturday night of this week. This show will be full of entertainment from beginning to end.

HOME ECONOMICS GROUP OF HEBRON MEET

The girls of Norbeh Champion club held their second meeting on March 14th at the Hebron school.

The meeting was called to order by Glenrose Williams, vice president. Most of the time was taken up by enrolling members.

There was a program on trees. Helen Anderson talked on the different types of maples in our locality; Ellen Holiday, Elm; Lorraine Reimer, Willows.

The meeting was adjourned by repeating the 4-H pledge and playing a game.

HOMEMAKERS HAVE INTERESTING PROGRAM

Food, spring clothes, ways to raise money made the March meeting of the Hebron Homemakers' Club interesting and instructive. The new food project leaders, Mrs. Frank Hossman and Mrs. David Pope prepared a delicious dinner at the home of the former. New ways of preparing vegetables were presented.

Mrs. George Caspar told about spring clothes and hats.

On Tuesday, March 29th, the club will join the other clubs of the county in a visit to the Taft Museum in Cincinnati.

Mrs. Minnie Hodges and Mrs. Carl Campbell were welcomed as new members. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Bertha Conrad on April 13th.

We heard a few days ago of a man who is on the verge of a nervous breakdown because his wife is always telling him how nervous she is.

PETERSBURG

Miss Dorothy Holton spent Sunday with Mrs. E. A. Stott.

Those who attended the apron social from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mathews and Karl Botts, of Newport, Mrs. John Botts and Mrs. D. R. Blythe, of Burlington.

Charles Holton has a bad case of poisoning, but is better at this writing.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Rouse are spending a few days with their daughter, Mrs. Geo. Porter, of Burlington.

A very large crowd attended services at the Christian church here Sunday, it being roll call day.

Mrs. Davis Gaines attended services here Sunday.

Dan Hoffman is able to be out again, after a sever attack of shingles.

Johnnie Mae Terril was able to attend church Sunday after an attack of grippe.

Mrs. Bell Kinney does not improve as rapidly as her friends would like to see her.

The apron social at the schoolhouse, given by the Christian church members was a huge success. The returns for the aprons were $52.45.

Watch for the announcement of the tacky party to be given soon.

George Jarbo's childrens have the whooping cough.

Mrs. E. A. Stott, E. E. Helm, Edward Helm, Frank Elm attended "Tobacco Road" last week at the Cox Theater in Cincinnati.

Mrs. Robt. Demoisey is quite ill at this writing.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Gridley, of Cincinnati, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Berkshire.

Ira Kittle's folks have the measles.

Little John Edwin Walton spent Friday night with Mrs. Lloyd Norris, at Lawrenceburg, Ind.

Kitchen ranges can now be had in a wide variety of colors, but it takes more than a pink stove to make the average girl love a kitchen.

Beauty Specialist Attends Meeting In New York

"The services of beauty shops are as necessary to the American Miss and Matron today as a clean shave is to man," says Nell Craig, beauty culturist of 420 Garvey Ave., Erlanger, Kentucky, who recently left for New York City to attend the 1938 International Beauty Shop Owners' Convention and Exhibition that will be held in that city under the direction of Joseph Byrne, from March 21st to the 24.

While in New York at the International Convention Mrs. Craig will join with more than 20,000 other beauty culturists from all parts of United States and Europe in discussing and developing the improved methods and ideas in all branches of beauty culture such as permanent waving, hair dyeing, scalp treatments, modern make-up, scientific facials, modern hair styling and beauty cultivation in general.

Mrs. Craig says that every beauty culturist owes it to her clients to strive constantly to improve her knowledge of her profession, to do continual research work. "Perfection can never be attained," she concluded, "but through constant research we can come as close to it as is humanly possible." —Aov

TWO KILLED IN WALTON CRASH

AS TRAIN DEMOLISHES TRUCK AT RAILOAD CROSSING IN WALTON — DRIVER HAD ESCAPED DEATH TWICE.

A seventy-two-year-old retired farmer and his daughter were injured fatally Friday of last week when a southbound Louisville & Nashville passenger train struck the truck in which they were riding at a crossing approximately 150 feet south of the Walton depot. Frank E. Norman, Edwards Ave., Walton, and his daughter, Miss Hallie Norman, 36, were the victims.

Norman died a few hours later at Christ Hospital, Cincinnati. His skull, jaw, and several ribs were fractured.

Miss Norman died instantly of a skull fracture, according to Dr. R. E. Ryle, of Walton.

The accident occurred on the crossing of the Walton Lumber Company, where Norman and his daughter were going to solicit advertising for a small newspaper published by the Walton Methodist Church, of which Miss Norman was a member. No witnesses could be found. It was not determined whether the small truck stalled on the railroad tracks or was struck by the locomotive when in motion.

The truck was demolished. The train was in charge of George Reiter, engineer, and Edward Southward, conductor, both of Louisville.

Norman, who was driving the truck, had narrowly escaped death by being hit by locomotives twice before. One in Cincinnati he escaped serious injury when a train was backed against him as he stood on a platform. Again at Kensington, Ky., a horse he was riding was hit and killed by a locomotive, residents of Walton recalled.

Norman was a life-long resident of Walton. A son, Claude Norman, [illegible] mail carrier and his widow [illegible] him.

Miss Norman was formerly employed by the Fifth Third Union Trust Company, Cincinnati.

Funeral services were conducted from the Methodist church of which they were members Monday in the presence of about five hundred people.

The flower girls were Bertha Mildred Jones, Sara Lancaster, Ellen Marshall, Sellers Norris, Florence Elmon, Viola Darby and Louise Conrad.

Pallbearers for Miss Hallie were Wallace Grubbs, Joe Jones, Henry Norman, Elmore Rosebrook, Elmore Norman and Mr. Kuester.

Pallbearers for Mr. Norman were four brothers, 2 brothers-in-law, Clarence Norman, Robt. Norman, Wm. Norman, Cliff Norman, Tom Marshall and Will Marshall.

Chambers and Grubbs, Walton Funeral Directors were in charge of arrangements.

ND TOURNEY HUGE SUCCESS

NSORED BY THE KENTUCKY OST AND BUFFALO CLUB AT IXIE HEGHTS—LITTLE SIX RE WINNERS.

Supremacy of the Little Six Conrence in basketaball for the 1937- season at least, stood out, following the loop's victories in the lind Tourney sponsored by The Kentucky Post and Buffalo Club t Dixie Heights.

The Little Six team, composed of two players from each of the schools, defeated the All-Unaffiliated club Saturday afternoon, 68 to 43 and then turned back a fine Boone county squad, 44 to 38 in the final encounter.

The Boone countians got their chance at the Little Sixers by taking the All-Suburban clubs, 28 to 18 in the tourney's first game.

Playing in the consolation contest immediately before the Saturday night main attraction, the Unaffiliates won over the All-Suburbans 42 to 25.

The tournament was played for the benefit of a players' insurance fund and was highly successful.

Officials for the tourney were supplied free by the Northern Kentucky Officials' Association, which is to be congratulated, along with the officials themselves, each of whom did his part in big league fashion.

High scorers of the four games were as follows: Hudson, Holmes, 19, against the Suburban, and 10 against the Little Six; Henry, Erlanger, 18 against the Unaffiliates, and 10 against Boone; Sanders, of Newport 9 against the Little Six and 10 against the Suburban; Osborne, Walton, 12 against the Little Six and 13 against the Suburban.

She leaves one twin sister, Mrs. J. M. Thompson, a number of nieces and nephews to mourn her passing.

The pallbears were Allen Smith, Windell Keim, Lee Snyder, Milton Randall, Hugh Espey and Jim James.

Chambers and Grubbs, Walton Funeral Directors were in charge of arrangements.

BURLINGTON TEAM WINNER

IN INDEPENDENT MEET HELD AT NEW HAVEN THURSDAY, FRIDAY AND SATURDAY—GOLD TROPHIES AWARDED.

The Burlington Independent basketball team trounced the New Haven Independents Saturday nite to win the county championship in Independent county tournament held at New Haven Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Thursday night the Burlington boys met Florence, downing them by a score of 36 to 25. Hamilton and Petersburg locked horns on the same night, with Hamilton being on the long end of a 31 to 30 count.

Friday night New Haven and Hamilton met with New Haven emerging from the fracas with a 34 to 31 victory. On the same night Walton and Burlington clashed in one of the hottest contests seen on the hardwood this year. The game was finally won by Burlington by a score of 31 to 29, in the second overtime period.

In a preliminary game Saturday night the girls alumni of the Florence and New Haven communities gave a very good demonstration on the hardwood, with the New Haven girls being the victors.

The final game of the tournament was played between Burlington and New Haven Saturday night, with Burlington emerging on the long end of a 33 to 19 count.

The Burlington team was composed of Ralph Bradburn, William Bradburn, James Ogden, Donald Kirkpatrick, William Greenup, A. W. Weaver, Albert Sebree, Orville Sebree. The presence of the two Bradburns from Petersburg added much strength to the local team.

Each member of the winning team was awarded a gold basketball by the New Haven school.

The proceeds from the tournament went to the New Haven school.

C. G. Lamb, a former teacher in the Burlington school was the referee.

50th Birthday Is Celebrated

Sunday morning eighty-two relatives and friends of Bluford W. Clore gathered at his home about one mile north of Rabbit Hash to help him celebrate his fiftieth birthday. Their coming was a surprise to Mr. Clore and was carefully planned by his wife and children.

All brought well filled baskets, their contents being spread at the noon hour, consisted of all the delicacies of the season and was fully enjoyed by all.

The oldest person present was their nearest neighbor Mrs. Lou Van Ness, whose age is eighty-two years. The youngest present was the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Ryle, whose age was less than a year.

Everyone present enjoyed the meeting and fellowship together, feeling they had spent a most enjoyable day and left bidding Mr. Clore a reluctant good-bye and wishing him many happy returns of the day.

Two Persons Lose Lives When Train Hits Truck

Photos by George Roisen, Kentucky Times-Star.

Above are shown pictures of the scene of a fatal train-truck accident at Walton, Ky., Friday in which a man and his daughter, occupants of the truck, were killed.

The upper photograph depicts the remains of the demolished truck. It was dragged about 100 feet after being hit by the train at a grade-crossing in the middle of town.

Below is seen the crossing (an automobile is standing over the track where the truck was struck) and the spot where the woman's body was found (marked by an X).

Fish Biting In Walton Reservoir

Last Saturday morning two anglers from Covington drove out to the Walton reservoir to try their luck in angling for members of the finny tribe. No doubt these gentlemen were unaware of the fact that the lake does not open until April 1st, tomorrow. However, they had been at the lake only about thirty minutes when Jesse Thornton, of Walton discovered them. According to Edwin Johnson, caretaker, the anglers had alraedy caught ten new lights and one bass.

Mr. Thornton informed the men that the lake was not open for fishing, and they released the fish and departed.

The lake opens Friday, tomorrow, and no doubt many sportsmen will flock to this fishing spot for the opening day.

PETERSBURG WIN CHAMPIONSHIP

OF NORTHERN KENTUCKY BASKETBALL LEAGUE TUESDAY NIGHT DEFEATING NEWPORT 64-39.

The Pepsi-Cola team of Petersburg won the championship of the Northern Kentucky Basketball League Tuesday night when they trounced the Sixth Ward Boosters of Newport by a score of 64-39 at Newport High School gymnasium.

The Colas overcame a big lead of the Boosters to win the game. Paced by the fine shooting of Arnzen, the Boosters held a 15-4 edge at the end of the first period. However the Colas began to click in the second period leading by 25-21 at the half.

In the final periods, the winners used their entire team to swamp the Boosters.

The game was the sixth consecutive victory for the Colas, who played through the series without a loss. The Colas climaxed a mediocre season after finishing fifth in the pennant chase.

The Petersburg team was composed of R. Bradburn, Mahan, James, B. Bradburn, Fox, Elliott, Williamson, Schurburg and Huey.

James leading the scoring for the Pepsi-Colas with 20 points to his credit, Mahan second with 16 points.

Solon Ryle Lands Large Buffalo

Solon Ryle, landed a 19½ pound Buffalo Saturday while fishing in backwater of the Ohio River. The fish was landed with an ordinary fishing line and pole. According to reports approximately an hour was required to land this big fellow. Mr. Ryle also caught several other fish which ranged from 2 pounds up.

Griffith; Guiseppe, his valet, who does two men's work to help Leon out of scrapes, Lucian Bradford; Colonel Bryan, Leon's uncle, somewhat set in his ways, Surface Barlow: Babe Leon's step-daughter, who wants a man of her own, Dorothy Judge; Nellie, Babe's maid and scared to death of her, Dorothy Parker.

These characters undergo trials and tribulations in the plot that will keep the audience in continual laughter.

Don't miss the chance to "Listen To Leon."

TOBACCO VOTE TO BE HELD APRIL 9

TO DETERMINE WHAT PER CENT OF GROWERS ARE IN FAVOR OF IMPOSING TAX ON EXCESS OF ALLOTMENT.

The referendum or vote on burley tobacco will be held April 9th. The purpose of the referendum is to determine what per cent of the growers are in favor of imposing a tax of 50 per cent of the gross sale price of the tobacco or not less than 3c a pound, whichever is great, on all tobacco sold in excess of the allotment.

All persons who had an interest in the 1937 crop of tobacco, whether landlord or tenant, are eligible to vote. The act requires a two-thirds majority voting in favor of the tax before it can be imposed. If this majority is in favor of the tax it will go into effect on Oct. 1, 1938. This tax will be imposed on all persons producing tobacco in 1938 regardless of whether they have cooperated in the last two years' A. C. Program or cooperate in the 1938 program if tobacco is sold in excess of the quota alloted for the farm.

There will be an arrangement worked out whereby persons who have more tobacco than their quota, if they have not exceeded the acreage allotment, can get from other producers who are short of their quota, a permit to sell the excess pounds.

It has been determined that 350 million pounds is the amount that should be allowed for sale in 1938 free from the tax. Last year 403,000,000 pounds of tobacco were marketed which was the next to greatest crop of burley tobacco ever sold. This enormous crop cut down the advantage that had been gained by the short crop of the 3 years before and supplies of tobacco at the present time are almost at a surplus.

Leading tobacco farmers have stated that they thought it necessary to have a tax on tobacco of this nature to control the pounds that were sold so that tobacco in 1938 would remain a fair and equitable price.

Educational meetings explaining the referendum and what it proposes will be held in various communities in the county the last of this week and continue through next week. Voting places will be set up in most of the precincts in the county at which place there will be three persons presiding who will determine who is eligible to vote and assist in the voting. Efforts will be made to notify tobacco producers as to the meetings to be held, the voting places to be set up and the hours that the voting places will be open.

IT'S TONIC TIME

The old custom of taking a "spring tonic" is due to neither superstition or habit. Ask your family physician and he will explain that along about this time of year one's blood commences to thin and the approach of warmer temperatures brings on muscle changes that we often attribute to laziness, and refer to as "spring fever." The doctor will tell you that it is natural and, while not serious, should have attention, especially among those of mature age.

The market is flooded with "spring tonics" and many of them do what their makers claim for them. But old nature hasn't been able to excel. Along about this time of year mouths water for a mess of "greens." That is one of nature's spring tonics—greens and all the early garden truck you can get hold of. Sulphur and molasses serves the same purpose in the juvenile world; sassafras tea meets requirements in some localities, while saurekraut is said to be efficacious. But nothing takes the place of green vegetables. eaten in reasonable quantities at every meal.

"That tired feeling" and "spring fever" will soon be recognized as common complaints among citizens, and so the spring tonic for those who are thus afflicted is in order. Everyone must do his own prescribing, of course, or leave it to his family doctor. But it will be well to remember that nothing can beat nature's own remedy—and that is "a mess of greens" two or three times a week.

CHEAP PROTECTION

These are busy days throughout the land, as the broom, mop, dust rag and carpet-beater are being worked to the limit. From coast-to-coast and lake-to-gulf Uncle Sam's daughters are busy in their annal drive on rubbish, dirt and disease germs, and members of this vast army in and around this county are joining in the campaign with their usual hearty good will.

We have often called attention to the value of cleaning up the premises from a standpoint of health and community beautification. But here is another reason for house-cleaning that should be mentioned oftener and more emphatic—the prevention of fires about the house, barn or garage from spontaneous combustion. Insurance men estimate that last year's loss through this source amounted to more than $25,000,000. And that's a lot of money to be wasted through a cause that could have been prevented. Piles of rags no matter where they are located, are apt to break into flame at any moment through spontaneous combustion. It is just as apt to occur in your home as in some home in a distant state and the result is the same wherever it happens—a blaze that could have been avoided.

Cleaning up the premises is a health measure. Ridding the attic or garage of rags is a direct protection from fires. Keep that in mind. Get rid of the rags, and then do not wait until another spring to repeat the performance, but keep them cleaned out all through the year.

—o—

GET GOOD SEED

In view of the fact that several gardeners had the sad experience last season of getting hold of poor quality of seed it would be a good idea for those who desire to escape the loss of both money and time from this source to exert a little more care when purchasing this spring's supply. The money loss when seed fail to germinate is bad enough, but when the loss of time that was devoted to the cultivation of them is also taken into consideration it is found to be no little item. The disappointment, too, is great since it is usually too late to plant effectively after it is discovered that the original planting is not going to bring satisfactory results. The man who sells you seed is expected to know beyond doubt if the varieties are adapted to the soil and climate of this section. As a rule he does know, and he carries only that kind. For that reason it is advisable to purchase of reputable dealer, to get only tested varieties, and not to buy just because they are priced a few cents cheaper than the best.

—o—

WHO MAKES THE RATES?

Just why motorists haven't been giving more attention to auto insurance rates, since the motorists themselves really fix these rates, is hard to understand. The insurance companies keep close tab each year on accidents; they know where the most of them occur and who was to blame. At the close of each fiscal year they figure their fire, theft and property damage losses, and the next year's rates are based on these figures. If motorists have been especially careful and kept down the number of accidents, the rates are lower. In fact, in a few states insurance is sold with the stipulation that the car owner gets a rebate, usually around 15 percent, if he shows up with a clean slate, without figuring in a single accident during the year. When car owners generally come to realize that they can lower the rates they are paying for auto insurance by driving still more carefully then, and not until then, will there be more or less protest over the cost of this phase of car-ownership. The reward is worth considering.

AN EDITOR'S PRAYER

Blessed are the merchants who advertise, for they have faith in their business, and their prosperity shall increase many fold. Blessed is the woman who sends in a written account of a party or a wedding, for she shall see the details and names of her guests correctly reported. Blessed are those who do not expect the editor to know everything, but who tell him whenever interesting events occurs in which they are interested, for they shall have a better newspaper in their town. Blessed are they who get their copy in early, for they shall occupy a warm space in the editor's heart. Blessed are they who co-operate with the editor in his efforts in behalf of the community, for their town shall be known to all men, far and wide, as a good place in which to live and do business. Blessed are they who do not think they could run the paper better than the editor run it—yea, thrice blessed are they because there are so few of them in the community.

When a man insists on telling you how much he likes you, look around for a motive. When a girl tells you the same thing, look around for a house.

Lesson for April 3

SERVING OTHER RACES

LESSON TEXT—Mark 7:24-37.
GOLDEN TEXT—God is no respecter of persons. Acts 10:34.
PRIMARY TOPIC—The Lord of All.
JUNIOR TOPIC—The Lord of All.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Showing Good Will to Other Races.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Practicing Christian Brotherhood Toward All Races.

"God is no respecter of persons" (Acts 10:34). He who by reason of His infinite knowledge might well draw lines of distinction between them is loving and gracious toward all, not willing that any should perish, extending his mercy to men of all conditions and all races. But men, whose knowledge is so limited that they cannot even rightly judge the thoughts of their own hearts, are quick to discriminate against their fellow man because he is of a different race, color, or social position.

A leader in the Southern Baptist church recently pointed out that the number of heathen in the world has increased about two and a half times as rapidly as the number of Christians, which means that at the rate of progress of missions during the last generation the world has become more heathen at the rate of six million a year, and now we are retarding the process still further. Because of financial depression we are recalling missionaries. When the world is ablaze with sin and God-denying political theories we withhold the gospel it needs. It has well been said that such strategy is like closing the hospital because an epidemic is in progress.

Jesus had gone into Syrophenicia and the region of Decapolis (look them up on the map) to rest. But the need of the Gentile people (to whom He was not at that time called to minister) impelled Him to help them also. Note how they were stimulated to believe, how their faith was tried, but triumphant.

I. Faith Encouraged.

The Greek woman and the man of Decapolis were led to believe in Christ in two different ways.

1. By hearing about Jesus. The woman "heard of him" (v. 25). Paul says, "Faith cometh by hearing, and hearing by the word of God" (Rom. 10:17). Are we diligent in season and out of season, telling the story of Jesus and His love? If so, men and women of our acquaintance will hear of Him and be ready to call on Him in the day of their trouble.

2. By a personal meeting with Jesus. The man was deaf; he could not hear about Jesus, but he could see Him. To him the Lord came in person, and by the sign language, related in verse 33, He stirred his heart to believe.

II. Faith Tested.

1. By obstacles. The woman met what seemed to be a sharp rebuke (v. 27), although it was no doubt much tempered by the tender voice of Jesus, and by the fact that He did not use the word "dogs" as the Jews did in speaking of the Gentiles. He spoke kindly, and He talked of the "little dogs" which were the pets of the household. But her faith was greatly tried, just as ours often is, not that it should fail, but that its strength might be demonstrated.

2. By natural handicaps. Jesus put no impediment in the way of the man, for he was already hindered by nature. How often do we not feel that in our very personalities and bodies are those things which hinder our full apprehension of the grace of God. Shall we then give up in discouragement? No. The man believed right through the barrier of unhearing ears and a speechless tongue. We can do likewise by the grace of God.

III. Faith Rewarded.

1. By deliverance from the devil. The woman's daughter was set free because of her faith. Men and women around us need to be delivered from the devil. Perhaps you who read these lines are in need of such deliverance. "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved, and thy house" (Acts 16:31).

2. By deliverance from personal limitations. The man's "ears were opened . . . and he spake plain" (v. 35). What is the unfortunate trait of personality, the handicap of body or mind that holds you back from accepting Christ as Saviour, or, having done so, from the full and free development of your spiritual life? Faith in Christ cuts right through the hindering inability. He said to Paul, "My grace is sufficient for thee: for my strength is made perfect in weakness."

Temper

We are told, "Let not the sun go down on your wrath," but I would add, never act or write till it has done so. This rule has saved me from many an act of folly. It is wonderful what a different view we take of the same event four-and-twenty hours after it has happened.

Forgive Your Enemies

And be ye kind one to another, tender-hearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ's sake hath forgiven you.—Ephesians 4:32.

A Sheep raisers' protective organization is planned for the 366 flock owners in Barren county.

All present wondered what it could be and when it was almost over the yard it began to fall nearer the ground, and fell a short distance from the yard, and what do you think it was? Well it was 75 yards of tobacco canvas and where it came from no one knows. Anyone doubting this story can ask W. M. Kittle.

Little Bobby Lee Deck has the chicken pox.

Dusting furniture thoroughly and often helps to keep it in good condition. Soft dusters, free from gritty substances, are best. Silk and chamois are excellent because they leave no lint. Woodwork should be rubbed occassionally with polish, wax or oil.

GAY NEW SPRING FASHIONS ARRIVING DAILY AT DALTON'S

Gay new fashions are arriving daily at Dalton's at Madison and Pike Sts., Covington. Shoppers find their choice of smart coats, suits and dresses as well as accessories, in a grand array of new spring colors and styles. The clever toppers in fleeces, flannels, and tweeds that are shown at $7.95 have found favor with many women—Smart, because they can be worn over a frock or a tailored suit, too.

Redingotes and jackets are the latest fashion interest in dresses. A complete selection of these are shown in all sizes at $4.95. A new note is the three-piece suit ensemble shown in fur-trimmed or untrimmed models. A matching topcoat completes a chic suit combination, and it is so versatile, there are many ways you'll wear it.

The new copper shades that Dalton's are featuring are the sensation of the Paris and New York fashion shows. You'll like these glamorous tones of copper to accent your navy, grey or beige outfit. Blouses, shoes, bags, hats, gloves, and hose from Dalton's complete showing, can be beautifully blended in these and many other new shades.

A fashion thrill awaits you on your visit to Dalton's. You'll like shopping there, for selections are larger, prices modest, and you have the assurance of being first with the newest in apparel.

A small deposit will hold any outfit 'til Easter —so plan your visit now, while selections are best.

CAPITOL COMMENTS

We give you the man of the hour; the unsung hero of the political ferment, Attorney General Hubert Meredith. In a letter to the Governor in regard to State Bill No. 10 pertaining to the financing of County Road and Bridge Bond debts he says:

"The administrative features are objectionable from many standpoints. It takes power from the counties and concentrates it at the State government. It is expensive and considerably involved and complicated.

The plan provides for the creation of more jobs. We have already gone too far both in the state and in the nation in the matter of multiplying jobs, commissions and boards and surrendering the powers of local government to them."

General Meredith's idea voiced to the Governor is the idea of the majority of business men and it was brought out very clearly last Wednesday when delegations from various sections were heard before the House in their opposition to the so-called Fair Trade Practice Act, which was destined to limit the lowest price for which a product could be sold.

Immediately after the hearing, on a resolution from Representative John Hunnicut, the bill died a quick and sudden death in the Committee.

The Teachers Retirement Bill was passed by the House and will probably be made a law. Representative Tyler Munford in a debate against the bill in the House, just before its passage, brought out the fact that Governor Chandler told a committee from the K. E. A. several months ago that it would be foolish to pass a retirement plan for teachers without the necessary appropriation, and that the State could not now afford to make this appropriation. The bill was passed, however, by the House and it seems that it is destined to go into effect without any appropriation, that being left up to the 1940 session of the Legislature.

That the election is already getting hot and the political maneuvers are getting more complicated than an intricate chess game was shown last week when a bill was brought out to make a vocational training school out of the negro college at Paducah, Kentucky. The college was supposed to have become extinct a short time ago, but through the urging of Judge Brady Stewart, Chandler's Campaign Manager, and the weight of the large number of voters in the first district who will make themselves felt in the coming senatorial race, the school will become a Negro Vocational Training School at a cost not to exceed $79,000.00.

The liquor bill still is being buffeted about with considerable vehemence. It all concerns the sale of merry mucilage on Sunday. Some want it, some don't. Tom Fitzpatrick, Democrat from Covington, a member of the House, offered an amendment to the proposed bill which would permit the sale of beer at retail after 1 p. m. on Sunday. Now Covington and Newport and the section of Kentucky that surrounds those two northern cities, are beer drinking communities and those folks there would be highly indignant, or at least a part of them, if they were not permitted to go to a beer parlor on Sunday and quietly sip their suds. Speaker John Kirtley pointed out that under the current constitution, the Legislature, when in special session, may consider only subjects included in the Governor's call. The call he added, made no provision for permitting limited Sunday beer sales. John Hunnicut, Democratic floor leader in the House, also a representative from northern Kentucky, where beer is regarded as fine Sunday silage, declared that if the Legislature could act only in the affirmative on subjects in the call, the net result would be nothing more than "Legislation by Proclamation." So this pillar purveyor is inclined to believe that he is correct.

Here is a bill that looks into the future. It is before the Senate. The measure would appropriate $35,000 for the Kentucky Exhibition at the New York World's Fair in 1939. This does not seem to be a great amount, especially since other States in the union are planning to have exhibits that cost upward of a million. Another measure before the Senate would provide pensions for widows of Confederate Veterans who were married before January 1, 1890, and who have lived in the Commonwealth since January 1, 1914.

Random Shots—A bill is before the House to appropriate $25,000 for the State to acquire property of the Mayo College in Paintsville for use as a Vocational Training School. County aid is still a major subject in both houses. Something will come of this within a short time. If you are in the big dough, place this in your hat.

The last day for filing income tax reports is listed as April 15. All persons who filed reports last year have already been furnished blanks. No extension of time will be granted this year, according to the Revenue Department.

FLORENCE 4-H CLUB NEWS

The Florence X-L All 4-H Agricultural group held their meeting March 17, 1938 at the Florence schoolhouse at 12:45.

Our club has fifty-three members in it and forty-six were present at the meeting. We were sorry not to have any leaders with us but we hope to have some the next time. We were glad to have with us Mr. James Dye and Mr. Forkner.

Our next meeting is to be April 7, 1938.

We adjourned by repeating our club pledge.

—By Ardelle Tupman.

UTOPIA CLUB HOLD REGULAR MEETING

The Boone County Utopia Club held its monthly meeting March 24 in the Burlington courthouse.

The boys and girls met separately and each planned their meetings for the future. The girls are all set with their orders in for beads in which to make some of their summer accessories. Their plans are to take the handicraft course for fourth months and then to pass on to another interesting subject.

The boys discussed Hybrid seed corn for this year. Some have made applications for Kentucky 69 white, but find the supply is limited. However, they will be able to secure the yellow hybrid seed corn.

The meeting was opened with an introduction to the new assistant county agent, Mr. Dye, his wife, Mrs. Dye and a visitor.

Mr. Dye gave us a very interesting report on their day spent at the District meeting held at Warsaw last month, February 19th.

Lloyd Siekman then gave a talk on the trip to the stock yards March 23rd and added that everyone should make this trip if ever possible. Lloyd also took up the landscaping discussion which Miss Gillaspie had started.

Each Utopia member enjoyed the folk games so much at Warsaw that it was voted upon and carried that at the next meeting April 21st an hour will be spent by learning folk games directed by Mr. Carl Jones, of Lexington.

The recreation of the evening was furnished by Frances Siekman and the Hebron group was in charge of refreshments.

CONTEST FOR RURAL WRITERS

WINNER TO BE COUNTRY HOME MAGAZINE'S GUEST AT N. E. A. AT WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. VA.

New York—The fourth annual contest to find the champion country newspaper correspondent of the United States was announced by Wheeler McMillen, editorial director of the Country Home Magazine, national farm publication. Prizes totaling $400 will be awarded by the magazine and the winner, in addition to getting a trip to New York and Washington as in previous year, will be a guest at the annual convention of the National Editorial association at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.

The contest this year, open to all country newspaper correspondents, will close May 20 and the awards will be announced as soon as possible thereafter. The first prize winner will be invited to attend the N. E. A. convention at White Sulphur, which opens June 19, and after that will spend several days with all expenses paid in Washington and New York. The contest has received so much attention since its beginning that last year the winner, Fin Petrie of Opal, Wyo., was received by President Roosevelt in Washington, Mayor LaGuardia in New York, and met numerous other persons in the news.

Awards for State Champions

Another innovation this year will be the award of a certificate of merit to the champion correspondent of each of the 48 states. This has been arranged with the assistance of the N. E. A., which will cooperate with the magazine, and will make it possible to recognize ability to a wider extent than previously.

The annual awards were started in the belief that there are hundreds of men and women in the country who do a fine job of reporting and writing in their local newspapers, as fine a job in their own field as do many famous reporters on the big city dailies. The contest is designed to call attention to these abilities.

Entries for this year's awards should reach the magazine by May 20, and the contest is open to country correspondents for papers in cities of 10,000 population or less. Entries may be submitted by the newspaper . editors the writers themselves or by readers. The board of judges, in addition to Mr. McMillen, will include William L. Chenery, editor of Collier's; Miss Gertrude B. Lane, editor of the Woman's Home Companion, and Sumner Blossom, editor of the American Magazine.

Rules of the Contest

The rules of the contest follow:

Only country correspondents of rural newspapers are eligible for awards. A rural newspaper is defined as one published in a town of 10,000 people or less. A country correspondent is defined as a rural contributor whose major occupation is not writing.

All material submitted must be in the form of clippings, with the name and address of the correspondent, the name and address of the newspaper which carried the item, and the dates of publication plainly written in the margin or attached to each clipping.

The date of publication must be between June 1, 1937 and May 15, 1938. Entries will be accepted from United States and Canada.

Entries must be marked as submitted in one of two classes:

Class 1—Local letters. Sometimes called "news letters" or locals"; variegated news of a given community, published in successive paragraphs.

Class 2—Country correspondence not published as local letters. This includes straight news stories, published under sparate captions or headlines; news or articles dealing with local farm progress and home betterment, interviews, columns of comment or opinion, letters to the editor, and any other form of rural reporting or journalistic writing which is printed not as a part of a local letter, but as an item in itself.

Each correspondent may submit, or have submitted by others, five different clippings, but not more. The total of five may include clippings in both classes or may be all in one class.

All clippings to be considered in this year's award must be in the hands of the judges by noon of May 20, 1938. Entries should be addressed to Correspondence Committee, The Country Home, 250 Park Avenue, New York.

The Awards

An award of $100 will be given to the writer of the best clipping in each of the two classes.

An additional award of $100 and a trip to New York and Washington, with all expenses paid, will go to the one of these two class winners whose work is adjudged the best of all clippings submitted. In other words, the winner of the title "Best Country Correspondent for 1937-'38," will get a cash award of $200 and will be entertained by the Country Home in the nation's metropolis and the nation's capital and at White Sulphur Springs.

Awards of $10 each will be given to the five next best letters in each class.

BURLINGTON SCHOOL NEWS

Quite a few came out to see the moving picture of Abraham Lincoln's life and reported an enjoyable evening.

Mrs. Caspar Tinkelenburg is substituting for Mrs. Eddins, while she is ill with the flu. We certainly wish for her a speedy recovery.

The girls and boys who are taking Bible study this year took their examination this week.

Our school was represented at Ludlow last Friday evening at the Forensic League Contest. We had representatives in oratorical declamation, Florence Cook and in poetry reading, Keith Vice.

The Biology class is planing a trip to the Zoo next week. This feature is a repetition of a like tour last year.

The seniors are working hard on their senior play and we feel that it is going to be a huge success.

Mrs. Eddins' room reported they were making bird booklets. All kinds of birds are included in these books.

We were glad to have two of our boys, Winifred Huey and Marvin R. Porter represent the Burlington school in the Northern Kentucky All-Star basketball game at Dixie Heights Saturday afternoon and evening. This game was held for the purpose of raising funds for athletic insurance for the injured players.

Florence Cook spoke Tuesday over WHAS in behalf of the 4-H club.

We are proud of the fact that we have some new stage furniture including a new overstuffed two-piece suit and many other pieces of stage furniture. We are also making plans for our new stage scenery. Our stage was badly in need of repair.

(Delayed)

Everyone is rejoicing and welcoming spring. The students were all very eager to get out into the warm sunshine again.

Quite a large crowd attended the volley ball and ping pong tournament here last Friday evening. Our girls were victorious in the volley ball tournament after playing some very interesting games. They played hard and were rewarded for their efforts. The ping pong games were very interesting too. Although we were not victorious in these games we were very close.

The senior class has selected their class play and are going to begin working on it in the near future. The play this year is different from what we have formerly had in that we have an all-girls' cast written for girls only.

The seniors have also selected their class flower, a pink rose, their class colors, baby pink and powder blue, and the class motto, "Today we follow, tomorrow we lead." This class is different from most classes we have ever heard of, in that they are all girls and they are proud of the fact.

Mr. Moore states he intends to begin softball practice for the boys this week. We are planning on a good team this year.

Friday night, March 25 at 7:30 there will be a motion picture here at the school auditorium, showing the life of Abraham Lincoln from boyhood until death. This show is educational, as well as entertaining and we hope that everyone will try and come out to see it. Admission is only 15 and 25 cents.

The debate team journeys to Holmes high school this week for their last debate of the season. They are to debate Beechwood.

Mrs. Moore was happy to report that for four days last week she had perfect attendance. This is the first time she has had perfect attendance since before Christmas. We are happy to report Melvin Elslager back in school after having an attack of tonsilitis.

BURLINGTON 4-H NEWS

The farm project group of the Burlington Blue Ribbon club held their second meeting for this year. Several more members were admitted into the club. The adult leaders for the club were elected as follows: Albert Wm. Weaver, tobacco leader, Hubert White, assistant tobacco leader and Courtney Kelly, leader of miscellaneous projects.

The record books were passed out and Mr. Forkner explained points on them. He also gave out tobacco seed to those who needed it.

All business was taken care of and the meeting closed with the club pledge.

HAMILTON P.-T. A. SPONSOR ALL-STAR RADIO REVUE OF '38

On Friday night, April 22, now remember and keep that date in your minds, the P.-T. A. of Hamilton Consolidated School will present to Boone County the Hamilton All-Star Radio Revue of '38. The greatest show of talent the county has ever seen. A galaxy of names, instruments and accomplishments will garnish a program filled with brilliant singing, dancing and humor. A twelve-piece band will play upon instruments that we will bet have never been seen before by nine-tenths of the people in the county.

Since the program is just a short time in the future we are going to be close with the details this week and are only going to serve notice on the county that they had better make their arrangemnts to attend this jamboree and we are at the same time giving every body plenty of time to get their spring outfits ready and have their trottin' harness ready for the gala affair.

Next week we are going to let you all in on who is going to participate in the show and also we will give some previews of our stuff. Just enough to let you know that we are not bluffing when say you "ain't seen nuthin' yet."

SMOKEHOUSE IS RAIDED

Vess Gaines, of Idlewild, reported Tuesday that thieves who broke into a smokehouse on his farm stole 10 hams, five shoulders, four sides of bacon, and 100 pounds of lard.

WEEK'S BEST RECIPE

Cook ¾ cup macaroni broken into small pieces in boiling salted water until tender. Drain and rinse in cold water. Melt 2 tablespoons butter, and 2 tablespoons flour, 1 tablespoon curry powder, ¼ teaspoon salt and cook until frothy. Add gradually 1 cup milk, stir in while boiling, ½ cup grated cheese and the macaroni. Turn into a dish throughly cold, shape into balls or flat cakes. Roll in sifted crumbs, dip in a beaten egg diluted with 2 tablespoons water and roll again in crumbs. Fry in a basket in deep fat. Drain on paper and serve—and you have the choicest Macaroni Croquettes.

Ben Bernie Began As Toy Salesman

The "wheel turned a full cycle" for Ben Bernie, the famous "old maestro," who began his career as a toy salesman in a department store.

Bernie accompanied his demonstration of the juvenile mechanism with a lengthy line of "patter" which attracted the attention of a vaudeville scout on a shopping tour. The scout convinced Bernie his talents were being wasted, but after many years of theatrical work the band-leader found himself once more reciting commercial "plugs"—this time over the radio.

Currently Bernie is co-starred with Walter Winchell and Simone Simon in "Love And Hisses," Twentieth Century-Fox's new idea musical now at the Gayety Theater. Yesterday Winchell and Bernie made "Wake Up and Live," today fans will die laughing at "Love And Hisses" which will be on the screen at the above named picture house Wednesday and Thursday, April 6th and 7th.

A LOT OF CAR
for a VERY LOW PRICE
The Standard Tudor Sedan
The Ford effort to make your dollars buy a constantly better car is well illustrated in the Standard Ford V-8.
It has all the basic Ford advantages. It is built on the same chassis as the De Luxe Ford V-8. It gives you a choice of smooth 85-horsepower or 60-horsepower V-8 engines. But it sells at low prices, and includes bumpers, spare tire, cigar lighter, twin horns and other equipment that make it a still bigger bargain.
With the thrifty 60-horsepower engine, the Standard Ford V-8 is priced especially low and gives the greatest gas mileage in Ford history. Hundreds of owners report averages of 22 to 27 miles a gallon — or even more.
Your pocketbook will approve of the Standard Ford in every way. And so will you when you drive it!

BLUE MOLD DISEASE MAY CAUSE TROUBLE

If the blue mold disease of tobacco, which was prevalent in plant beds last year. becomes established in Kentucky because of overwintering, it may be necessary to combat it in the near future, says Dr. W. Valleau, plant pathologist at the Experiment Station at Lexington. Ordinarily, severe injury occurs in states north of Georgia only when the disease gets an early start in Georgia and gradually spreads north. Farmers' Bulletin 1799, "Blue Mold of Tobacco," describes the disease and gives recommendations for its control. Copies may be had by applying to county agents or by writing to the Experiment Station.

S. R. Reeves and Cord Blakeman, Green county, have raised outstanding ton-litters.

GARDNER WRITES ON SWEETPOTATOES

John S. Gardner, who for years has been writing an annual series of garden articles for Kentucky newspapers, has written a circular for the University of Kestucky College of Agriculture on sweetpotato growing. Kentucky is a big sweetpotato state, that crop ranking fifth in value of crops produced in the state.

The most widely grown variety Kentucky is the Nancy Hall, according to Mr. Gardner. Its golden flesh and bright skin color have made it a favorite in the markets in which Kentucky sweetpotatoes move.

The circular, copies of which may be had from county agents or by writing to the College of Agriculture, deals with plant or "slip" production, seed treatment, plant beds, field preparation, cultivation, curing, storage, and disease and insect pest control.

GRASSES FOR SOUR LAND

If the soil is too sour to grow red clover, then sow lespedeza, sweet clover, alsike clover or grass. This is what J. L. Miller, agricultural agent in Madison county, is telling farmers. Likewise, these seeds are cheaper than alfalfa and red clover. Care in obtaining adapted seed, or seed produced close to home, is suggested to farmers who have good soil and who plan to sow red clover. Mr. Miller is a firm believer in alfalfa and red clover and wants his farmers to have these crops when their land is in condition to grow them and when seed prices are more favorable.

Now they've invented a machine that will brush teeth by electricity. But taxpayers wil lstill have to scratch their heads by hand.

Some men who stand in church on Sunday and sing "Heaven Is My Home" still want a doctor in a hurry when a pain hits them.

Buy Gift Only If You Want to and Are Able

DEAR Mrs. Post: Does an invitation to the wedding reception or to the wedding at the house always necessitate sending a present to the bride? I know it is a rule but I wondered just how hard and fast it was. The question of buying presents constantly is becoming a serious handicap to our already rather strained income. In some cases we hardly know the bride and groom and in others we don't know the young people at all.

Answer: The giving of presents is much more a matter of personal feeling, and of your ability to buy them, than of rule. Although it is always rather expected that you send a present when you accept an invitation to the house, this is really not an obligation to the extent of preventing one who can not afford to send a present, from going to the wedding. On the other hand, if the bride (or groom) is a personal friend or their families are very intimate friends you would certainly try to send a present even though her wedding was so small that you could not be invited.

No "Tails" on Sunday

DEAR Mrs. Post: Will you kindly settle a question in dressing for us? I have always understood that "tails" for men are absolutely correct at any time after dark, no matter what the day. We have just been told that this does not include Sunday.

Answer: The reason that "tails" are never seen on Sunday evening is that balls and dinners of ceremony, which alone require them, are never given on Sunday.

Drinking Your Bouillon

DEAR Mrs. Post: Is it proper to pick up the wide bouillon cups and drink from them? They seem almost too large, but my husband insists that their handles are not only intended for ornamentation.

Answer: Your husband is quite right. Moreover, you use both handles, one held in each hand.

AMONG THE COUNTY AGENTS

More than 30,000 black locust seedlings have been ordered by Graves county farmers for immediate planting.

A lime spreader has been bought by Willard Short, Owingsville, to be used cooperatively by nearby farmers.

John Elmer Kalmey, Jefferson county, recently bought two purebred heifers and a purebred calf from a high-producing herd.

Five Lewis county farmers are taking the lead in starting a real sheep industry for the county.

Anderson county homemakers have found that their families will eat carrots if they are made into carrot pudding.

Robertson county farmers have signed for 4,700 pounds of phosphate, to be used on demonstration plots.

In Taylor county, farmers are increasing livestock production by ton-litter contests, importing purebred breeding stock and following a sanitation program.

R. W. Terrill, Boone county, sold his registered Jersey herd of 26 cows, 11 calves, and 5 bulls for $3,538.

WEED GROWERS TO VOTE APRIL 9

ON AAA TOBACCO REFERENDUM —POLLS WILL BE OPEN FROM 9 A. M. TO 7:00 P. M. EASTERN STANDARD TIME.

The national AAA referendum on burley tobacco marketing quotas for 1938 will be held this Saturday, April 9th. The polls will open at 9:00 a. m. and close at 7:00 p. m. Eastern Standard Time or 8:00 and close at 6:00 p. m. (central standard time).

The voting places in Boone County ars as ollows:

Hebron—Hebron Bank.
Constance—Rucker's Hall.
Florence—Florence Bank.
Walton—Walton Bank.
Petersburg—Petersburg Bank.
Burlington—Courthouse.
Hamilton—School.
Union—Norman's Store.
Verona—Bank.
Rabbit Hash—Ryle's Store.
Grant—School.
Beaver—Sleet's Store.

Everyone who grew tobacco in 1937 is eligible to vote. The question to be voted on is as follows:

"Do you favor Burley Tobacco Marketing Quotas for the 1938 crop?"

Yes——— No——— .

Tobacco growers voting in the referendum should carefully study the following points:

The 1937 crop was the second largest in history—403 million pounds or 64 million pounds above consumption.

Growers this year expect to put out 6 percent more acres than last year which with normal yields will give such an over supply that prices will in all probability be too low for profitable production.

Marketing quotas in 1934 and 1935 did control surplus crops and higher prices resulted.

Growers with the AAA programs the past four years have received an average of $60,620,000 00 for their burley tobacco crop. The previous four years they received for much larger crops only $42,170,000. per year average for their crops.

The ACP acreage allotments with normal yields will give the full allotted pounds to be sold.

Marketing quotas if in effect include all burley tobacco browers in the U. S. A. The farmer is in no way responsible for the paying of tax if excess pounds are sold (buyers or warehouse men are responsible) and no contracts are signed. Quotas affect every producers uniformly.

Tobacco growers have been asking for a tobacco control program. This is the program they asked for. If you want a program that will uniformly affect all growers vote yes. If you do not want the program vote no. Two thirds or more of the growers voting must favor quotas or quotas are not in effect. In other words two growers must favor to every one opposing.

FLORENCE BOY WINS BEE HERE

WILL REPRESENT BOONE COUNTY IN THE STATE SPELLING TO BE HELD IN LOUISVILLE APRIL 14.

The County Spelling Bee which was held at the Burlington courthouse Friday, April 1st, was won by Joe Taylor, of the Florence School, with Nathan Northcutt, of the Walton school as a close second. In the oral contest Alvin McGlasson was also a close contender placing first in the written contest and third in the oral.

Joe Taylor will go to Louisville April 15 where he will represent Boone County in the State Spelling Bee sponsored by the Courier-Journal. We wish him luck in the State contest.

The following pupils represented their schools in the county contest: Burlington, Sally Souther; Constance, Alvin McGlasson; Florence, Joe Taylor; Hamilton, Velma Clore; New Haven, Frances Barlow; Petersburg, Frances Cook; St. Paul Parochial, Rosemary Kemen; and Walton, Nathan Northcutt.

Last Four Years Most Profitable To Weed Growers

Government figures show that the past four years crops of Burley tobacco brought growers more total dollars than any other consecutive four year period since 1920.

Burley tobacco the past four years has brought growers an average of $60,620,000 per year. The four years previous larger crops brought an average of only $42,170,000 per year. Fewer numbers of pounds were also sold during the last four-year period.

200 Guests See Walton CCC Outfit

In spite of inclement weather, 200 guests joined recruits Saturday at the Walton Civilian Conservation Corps camp in celebrating the fifth anniversary of the birth of the national organization.

The rain forced the cancellation of the field trip and instead movies were shown. As an especial guest, the unit had Captain M. S. Wiggs, reserve officer of the field artillery. His command includes all of northern and a part of eastern Kentucky.

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS

John Delahunty, realtor of Florence made the following sales last week: The Carey Fisher farm, of Florence, 110 acres; M. C. Tucker farm, Devon 98½ acres; Red Arrow Tourist Camp on Route 25, and a two-apartment residence in Newport for Ambrose Hehman.

WOOL GROWERS ELECT OFFICERS

H. E. WHITE ELECTED AS PRESIDENT—LILLARD SCOTT WILL BE SECRETARY-TREASURER— WOOL OUTLOOK BRIGHT.

Boone County Wool Growers held their annual wool pool meeting at Burlington Court Day, April 4th. H. E. White was reelected president of the pool for 1938 and Lillard Scott, secretary-treasurer.

The following precinct growers were selected to receive listing of number of fleeces farmers wish to sell through the pool:

Carolton—Orville Kelly.
Verona—Walter Johnson.
Beaver—B. W. Franks.
Union—Ezra Blankenbeker.
Florence—C. F. Blankenbeker.
Petersburg—Charles Stevens.
Hebron—C. S. Riddell.
Constance—L. D. McGlasson.
Burlington—H. E. White.
Grant—Lillard Scott.

Mr. E. A. Johnson, Marketing Field Agent from the College was present at the meeting and gave a discussion on the market outlook for wool this year. He stated that the demand for wool was very low at present time, but indications were for a market pick-up in prices by late summer. He advised growers not to be too hasty to sell for this reason.

The Boone County Wool Pool is the oldest county wool pool in the state and is one of the most successfully operated. The pool last year sold more than 64,000 pounds of wool for its members which was over 90 percent of the wool produced in this county. The pool is strictly a service organization for Boone County farmers. No membership dues are charged and the only contract with members is the statement "the growers wish to sell their wool through the pool." Every grower is invited to take part by so listing his wool with his precinct committeeman or the secretary.

Courtney Kelly Loses Fine Dog

Courtney Kelly, Burlington, one of Boone County's best bird dog trainers and sportsmen, lost his fine bird dog "Trixie" Monday, after a short illness.

Trixie has for several years been one of the best bird dogs in the county, and anyone who ever followed "Court" and Trixie to the field were always assured of a good hunting trip.

This is the second good dog that Mr. Kelly has lost in recent years, both dogs died when they were just in their prime.

Robert Hensley, of Frankfort, spent the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hensley.

PATROLMAN IS INJURED

IN MOTORCYCLE ACCIDENT NEAR RICHWOOD — ELEVEN STITCHES REQUIRED TO CLOSE WOUND.

Robert Smith, Union, youthful employee of the Kentucky State Highway Patrol, was injured last Friday afternoon while attempting to overtake a speeding automobile.

According to Mr. Smith, he was attempting to overtake a speeding car on U. S. Highway 25, and as he pulled up alongside of the car, it crowded him off the highway and his motorcycle struck the stone foundation of the porch in front of the Richwood store building.

He was found unconscious by three persons from Ohio, and was rushed to Dr. Gladys Rouse ,Florence. An attempt was made to take him to the hospital for treatment, but due to a deep cut on his knee he had to be taken to the nearest doctor in order to prevent a large loss of blood. Thorough examination revealed that the one large cut on his knee and several other minor bruises and cuts were the extent of the injuries. He is reported to be doing nicely at this time, and will probably be out on the job in a few days.

The motorcycle was badly damaged, the entire front half of the vehicle being entirely wrecked.

The name of the person operating the automobile has not been disclosed, but the license number was obtained before the accident occurred, according to Mr. Smith.

Young Democrats Give Hop April 23

The Young Men's Democratic Club of Boone County will sponsor a dance at the White Villa Club House, located on the old Florence Fair Grounds on Saturday April 23. A ten-act floor show, and other attractions will be features of the evening.

According to the committee this will be the most entertaining dance ever given by the local democrats. Watch for further announcement in next week's issue.

Thieves Are Frightened By Falling Bottles

An attempted robbery was made at the Elsmere Drug Store, Elsmere Monday night, but apparently the intruders were frightened by falling bottles that were breaking on the concrete floor, and no merchandise was reported missing. This store serves practically all of Boone County, and is owned and operated by Sidney Horwitz.

A panel in the rear door of the store was cut away, but there was a large stock of soft drink bottles against the door on the inside. In an attempt to move the bottles to the side in order to allow entrance, the entire lot of partly filled and partly empty bottles fell to the concrete floor, apparently causing a loud crash. All indications were that the robber never entered the building, but although he had, he would have had to force through another metal door before entering the drug store proper.

There was quite a lot of merchandise in the small store room in the rear, but was hardly the kind of merchandise that would appeal to such persons. According to Mr. Horwitz, there was nothing missing from the room, but if anything was taken it was only of small value. The largest loss was the bottles and their contents which were broken on the floor.

Several Hams Stolen From Walton Rogers

According to a report received here, seventeen hams were stolen from the smokehouse of Walton Rogers of Hamilton Friday. The loss was estimated at approximately $60.00.

FORMER COUNTY CLERK OF WHITLEY COUNTY WILL MANAGE SERVICE STATION AND SANDWICH SHOP.

E. C. Hickey, of Williamsburg, Ky., former county clerk of Whitley County, has leased the business known as Bob & Gene Sandwich Shop and service station located on the highway just north of Florence.

Mr. Hickey took possession April 1st, and will move to the home formerly occupied by Mr. Robert Eades. The lease was made for three years, with the privilege of renewing for one, two or three more years.

Bob will continue his trucking business as in the past, and will still make his headquarters at the Sandwich Shop.

Miss Iva M. Ogden returned home Saturday after spending several days last week as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Wolfert, of Cincinnati.

BOONE COUNTIAN DIES IN OHIO MON.

GEORGE BATCHELOR IS CALLED AT AGE OF 72—WAS RESIDENT OF WOOLPER NEIGHBORHOOD FOR 34 YEARS.

In the early sixties, John Batchelor and his wife, Rebecca Midcoff Batchelor, like many young folks of their day heard the call of the new West. Going by covered wagon they finally reached and homesteaded a tract of land, where the great business center Kansas City, Mo., now is built.

Neighbors were so few and scattered they become homesick and started the long journey back to Kentucky. Somewhere on the Prairie lands of Illinois on Nov. 26, 1866; George McClellan Batchelor was born in a covered wagon. He grew to young manhood in Kentucky, where on May 27, 1886 he was married to Lizzie Knipher. To this union nine children were born. This loving wife preceded him to the great beyond on April 20, 1909.

On Nov. 28, 1918 he was married to Laura Jacobs Workman, of Covington, Ky. To them four children were born.

Practically his entire life was spent in Kentucky. In 1903 he moved to the farm of Hartman Bros. at Split Rock at the mouth of Woolper Creek in Boone County and lived there continuously for 34 years. Those who camped or went to Split Rock will always remember the kindness and generosity of Geo. Batchelor.

Honesty and straight forwardness were inherent traits of his nature and those characteristics were felt by all who came in contact with him.

Unable, on account of failing health to continue farming, he sold his property last fall and went to make his home with his daughter, Mrs. Fred Gilt near North Bend, O. There, surrounded by his children where every care possible was given him, he passed away on March 28 at the age of 72 years.

"Batch," as he was known to his friends was a great lover of fox hounds and it was a great delight for him to tell of the hounds he raised and trained. Long shall we remember him as a father, friend and neighbor.

Funeral services were held at the North Bend Holiness Mission Wednesday with burial at the Petersburg cemetery.

He leaves his wife and ten children, three brothers, John Batchelor, of Burlington, Pete Batchelor of Lawrenceburg, Ind., and Chas. Batchelor of Rabbit Hash to mourn his passing.

Walton Fishing Club, Grounds To Be Sold Apr. 9

Sportsmen in northern Kentucky will be interested in the announcement that the Walton Fishing Club grounds and lake will be sold at auction Saturday, April 9, at 2:30 p. m., central standard time.

The club's committee, Judge Sidney Gaines, T. W. Marshall and B. W. Franks, have contracted with the R. G. Kinman Realty Auction Co., 408 Coppin Bldg., Covington, to sell the property on the above date, "regardless of price or weather."

The property is located about two squares west of the U. S. Highway 25, in the Alta Vista Subdivision. It consists of a lake, approximately an acre in size, and is stocked with bass, new lights and bream, making it a popular fishing several desirable building sites. ing lake, covers 5¾ acres, providing several desirable building sites. There are a number of shade trees and a concrete street to the property.

Ft. Knox Soldiers Injured In Crash

Melvin Jones, Cincinnati, was charged with reckless driving Monday following an accident on the Dixie Highway, at Erlanger, Sunday afternoon.

The Ft. Knox soldiers, riding a motorcycle along Route 25, were injured in a crash when Jones turned onto the highway from a side street.

One of the soldiers, William Towler, the driver, suffered a fractured left leg and bruises. The other trooper, Lloyd Sharp, suffered bruises.

Mrs. Jake Cook, of Waterloo, spent one day recently with Mrs. J. G. Smith.

Beaver Lick Home Destroyed By Fire Monday

The home of Lloyd Ross, located on the Beaver-Walton road was destroyed by fire Monday night. The origin of the fire was unknown but it was thought the blaze started from a defective flue.

According to a report received here Wednesday morning, most of the furniture was saved, but practically all of the family's clothing was destroyed in the blaze.

This house was considered as one of the old land marks in this community. The loss was estimated at approximately $6,000. No insurance was carried, according to report.

Louis H. Sprague

Funeral services for Louis H. Sprague, a native of Boone County, were held Friday at 2 p. m. at the home of his nephew, Walter Sprague, Taylorsport, Ky. Burial was in the Taylorsport cemetery.

Mr. Sprague, 81, died Wednesday at the home of his son, Gilbert Sprague, Cincinnati, after an illness of about three weeks.

He was a charter member of the Carpenter's Union No. 1602, Cincinnati, and belonged to Excelsior Council No. 83, Junior O. U. A. M.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Sprague; his son, Gilbert, and two other sons, Homer and Harold Sprague, and a daughter, Mrs. Ruth Johnson, of Cincinnati.

Bullock and Catherman, Ludlow, funeral directors, were in charge of arrangements.

FORMER RESIDENT SUCCUMBS IN OHIO

SERVICES CONDUCTED SATURDAY AFTERNOON IN TOLEDO, WITH BURIAL IN TOLEDO MEMORIAL PARK.

Mrs. Ben R. Johnson passed away at her home, 41 Rockingham Drive, Toledo, Ohio, Wednesday, March 30. Services were Saturday afternoon in a funeral home with burial in Toledo Memorial Park.

Mrs. Johnson was the former Amanda Parker, of Petersburg, Boone County, where she was born July 26, 1873. She was the daughter of Elijah Parker, son of Richard Parker, and Adelaide Victoria Parker, daughter of Captain Geo. W. Terrill, all of Petersburg. Her father and grandfather, Captain Terrill, served in the Confederate Army. She spent her early years at the family home not far from Split Rock.

She was united in marriage to Ben R. Johnson, of Moores Hill, Ind., November 2, 1893 in the Christian Church at Petersburg by the Rev. Keane.

With her husband she resided at Dillsboro and Lawrenceburg, Ind. While at Lawrenceburg Mr. Johnson was manager of the Lawrenceburg Lumber Co. In 1905 she moved with her family to Toledo, Ohio.

She leaves her husband, Ben R. Johnson, an executive of the firm of Ben L. Stephens & Company, Toledo, wholesale lumber dealers; a daughter, Mrs. Arthur C. Ketchum; and a son, Edward Parker Johnson, both of Toledo and three sisters, Miss Elizabeth A. Parker, Mrs. Charles W. Hitzfield and Mrs. Blanche Cason, widow of Judge Perry Cason of Boone County, all of Sayler Park, Cincinnati; and uncles. George W. Terrill, of near Burlington and Will Terrill, of Erlanger.

She was a member of the First Baptist Church of Toledo.

W. H. Easton Buys Power Paint Spray

W. H. Easton, local painter, has purchased a new power paint spray, and is now able to paint your building in the modern way.

Monday, the new equipment was in operation at the garage of Newton Sullivan, which was completely painted in one afternoon. Mr. Easton stated that the new power spray is much more efficient than the old brush style, saving paint, and putting the paint where the old brush method failed.

Mr. Easton will give free estimates on any painting job, no matter how large or small.

Mr. and Mrs. Rue Wingate, of Erlanger,are receiving congratulations over the arrival of a fine boy.

ENFORCMENT OF DOG LAW URGED

BY SHEEPMAN OF COUNTY— 1200 DOGS IN COUNTY STILL UNLICENSED, ACCORDING TO REPORT OF SHERIFF.

Boone County sheepmen held a meeting at Burlington last court day to study means of securing more strict enforcement of the present dog laws. Reports of the sheriff showed that the present sheep fund for sheep killed by dogs had a deficit of $2323.00 and that approximately 1200 dogs in the county at the present time were unlicensed.

The growers drew up the following resolutions:

"Whereas the number of sheep killed by dogs in Boone County the past year was the largest on record whereas the dog fund is far too small to pay all the claims and whereas the number of dogs on which taxes are paid is far less than the actual number in the county.

"Be it resolved that the sheriff be instructed to collect by law all just taxes on dogs and that the assessor be extremely careful to see that every dog is assessed.

"And that we give said officers our full support in enforcing the dog laws."

A second meeting to discuss plans for forming a Sheep Protective Association has been set for court day in May.

Large Number Farmers Attend Tobacco Meetings

Large attendance of farmers are being secured at a series of educational meeting on 1938 AAA tobacco marketing quotas to be submitted to growers this Saturday, April 9th, according to H. R. Forkner, county agent.

Community meetings are being held this week in as many communities as possible so that growers may know how marketing quotas work and how the referendum will be carried out. The schedule of the meetings as as follows:

Thursday, April 7th—Walton school at 7:30 p. m.

Thursday, April 7th—Florence school at 7:30 p. m. (C. T.)

Friday, April 8th, New Haven school at 7:30 p. m.

Meeting were held at the following places: Hebron, April 2; Burlington, April 4th; Verona, April 4; Petersburg, April 5th; Grant, April 5th and Hamilton April 6th.

Every grower of tobacco in 1937 is urged to attend the meeting in his community and to vote in referendum Saturday. A large turn out of voters is necessary to properly determine whether growers want marketing quotas or not.

WOMEN'S DEMOCRATIC CLUB HOLD MEETING

The Women's Democratic Club of Kentucky met at the courthouse in Burlington Monday afternoon at 2:00 p. m. At this time the old Women's Democratic Club was revised and plans were discussed for sending delegates to the convention which will be held in Lexington, April 22. All women of this club are urged to attend.

TORNADO VISITS SECTION OF CO.

WEDNESDAY NIGHT OF LAST WEEK — CONSIDERABLE DAMAGE REPORTED IN PETERSBURG NEIGHBORHOOD.

A tornado which struck the Petersburg neighborhood Wednesday night of last week caused considerable damage, according to Miss Mary Rector, our Gasburg correspondent.

She reported that the wind tore a section of the roof from the barn of J. J. Maurer, swept the porch of Mill McDaniels from his house, blew down the chicken house and unroofed and twisted one barn and damaged another considerably for W. O. Rector.

Lightning during the same storm struck a telephone line of Floyd Snyder, knocking the telephone from the wall and setting fire to the house. The blaze was detected and no serious damage was done to his property.

This is the only section of the county where we have heard of any damage from the storm.

MAKE THE CARELESS PAY

If an auto driver is careless h has to pay for the property he de stroys. If railroads are careless they must face damage suits. I buildings are carelessly put up and cause injury through a collapse the owner must settle with those injured. But a man can harbor a fire-trap that endangers the property of his neighbor and get away with it.

This is all wrong, and suggests that what is needed in this state is a law that will make every man who is careless pay for his carelessness. If he has a building on his place that is dangerous because by its burning it might destroy a neighboring piece of property, then he should be made to get rid of it or pay for whatever damage may be caused by it. We have a state department that is supposed to condemn and raze all dangerous structures, yet we know there are few, if any, communities in the state that are wholly free of dangerous fire-traps in the shape of antiquated buildings.

Once again citizens have arrived at the spring clean-up season of the year, and once again they are going at the job in a through and whole-hearted manner. Why not make it complete by cleaning up any old structures in the community that are known to be fire hazards or get rid of them altogether? They are not only dangerous but they are unsightly, and in many instances unhealthy to the neighborhood that maintains them All that is needed to rid the community of such hazards is for just one citizen to start. And right here in the midst of the spring clean-up season is a most appropriate time to start.

HITCHING POSTS

Dr. Joseph Brown, a forward looking Illinois school teacher recently broke into the Chicago newspapers by declaring in an address to an organization of teachers that the public is not interested in new ideas in education.

"The past is a guide post, but a poor hitching post," he said. "Let a man make a great surgical or medical discovery and he is hailed as a great man. Let a teacher announce a new idea in education and he is not considered as a benefactor of the human race but is criticised as one who would change the good old system."

There is considerable food for throught in Dr. Brown's statements. We've seen it demonstrated right here. We've heard the protests that arise when a teacher has tried to inject some new and modern idea into school work, and the protests have always come from those who argue that if the old methods of teaching were good enough for earlier generations they ought to be good enough for the present ones. Yet there are none of us who would go back to the coal oil lamp or drive to town in an old spring wagon if we could help it. We fly around the neighborhood in an automobile and read by electric light. But when it comes to our schools we are too ready to declare that old methods are still best, and that it is of no great concern if children show no advancement over that shown by their parents when they were in school. What our schools really need is not more highly trained teachers but parents who are capable of doing a little more intelligent thinking.

LOOSE TONGUES

That America has become the country where loose tongues are not only tolerated but actually encouraged was evidenced a few weeks ago when another of those "cultured" Englishman of title, here on a lecture tour, publicly denounced and actually verbally abused the president of the U. S. Of course he was doing so merely for the publicity it would bring his lectures, and the increased profits from his lectures. But that does not excuse the fact that since no decent, upstanding American displays disrespect for his president-regardless of what that American's politics may be—then no foreign-born interloper has a right to do so. The office of president carries with it just as much, if not more, respect than the office of king or dictator. Americans realize that, and they respect the office even through they may disagree with the principles of the man who holds it. A good many citizens have often wondered why foreigners are permitted to come over here and indulge in such abuse as this most recent one is guilty of. And now they are wondering why Uncle Sam doesn't put a stop to it by making an example of this Englishman and shipping him back home on the first boat that will take him there.

Lesson for April 10

FINDING OURSELVES IN SERVICE

LESSON TEXT—Mark 8:27-38.

GOLDEN TEXT—"What shall it profit a man, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul?"—Mark 8:36.

PRIMARY TOPIC—What Peter Found Out.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Peter's Right Answer.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Making Life Count Through Service.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Finding the Richest Life Through Service.

"Finding ourselves" seems like a singular, almost self-contradictory, expression, but it refers to a sound principle recognized by psychologists as well as spiritual leaders. As a matter of fact, modern psychology has begun to recognize and use spiritual laws and principles which alone bring about human happiness and efficiency.

A word of warning—let no one who studies this lesson fall into the serious error of thinking that some formal religious service will bring redemption and favor with God. We are saved by grace through faith in the Lord Jesus Christ—"not of works, lest any man should boast." It is then by the new birth that we are "created in Christ Jesus unto good works which God hath before ordained that we should walk in them" (Eph. 2:8-10).

It is the Christian who needs to "find himself in service." Only as he thus yields to Christ does he really find the life worth living. The words of Jesus in verse 35 are solemnly and gloriously true.

I. Clear Confession (vv. 27-30).

Even those who deny to our Christ the recognition of His deity, and the devotion of life which is His just due, must, if they are at all intelligent, admit that no man ever lived who has made such an impact on human history. Even in the days of his life on earth those who did not accept Him as Christ regarded Him as the resurrected form of one of the nation's greatest leaders. Now unbelieving men speak of Him as the great founder of Christianity, a mighty leader, a wonderful example, or an unequalled teacher.

It is not enough that we stand with the mass of humanity who may thus admire Him, but who do not count Him as Saviour and Lord. The question comes to us as it did to the disciples, "Whom say ye that I am?" "Thou art the Christ"—this alone suffices as the foundation for Christian testimony and conduct.

II. Corrected Error (vv. 31-33).

Although Jesus was not yet ready to have His Messiahship proclaimed to the public, He was prepared to teach His disciples concerning not only that important truth, but of His rejection and death. "He began to teach them that the Son of man must suffer . . . be rejected . . . killed and . . . rise again."

Note the divine "must." While it is true that wicked men showed their hostility toward our God and His Christ by hanging Him on Calvary's cross, yet it was to die for our sins that He came into the world. The cross has rightly come to represent God's love to the world rather than man's hostility to God.

Error now asserts itself, and strangely enough it is the very one who had the clearest grasp of the truth regarding the Messiahship of Christ and boldly expressed it who now objects to the revelation of the coming death and resurrection of Christ, and lends his voice to rebuke the Master for speaking of it.

Satan hates the cross and the open grave. Jesus won the victory over him there. He did not want to hear of it before it took place and used impulsive Peter for a mouthpiece to object. He doesn't want to hear about it now and uses many a skillful and gifted preacher to speak against it. "The offense of the cross" (Gal. 5:11) has never ceased.

III. Consecrated Life and Service (vv. 34-38).

"Let him deny himself" (v. 34). That command we have construed to mean that we should perform little acts of self-denial, foregoing some comfort or pleasure, possibly for a few weeks. It does not mean that at all—but does mean the renouncing of self and self-will, and a complete yielding to God's will. Likewise, to take up one's cross does not mean to bear some of life's little disagreeable experiences; it means again to die to self and to live for Christ.

Careful attention should be given to the solemn questions asked and statements made in verses 35-37. These are not the reasonings of a man—they fall from the lips of the Son of God. What, He asks, will you give in exchange for your soul?

Payment

How little we pay our way in life! Although we have our purses continually in our hand, the better part of service goes still unrewarded.

Discussion

The more discussion the better, if passion and personalities be eschewed.

Pain

Pain is in itself a sharp discipline and hard to bear.

A Sheep raisers' protective organization is planned for the 366 flock owners in Barren county.

Eight Letcher county 4-H club members are buying purebred stock to help start a calf club.

THE SEWING ROOM

Cutting several times through a piece of sandpaper will sharpen dull scissors—Cover the exposed side of dress shields with material the same as that used in the garment and they will be unnoticeable—A towel or piece of cloth pinned around the leaf of the sewing machine will keep silk from slipping off while they are being stitched on the machine.:

RARE OLD MAPS SEEN IN FILM

Two maps valued at more than $2000, because of their authenticated historical backgrounds, appear in scenes in Paramount production "Wells Fargo," producer-director Frank Lloy's "cavalcade of American progress," which features Joel McCrea, Frances Dee, Bob Burns and others and which will be shown at the Gayety Theater, Sunday and Monday.

One is a map used by the United States and Mexican government to settle their boundary dispute following the Mexican war. The other is the first map issued by the government following the Civil War, which was used in mapping the first accurate overland guide ever published.

Both maps were provided by Stuart N. Lake, author of the original story from which the "Wells Fargo" screen play was adapted.

New Color Film

A story by Robert Louis Stevenson and Lloyd Osbourne becomes the first sea picture in Technicolor. It's "Ebb Tide," which will be shown at the Gayety Theater, on Wednesday and Thursday, April 13 and 14th. The cast is headed by Oscar Homolka, Frances Farmer, Ray Milland, Lloyd and Barry Fitzgerald.

The Sand Run W. M. S. will hold their regular meeting April 13th, the second Wednesday of this month instead of the first Wednesday on account of the State convention meeting on that day.

110 Homemakers Visit Taft Museum

Pictures held the interestof 110 Homemakers last Tuesday when they made a tour of art centers of Cincinnati. Homemakers representing ten clubs in Boone County had an all-day tour. They visited Taft museum, Art Museum in Eden Park and Rockwood Pottery. The Boone County group met at Taft Museum in the morning and studied the pictures that Mrs. Taft had collected. The next stop was the Art Museum in Eden Park where the delegation had lunch at the cafeteria. After lunch guides conducted the group through the museum. The last visit was to Rockwood Pottery where the Homemakers actually saw pottery being made.

The Burlington and Florence clubs each chartered a bus for the trip. The following people in the Extension Department, University of Kentucky were on the trip: Lulie Logan, assistant State Leader of Home Demonstration Agents. Ida C. Hagman and Miss Curmut, Home Improvement Specialists. Arrangements for the tour were made by Mary Hood Gillaspie, home demonstration agent.

NEW HAVEN BOOSTERS

The New Haven Boosters had their eighth sewing lesson on Wednesday, March 13th with fourteen present. The first unit has worked very hard this year and some are even finishing their dresses. Practically every dress has been cut out.

The demonstration teams are preparing for Rally Day, May 14th.

Betty Joe Parker, Captain.

4-H Clubs Hold Third Meetings

Seven of the ten community 4-H clubs held their third series of meetings the past two weeks, according to Jack Dye, assistant county agent. Enrollment reports at meetings showed more than 500 boys and girls in club work.

Project group captains at this series of meetings were busy getting reports on members' project work started. The majority of projects have already been started.

Each community club is being scored at the meetings. The clubs scoring highest in achievement work will be awarded an honor trophy by the banks of Boone County.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our appreciation to all friends and neighbors for their many kindnesses shown us during the illness and death of our dear husband and father,

Edward E. Utz.

To Dr. Coe for hs untiring efforts and sympathetic helpfulness; to the ones who rendered the songs; to Mr. Tallaferro for the efficient manner in which the funeral was conducted, and to Rev. Huey and Johnson for their words of comfort and consolation, we extend our thanks and appreciation.

NORBEH CHAMPION CLUB NEWS

Monday, March 28 the girls of Norbeh Champion club held their third meeting. The meeting was called to order by president, Katherine Jane Casper. The minutes of last meeting were read, roll called and old business taken care of.

Miss Gillaspie set a definite date for the breakfast which the foods class have been planning. She also discussed Rally Day which will be held at Burlington, May 14.

There was then a report of the project captains and each group appeared to be getting along fine. Mrs. Homer Anderson and Mrs. Stella Nichols are in charge of the sewing.

The meeting was turned over to LaVerne Bruce, who had charge of the program.

"Black Walnut Trees" were discussed by Josephine Grant.

"How to Plant Shade Trees"—Margie Getker.

"How to transplant and arrange trees"—Virginia Reimer.

Girls in the first unit of clothing 4-H club Hebron are working on their third garment.

Mrs. Stella Nichols, clothing leader, has met with the group for nine project meeting. Week meetings are held on Thursday.

Marilyn Garnett, Project Cap.

4-H CLUB NEWS

The girls' division of the Burlington Blue Ribbon 4-H club held its third meeting Monday, April 4. Approximately 40 girls were present. We were very happy to have with us our community club leader, Mrs. Vernon Pope.

After the business had been disposed of the home demonstration agent, Miss Mary Hood Gillaspie, explained the scoring of the club. Then the club was scored and we have over 6000 points.

We are studying trees this year and Frances Deck gave us a talk on "Maples." Florence Cook told how to make a herbarium.

The date for the next meeting is Spring Rally Day, May 14.

MASTERS NEW IMPROVED 1938 PLANT SETTER

Plants, Covers and Waters With One Operation

There is excellent reason for Masters' leadership in the plant setter industry, for it was Masters who built the first practical automatic plant setter over forty years ago. Since then it has been continually improved. Our 1938 model is the last word—It has no competition. Others have tried to imitate, but never have been able to equal Masters' efficiency and durability. It is so simple and easy to use a Masters'. A Masters' Plant Setter is assurance of maximum stand and prolific yield.

Tobacco buyers say they can tell when a crop has been planted with a Masters' by its uniform high quality. They gladly pay highest prices for this finer yield. One man can set 8,000 to 15,000 plants a day, and do it without even a crick in his back. Once you use the Masters' you will never be satisfied with any other method of plant setting. Masters' Improved Plant Setter is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction in setting

Tobacco, Tomatoes, Cabbage, Sweet Potatoes and other plants

Nearly all first-class Hardware and Implement dealers handle, recommend and sell Masters' Improved Plant Setters. Ask your local merchant to show you this newest and best device of its kind. Examine it—see the fine workmanship, the smoothness and ease of operation. If your dealer doesn't have it in stock, write for full information direct. Don't wait until planting time, or you may be disappointed. Last season the demand exceeded the supply by thousands. Make sure of getting your Masters' Plant Setters by ordering NOW.

Weak Inrolling Feet Means Aches and Pains

The basic cause of foot trouble lies in weak shoes that do not support the outer weight bearing arch of your feet.

This arch sags, letting your ankle roll inward crowding your foot into the forepart of your shoe.

RESULTS — Corns, Callouses, Bunions and other foot trouble.

We are exclusive agents for HEALTH SPOT SHOES in Covington.
